We will continue to monitor the general human rights situation in Uzbekistan and to make known our concerns through a critical, but constructive dialogue with the Uzbek authorities. We welcome Uzbekistan's recent ratification of the International Labour Organisation (ILO) Convention on Minimal Age of Employment and the ILO Convention on Prohibition and Immediate Action for Elimination of the Worst Forms of Child Labour, and are ready to work with the Government of Uzbekistan in strengthening all aspects of human rights in Uzbekistan.

Zimbabwe: Politi .s and Government

Mr. Clifton-Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what response he has made to the appointment of 10 Zanu-PF provincial governors in Zimbabwe by means other than those agreed under the process sponsored by the South African Development Community. [229824]

Gillian Merron: Robert Mugabe's attempt to allocate ministerial portfolios and appoint provincial governors unilaterally runs counter to the spirit and letter of the political agreement signed with the two Movement for Democratic Change parties on 15 September. The UK with other EU member states has condemned these actions. We are supporting efforts to encourage a swift and equitable implementation of the agreement which reflects the will of the people of Zimbabwe as expressed in the 29 March election.

Paul Goggins: The following table outlines the number of convictions for drug-related offences for the calendar years 2004 to 2006 (the latest years available).

Data cover the calendar years 2002 to 2006, the latest available years, and are collated on the principal offence rule; so only the most serious offence with which an offender is charged is included.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the (a) Government and (b) armed forces have held discussions with the Taliban in Afghanistan during 2008. [236212]

Mr. Hutton [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The UK's position remains as my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister set out to Parliament on 12 December 2007, Official Report, column 305; we will not negotiate with the Taliban.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the reasons are for Harriers undertaking a night commitment in Afghanistan. [236788]

Mr. Hutton: Given the nature of the campaign in Afghanistan, there is a requirement for 24 hours per day air cover for NATO ground forces. This is a mission to which Harrier, as an all-weather day-night capable aircraft, is well suited.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the likely effect of the introduction of (a) 9,000 US combat troops and (b) a second US operated runway on command and control in Helmand province. [236995]

Mr. Hutton [holding answer 18 November 2008]: We welcomed President Bush's announcement on 9 September 2008 of the deployment of an additional Battalion and a Brigade Combat Team to Afghanistan. Some elements of the additional Battalion are already operating in Helmand Province under the command and control of HQISAF. Plans for the additional Brigade Combat Team have yet to be finalised. We are not aware of any plans for the United States to operate a runway in Helmand Province.

Armed Forces: Compensation

Willie Rennie: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) shortest and (b) longest length of time has been between a soldier being killed in action and the standard payment following a death in action being paid to the bereaved family in the last 12 months. [234978]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 11 November 2008]: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Armed Forces: Families

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent Armed Forces Families' Attitude Survey. [237808]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 416W.

Armed Forces: Young People

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how frequently he receives reports updating the progress-tracking grid on implementation of measures proposed by the Defence Select Committee, the Adult Learning Inspectorate and the Blake Review; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent update report. [236714]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Ministers are briefed orally at least twice yearly on progress relating to the issues raised in reports by the Defence Select Committee, the adult learning inspectorate and previously Nicholas Blake, QC by senior members of each service and officials. The recommendations from the reports have been grouped into 26 subject areas which are open to regular review through audit, inspection and evaluation and other prompts such as policy updates, legislative change and research. Consequently, while issues might be regarded as having been addressed through specific actions, the subject areas remain open and enduring as routine business.

To ensure that change is enduring, effort is now increasingly focused on developing a culture of continuous improvement. Following publication of the ALI "Better Training" report in 2007, Ofsted is now engaged in inspection of recruiting and training, judging progress on care and welfare issues and providing a view on how well self-assessment at unit level is contributing to continuous improvement. Ofsted is due to complete its first report in spring 2009; this will be published and copies placed in the Library of the House.

Catterick Barracks

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what progress has been made in the investigation of allegations of physical abuse and harassment at Catterick Barracks. [237429]

Mr. Kevan Jones: We were already aware of some of the allegations made by the BBC in its 'The Undercover Soldier' documentary in September. A Royal Military Police (Special Investigation Branch) (RMP(SIB)) investigation had been initiated in February. For those we were not aware of an RMP(SIB) investigation was launched as soon as the BBC made us aware of their concerns. These investigations are continuing.

The Army Prosecuting Authority has now directed that four individuals, who were the subject of allegations of which we were already aware and which we were investigating, should face trial by court martial.

Central Africa: Air Force

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many RAF (a) C-17 Globemaster, (b) C-130K Hercules, (c) C-130J Hercules, (d) Tristar, (e) VC-10 aircraft and (f) other RAF aircraft listed by type have flown to (i) Democratic Republic of Congo, (ii) Rwanda and (iii) Burundi in each of the last three months. [237843]

Mr. Kevan Jones: No RAF C-17 Globemaster, C-130K and C130-J Hercules, Tristar, VC-10 or other RAF aircraft have flown to the Democratic Republic of Congo, Rwanda or Burundi in any of the last three months.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237489]

Mr. Kevan Jones: MOD expenditure on Christmas cards in 2007 was £700.

This figure includes printing, purchase and postage, but excludes a small amount spent by Defence attaches (for permitted representational purposes) which is not identifiable without disproportionate cost. The sending of Christmas cards at public expense is governed by the principles of Managing Public Money, regulated by departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety, and must be in pursuit of specific Defence objectives. This year the MOD is increasing its use of E-cards however in some instances like, for veterans, Christmas cards remain the most appropriate means of communication.

Staff Christmas parties and building decorations are paid for from non-public funds or staff subscription. The exception is the contracted-out facilities management services for MOD Whitehall buildings, which did include an annual £5,000 provision for Christmas decorations, of which £4,000 was spent in 2007. This element of the contract has subsequently been removed.

Trading Fund expenditure is not included in this response as they are outside the MOD's departmental boundary for financial reporting purposes.

Defence: Procurement

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the cost of (a) the procurement of the new carriers, (b) the procurement of the Joint Strike Fighter, (c) the Trident replacement programme, (d) procurement of the Type 45 destroyers, (e) the Future Rapid Effects System and (f) the costs of upgrading naval bases for the new carriers in each year to 2013. [234216]

Mr. Quentin Davies: We do not as a rule release annual funding profiles as these are planning assumptions that are inevitably subject to a significant amount of variation, and their availability could also prejudice our commercial interests.

Total estimated costs for the projects are as follows:

(a) Procurement of new aircraft carriers: the estimated procurement cost, as approved at the Main Gate investment decision, is £3,900 million.

(b) Joint Strike Fighter: the estimated cost, as set out in the Ministry of Defence Major Projects Report 2007, is £1,858 million, of which £965 million was spent as of 31 March 2007. This estimate is for costs associated with the system development and demonstration phase of the Joint Combat Aircraft programme. The total procurement cost is likely to be up to £10 billion depending upon the number of aircraft required.

(c) Trident replacement: The estimated cost will be in the range of £11-14 billion (at 2006-07 prices) for the submarines and propulsion units, for a four boat solution, as set out in the Government's White Paper, 'The Future of the United Kingdom's Nuclear Deterrent' (December 2006, Cm 6994).

(d) Type 45 destroyers: the estimated procurement cost, as set out in the Ministry of Defence Major Projects Report 2007, is £6,464 million, of which £3,477 million was spent as of 31 March 2007.

(e) Future Rapid Effects System: the estimated cost for the assessment phase as set out in the Ministry of Defence Major Projects Report 2007 is £618 million. The cost of this programme will not be fixed until the main investment decision is taken.

(f) Cost of upgrading naval bases: The estimated cost of upgrading the naval bases for the new carriers is £112 million.

Floods: Thames Estuary

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the advice provided by the Meteorological Office to the Environment Agency on the effects of climate change in the South East in relation to flood risk management in the Thames Estuary. [236754]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Environment Agency is planning to publish the science reports it commissioned from the Met Office in April 2009, in conjunction with the release of the public consultation of the draft TE2100 plan. In the meantime the Environment Agency will make arrangements to place summary reports of the findings in the Library of the House.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what progress has been made towards apprehending those allegedly responsible for the killing of six members of the Royal Military Police in a police station at Majar al-Kabir, near Basra, Iraq, in June 2003; and if he will make a statement. [237612]

Mr. Hutton: Following recent operations by Iraqi and Coalition Security Forces in Maysaan Province an individual has been detained in connection with the investigation into the murder of six members of the Royal Military Police at Al Majar Al Kabir on 24 June 2003.

The UK Government remain absolutely committed to bringing to justice all those responsible for these horrific murders and will continue to provide assistance to the Iraqi authorities as required.

Military Aircraft

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what his most recent estimate is of the annual cost of (a) maintaining and (b) operating (i) the VC10 and (ii) the Tristar fleet. [236725]

Mr. Quentin Davies: A number of areas within the Department incur maintenance and operating expenditure on the RAF's VC10 and Tristar fleets. The financial information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at a disproportionate cost. The figures provided in the following table are the estimated logistic support costs of Defence Equipment and Support that can be directly attributed to the two aircraft fleets in the current financial year.

Financial year 2008-09

| Aircraft | £ million |
| TriStar | 29 |

Notes:
1. DE and S staff costs are not included.
2. Costs have been rounded to the nearest million.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) Merlin HM MK1 helicopters and (b) Nimrod MR2 aircraft are stationed in the UK. [237072]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Currently, within the effective fleets, there are 33 Merlin HM Mk 1 aircraft and 15 Nimrod MR2 aircraft stationed in the UK.

Military Aircraft: Repairs and Maintenance

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) target and (b) actual number of (i) BAE and (ii) RAF maintenance staff is at RAF Marham. [237066]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The number of RAF service personnel and BAE Systems personnel employed on forward and depth maintenance at RAF Marham are set out in the following table.

| | Target | Actual |
| BAE Systems personnel | 541 | 513 |
| RAF service personnel[1] | 1,890 | 1,727 |

[1] Actual figures include 20 RAF personnel on temporary detachment from RAF Coningsby.

Military Bases: Helicopters

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) when he expects to announce decisions arising from Project Belvedere; [237373]

(2) what the latest estimate is of the costs of Project Belvedere; [237374]

(3) how many officials are working on Project Belvedere; and who is in charge of their work; [237375]

(4) what progress has been made on Project Belvedere; [237376]

(5) what estimate he has made of likely helicopter noise levels in the area surrounding whichever base is decided on under Project Belvedere; [237378]

(6) how many helicopters would move to the centralised base under Project Belvedere. [237380]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Belvedere Programme is a complex study considering a number of airfields for the future Joint Helicopter Command (JHC) Battlefield Helicopter force and results are not expected to be announced until late summer 2009 following which further work to assess costs and environmental impact for the recommended option will be completed. The recommended option will be put to Ministers for announcement to Parliament in the usual way.

I am unable to comment on cost estimates at present as the final costs of the programme will depend on the basing option selected and there are currently a range of options being considered. As a final option has not yet been selected no decision has been made on the numbers of bases required and nor, therefore, on the numbers of helicopters that are to be based on each.

An assessment of the potential changes in noise levels at existing and potential helicopter bases is being initiated by the project team. Their assessment will, in turn, closely inform the evaluation of options.

The Belvedere Team consists of a dedicated team of 12 military and civilian officials, headed by a senior civil servant under the direction of a three Star military officer as the senior responsible owner (SRO). The SRO in turn, works under the strategic direction of the Defence Operating Board.

Navy: Detainees

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what procedures Royal Navy personnel are instructed to follow in circumstances where they detain people who then claim asylum; and how many people have claimed asylum after being taken into Royal Navy custody since 2001. [237600]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Naval personnel are issued with guidance on the applicable law and principles relating to the handling of persons claiming asylum including criminal suspects. Commanding officers of RN ships are not empowered to decide on whether an individual is entitled to refugee status; that is a matter for the Home Office. As a matter of practice the RN, after taking advice from other Government Departments, facilitates the asylum seeker's disembarkation at the next safe port of call in order that the individual can pursue their claim.

There is no record of any individual claiming asylum since 2001, having been first detained on a RN ship.

Navy: Piracy

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many incidents involving pirates the Royal Navy has been involved with in each of the last three months. [237810]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The number of pirate related incidents in each of the last three months which have involved the Royal Navy are:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| August | 0 |
| September | 1 |
| October | 2 |
| November | [1]4 |

[1] Incidents so far

Nuclear Weapons: Decommissioning

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps he has taken to increase the skills available to his Department, its agencies and bodies for which he is responsible for the dismantling of redundant (a) nuclear warheads, (b) nuclear submarine reactors and (c) nuclear production sites. [237105]

Mr. Quentin Davies: In common with the broader UK nuclear industry, the MOD recognises the long-term challenge of sustaining key nuclear skills. We are working closely with Cogent, the sector skills council that covers the nuclear industry, and with the industrial supply chain, including AWE plc. and Rolls-Royce Submarines as key suppliers on the Nuclear Weapon and Nuclear Propulsion programmes respectively. In addition, we liaise with the Nuclear Decommissioning Authority and the Department of Energy to ensure a coherent and co-ordinated approach with the civil nuclear industry and the sharing of best practice.

Within the MOD, a firm baseline for current and future skills requirements has been established and actions are being taken to address shortages. For example, we have significantly increased graduate recruitment and post-graduate training in the nuclear area and we are implementing advanced modern apprenticeships at a number of UK locations.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236892]

Mr. Kevan Jones: One complaint of racial abuse has been raised by a civilian member of staff in the last 12 months, which is currently the subject of investigation.

Somalia: Piracy

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many pirates have been captured off the coast of Somalia by HMS Cumberland; where they are being held; under which legal framework; and if he will make a statement. [237194]

Mr. Kevan Jones [holding answer 18 November 2008]: On 11 November Royal Marines from HMS Cumberland interdicted a Yemeni flagged fishing vessel which had been seized by suspected pirates in the Gulf of Aden. Eight suspected Somali pirates were held on board the Yemeni vessel and a Somali skiff during the investigation. They were then transferred by Royal Fleet Auxiliary vessel RFA Wave Knight to Kenyan authorities in Mombassa on 18 November. All Royal Navy counter-piracy operations are conducted in accordance with UK domestic and international law including the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea.

Tornado Aircraft: Repairs and Maintenance

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Tornado GR4 aircraft are awaiting maintenance at RAF Marham. [237065]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The number of aircraft awaiting forward maintenance at RAF Marham can vary from hour to hour and this information could be obtained by manually checking the records of every individual aircraft, which would only incur disproportionate cost.

As at 14 November 2008, 14 Tornado GR4 aircraft are awaiting depth maintenance at RAF Marham.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) contractually determined monthly throughput rate is of Tornado GR4s undergoing maintenance at RAF Marham and (b) the actual throughput rate for each of the last 12 months. [237067]

Mr. Quentin Davies: There is no contractually determined monthly throughput of Tornado GR4 aircraft undergoing depth maintenance at RAF Marham. Each Tornado GR4 aircraft undergoes depth maintenance after approximately 820 flying hours.

BAE Systems is responsible for providing aircraft into the Forward Available Fleet with an aggregate number of flying hours that is sufficient to meet the task agreed with the Front Line Command. The aggregate figure is known as the Bank of Flying Hours and its number reduces through RAF usage and is restored by aircraft completing depth maintenance. The flying hours available have been sufficient to meet deployed operational requirements.

Trident

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence on how many occasions during the initial gate period for the Trident submarine replacement programme he plans to produce a progress report to Parliament. [237103]

Mr. Quentin Davies: In accordance with the usual practice on major procurement projects, the first full progress report on the programme to maintain the UK's nuclear deterrent will be made after the Initial Gate for the new class of submarines. We expect to publish this report in autumn 2009. There are no plans as yet to provide an interim report.

USA: Nuclear Power

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many persons are seconded from (a) his Department and (b) the Atomic Weapons Establishment to United States Nuclear Research and Development establishments under the provisions of the 1958 UK-US Agreement for co-operation on the Uses of Atomic Energy for Mutual Defence purposes. [236867]

Mr. Quentin Davies: Numbers of United Kingdom personnel stationed in the United States under the auspices of the 1958 Mutual Defence Agreement vary in line with operational and other requirements. Currently there are no Ministry of Defence personnel and four personnel from the Atomic Weapons Establishment on secondment to the United States Nuclear Research and Development establishments under the provisions of the Mutual Defence Agreement.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Bees: Disease Control

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what representations he has received from the British Beekeepers' Association on levels of funding for protection of bee health. [234590]

Jane Kennedy: The Department has received a number of representations from the British Beekeepers' Association (BBKA) and its members. The Secretary of State met with the president of the association on the 7 October to discuss a number of honey bee issues, including levels of funding. I have recently received a petition from the BBKA on the same subject.

I also met recently with representatives from the Honey Association and the Bee Farmers Association to discuss their concerns regarding bee health.

Embassies: Waste Management

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer of 7 March 2008, Official Report, column 644W, on embassies: waste management, and of 9 January 2008, Official Report, column 636W, on waste disposal: domestic waste, whether the new charges for the collection of household waste will apply to foreign embassies which are composite hereditaments and domestic properties which are solely occupied by diplomats or will they be exempt under the 1961 Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations. [235051]

Jane Kennedy: Participation in a waste incentives scheme by diplomatic and consular agents would be on a voluntary basis.

Gypsum

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps he is taking to promote the recycling of waste gypsum. [236373]

Jane Kennedy: Since 2005, DEFRA has promoted and developed the recycling of waste gypsum—in the form of waste plasterboard—through the Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP).

WRAP's initiatives have helped all related industry sectors to contribute to diverting plasterboard waste from landfill, through waste reduction, reuse and recycling. These initiatives include:

Producing guidance for the construction sector on how to reduce plasterboard wastage through careful design and installation, and how to collect waste plasterboard so it can be recycled effectively;

Direct financial support for capital investment, which has increased plasterboard recycling capacity in the UK by more than 50,000 tonnes;

Increasing quality in the plasterboard recycling sector. This is being enabled through the publication (through the British Standards Institution) of a Publicly Available Specification (PAS109) which provides a standard for the production of recycled gypsum from waste plasterboard. This document supports work being undertaken jointly by WRAP and the Environment Agency to produce a quality protocol for this material, the effect of which will be to reduce the regulatory burden on the industry sectors, by regarding quality assured recycled gypsum as having ceased to be a waste;

Developing end use markets for recycled gypsum through research and trials, providing a demand pull for increasing plasterboard recycling; and Facilitating a voluntary agreement—the Ashdown Agreement—with the UK plasterboard manufacturers, under which they have made a commitment to increase the quantity of waste plasterboard recycled back into new plasterboard. This voluntary agreement is being extended to other sectors of the gypsum chain.

Severn Barrage: Nature Conservation

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the (a) species of flora and fauna which would be affected by the construction of a Severn Barrage and (b) effect on biodiversity in and around the Severn Estuary of such construction. [235337]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

On (a) the cross-Government Severn Tidal Power feasibility study has commissioned a Strategic Environmental Assessment (SEA) and assessing impacts on flora and fauna is an integral part of this process. To date, with the SEA still in the Phase 1 scoping stage, topic papers have been prepared to inform the assessment of impacts on 16 diverse topics, many of which concern flora and fauna including Fish and Fisheries, Ornithology, Marine ecology and Terrestrial and Freshwater ecology. These topic papers have identified further studies which would be required were the study to proceed to Phase 2, following a ministerial review, to enable the assessment of likely affects on flora and fauna to be made by the SEA.

On (b) possible effects on biodiversity in and around the Severn Estuary form an integral part of the topic papers as outlined. As well as the Severn Estuary itself, a range of sites with nature conservation designations connect with, or lie in the vicinity of, the Severn Estuary including the Rivers Usk and Wye, and have the potential to be affected by the development of any tidal power option in the Severn Estuary. The formal process of assessment, required under the Habitats Regulations, has commenced with a preliminary screening of sites designated at the European level with the potential to be affected. In addition consideration will be made of nationally designated sites (Sites of Special Scientific Interest) and local Biodiversity Action Plan habitats and species.

If the feasibility study continues, the proposed scope of the SEA will be published for public consultation early in the new year, together with the topic papers.

Waste Disposal: Fees and Charges

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to my hon. Friend the Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 401W, on waste disposal: council tax, (1) whether domestic properties with a (a) Class M and (b) Class N council tax exemption will be liable to pay the new charges for the collection of household waste being trialled in the waste incentive pilot areas; [235852]

(2) whether domestic properties with a Class V council tax exemption will be liable to pay the new charges for the collection of household waste being trialled in the waste incentive pilot areas. [235853]

Jane Kennedy: Pilot authorities will determine which households they wish a waste reduction scheme to cover.

Participation in a waste incentives scheme by diplomatic and consular agents would be on a voluntary basis.

WALES

Welsh Language: Railways

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Wales what discussions he has had with the Department for Transport, Virgin Trains and Great Western Trains regarding the use of the Welsh language in respect of rail services provided (a) in Wales and (b) across the border. [237846]

Mr. Paul Murphy: None.

ELECTORAL COMMISSION COMMITTEE

Electoral Register

Mrs. Laing: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission what the Electoral Commission's latest estimate is of the number of eligible people who are not on the electoral register. [236726]

Sir Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that its 2005 report, Understanding Electoral Registration, contains the most recent national estimate for non-registration for England and Wales. The percentage of the eligible household population not on the register at 15 October 2000 was estimated to be between 8 per cent. and 9 per cent., which was equivalent to approximately 3.5 million people.

The Commission further informs me that the most recent estimate for the number of eligible people aged 18 or older not on the Northern Ireland register was 15.5 per cent., which was equivalent to approximately 200,000 people. This estimate is drawn from the December 2007 Northern Ireland register and was published in the Commission's 2008 report Electoral Registration in Northern Ireland.

Both reports are available on the Commission's website.

Political Parties: Finance

Peter Luff: To ask the hon. Member for Gosport, representing the Speaker's Committee on the Electoral Commission pursuant to the answer of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 83W, on political parties: finance, when the Commission proposes to introduce any new requirements. [236233]

Sir Peter Viggers: The Electoral Commission informs me that its consultation closed on 3 October 2008. The majority of respondents welcomed the Commission's proposals to introduce a standard format for the submission of accounts, but a number of concerns were raised about the proposed timetable for implementation.

The Commission further informs me that it has considered these concerns carefully and has discussed them with some respondents to the consultation. As a result, the Commission has decided to continue to develop draft new standard requirements and guidance materials in discussion with the political parties, but will not now seek to make the new standard approach mandatory for accounts covering the financial year 2009.

The Commission anticipates that the new approach will become mandatory for accounts relating to the financial year 2010.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Members: Allowances

Jo Swinson: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission on what date the Commission expects to publish information relating to hon. Members' expenses following the judgment of the divisional court on 16 May 2008; and if he will make a statement. [237602]

Nick Harvey: Work is in train to prepare information relating to Members' expenses for publication. The House will be informed when a date for publication is known.

TRANSPORT

A40: Repairs and Maintenance

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what the (a) initial budget and (b) cost outturn was for the Highways Agency roadworks on the A40 at Over, Gloucestershire; [237594]

(2) what the reasons are for the delays in the completion of works to the A40 between Highnam and Over. [237595]

Paul Clark: The initial budget for the A40 scheme at Over was £10.8 million. The scheme is not yet complete, so it is too early to provide an outturn cost prior to the agreement of final accounts with all suppliers.

The scheme incorporates carriageway reconstruction, improved drainage, refurbishment of Over bridge, replacement of street lighting, upgrading of traffic signals, the renewal of safety fencing and construction of a bus lane in collaboration with Gloucestershire county council. Although this has made for a complex scheme, the Highways Agency consider it is essential to run these works together to avoid the need for unscheduled closures in the future.

The construction works commenced in May 2008 and were programmed to benefit from summer weather. Unfortunately the summer proved to be wetter than anticipated and this, together with the discovery of poorer ground conditions than anticipated, uncharted utilities equipment, and additional repairs to the Over bridge deck, has contributed to an extended programme.

Aviation: Greater London

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) flights and (b) low-flying flights to (i) Heathrow and (ii) London City airports there were in (A) 1997 and (B) at the latest date for which figures are available. [236784]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The following table shows the number of flights to Heathrow and London City airports in 1997 and 2007.

Flights to Heathrow and London City

Thousand

| | 1997 | 2007 |
|---|---|---|
| London City | 16 | 39 |

Source:
DfT analysis of Civil Aviation Authority data

The Department does not have data on low-flying flights.

Aviation: Noise

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the meaning is of the ferm bear down used in the Air Transport White Paper 2003 in relation to aircraft noise; and what the policy of bearing down on aircraft noise entails in relation to aircraft noise (a) across the UK and (b) in the vicinity of each UK airport. [237300]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 19 November 2008]: The 2003 The Future of Air Transport White Paper recognised that noise from aircraft operations at night was widely regarded as the least acceptable aspect of aircraft operations and gave a commitment to bear down on night noise accordingly. However the White Paper stated that a fair balance needed to be struck between local disturbance, the limits of social acceptability and the economic benefits of night flights. This should be done on a case-by-case basis.

The policy to bear down on night noise was expressed in general terms as were the other broad aims for night restrictions including

"to strike a fair balance between the protection of local communities from excessive aircraft noise levels at night and the provision of air services at night where they are of benefit of the national regional or local economy."

The Government consider the term to be self explanatory. As part of the recent court action brought by the London boroughs of Wandsworth and Richmond, the claimants argued that the 2006 night restrictions regime did not bear down on noise. The judge found against this argument.

Outside the three London designated airports where the Secretary of State has direct responsibility for noise abatement measures, the Government consider that local issues such as any noise impacts of a regional airport's operations are best discussed locally. This recognises the wide variation in operational circumstances at individual UK airports. Accordingly airport operators are expected to consult locally to help achieve a reasonable balance between the local environmental impacts, the limits of social acceptability and the economic benefits of the flights.

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the Government's policy is on reducing aircraft noise from (a) day and (b) night and early morning flights to and from Heathrow airport. [237301]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 19 November 2008]: The 2003 The Future of Air Transport White Paper set out the Government's basic aim to limit and, where possible, reduce the number of people in the UK significantly affected by aircraft noise.

Heathrow airport is designated under section 80 for the purposes of section 78 of the 1982 Civil Aviation Act. This means that the Secretary of State has direct responsibility for noise abatement measures at the airport. Current measures include noise limits, noise preferential routes, monitoring of aircraft noise and track keeping, and powers for the airport to charge by reference to noise. The airport also operates a number of operational procedures to mitigate against aircraft noise such as runway alternation.

As regards night flights, the Government recognise that noise from aircraft operations at night is widely regarded as the least acceptable aspect of aircraft operations and gave a commitment to bear down on night noise accordingly. However the White Paper stated that a fair balance needed to be struck between local disturbance, the limits of social acceptability and the economic benefits of night flights. This should be done on a case-by-case basis.

Accordingly there have been restrictions on the operation of night flights at Heathrow for many years. The current restrictions, which took effect from October 2006, recognise both a night period, (2300-0700 hours), and a night quota period, (2330-0600) hours. During the whole of the night period, the noisiest types of aircraft (classified as QC/8 or QC/16) may not be scheduled to land or to take off and they are effectively banned from doing so (other than in the most exceptional circumstances) in the night quota period. The next noisiest types (QC/4) may also no longer be scheduled to operate in the night quota period. In addition, during the night quota period movements by most other types of aircraft (including the new QC/0.25 category) will be restricted by a movements limit and a noise quota, which are set for each season. The seasons change with the clocks.

The current restrictions take account of environmental objectives and specific noise abatement objectives for Heathrow. These objectives were set out in the Night Flying Restrictions at Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted decision document of 6 June 2006 which announced the night noise arrangements for Heathrow, Gatwick and Stansted airports from October 2006 to October 2012.

Bus Services: Concessions

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the effect of the national bus concessionary fares scheme on community rail partnerships. [237779]

Paul Clark: At present the Department for Transport has not conducted any research into the effect of the national concession on community rail partnerships. Local authorities have the discretion to offer concessionary travel enhancements to other modes, including community rail, based on their assessment of local needs and circumstances, and many choose to do so. The Department has no immediate plans to extend the coverage of statutory concessions to community rail.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether his Department uses the Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages. [238121]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport uses the Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages.

Departmental Public Transport

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what proportion of his Department's staff use public transport to travel to and from work. [237618]

Mr. Hoon: The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Telephone Services

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much revenue the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency has received from the use of revenue sharing phone numbers in each of the last five years. [236192]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency has received the following amounts from its use of revenue sharing phone numbers for each of the last five years.

| 2007-08 | 3,381,649 |
| 2006-07 | 2,894,284 |
| 2005-06 | 2,423,517 |
| 2004-05 | 1,945,131 |
| 2003-04 | 874,965 |

The aforementioned figures include revenue from premium rate services provided for business rather than the public, as well as revenue from use of 0870 numbers.

DVLA are committed to following OFCOM advice on moving from 0870 numbers to 0300 numbers. This process is already under way but cannot be completed until OFCOM publishes its new guidance on the issue.

Driving Tests: Gravesham

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will estimate the additional average cost to learner drivers from Gravesham if the Gravesend Driving Test Centre is closed and they are subsequently required to travel to the location of an alternative test centre to practise and to take the test; and if he will make a statement; [236312]

(2) on what basis current and forecasted (a) population density, (b) traffic congestion and (c) journey time statistics were used to assess the viability of the Gravesend Driving Test Centre and alternative centres for learner drivers from Gravesham. [236313]

Jim Fitzpatrick: When considering relocating driving test centres DSA has regard to the resulting travelling distances, rather than traffic congestion or journey times. DSA's service distance criteria for practical car test candidates are:

| Population density | Distance criteria |
|---|---|
| 101-1249 km$^2$ | No more than 20 miles |
| 0-100 km$^2$ | No more than 30 miles |

The distance appropriate to the Gravesend area is 20 miles. The nearest alternatives are at Erith and Gillingham. These centres are within the 20 miles standard and have the capacity to absorb the extra demand without compromising the waiting time service target.

The closure of Gravesend Driving Test Centre should not significantly increase costs to learner drivers. Learner drivers need to practise on a variety of different roads, and should not focus on driving test routes at their chosen centre.

Heathrow Airport: Construction

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment his Department has made of the effect of a third runway at Heathrow Airport on the UK's ability to meet EU nitrogen oxide targets. [235010]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Our assessment of the nitrogen dioxide ($NO_2$) impacts of adding a third runway was set out in the "Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport" consultation last November and the supporting technical reports published at the same time.

Heathrow Airport: Public Transport

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will publish targets he has agreed with BAA for increasing the proportion of passengers arriving at and departing from Heathrow via public transport. [237957]

Jim Fitzpatrick: It is our policy, as stated in the 2003 Air Transport White Paper, that airport operators should share our objective to increase the proportion of air passengers accessing airports by public transport; and that airport surface access strategies should include targets to this end. They do not require Department for Transport approval.

Lorries: Safety

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will undertake research to evaluate the merits of mandatory fitting of Fresnel lens mirrors on (a) British and (b) foreign heavy goods vehicles. [237696]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We are already carrying out research to identify what more can usefully be done to improve vision for drivers of heavy goods vehicles. Once this work is completed we will be making detailed proposals for further improvements. However, we cannot take action unilaterally for British or foreign heavy goods vehicles because mandatory vehicle safety standards are drawn up and agreed at international level.

National Contingency Plan

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) if he will discuss with Ministerial colleagues the merits of amending the National Contingency Plan to incorporate cargo-related incidents; [237741]

(2) if he will make it his policy to introduce a comprehensive legislative framework to govern the recovery of cargo involved in shipping incidents in British waters. [237763]

Jim Fitzpatrick: I do not envisage introducing further legislative measures to address the recovery of cargo involved in shipping incidents in UK waters, because the merchant shipping legislation already contains a very broad range of provisions covering maritime safety and prevention of pollution. However, the practical aspects of dealing with cargo from a casualty could indeed be considered in the course of the next review of the National Contingency Plan. Indeed, Recommendation R.3 of the recent report from this Department's Maritime and Coastguard Agency entitled "MSC Napoli Incident: The Maritime and Coastguard Agency's Response" already includes text which proposes that, during the next review of the National Contingency Plan, the Maritime and Coastguard Agency

"could also cover mechanisms for dealing with beached material other than oil and chemicals".

Railways: Welsh Language

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what discussions he has had with First Great Western Trains and Virgin Trains on the use of the Welsh language in respect of (a) rail services provided in Wales and (b) cross-border rail services. [237845]

Paul Clark: The Secretary of State has had no discussions with First Great Western or Virgin Trains on the use of the Welsh language.

Rolling Stock

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what his Department's policy is on the involvement of rolling stock companies in the procurement and funding of new trains; [237925]

(2) what his Department's policy is on future private investment in the procurement and funding of new trains. [237926]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport's policy was most recently set out in the rolling stock plan published in January 2008, available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/rail/pi/rollingstock/rollingstockplan

Thames Gateway Crossing

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what financial contribution his Department plans to make to the Thames Gateway road crossing in (a) 2010-11, (b) 2011-12, (c) 2012-13, (d) 2013-14 and (e) 2014-15. [234336]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Transport for London Business Plan confirmed that the Mayor has now decided not to pursue the Thames Gateway Bridge project in the form submitted to the recent public inquiry. On that basis, the Department for Transport is expecting formal notification that the £350 million of PFI credits, offered by the Government to support the scheme, will not now be required. A decision on funding any alternative will, of course, be subject to the Mayor's decision as to what, if anything, should take the scheme's place.

TREASURY

Bank Services

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the proportion of depositors in Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander (Isle of Man) who were unable to bank in the UK because of overseas residence. [233632]

Ian Pearson: No such estimate has been made.

Bank Services: Charities

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 29 October 2008, Official Report, columns 1094-5W, on bank services, if he will put in place arrangements to support charities not covered by the Financial Services Compensation Scheme. [237716]

Ian Pearson: If a charity is eligible to claim compensation from the Financial Services Compensation Scheme, it will be entitled to benefit from these arrangements. Charities which are ineligible for FSCS compensation will be creditors of the failed banks in the normal way. Tailored guidance for charities is available on the Charity Commission's website at:

www.charitycommission.gov.uk.

Cash Dispensing

Mr. David Hamilton: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the written ministerial statement of 17 July 2008, Official Report, columns 37-38WS, on free cash machines (low-income areas), how many sites for the 600 proposed free automatic teller machines have now been identified. [237562]

Ian Pearson: As stated by the former Economic Secretary to the Treasury on 17 July 2008, the Government will issue a final statement on progress towards meeting the recommendations of the ATM Working Group, including the number of agreed sites, in December 2008.

Child Trust Fund: Wales

Alun Michael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the Child Trust Fund take-up rates were for (a) each constituency in Wales and (b) each ward in the Cardiff South and Penarth constituency in the latest period for which figures are available. [238127]

Ian Pearson: The latest constituency data on Child Trust Fund accounts was published on 6 November 2008 and can be viewed on HM Revenue and Customs website:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/ctf/cons-stats-oct08.pdf.

Statistics by wards are not available.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work and (b) provide assistance to his Department. [237150]

Angela Eagle: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 680W.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many page hits from how many visitors his Department's website received in 2007-08. [237151]

Angela Eagle: In 2007-08 18,686,268 pages were viewed by 3,174,007 visitors to:

www.hm-treasury.gov.uk

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the cost of maintaining his Department's website was in 2007-08; and what the forecast costs for maintaining websites within his responsibility are for the 2008-09 financial year. [237152]

Angela Eagle: I refer the right hon. Member to the answer given on 13 November 2008, Official Report, column 1312W, on website costs.

The forecast costs for maintaining websites within the Chancellor's responsibility in 2008-09 are as follows:

| Website address | Forecast costs 2008-09 (£) |
|---|---|
| www.hm-treasury.gov.uk | 185,193 |
| www.thegfp.treasury.gov.uk | 0 |
| www.isb.gov.uk | 9,750 |
| www.stakeholdersavings.gov.uk | 1 |
| www.ges.gov.uk | 0 |

[1] Unavailable

Until November the following sites were hosted on a shared server at a forecasted cost of £9,289. In November the sites were transferred to the servers which host the main website and costs are absorbed by the main site. The following table shows any additional forecast maintenance costs:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| www.gsr.gov.uk | |
| www.euro.gov.uk | 7,650 |
| www.financialinclusion-taskforce.org.uk | |
| www.financial-reporting.gov.uk | |

Maintenance costs includes direct costs, for example web hosting, support, and infrastructure.

Staff costs are not included in the forecast as they could be established only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Liability

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what dates in each of the last five years his Department informed the House of the creation of contingent liabilities relating to his Department or its non-departmental public bodies. [232722]

Angela Eagle: Details of contingent liabilities and related Treasury Minutes can be found in the Contingent Assets and Liabilities note to the relevant years' Resource Accounts. Copies of the Treasury's Resource Accounts are available from:

resource_accounting_and_budgeting_about_us.htm

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236934]

Angela Eagle: HM Treasury does not sponsor any non-departmental public bodies.

The remit and projected budgets for the organisations that make up the Treasury Group can be found in the Treasury's Annual Report: 2007-08. Copies of the Annual Report can be found on the Treasury's website and in Parliament's Library.

Members: Correspondence

John Penrose: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he plans to reply to the letters of 31 July and 8 September 2008 from the hon. Member for Weston-super-Mare on behalf of his constituent, Alex Layard. [237919]

Mr. Timms: I have replied to the hon. Member.

Non-Domestic Rates: Empty Property

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 10 September 2008, Official Report, column 1988W, on empty property: regeneration, whether his Department has received representations from urban regeneration companies on the effect of increases in empty property business rates since that Answer was given. [235106]

Angela Eagle: Treasury Ministers and officials receive representations from a wide range of organisations and individuals in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of such representations.

Revenue and Customs: Databases

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 103-4W, on Revenue and Customs: databases, what personal details are held on the central frameworks database. [237508]

Mr. Timms: Personal attributes held for individuals are:

NINO-national insurance number;
Surname
First Name;
Second Forename;
Initials;
Title;
Honours;
Sex;
Date of Birth;
Date of Death;
Address.

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 103-4W, on Revenue and Customs: databases, what guidelines there are on (a) the addition of an individual's personal details to and (b) the confidentiality of records held on the central frameworks database. [237509]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs is statutorily obliged to safeguard personal information and all staff have a responsibility for data security, with a view to ensuring that personal details are only made available to those legally entitled to them.

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 103-4W, on Revenue and Customs: databases, what estimate his Department has made of the annual cost of maintaining the central frameworks database. [237510]

Mr. Timms: The service charges for the 2007-08 financial year were £7.5 million.

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 103-4W, on Revenue and Customs: databases, what the definition is of a business need required to allow staff access to the Taxpayer Business Service. [237511]

Mr. Timms: In the context of the Taxpayer Business Service, a business need is defined as a purpose which is connected solely, and wholly, to matters for which H.M. Revenue and Customs has statutory responsibility.

Revenue and Customs: South West

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment his Department has made of the effect of the proposed closure of the Penzance HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) office upon (a) net average incomes in the area, (b) HMRC's services to the public, (c) the cost of accommodation in the area, (d) HMRC relocation costs and expenses and (e) the local economy; and what other effects his Department has assessed. [237089]

Mr. Timms: HMRC has reviewed all its accommodation to align it to future business requirements, and thereby create efficiency savings and reduce overall accommodation costs. It has proposed closing the Penzance office because, with the exception of the inquiry centre offering face to face advice to HMRC customers, the business units which are currently represented there can operate more efficiently by consolidating in fewer locations. No final decision has yet been taken on the future of the Penzance office.

If the office were to close, HMRC expects most staff to relocate to another office within reasonable daily travel. They would be given help with any additional travelling expenses. There would thus be little effect either on net average incomes or on the local economy.

Whatever the decision on the future of the Penzance office, HMRC services to the public will be unaffected as the inquiry centre services will remain in Penzance and will be staffed according to customer demand.

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many of the 21 HM Revenue and Customs offices in the Government office of the South West region which are to be closed or substantially closed under the Workforce Change proposals are (a) leased from Mapeley, (b) leased from another landlord and (c) owned by the Government; how many years remain on the lease of each relevant office; what costs or penalties will be incurred for bringing the lease to an early termination in each relevant case; and what assessment he has made of whether each such office is capable of being used for another purpose for the duration of the lease. [237090]

Mr. Timms: Of the 21 HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) offices identified for possible full or part closure by the Workforce Change proposals:

(a) 17 are included in its strategic transfer of the estate to the private sector (STEPS) contract with its estate partner, Mapeley;

(b) no offices are leased from another landlord; and

(c) four are locations where HMRC occupies space by arrangement with other Government Departments.

HMRC occupies the properties under the terms of the STEPS contract rather than by the terms of a traditional lease. This contract expires on 31 March 2021, but HMRC will be able to continue to occupy beyond this date and also has flexibility within the contract to vacate properties prior to this expiry date.

If, as it intends, HMRC makes use of the contract's flexibility allowances to vacate properties, its liability under the terms of the contract will terminate in line with its vacation. With that level of flexibility to exploit in the contract, there is no requirement to consider alternative purposes.

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the likely (a) cost and (b) savings associated with contracts for the lease of office premises resulting from the HM Revenue and Customs Workforce Change proposals for the Government Office of the South West. [237093]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs' (HMRC) work force change proposals for the south-west relate to office premises that are either held by inter-departmental (non-lease) arrangements with other Departments or are held under its 20-year STEPS (strategic transfer of the estate to the private sector) contract with its estates partner, Mapeley, which commenced in 2001. Instead of contracts for lease for these premises, HMRC occupies space under the terms of this contract. The STEPS contract provides HMRC with the flexibility to reduce a proportion of its estates holding without penalty subject to a notice period (usually 12 months). HMRC intends to fully utilise this flexibility to achieve office vacations at nil cost where possible to support the work force change proposals. An assessment of whether possible exit costs may be incurred, whether in the south-west or elsewhere, is dependent on the timing of the specific vacation and will be considered as part of HMRC's wider UK proposals as decisions are taken to vacate properties.

In the event that the proposals for the south-west are implemented, HMRC estimates that the resultant estates running costs savings would be approximately £3,991,000 per annum.

HEALTH

Asbestos: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people required treatment for asbestos-related conditions in Tamworth constituency in each year since 1997. [237325]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235032]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has ownership of two main websites. They are:

1. Department of Health website:

www.dh.gov.uk

2. NHS Choices:

www.nhs.uk

Number of unique visitors: April 2007 to March 2008

Department of Health website: 10,445,831

Costs of maintaining these two sites: April 2007 to March 2008

Department of Health website: £1.169 million

NHS Choices: £5.13 million

The NHS Choices service, which incorporates the original www.nhs.uk site, was launched in June 2007. NHS Choices is a new service for communicating with citizens and stakeholders in healthcare, health improvement and social care, the public and the media.

The Department has signed a contract with Capita plc to drive forward the NHS Choices service for the next three years. This investment demonstrates the Department of Health's commitment to secure the ongoing delivery and development of NHS/Department of Health digital services to the public. This contract is valued at £60 million-£80 million for the three years.

NHS Choices has increased rapidly since its introduction, with recorded visits in excess of three million for October 2008.

In addition to the two main websites above, the Department currently funds and/or manages a further 99 websites.

The Department is actively engaged in reducing this number of websites, in accordance with the guidelines and timescales set for website rationalisation under Transformational Government. By the end of this project in 2011, all 99 websites will have been closed.

To gather visitor figures and maintenance costs for these 99 would incur disproportionate costs.

Diabetes: Hampshire

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of (a) type 1 and (b) type 2 diabetes have been diagnosed in people of each age group in each primary care trust area in Hampshire in each of the last five years. [237225]

Ann Keen: Information is not collected in the format requested. Information is available from 2004-05 from the Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) about patients who are on diabetes disease registers, which is not the same as the number of people diagnosed with diabetes each year. This information does not distinguish between type 1 and type 2 diabetes, nor is it separated into different age groups.

The following table shows the number of patients aged 17 and over who were on diabetes disease registers in primary care trusts (PCTs) in Hampshire from 2004-05 to 2007-08.

Number of patients on diabetes disease registers in Hampshire PCTs

| PCT name | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Blackwater Valley and Hart PCT | 5,204 | 5,606 | n/a | n/a |
| East Hampshire PCT | 7,465 | 7,864 | n/a | n/a |
| Eastleigh and Test Valley South PCT | 4,398 | 4,669 | n/a | n/a |
| Fareham and Gosport PCT | 6,581 | 6,900 | n/a | n/a |
| Mid-Hampshire PCT | 4,807 | 4,956 | n/a | n/a |
| New Forest PCT | 5,920 | 6,387 | n/a | n/a |
| North Hampshire PCT | 6,119 | 6,567 | n/a | n/a |
| Hampshire PCT | n/a | n/a | 43,758 | 46,491 |

n/a = Not applicable.

Notes:

1. Hampshire PCT was created on 1 October 2006 from a complete merger of Blackwater Valley and Hart PCT, East Hampshire PCT, Eastleigh and Test Valley South PCT, Fareham and Gosport PCT, Mid-Hampshire PCT, New Forest PCT and North Hampshire PCT.
2. Patients will contribute to the QOF figures only if they are registered with a general practice participating in the QOF.
3. QOF data is collected annually and includes only people with diabetes aged 17 and over.
4. Figures are not available broken down into type 1 and type 2 diabetes.

Doctors: Training

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what plans he has to provide doctors with training on communication with patients about the costs of different treatment approaches. [236837]

Ann Keen: In his report 'Improving access to medicines for NHS patients', a copy of which has already been placed in the Library, Professor Mike Richards recommended that doctors who are likely to have conversations with patients about unfunded treatments should ensure that they have the necessary communication skills to give patients the information they need on the risks, benefits and costs involved in any potential treatment. The Secretary of State has accepted this recommendation, and has asked Professor Richards to take this work forward as quickly as possible. Professor Richards has started this piece of work and is aiming for the training to be rolled out following the development and successful piloting and evaluation of a training 'module'.

Drugs: Internet

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what steps his Department is taking to prevent the sale of untested and illegal pharmaceutical drugs via the internet; and if he will make a statement; [237674]

(2) what correspondence his Department has received in support of an increase in penalties for individuals selling untested pharmaceuticals on the internet; and if he will make a statement. [237675]

Dawn Primarolo: The Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) actively monitors the availability of medicines being offered online using specialist equipment and resources focused on identifying websites operating within the UK. Robust action is taken when illegal activity is detected.

Several initiatives are under way to communicate risks posed by online supply of medicines to consumers and potential customers, both by MHRA acting as regulator or in conjunction with relevant organisations such as the Royal Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain.

MHRA is not aware of any specific correspondence relating to increasing the penalties with regard to selling medicines via the internet. Penalties under medicines legislation extend to a maximum of two years imprisonment and/or an unlimited fine.

General Practitioners: Cambridgeshire

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what savings were made by GP practices in the NHS Cambridgeshire area through the practice-based commission scheme in 2007-08; [235718]

(2) what the savings were of each GP practice under the practice-based commissioning scheme in the NHS Cambridgeshire (formerly Cambridgeshire Primary Care Trust) area, ranked in order from the highest to the lowest level of savings. [236251]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not collect information centrally on the level of savings achieved at a local level by practice based commissioners.

General Practitioners: Pharmacy

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) if he will take steps to ensure that the availability of over-the-counter medicines from GP dispensing practices proposed in the Pharmacy White Paper does not affect the viability of community pharmacies in non-rural areas; [236486]

(2) what form the peer review audit of the Medicines Use Reviews (MURs) by primary care trusts proposed in the Pharmacy White Paper will take; and whether general practitioners will have a role in selecting patients for MURs. [236487]

Phil Hope: Consultation on a number of proposals for legislative and structural reform to national health service pharmaceutical services arising from the White Paper "Pharmacy in England: Building on strengths—delivering the future" closed on 20 November 2008.

This included five options to permit the sale of over the counter medicines by general practitioner dispensing practices. We published our assessment of the impact of these proposals, including on other providers such as pharmacies, alongside that consultation. We are updating these assessments in the light of responses received. We will decide which, if any, option to pursue after full consideration.

The White Paper makes clear we are concerned that the provision of Medicines Use Review (MUR) services is currently geared to rewarding the volume of MURs undertaken. NHS primary care trusts are concerned that MUR services are not being targeted to local needs and patient priorities and that their quality is inconsistent. We believe it is necessary for MUR services to be prioritised to meet health needs. NHS Employers and the Pharmaceutical Services Negotiating Committee is therefore discussing a mechanism for delivering this objective and ensuring funding rewards health outcomes. We hope general practitioners will support the local development of MUR services by advising on how best health needs can be targeted.

Health Centres

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 83W, on health centres, what the potential risks of starting a new service are. [235605]

Mr. Bradshaw: The potential risks are similar to those from starting any new primary care service including: variations in patient volumes, the contract value set at the wrong level and services are in the wrong place or do not meet the needs of local people. However, the process being used by primary care trusts to secure these new services provides an effective way to manage these risks.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 20 October 2008, Official Report, column 64W, on health centres, what assessment his Department has made of the likely effects on revenues of (a) an existing GP practice and (b) a new GP-led health centre in circumstances where a patient deregisters with the existing GP practice and reregisters at the GP-led health centre. [235723]

Mr. Bradshaw: Where a patient chooses to leave their existing registered practice to register with a new General Practitioner (GP)-led health centre, the existing practice's registered population will decrease by one, and its global sum weighted capitation payment will reduce proportionately. The new GP-led health centre will be paid according to the contract with the primary care trust on the basis of an agreed local, equitable price per patient.

Hospitals: Waiting Lists

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many GP referrals were made for (a) inpatient and (b) outpatient treatment in each of the last eight quarters. [237155]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not collect centrally the number of General Practitioner (GP) referrals made for in-patient treatment.

The total number of GP referrals for a first consultant out-patient appointment in the last eight quarters are shown in the following table.

GP written referrals for first out-patient appointment (consultant-led), all specialties, England, provider based

| Quarter | GP Referrals Made |
|---|---|
| September 2006 | 2,338,430 |
| December 2006 | 2,247,374 |
| March 2007 | 2,353,613 |
| June 2007 | 2,321,413 |
| September 2007 | 2,401,911 |

Hospitals: Yorkshire and Humber

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many delayed discharges there were from (a) the Friarage Hospital, Northallerton, (b) York District Hospital and (c) Harrogate Hospital in the latest period for which figures are available. [237174]

Ann Keen: This information is not held centrally.

Maternity Services

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 524W, on maternity services, what (a) standalone midwifery units and (b) midwifery units situated alongside consultant-led units there are in each region of England. [238541]

Ann Keen: The following table shows the number of standalone midwifery units and the number of midwife led units situated alongside consultant led units by strategic health authority (SHA).

| SHA | Standalone units | Units situated alongside consultant led units |
|---|---|---|
| East Midlands | 3 | 1 |
| East of England | 5 | 3 |
| London | 2 | 7 |
| North East | 4 | 0 |
| North West | 4 | 3 |
| South Central | 10 | 4 |
| South East Coast | 3 | 0 |

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 524W, on maternity services, when the Clinical Negligence Scheme for Trusts came into operation. [238542]

Ann Keen: The Clinical Negligence Scheme for Trusts (CNST) came into operation on 1 March 1996. The scheme may only apply to claims made against member bodies where the incident took place on or after 1 April 1995. Further information about CNST can be obtained from the NHS Litigation Authority's website at:

Melanotan

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what recent discussions he has had with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) on the use of melanotan; and whether NICE is undertaking any work in relation to melanotan. [237651]

Dawn Primarolo: We have not had any discussions with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) on the use of melanotan and NICE is not undertaking any work in relation to this drug.

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions his Department has had with regulators on the safety of Melanotan. [237675]

Dawn Primarolo: Medicinal products are regulated by the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA), part of the Department of Health. The MHRA considers that the unlicensed, injectible products Melanotan I and II fall within the definition of a medicinal product. Unlicensed medicinal products may not be advertised or placed on the market. As the Melanotan products are not licensed, the MHRA has no data to show that they are safe or of good quality.

Mental Health Services: Hospital Beds

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many mental health beds are in (a) single rooms and (b) mixed areas. [237611]

Ann Keen: At 31 March 2008, the number of single bedded rooms in mental health trusts was 17,894 and the number of beds not in single rooms was 5,454. These figures do not include mental health beds provided by other trusts.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the cost of providing all mental health unit beds in single sex accommodation. [237167]

Ann Keen: The Department estimated the cost of achieving 100 per cent. single bedrooms in mental health trusts and community with mental health trusts as being £3.9 billion at current prices earlier this year.

NHS Direct: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people in the Enfield Primary Care Trust area have consulted NHS Direct in each year since 2000. [235405]

Mr. Bradshaw: The information is not available in the format requested. Such information as is available is in the following table.

Calls to NHS Direct 0845 line from the Enfield PCT area

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2001 | 6,642 |
| 2002 | 11,245 |
| 2003 | 12,290 |
| 2004 | 12,493 |
| 2005 | 12,077 |
| 2006 | 22,813 |
| 2007 | 22,444 |

Data are available only from 2001 onwards.

NHS: ICT

Jeremy Wright: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend East of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 444W, on medical records: data protection, when the Information Commissioner made the statement on new NHS systems referred to in the answer; and if he will publish in full the document containing the statement. [236519]

Mr. Bradshaw: The views attributed to the Information Commissioner in the answer are taken from two sources. The first is the second paragraph of the Information Commissioner's response to the consultation, launched in October 2002, on the Department's 'Information for Life' confidentiality proposals. The other is a statement the Commissioner made in a document he published in January 2007 in the wake of inquiries he had received from people who had seen articles in the media relating to the introduction of electronic care records. The consultation response has been placed in the Library. The published statement is available from the Information Commissioner's Office website at:

http://www.ico.gov.uk/about_us/news_and_views/current_topics/NHS_electronic_care_records.aspx

NHS: Negligence

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much has been paid out by the NHS in compensation to patients in each of the last three years; and how much has been paid out in legal costs in connection with medical negligence compensation cases by each English hospital trust outside London in each of those years. [236774]

Ann Keen: The information requested has been placed in the Library. The information was obtained from the NHS Litigation Authority.

NHS: Standardisation

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many NHS organisations are members of GS1. [237036]

Ann Keen: On 18 November 2008, there were 164 registrations of national health service organisations in England with GS1. In most cases these are for individual hospital sites, and in some cases individual departments within hospitals, as the number of items requiring coding in some large departments warrants an individual registration.

Of these 164, 59 are actively using coding at the present time. The remainder are developing implementation plans.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of (a) medicines and (b) medical supplies to the NHS are being supplied with GS1 standardised barcodes. [237037]

Ann Keen: These figures are not held centrally.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many automated dispensing systems are in place in the NHS. [237038]

Ann Keen: The purchase of automated dispensing systems is an investment decision for local national health service organisations, and definitive figures are not held centrally. As of March 2008, the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency was aware of approximately 75 automated dispensing systems in hospital pharmacy departments across the United Kingdom, of which seven are in Wales, and the remainder in England.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of patients involved in safety incidents in NHS organisations which (a) are and (b) are not members of GS1. [237039]

Ann Keen: The most recently published data from the National Patient Safety Agency's (NS reporting and learning system (RLS) indicate that during the period April to June 2008, 276,839 incidents were submitted to the RLS from 377 national health service organisations in England and Wales. This information has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the NPSA's website at: www.npsa.nhs.uk/nrls/patient-safety-incident-data/quarterly-data-reports. Analysis to compare the numbers of incidents in organisations that are and are not registered with GS1 is not available currently.

North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust: Doctors

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many doctors per 100,000 residents there were in the area covered by the North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust in each year between 1997 and 2007. [237119]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested. However, the following table shows all doctors[1] by specified organisations[2] as at 30 September 2002-07.

General and personal medical services and hospital and community health services (HCHS)

| | | Total specified organisations | North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust (PCT) | Selby and York PCT | Hambleton and Richmondshire PCT | Craven, Harrogate and Rural District PCT | Scarborough, Whitby and Ryedale PCT |

[1] Excludes medical hospital practitioners and medical clinical assistants, most of whom are general practitioners working part time in hospitals
[2] These figures exclude HCHS Doctors that work in Hospital Trusts within the area

Notes:
1. Prior to 2002 PCTs did not exist. Therefore it is not possible to map the trusts contained within the table back any further than this with any degree of accuracy.
2. North Yorkshire and York PCT was created on 1 October 2006 from a complete merger of Craven, Harrogate and Rural District PCT, Hambleton and Richmondshire PCT, Scarborough, Whitby and Ryedale PCT and Selby and York PCT.
3. Data quality: Work force statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 national health service trusts and PCTs in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust: Pay

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much was spent by North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust on salaries and wages for (a) general and senior managers, (b) nurses and midwives and (c) administrative and clerical staff in each year since its creation. [237173]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected in the format requested.

|---|---|---|
| Managers and Senior Managers | 11,709 | 10,442 |
| Nursing, Midwifery and Health Visiting Staff | 56,930 | 54,628 |
| Administrative and Clerical Staff | 10,427 | 12,076 |

Notes:
1. North Yorkshire and York PCT was established on 1 October 2006 from four dissolving PCTs: Hambleton and Richmondshire PCT; Craven, Harrogate and Rural District PCT; Scarborough, Whitby and Ryedale PCT; and Selby and York PCT.
2. The 2006-07 figures include data for the four former PCTs for the first six months of the financial year plus North Yorkshire and York PCT for the second half of the year and may be distorted due to the merger. It is not possible to split the data between the former PCTs and North Yorkshire and York PCT.
3. Data are from the 2006-07 and 2007-08 financial returns for North Yorkshire and York PCT. These data are not audited but are validated to the audited financial monitoring and accounts forms.
4. Data include salaries and wages, social security costs and pension contributions. It is not possible to separately identify salaries and wages for these groups of staff.
5. Figures include permanently employed staff and non-national health service (NHS) staff (eg agency staff).

Oral Health

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 826W, on employment of oral health specialists, what steps his Department is taking to implement the recommendations of the Choosing Better Oral Health report. [237131]

Ann Keen: In September 2007 we published 'Delivering Better Oral Health: An evidence-based toolkit for prevention' which contains guidance to dentists and members of dental teams care teams on oral health promotion, prevention of dental disease and advice to primary care trusts on commissioning these services. A copy of the publication has been placed in the Library. Earlier this year the Chief Dental Officer and colleagues contributed to three regional conferences on implementation of the toolkit. Our oral health promotion programme has also included reforming the legislation governing the fluoridation of water to give communities with high levels of dental disease a real option of having their water fluoridated. And we continue to promote the Brushing for Life scheme whereby health visitors and other health professionals give families with young children a free pack containing a tube of fluoridated toothpaste, a toothbrush and a leaflet on oral hygiene. To provide for appropriately trained staff to undertake these tasks we are conducting a review of dental public health capacity which addresses the requirement for consultants in dental public health and oral health improvement officers.

Pharmacy: Winchester

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many prescription items have been dispensed (a) by dispensing doctors in Winchester and the Meon Valley and (b) in the community by community pharmacists, appliance contractors and dispensing doctors in Winchester and the Meon Valley in each of the last three years. [237671]

Phil Hope: Data are not collected in the format requested. The number of prescription items that have been dispensed in the community by community pharmacists, appliance contractors and by dispensing doctors is available for primary care trusts (PCTs) in England. The figures are based on a one in 20 sample of prescriptions. It is not possible to separate the figures for community pharmacists and appliance contractors so the combined figure is given in each case. The figures provided are for the PCT which is the closest match to the Winchester and the Meon Valley, namely Hampshire PCT and its predecessor bodies[1].

|---|---|---|---|

Phenylketonuria

Sir Peter Viggers: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of phenylketonuria have been diagnosed in the last 12 months; and how many of these have led to a grant of disability living allowance. [235574]

Ann Keen: Information on diagnosis is not available in the format requested. However, Hospital Episode Statistics show that in 2006-07 there were 15 finished admission episodes where the primary diagnosis was classic phenylketonuria (PKU). These admissions do not represent the number of inpatients as a patient may have been admitted to hospital more than once. Nor do they represent instances where PKU may have been diagnosed in a primary care setting and the patient was not admitted to hospital for treatment.

The number of claims for a disability living allowance, following a diagnosis of PKU, is a matter for the Department for Work and Pensions.

Sexually Transmitted Diseases: Young People

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate his Department has made of the number of 16 to 25 year olds who have been screened for sexually transmitted infections in each strategic health authority area. [237077]

Dawn Primarolo: Data on the number of sexual health screens in genitourinary medicine (GUM) clinics by age group are not available centrally. The following table gives the total number of sexual health screens in GUM in 2007 (the latest date for which figures are available), in each strategic health authority (SHA).

In addition to GUM screens, the National Chlamydia Screening programme (NCSP) has been screening for chlamydia since 2003. The following table includes the number of 16 to 24-year-olds tested between 1 January and 30 September 2008, in each SHA.

| SHA Name | Sexual health screens in GUM clinics | Total number of chlamydia tests by the NCSP |
|---|---|---|
| East Midlands | 70,268 | 18,019 |
| East of England | 94,113 | 23,960 |
| London | 294,568 | 64,854 |
| North East | 43,413 | 19,607 |
| North West | 128,787 | 70,145 |
| South Central | 75,534 | 27,042 |

| SHA Name | Sexual health screens in GUM clinics | Total number of chlamydia tests by the NCSP |

1. The data available from the KC60 statutory returns are for screens and diagnoses made in GUM clinics only. Diagnoses made in other clinical settings, such as general practice, are not recorded in the KC60 dataset.
2. The data available from the KC60 statutory returns are the number of sexual health screens conducted, not the number of patients screened. Individual patients may have had more than one screen throughout the year.
3. Data are by area of GUM clinic and not patients' area of residence.
4. The information provided has been adjusted for missing clinic data.
5. Sexual health screens in GUM clinics include a test for chlamydia and gonorrhoea as a minimum. Testing for HIV and syphilis may also be included.

7. The data available from the NCSP are the number of tests conducted and not the number of patients seen.
8. Data are based on SHA of residence.
9. The data presented includes all tests done through the NCSP, which includes screening tests, diagnostic tests, and tests of sexual contacts.

Slaughterhouses: Inspections

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many inspections of abattoirs were conducted by the Meat Hygiene Service in each of the last five years; and what the average number of inspections was during the period. [237676]

Dawn Primarolo: The Meat Hygiene Service is responsible for official controls in all approved fresh meat establishments including abattoirs. It carries out these controls in abattoirs through ante and post-mortem inspection of every animal/carcase and, through audit, on a risk-based frequency, of operator compliance with all relevant legislation.

Surgery: Waiting Lists

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average waiting times for (a) heart and (b) cancer operations in the area covered by South Staffordshire primary care trust were in the last 12 months. [237329]

Ann Keen: The information is not collected in the format requested. However, figures for median days waited for a heart operation and finished consultant episodes where a heart operation was the main or secondary procedure where South Staffordshire Primary Care Trust (PCT) was the PCT of responsibility in 2006-07 are shown in the following table.

National health service hospitals England and activity performed in the independent sector in England commissioned by English NHS.

| South Staffordshire PCT of responsibility | 2006-07 |
|---|---|
| Finished consultant episodes | 3,080 |

1. 2006-07 is the most recent currently available annual data.
2. Time waited (days)—Time waited statistics from HES are not the same as the published waiting list statistics. HES provides counts and time waited for all patients admitted to hospital within a given period, whereas the published waiting list statistics count those waiting for treatment on a specific date and how long they have been on the waiting list. HES also calculates the time waited as the difference between the admission and decision to admit dates. Unlike published waiting list statistics, this is not adjusted for self-deferrals or periods of medical/social suspension.
3. Finished consultant episode (FCE)—An FCE is defined as a period of admitted patient care under one consultant within one health care provider. FCEs are counted against the year in which the FCE finishes. Please note that the figures do not represent the number of patients, as a person may have more than one episode of care within the year.
4. Number of episodes with a (named) main or secondary procedure—These figures represent the number of episodes where the procedure (or intervention) was recorded in any of the 24 (12 from 2002-03 to 2006-07 and four prior to 2002-03) operative procedure fields in a HES record. A record is only included once in each count, even if the procedure is recorded in more than one operative procedure field of the record. Please note that more procedures are carried out than episodes with a main or secondary procedure. For example, patients under going a 'cataract operation' would tend to have at least two procedures—removal of the faulty lens and the fitting of a new one—counted in a single episode.
5. Main procedure—The main procedure is the first recorded procedure or intervention in the HES data set and is usually the most resource intensive procedure or intervention performed during the episode. It is appropriate to use main procedure when looking at admission details, (eg time waited), but a more complete count of episodes with a particular procedure is obtained by looking at the main and the secondary procedure.
6. Data quality—HES are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and PCTs in England. Data are also received from a number of independent sector organisations for activity commissioned by the English NHS. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data via HES processes. While this brings about improvement over time, some shortcomings remain.
7. Ungrossed data—Figures have not been adjusted for shortfalls in the data, i.e. the data are ungrossed.

Statistics on average waiting times for cancer patients and average waiting times for different types of cancer treatment are not collected centrally. Cancer waiting times' standards of a maximum wait of 31 days from diagnosis to first cancer treatment, and a maximum wait of 62 days from urgent referral for suspected cancer to first cancer treatment were introduced for all cancer patients from December 2005. In the last quarter (April to June 2008) national performance against these standards was 99.6 per cent. and 97.1 per cent. respectively.

Tuberculosis

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the (a) number and (b) proportion of persons treated for tuberculosis who were living in (i) private and (ii) social housing in the last year for which figures are available. [237261]

Dawn Primarolo: This data are not collected centrally. The Health Protection Agency does not collect data on type of residence of tuberculosis cases.

York Hospitals NHS Trust: Manpower

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many full-time equivalent (a) medical consultants, (b) other medical staff, (c) nurses, (d) other professional staff, (e) administrative and clerical staff and (f) auxiliary staff were employed by York NHS Trust, excluding those transferred to Selby and York Primary Care Trust, in all its areas of activity in each year since 1996-97. [236885]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the required format.

Information on national health service staff in the York Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust by main staff group as at 30 September each specified year is shown in the following table. It is not possible to exclude the number of staff who transferred to Selby and York primary care trust.

Notes:

1. In 2002, a number of staff migrated from York Hospitals NHS Trust to form Selby and York PCT. It is impossible to identify and retroactively remove the numbers of these staff from earlier years.
2. Full-time equivalent figures are rounded to the nearest whole number.
3. Work force statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 NHS trusts and primary care trusts in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens, any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level, they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level, this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Members: Allowances

Mr. Moss: To ask the Leader of the House how many hon. Members have been required to make repayments of their communications allowance following investigations by the Standards and Privileges Committee since the allowance was introduced; and how much was repaid in each case. [236584]

Chris Bryant: The communications allowance was introduced at the beginning of the 2007-08 financial year. Since that time, five Members have repaid a total of £16,811.51 following inquiries by the Parliamentary Commissioner for Standards which were reported to the Committee. The figures are as follows:

| | Member | £ |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 | Sadiq Khan | 500 |
| 2007-08 | Elfyn Llwyd | 5,169.82 |
| 2007-08 | Adam Price | 5,471.55 |
| 2007-08 | Hywel Williams | 5,170.14 |
| 2008-09 | Mark Hunter | 500 |
| Total | | 16,811.51 |

Members: Pensions

Paul Rowen: To ask the Leader of the House how many hon. Members have chosen to exercise each of the options available under the hon. Members' pension scheme. [236304]

Chris Bryant: Members have two principal options in relation to the pension scheme.

The first is whether to remain in the scheme or, to opt out. This option is available upon election to the House and at any time prior to ceasing to serve as a Member of Parliament. The second is to decide whether to pay contributions at 10 per cent. of pay and build up pension at the rate of 1/40th of final salary, or to opt to pay the lower 6 per cent. contribution rate and build up pension at the rate of 1/50th of final salary. There is currently no opportunity for Members to change the contribution rate they pay.

586 Members have their pension calculated on the 1/40th pension rate. 55 have their pension calculated on the 1/50th pension rate.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Science

9. Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department proposes to take in order to increase public interest in science. [237522]

Mr. Lammy: Our Science and Society consultation received over 3,000 responses. We received strong support from key players such as the Royal Society and the engineering community. We will establish major themes by Christmas, and aim to launch a UK strategy in the spring.

Apprenticeships

10. Anne Snelgrove: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department is taking to ensure the provision of apprenticeships for small and medium-sized enterprises in the current economic situation. [237523]

Mr. Simon: We share employers' concerns that cutting back on training threatens their future competitiveness. We are taking forward 'World-class Apprenticeships' proposals to support and encourage small and medium-sized businesses to take on apprentices. We recently launched sector growth pilots to trial a range of support, including wage and training subsidies and overtraining trials to expand existing programmes. I encourage small businesses to bid for this funding. We are also encouraging the development of Group Training Associations to help support small businesses to provide Apprenticeship places. And the Department is leading the way on ensuring that public procurement plays its part in driving up apprenticeship opportunities.

15. Mr. Andrew Turner: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the number of apprentices employed in the public sector in (a) the Isle of Wight and (b) England. [237528]

Mr. Simon: We estimate 8 per cent. of all apprentices in England are employed in the public sector. The Learning and Skills Council estimate there are 15 public sector apprentices in the Isle of Wight. It is essential that the public sector plays its full role in offering apprenticeships to younger and older people. This is why, last month, my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills, and my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families launched a campaign to encourage the public sector to take on more apprentices. We are setting up a network of ministerial champions for apprentices, which is going to meet next month. The new National Apprenticeship Service will drive forward work in this area.

16. Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what plans he has to increase the number of apprenticeships available to young people. [237529]

Mr. Simon: The Government have rescued, rebuilt, improved and expanded apprenticeships in the last 10 years. Apprenticeships are now a mainstream option for young people.

On Tuesday, DIUS published our spending plans for 2009/10, and I am pleased to say, total Government investment for apprenticeships will increase to over £1 billion.

DIUS is committed to meeting the demand from suitably qualified young people. So as more young people want apprenticeships, we will work with employers to expand the programme further.

We have also launched a major drive to increase apprenticeships in the public sector. It is only right that the public sector matches our high aspirations for the private sector.

University Places

11. Alistair Burt: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent representations he has received on numbers of applications by state school pupils for university places. [237524]

Mr. Lammy: The number and proportion of entrants from state schools has risen steadily. In 2006-07, the most recent figures available, 87.2 per cent. of university entrants came from state schools, up 6.2 percentage points from 1997-98. I am determined we should build on this progress.

Maintenance Grants

12. Michael Fabricant: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many new students in (a) Staffordshire, (b) the west midlands and (c) England will have a reduced entitlement to maintenance grants in 2009-10; and if he will make a statement. [237525]

Mr. Lammy: I refer the hon. Member to the answer my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State gave earlier to his colleague, the hon. Member for Preseli Pembrokeshire (Mr. Crabb).

In July 2007, we predicted that two-thirds of students would get a full or partial grant—I expect this commitment will be met under the new system.

In July 2007, we predicted that one-third of students would get the maximum grant. I expect this commitment will be exceeded—under the new package 40 per cent. of students will be eligible for a full grant.

Young People: University

13. Ann Coffey: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps his Department takes to support universities in the work they undertake to encourage young people to apply to them. [237526]

Mr. Lammy: The Higher Education Funding Council for England (HEFCE) provides a widening participation allocation to universities, which totalled £95.4 million in 2008-09, helping to support their recruitment work with disadvantaged young people. We are also committed to supporting universities' outreach activities, in particular through Aimhigher and the launch of the Aimhigher Associates scheme.

Tuition Fees

14. Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills when he will begin the tuition fees' review. [237527]

Mr. Lammy: My right hon. Friend the Member for Norwich, South (Mr. Clarke), the then Secretary of State for Education and Skills, told the House on 8 January 2004 that there would be an independent review of tuition fees, reporting to the House, once we had evidence on the first three years of the variable fee regime. The first three years of operation will not be concluded until autumn next year.

Further Education

17. Mr. Sharma: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the contribution made by further education colleges to the communities in which they are based. [237531]

Mr. Simon: FE colleges make many valuable contributions to their communities in driving economic development and regeneration through their presence, participation and leadership. Colleges are responding proactively and innovatively to support individuals and businesses in their local community through the current economic downturn. Our increased funding for colleges and our investment in developing world-class facilities means they are fully equipped to make this contribution. We are committed to continuing to increase funding to support adult skills and giving colleges greater flexibility to use these funds in meeting the needs of their communities.

21. Mr. Dunne: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many higher education students are studying in further education colleges. [237535]

Mr. Lammy: The latest available figures show that in 2006-07, there were around 131,000 students studying for a higher education qualification in a further education college in England.

Astronomy

18. Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much his Department is spending on astronomy and space research in 2008-09. [237532]

Mr. Lammy: The Science and Technology Facilities Council, which is responsible for astronomy and space research, will commit £189 million to astronomy and space science research and facilities this financial year.

Higher Education

19. Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent progress there has been in widening participation in higher education. [237533]

Mr. Lammy: Well over 50 per cent. of young people from all social classes aspire to go to university, and this figure has increased in every social class over the past eight years. The rate of increase in aspiration and ambition has been fastest in the lower socio-economic groups. Our 50 per cent. target therefore matches the aspirations of young people themselves.

Further and Higher Education

20. Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent steps the Government has taken to increase the numbers of students participating in further and higher education. [237534]

Mr. Simon: Government spending on higher education has increased by 24 per cent. in real terms from 1997-98 to 2008-09 to more than £8 billion a year. A record 1,156,000 places are funded in 2008-09. So far, acceptances for 2008 entry show a rise of almost 7 per cent. on 2007.

Total planned investment in further education and skills will increase to £5.0 billion in 2009-10. This will support over 3 million adult learners. To date, we have exceeded our Skills for Life target for 2010, and increased the number of adults in the work force qualified to Level 2 to 2.1 million compared with 2001.

Energy Technologies Institute

22. Mr. David Anderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of progress in the work of the Energy Technologies Institute. [237536]

Mr. Lammy: Good progress is being made to fully establish the Energy Technologies Institute. Some £60 million of ETI funded projects are currently being prepared under its first technical programmes in "Offshore Wind" and "Wave and Tidal Stream" Energy. The ETI announced a further call in "Distributed Energy" and is holding workshops to help to develop further programmes, which will be formally announced in due course. ETI will hold a stakeholder workshop in December to develop, with others, a large-scale trial of Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicles focused on understanding the requirements of the charging infrastructure.

Skills

23. Fiona Mactaggart: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps he is taking to increase employees' skills levels in science, technology, engineering and mathematics subjects. [237537]

Mr. Lammy: We recognise that Science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) skills are critical to the success of the UK economy. Around 70 per cent. of the 2020 working age population have already left compulsory education so it is vital that we focus on working in partnership with business to up skill all employees. This is why we continue to invest heavily in programmes such as Apprenticeships and Train to Gain as well as working with schools and universities to encourage greater take-up of STEM. This is why the majority of HEFCE's £350 million investment in strategically important and vulnerable subjects is dedicated to STEM.

Apprentices

Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what steps he has taken to ensure that apprentices do not lose their apprenticeships in the current economic climate. [237530]

Mr. Simon: We have rescued apprenticeships, rebuilt apprenticeships over the last 10 years and apprenticeships are now a mainstream option for all young people. We recognise that the current economic situation will impact on the numbers of apprentices starting, including in the construction sector. We are helping to drive up apprenticeship opportunities by requiring our further education building programme contractors to train their workforce; and have asked other Departments with large construction procurement projects to do likewise. We have put in place a matching service to help construction sector apprentices facing redundancy now to find an employer to finish their training.

ConstructionSkills: Consultants

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Tunbridge Wells of 29 April 2008, Official Report, column 292W, on ConstructionSkills: Stratagem, if he will place in the Library a copy of the reply from the Chief Executive. [237718]

Mr. Simon: Due to an oversight within this Department, the letter from David Lammy to the chief executive of CITB-ConstructionSkills was not sent to him. I will ensure that the letter is sent without further delay, and on receiving his response a copy will be placed in the Library of the House.

Research: Finance

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much quality-related research funding was received by each UK higher education institution for the period 2003-04 to 2008-09. [238087]

Mr. Lammy: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 994W, to the hon. Member for Northampton, South (Mr. Binley).

HOME DEPARTMENT

Alcoholic Drinks: Public Places

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the maximum fine for anyone not obeying an instruction to stop drinking, or to give up their drink in a designated public place will increase from £500 to £2,500. [234306]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The Home Office intends to legislate to raise the maximum fine for anyone not obeying an instruction to stop drinking, or to give up their drink in a designated public place (DPPO) area as soon as the parliamentary timetable allows.

Alcoholic Drinks: Young People

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department has taken following the publication of the Youth Alcohol Action Plan to assist the police, local authorities and communities to identify hotspots where underage drinking is a problem. [234564]

Jacqui Smith: The Youth Alcohol Action Plan stated that the Home Office would "support the police, local authorities and communities to identify problem hot spots". This is a reiteration of a commitment made in Safe.Sensible.Social. - the next steps in the National Alcohol Strategy to gather further evidence on how high risk licensed premises can best be identified i.e. those premises that have a higher likelihood of being associated with crime and disorder, public nuisance and risk to children.

Officials within the Home Office have commissioned expert practitioners from Dorset police and Lancashire constabulary to develop a toolkit for licensing officers to help identify problem premises. The toolkit identifies best working practices from across the country and provides a structured approach to tackling the problem. We are currently in consultation with ACPO, LACORS and the police regarding the document and a possible publication date.

Automatic Number Plate Recognition

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner has made of the level of use of automatic number plate recognition; and what assessment she has made of the appropriateness of such usage. [236822]

Mr. Coaker: The use of automatic number plate recognition systems, which compare CCTV pictures with automated databases, is a matter for the Information Commissioner. The CCTV Code of Practice, revised recently by the Information Commissioner, makes it clear that information held by organisations that is about individuals is covered by the Data Protection Act 1998 ('DPA') and the Code helps operators comply with their legal obligations under the DPA.

Borders: Personal Records

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will reduce for leisure boaters the period of notice required for the passenger and crew manifests and boat details of boats entering or leaving UK waters to be submitted under the e-borders scheme. [233577]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The UK Border Agency (UKBA) is required to balance its obligation to the security of the United Kingdom's border with that of facilitating the entry and exit of legitimate travellers. The e-Borders system will assist in providing that balance.

Under the e-Borders system, leisure boaters will have 48 hours before an international voyage takes place to submit crew information and 24 hours for passenger information.

The data should be submitted before the voyage occurs and they would be expected no later than 30 minutes before departure. It is recognised that precise timing is not always possible in this environment, and hence there is considerable flexibility in this regard.

Community Safety Accreditation Schemes

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which approved organisations have had enforcement powers granted to them through community safety accreditation schemes; and which enforcement powers have been granted in each case. [236498]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office does not collect data on which individual organisations have been given powers under the Community Safety Accreditation Scheme (CSAS). However, a Home Office CSAS audit this year collected data on the number of accredited organisations and, also, which powers were given within each police force area. The audit is on the Home Office website:

http://police.homeoffice.gov.uk/community-policing/citizen-focused-policing/community-safety-accredit-scheme/.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which police forces have a community safety accreditation scheme in place; and what enforcement powers have been granted to each scheme. [236499]

Mr. Coaker: The 2008 Home Office audit of the community safety accreditation scheme (CSAS) found that 23 police forces in England and Wales, including the British Transport police, had a CSAS scheme in place. The audit shows which forces have a scheme and is on the Home Office website:

http://police.homeoffice.gov.uk/community-policing/citizen-focused-policing/community-safety-accredit-scheme/.

The Home Office does not collect data on the powers given to individual schemes but the audit does show which powers have been granted within the police force area.

Community Support Officers: Manpower

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police community support officers have been stationed in Crosby constituency in each year since 1997. [236718]

Mr. Coaker: The available data for Merseyside Police and the Basic Command Unit (BCU) of Sefton are given in the following table. Police Personnel Statistics are not collected by parliamentary constituency.

Police Community Support Officer Strength[1] (FTE)[2] as at 31 March 2003 to 31 March 2008[3]

| | Merseyside Police | Sefton Basic Command Unit |
|---|---|---|
| 31 March 2003 | 40 | — |
| 31 March 2004 | 72 | — |
| 31 March 2005[4] | 170 | — |
| 31 March 2006[4] | 196 | — |
| 31 March 2007[4, 5] | 332 | 57 |
| 31 March 2008[4] | 407 | 68 |

[1] This table contains full-time equivalent figures that have been rounded to the nearest whole number. Because of rounding, there may be an apparent discrepancy between totals and the sums of the constituent items.

[2] Full-time equivalent exclude those on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave.

[3] Police community support officers were introduced in statute in 2002, therefore data is not available prior to 2002-03.

[4] Strength figures as at 31 March 2005 onwards include those staff on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave. Therefore these figures are not comparable with those provided for other years in the table.

[5] 2006-07 is the first year that police community support officer strength by Basic Command Unit has been collected centrally.

Crime Prevention

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Pendle of 9 March 2001, Official Report, column 310W, on the Home Office, which police forces used cardboard mock ups of police officers in crime prevention initiatives in each of the last five years; and if she will make a statement. [177991]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not collected centrally by the Home Office. I understand that mock-ups have been used on a limited basis in some crime prevention initiatives.

Departmental Data Protection

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) computers and (b) hard drives in her Department contain non-encrypted data. [232847]

Jacqui Smith: We are unable to answer this PQ because to do so would incur disproportionate cost.

Departmental Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many of her Department's staff have remote access to the Department's IT infrastructure. [234735]

Jacqui Smith: The Home Office does not monitor the number of people who access IT systems remotely. We provide remote access capabilities through mobile working solutions but we cannot state where these are used (home or office).

In terms of potential usage, based on September 2008 data, there are currently 3,274 laptops, and 461 Blackberries in circulation.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what costs her Department incurred in internet and website design and hosting in each year since 2001. [232982]

Jacqui Smith: The most recent redevelopment/redesign of the Home Office website, was in 2005. Costs were embedded in the business as usual costs for that year and could be extracted only at disproportionate cost. Hosting costs are also embedded in budgets spread around the organisation and likewise, could be extracted only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 259W, on departmental procurement, what payments her Department made to Chelsea Football Club in 2007-08; on what dates; and for what purpose in each case. ## Deportation

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people the Government have been unable to deport in the last 12 months; and for what reason in each case. [233631]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 30 October 2008]: The information requested is not centrally collated and can only be obtained through the detailed examination of individual casefiles at disproportionate cost. The Chief Executive of the UK Border Agency has regularly provided the Home Affairs Committee with the most robust and accurate information available on the subject of foreign criminals and associated deportation action.

Having exceeded the Prime Minister's target of 4,000 deportations or removals of foreign prisoners in 2007, the Agency has now been set an even tougher target and aims to remove or deport more than 5,000 foreign prisoners in 2008. In the first six months of this year, the Agency had deported or removed nearly 2,500 which is a record performance, 22 per cent. higher than for the same period in 2007 and nearly 140 per cent. higher than in 2006.

Deportation: Iran

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent consideration she has given to a moratorium on the deportation of gay people to Iran. [234264]

Jacqui Smith: Asylum and human rights applications made by gay people from Iran continue to be considered on their individual merits in accordance with our international obligations and taking full account of the latest available information about the conditions in Iran as they impact on the individual applicant. The UK Border Agency only enforces the deportation of gay people to Iran who they, and the courts, are satisfied are not in need of international protection and who do not elect to leave the UK voluntarily.

The August 2008 version of the Home Office Country Report for Iran is available to view at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/country_reports.html

Deportation: Offenders

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many persons suspected of terrorism offences the Government has been unable to deport owing to (a) legal challenges and (b) an assessment that the individual concerned will be tortured if deported to the country of nationality in each year since 2001. [233979]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 6 November 2008]: Foreign nationals suspected of involvement in terrorism are considered for deportation action. However, deportation action cannot be taken where it is concluded that removal would be contrary to our international obligations, in particular under the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR).

The way in which individual immigration decisions are recorded and the timescales involved means it is not possible to provide a comprehensive reply of breakdown cases by year. However:

16 individuals were certified under part 4 of the Anti-terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001 as suspected international terrorists and were detained on the basis that their removal was prevented by a point of law which related wholly or partly to an international agreement. One other person was also certified under part 4 but was detained under other powers. Those detained had the right to leave the UK at any time, two did so. Six have since been deported.

Since 2005, there have been 19 cases where deportation action on national security grounds was commenced, but was later discontinued because it was concluded that it would not be possible to demonstrate that removal would be in conformity with the UK's international obligations, including our obligations under article 3 ECHR. These cases are kept under review.

There are currently 11 cases where we are seeking to deport individuals on grounds of national security because of their suspected involvement in terrorism. These are at various stages in the appeals process. In a twelfth case, the appeal against the decision to deport was allowed by the Special Immigration Appeals Commission as it was not satisfied that the case for deportation on national security grounds had been made out.

Detention Centres: Security

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many detainees escaped from each immigration detention centre in each year since 1997. [233325]

Jacqui Smith: The number of detainees who have escaped from immigration removal centres has only been collated centrally since 2005.

Electronic Government: International Co-operation

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what recent estimate she has made of the cost of Project Stork; what progress has been made in the project; and if she will make a statement. [236257]

(2) what recent discussions she has had with (a) Ministerial colleagues and (b) her EU counterparts on common data security standards as part of the implementation of Project Stork; [236258]

(3) if she will re-assess the data security aspects of Project Stork in the light of the recent security breach affecting the passwords and source codes of the UK Government Gateway; [236259]

(4) what recent assessment she has made of the level of potential data security risks connected with the sharing of personal information with other EU countries pursuant to the implementation of Project Stork. [236260]

Meg Hillier [holding answer 17 November 2008]: All EU member states are committed to the delivery of better and innovative services to citizens and businesses. The European Commission is supporting this commitment with a research programme on cross-border on-line services. The EU eID Large Scale Pilot, informally known as "Project Stork", is a consortium of 14 member states including the UK which are engaged in a research project on how to enable cross border on-line services. The project started on 1 June 2008 and will last for three years.

The UK contribution will examine how Government Gateway might offer services and will lead on development of relevant standards. The research is not about transmission of personal data and there will be no direct access to UK databases. Security and privacy are key issues within the project. All steps will be taken to ensure that mutual recognition of electronic identity is secure and makes identity theft extremely difficult and we will work with our EU partners to ensure key principles of privacy, trust and citizen control remain at the heart of the EU eID pilot.

The pilot will draw together elements of existing programmes and any additional resource to manage the work and analyse outcomes will be EU-funded. The UK will contribute approximately £1 million over the three year project—the EU will match this funding.

Genetics: Databases

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what percentage of people on the national DNA database were aged (a) under 16 and (b) under 18 years at the time their profile was loaded, broken down by police force. [231778]

Jacqui Smith: The number of profiles added to the National DNA Database (NDNAD) by each police force in England and Wales, where the profile is recorded as relating to a person aged under 16 or under 18 at the time the DNA sample was taken, is shown in the following table. The numbers given for under 18s include the numbers given for under 16s. The figures are correct as at 29 October 2008.

The number of profiles is not the same as the number of individuals. This is because a number of subject profiles on the NDNAD are replicates, that is, a profile for a person has been loaded to the NDNAD on more than one occasion. This may arise for a number of reasons, such as a person giving a different name on different occasions they are arrested, or because of upgrading of profiles. It is estimated that 13.3 per cent. of the subject profiles held on the entire NDNAD are replicates. However, this rate may vary between police forces, so figures for the number of individuals are given for England and Wales as a whole, but not for particular forces.

The table also shows what percentage of the total number of profiles added by English and Welsh police forces are recorded as relating to persons aged under 16 or under 18 at the time the DNA sample was taken.

Human Trafficking: Children

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the Government has considered the establishment of a system of guardianship for child victims of trafficking. [232949]

Jacqui Smith: The Home Department does not believe a system of guardianship for child victims of trafficking would offer any extra value beyond what is currently provided by local authorities. Local authority children's services have a duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of all children including those that are thought to have been trafficked.

Following an assessment of a child's circumstances and under section 20 of the Children Act 1989, a local authority has a duty to provide accommodation for them within its area if it considers that the child is in need of care. Using the powers in the Children Act 1989, where there is a risk to the life of the child or a likelihood of serious harm, the local authority or police are required to act quickly to secure the immediate safety of the child.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what support system is in place for children who are victims of human trafficking. [232953]

Jacqui Smith: Under the Children Acts of 1989 and 2004, it is the responsibility of local authorities to safeguard and promote the welfare of any separated child who is assessed to be at risk of harm and in need of accommodation. As separated children at risk of harm, trafficked children become the responsibility of local authorities as looked-after children. They also have access to legal advice, education, and medical and psychological support. The Government's White Paper "Care Matters" and Children and Young Persons Bill currently in Parliament contain additional measures to strengthen the service provision and improve outcomes for all looked-after children even further.

In England, local safeguarding children boards co-ordinate safeguarding activity for children at risk of harm. Some local and metropolitan authorities have already established trafficking sub-groups to promote best practice and co-operation between agencies.

On 7 December 2007, the Government published supplementary guidance "Working Together to Safeguard Children who may have been Trafficked" which actively guides practitioners towards making appropriate decisions for safeguarding children they suspect may have been trafficked.

Identity Cards: Biometrics

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions she has had with the police on the use of (a) non-unique digital representations of fingerprint biometrics and (b) unique pure biometric images obtained via the National Identity Card scheme. [219756]

Meg Hillier: The Identity and Passport Service holds regular discussions with the police on all aspects of the performance of biometric systems and their relevance for the operation of the national identity scheme, via the National Policing Improvement Agency.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether workers employed in sensitive locations applying for identity cards from 2009 will be required to provide 10 fingerprints. [226403]

Jacqui Smith: It is intended that 10 plain fingerprint biometrics will be recorded and stored on the National Identity Register. The information to be recorded on the ID card will be prescribed in regulations to be approved by Parliament under section 6 of the Identity Cards Act 2006, but it is expected that two fingerprints will be recorded on the card.

Identity Cards: Data Protection

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the personal information collated before an individual's interview to enrol in the identity card scheme will be destroyed after use; and how and where the details of (a) the particular questions asked during the interview and (b) the answers given will be stored. [219766]

Meg Hillier: In some cases, individuals will be asked to attend an interview when they apply for registration on the National Identity Register or for a replacement card. While precise arrangements for the retention of personal information gathered for the purposes of the interview have not been finalised, we will seek to build upon existing practice for interviews of first time passport applicants, which is usually to destroy the information shortly after the interview.

Section 3(1) of the Identity Cards Act makes clear that information may be entered on the register, and once entered, may continue to be recorded there, only if and for so long as it is consistent with the statutory purposes for it to be recorded in the register. Any request for verification of information or provision of data made to the Identity and Passport Service will be dealt with in line with the provisions of the Identity Cards Act 2006 and the Data Protection Act 1998.

Identity Cards: Young People

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what work is being undertaken by her Department on whether identity cards should be extended to British citizens under the age of 16 years. [226402]

Jacqui Smith: Section 2(6) of the Identity Cards Act 2006 would allow the minimum age of 16 to be modified through secondary legislation, subject to approval by Parliament. However, there are currently no plans to extend the issue of identity cards to British citizens under the age of 16.

Illegal Immigrants: Prisoners

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average cost per day of detaining an immigration offender in the immigration estate was in the latest period for which figures are available. [234733]

Jacqui Smith: The estimated average cost of detaining an immigration offender in an immigration removal centre is £130 per day.

Interception Modernisation Programme

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what access local authorities will have to geodata from mobile telephone use under the Interception Modernisation Programme. [236500]

Mr. Coaker: Under the s21(4) (b)(c) Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000, local authorities can only access service use and subscriber data. This does not include geo-data and there are no plans to change this.

Interception of Communications Commissioner

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what role the Interception of Communications Commissioner has in inspecting local authorities. [236589]

Mr. Coaker: The interception of communications commissioner is appointed by the Prime Minister under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA) to exercise independent oversight both in relation to the interception of communications and access to communications data. In the discharge of his functions, the commissioner and his staff carry out a programme of inspection visits, reports and meetings. An annual report is laid before Parliament. Local authorities who make use of the provisions in RIPA to access communications data will be included in the commissioner's inspection regime.

Local Authorities: Inspections

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which local authorities have been inspected by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner in the last 12 months. [236587]

Mr. Coaker: In 2007-08, a total of 174 local authorities were inspected. The Office of Surveillance Commissioners does not publish details of which local authorities were inspected.

Local Authorities: Surveillance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what guidance the Interception of Communications Commissioner has issued to local authorities on their use of powers under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2002. [236494]

Mr. Coaker: Representatives from the Interception of Communications Commissioner's Office are responsible for inspecting those local authorities which make use of communications data provisions within the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000. They will provide guidance during these inspections and as appropriate at other times throughout the year, including in the information published in the Commissioner's Annual Report.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what response she has made to the Interception of Communications Commissioner on her proposals for local authorities to make greater use of their powers to intercept communications. [236496]

Mr. Coaker: Local authorities cannot intercept communications under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 and there are no plans for them to do so.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many local authorities were authorised to intercept communications data in the last year for which figures are available according to records held by the Interception of Communications Commissioner. [236588]

Mr. Coaker: Local authorities cannot intercept communications under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA), but they can use the communications data provisions to make requests to communication service providers for service use and subscriber data under s21(4) (b)(c) of RIPA. The figures published in the interception of communications commissioner's annual report shows that 154 local authorities made use of their powers to acquire communications data in 2007.

Marriage

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for what reason approval as a venue for a civil marriage ceremony may not be given to premises with a recent connection with any religion, religious practice or religious persuasion. [236516]

Meg Hillier: The Marriage Act 1949 draws a distinction between civil and religious marriages in England and Wales. The approval of premises for civil marriages is a matter for the local authority in which the premises are situated and it is the local authority which must be satisfied that the statutory requirements are met before it can grant an approval.

The statutory position on approved premises is contained in the Civil Partnership Act 2004 and the Marriages and Civil Partnerships (Approved Premises) Regulations 2005. The regulations state that the premises must not be religious premises as defined by section 6(2) of the 2004 Act. The Act defines religious premises as those which are used solely or mainly for religious purposes; or have been so used and have not subsequently been used solely or mainly for other purposes.

Therefore, if a premises which has previously been used for religious purposes has subsequently been used for another purpose then the previous use, by itself, should not prohibit the premises becoming approved for the solemnisation of civil marriages and civil partnerships.

Members: Correspondence

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to respond to the letter to her dated 1 September from the right hon. Member for Manchester Gorton with regard to Mrs N. Akhtar. [225189]

Jacqui Smith: I replied to the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton on 14 October 2008.

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to answer the letter to her dated 25 September from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton in regard to Mrs Mohsin. [231854]

Jacqui Smith: I replied to the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton on 3 November 2008.

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will respond to the letter to her of 12 August from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton with regard to Faiz ur-Rasool. [235587]

Jacqui Smith: A reply to the right hon. Member was sent on 22 September 2008. As my right hon. Friend has not received my reply, a copy of the letter will be re-sent to his office.

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will respond to the letter of 24 September from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton with regard to Mrs. F. Khan. [235588]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: I replied to the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton on 13 November 2008.

Office of the Surveillance Commissioner

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the annual cost to the public purse of the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner has been in each of the last three years. [236497]

Mr. Coaker: The relevant financial year figures are as follows:

| Financial year | Annual cost to the public purse (£) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 1,391,000 |
| 2006-07 | 1,595,800 |
| 2007-08 | 1,651,000 |

Police National Computer

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent representations she has received from the Data Protection Commissioner on the accuracy of criminal records held on the Police National Computer; and what estimate she has made of the (a) number and (b) percentage of criminal records held on the Police National Computer which contain significant inaccuracies or errors. [234447]

Meg Hillier: None.

Any complaint about the accuracy of information held on the Police National Computer (PNC) would be dealt with locally by police forces. Each chief constable is a data controller and is responsible for the accuracy of information recorded by his or her force on the PNC. Police forces are required to have a quality assurance process in place to ensure that data entered onto the PNC are as accurate as possible.

Police: Databases

Mr. Ilsley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of her Department's ability to implement the recommendations of the Bichard Inquiry on a Police National Intelligence database. [237248]

Mr. Coaker: The Police National Database (PND) is being delivered by the IMPACT Programme within the National Policing Improvement Agency. The Full Business Case for the PND is being closely scrutinised and covers, among other things, affordability and deliverability.

The Programme is subject to the Office of Government Commerce (OGC) Gateway reviews and will undergo a Gateway 3 (Investment Decision) review prior to the award of the contract. The purpose of a Gateway 3 review is to:

"investigate the full business case and the governance arrangements for the investment decision to confirm that the project is still required, affordable and achievable. The Review also checks that implementation plans are robust."

The Programme submits regular reports on progress, plans, risks and issues including:

a monthly Home Office Project Monitoring System (ProMS) report;

a quarterly Government Major Projects and Programmes (MPP) report which goes to, among others, HM Treasury and the OGC; and monthly reports and weekly updates to Ministers.

The Home Office is represented on the IMPACT Programme Board, which also regularly reviews progress, plans and the key risks and issues.

This is a challenging and complex programme which involves not just delivering new information technology, but also significant business change within the Police Service and considerable work for forces in preparing their data, infrastructure and other resources. However, the programme remains on track to commence deployment of PND capabilities in 2010.

Police: Parades

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the cost of policing the (a) Henley Regatta 2008, (b) London Marathon 2008, (c) London Gay and Lesbian Pride March 2008 and (d) Beijing Olympic and Paralympics welcome home parade was. [237334]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not held centrally.

These are operational matters for the police authorities and the chief officers concerned, who are responsible for assessing local needs.

Police: Surveillance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will place in the Library a copy of the National Policing Improvement Agency's report on the lawful and effective use of covert techniques. [236586]

Mr. Coaker: Guidance on the lawful and effective use of covert techniques was published by the National Policing Improvement Agency in March 2008 on behalf of the Association of Chief Police Officers, Association of Chief Police Officers Scotland, Serious Organised Crime Agency, Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs and Home Office.

Due to its subject matter, the guidance is marked 'Restricted' and as such, copies cannot be placed in the House Library.

Powers of Entry

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) when she expects Lord West to complete his review of powers of entry; and what plans she has to publish his report; [236503]

(2) whether the remit of Lord West's review of powers of entry extends to powers of entry affecting Northern Ireland. [236585]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office is working with colleagues in other Government Departments to draw up a definitive list of entry powers and who may use them. The review is limited to England and Wales. We plan to consult widely on a potential legislative framework for such powers by spring 2009. Regular updates on progress will be placed on the Powers of Entry Review website at:

http://www.police.homeoffice.gov.uk/operational-policing/powers-pace-codes/powers-of-entry-review/

Proof of Identity

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what joint ventures have been established by the Identity and Passport Service concerning identity verification. [236322]

Meg Hillier: For a number of years, the Identity and Passport Service (IPS) has provided a passport validation service for both private sector and public sector customers.

Private sector customers

The passport validation service (PVS) allows financial services firms to check the validity of UK passports presented as evidence of identity by customers directly against Identity and Passport Service records (via a dedicated call centre). By verifying these details against IPS data, the service provides assurance of the validity of the document presented and significantly prevents the use of lost, stolen or counterfeit passports.

Public sector customers

Other Government Departments use PVS as an integral part of their identity management processes. For example, the UK Border Agency who use the service (via the Government secure internet) to check the validity of a British passport where there are specific doubts about the integrity of the document on arrival in the UK.

Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what use there has been of notices under section 49 of the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 since 1 October 2007. [236604]

Mr. Coaker: Since October 2007, a total of 26 notices have been issued. 13 individuals have been charged with failing to comply with a section 49 notice and one person has been convicted.

Royal Mail: Standards

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will place in the Library a copy of the most recent inspection report of the Royal Mail Group by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner. [236619]

Mr. Coaker: I refer the right hon. Friend to the previous answer given on 29 September 2008, Official Report, column 235W. The Office of Surveillance Commissioners is independent of Government. The disclosure of its inspection reports, including those relating to local authorities, is a matter for the chief Surveillance Commissioner.

Vetting: Fees and Charges

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what costs will be incurred by (a) employers, (b) employees and (c) volunteers to register with the Independent Safeguarding Authority. [236579]

Meg Hillier [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Individuals in paid employment will pay £64 when applying for registration with the Independent Safeguarding Authority (ISA). The one-off application fee is composed of two elements—£28 to fund the running of the ISA and £36 to pay for Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) administration and, in most cases, an enhanced disclosure will be included. Those involved only in unpaid voluntary activity will pay no application fee. The responsibility for paying this fee legally falls on employees. It is at the discretion of employers if they choose to pay the fee, and we know from our consultations that many will, either in full or part. It will be the individuals' responsibility to register with the scheme, but as an "employment incentive" employers can offer to pay for the registration cost. Current employees in most of these settings should possess a valid CRB check.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Carer's Allowance: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people were in receipt of carer's allowance in Tamworth constituency in each year since its inception. [237326]

Jonathan Shaw: Information about carer's allowance by parliamentary constituency is not available prior to August 2003. The available information is in the table.

| | Number receiving carer's allowance in Tamworth constituency |
|---|---|
| May 2008 | 850 |
| May 2007 | 820 |
| May 2006 | 790 |
| May 2005 | 810 |
| May 2004 | 790 |
| August 2003 | 760 |

Notes:
1. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10.
2. Totals show the number of people in receipt of an allowance. They exclude those who are entitled but receive another income maintenance benefit at a higher rate instead. Both payment and entitlement can give lower-income carers access to higher rates of income support, income-based jobseeker's allowance, income-related employment and support allowance, pension credit, housing benefit and council tax benefit. They also exclude people with entitlement where the payment has been suspended.
3. These figures are published on the DWP website at: www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/tabtool.asp

Source:
DWP Information Directorate: Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study 100 per cent. data.

Child Benefit

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many EU or EEA nationals are receiving UK child benefit for a child or children living in another EU or EEA member state; and how much was spent on child benefit for such children in the latest period for which information is available. [236861]

Mr. Timms: I have been asked to reply.

Applicants for Child Benefit are not asked to state their nationality, so the information is not available.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what IT projects (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies is undertaking; and what the most recent estimate of (i) the cost and (ii) the completion date of each is. [229169]

Jonathan Shaw: Although the Department does not have any discrete IT projects, it has a number of projects and programmes that include changes to IT to a greater or lesser extent. We have included in the following table:

those current projects and programmes undertaken by the Department where the IT element of the project or programme will result in the development and/or implementation of services that underpin the delivery of departmental business; and those where non-delivery of the IT element would significantly damage the project's or programme's ability to deliver its intended results.

The costs shown represent the investment costs of the project/programme. The cost of running the solutions implemented by the projects and programmes are not included as in the great majority of cases they are more than compensated for by the financial benefits they generate.

Initiatives that are associated with ongoing system improvements or enhancements as part of business as usual have not been included. For all programmes or projects, the costs and dates reported relate to the total project or programme and not only the IT element. The table shows information on the programme/project purpose, expected completion date and estimated costs.

It should be noted that the scope of projects can change as they pass through their project lifecycle, and as plans and costs become more robust. At each stage of this process, they are assessed to ensure that they continue to fit with departmental strategy and continue to deliver value for money.

| Project | Purpose | Expected completion date | Estimated cost (£ million) |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pensions Transformation Project | The programme will transform the Pension Service, bringing together business and IT change in ways that improve customer service and deliver efficiencies. | 2010-11 | 598 |

|---|---|---|---|
| Customer Information System[1] | This project will deliver a database of key citizen information to be shared across DWP. The database will complement information currently available in the Department's key customer information systems, i.e. personal details computer system and departmental central index, and become their replacement. Consideration is being given for wider use of CIS by other Government Departments. | March 2008 | 88 |
| Document Repository Service[2] | This project seeks to support the Department's modernisation programmes through the provision of a document repository to store digitised images of documents received from customers (letters, faxes, e-mails etc.), cutting down paper in the organisation. | March 2009 | 11 |
| Central Payments System (formerly part of Payment Modernisation) | A modern integrated central payment engine and accounts payable system to improve accounting for benefit/pension payments, reduce risks of service failure, increased speed and efficiency, and information for improved customer service and reduced fraud and error. | December 2011 | 177 |
| Employment and Support Allowance | The project delivers the system and processes to implement the new ESA allowance from October 2008; expected completion date is October 2009. | October 2008 | 295 |
| On Time Solution | Provide a range of improved information services to DWP businesses, including improved quicker management information, fraud and error intervention and analysis. | March 2011 | 11 |
| Provider Referrals and Payment Project | Deploy an IT system to automate and e-enable transactions between Jobcentre Plus and training providers. | June 2010 | 18 |
| Pension Reform Delivery Programme[3] | To co-ordinate, manage and deliver a range of measures and consequential impacts which will establish a new structure for the UK pension system long term. | December 2010 | 118 |
| DWP Change Programme | This programme brigades a number of complementary initiatives to deliver the DWP Business Vision including major projects to bring in continuous improvement using lean techniques which should allow greater customer focus and efficiency in our process, and business change projects to allow greater access to information. | March 2011 | 246 |
| Local Services Integration Programme | To provide local services with an IT solution that supports the end to end process. | December 2011 | 15 |
| Government Connect | To roll out a secure data network connecting Government and local authorities, including secure file transfer, e-mail and web-browser capability | March 2011 | 33 |

[1] Customer Information System (CIS):
The expected completion date of March 2008 was based on a plan to migration off legacy benefit system data on the same date. However, to minimise the risks associated with this approach, a phased implementation was planned. The dates for this phased approach have previously been published and are:
Start of Migration: March 2008
Completion of phased roll-out: June 2008
Final Technical Release: October 2008
End of Project Review Date: December 2008

[2] Document Repository System:
The date shown for the expected completion date (March 2009) is the End Project Review (EPR) date. A completion date of November 2008 has been previously quoted, this refers to the first 'Go Live Date' which was delivered to the original planned deadline.

[3] Pensions Reform Delivery Programme (PRDP):
The date shown for the expected completed date December 2010 is the End Project Review (EPR) date. A completion date of April 2010 (in line with original plans) has previously been quoted, this refers to the 'Go Live Date' which was delivered to the original planned deadline.

Departmental Mass Media

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions which organisations provided media monitoring services to (a) his Department, (b) its agencies and (c) its non-departmental public bodies in each of the last three years; and what the cost of each contract was. [230044]

Jonathan Shaw: The information is as follows.

(a) The following organisations have provided media monitoring services to the Department for Work and Pensions and its agencies over the past three years:

1. Central Office of Information—Media Monitoring Unit

2. Durrants

3. Press Association—Mediapoint

1. The expenditure on the Media Monitoring Unit was as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 53,000 |
| 2006-07 | 60,015 |
| 2007-08 | 68,700 |

2. Durrants has provided a press cutting service to DWP over the past three years.

The cost of this contract is commercially sensitive and thus cannot be disclosed.

3. Press Association—Mediapoint

The cost of this contract is commercially sensitive and thus cannot be disclosed.

DWP agencies are covered by the departmental contracts aforementioned.

In addition, a separate broadcast monitoring service provided by Media Measurement for the Child Support Agency (CSA), now Child Maintenance Enforcement Commission (CMEC), has been in place since December, 2006.

Romeike provided a media monitoring service to Jobcentre Plus between April 2005 and July 2008.

(c) Non-departmental public bodies (NDPBs). The NDPBs make their own arrangements for the provision of these services and DWP has no control over their expenditure. An exception is the Office for Disability Issues (ODI) which has used the Durrants contract for their press cutting service since the beginning of 2008.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many temporary workers (a) are employed by his Department and (b) were employed by his Department in each year since 1997; [231835]

(2) how much his Department spent on temporary workers in each of the last 10 years. [231836]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department for Work and Pensions was formed in June 2001. The first full year that staffing statistics for the Department are available is from 1 April 2002 to 31 March 2003.

Staff numbers in the Department are counted and recorded on the last day of each month. The number and costs of staff directly employed in each year from 2002-03 onwards is shown in the following table. Numbers are shown both as an average for each year and as at 31 March each year. Typically numbers of temporary staff tend to be higher during the summer months when there is a need to cover absences during the peak leave period.

| Financial year | Average number of temporary staff employed | Number of temporary staff employed at 31 March each year | Cost of temporary staff (£ million) |
|---|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 4,231 | 2,684 | 29.290 |
| 2003-04 | 4,662 | 4,374 | 43.637 |
| 2004-05 | 3,674 | 2,004 | 45.256 |
| 2005-06 | 2,268 | 1,419 | 32.828 |
| 2006-07 | 1,767 | 825 | 29.197 |
| 2007-08 | 1,491 | 1,295 | 20.387 |

Notes:
1. Staff figures are full time equivalents.
2. Costs are rounded to nearest £1,000.

Given that temporary staff can be employed for periods of between one day and 51 weeks neither the average number nor the end of year number will necessarily correlate with the annual cost.

The number of temporary staff directly employed by the Department as at 30 September 2008 was 2,854 full time equivalents. The cost of temporary staff, to date, in the current financial year (2008-09) is £14.696 million.

Departmental Training

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department spent on external training courses for departmental staff in (a) 2005, (b) 2006, (c) 2007 and (d) 2008; and which external organisations were paid by the Department to provide such courses in each year. [230490]

Jonathan Shaw: Information about the cost of external training courses and the identity of training providers could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235378]

Jonathan Shaw: Information on disproportionate cost replies is not collated centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The number of questions tabled to the Department for which replies were given[1] is in the following table:

Disability Living Allowance

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the (a) average and (b) maximum duration of a fixed award of (i) disability living allowance and (ii) attendance allowance was in each of the last 10 years, broken down by condition. [230090]

Jonathan Shaw: The available information has been placed in the Library.

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many awards have been made for (a) disability living allowance and (b) attendance allowance under special award rules in each of the last 10 years; how many were (i) made for three years initially, (ii) paid for the full three years and (iii) renewed after three years, broken down by category of condition. Notes:

1. Figures are rounded to the nearest 100.
2. Totals show the number of people in receipt of an allowance, and exclude people with entitlement where the payment has been suspended, for example if they are in hospital.
3. Although the preferred data source for benefit statistics is 100 per cent. Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study, the 5 per cent. sample data has been used in this case because it provides some detail not yet available from the 100 per cent. data sources, in particular, more complete information on the disabling conditions of disability living allowance and attendance allowance claimants.

Disability Living Allowance: Chronically Sick

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people are receiving disability living allowance under the special rules relating to a terminal illness (a) in total and (b) broken down by (i) region and (ii) constituency; and if he will make a statement. [236012]

Jonathan Shaw: Information about the number of people who are receiving disability living allowance under special rules provisions by parliamentary constituency is not available. The available information is in the table.

| | Number |

1. Data is taken from a 5 per cent. sample, therefore figures are subject to a degree of sampling variation. They are also adjusted to be consistent with the overall case load from the Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study.
2. Figures are rounded to the nearest hundred.
3. 'Terminally ill' has been defined as all cases where the main disabling condition is recorded as "D00 - Terminal Illness" or the award was made under the special rules provision.
4. Figures exclude cases suspended, for example, where the claimant is in hospital.

Disability Living Allowance: Sight Impaired

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he expects to decide whether the higher rate of mobility allowance should be awarded to those who are visually impaired. [230766]

Jonathan Shaw: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave on 17 November 2008, Official Report, column 76W, to the hon. Member for Portsmouth, South (Mr. Hancock).

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent estimate his Department has made of the likely cost of extending the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance to include people registered blind; and if he will make a statement. [236010]

Jonathan Shaw: We have made no recent estimate of the likely cost of extending the higher rate mobility component to registered blind people.

For the likely costs of extending the higher rate mobility component to people with severe sight impairments, I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave the hon. Member for Hemsworth (Jon Trickett) on 17 September 2008, Official Report, column 2226W.

Incapacity Benefit

Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what guidelines his Department has in place regarding contacting incapacity benefit claimants by telephone in the evenings and at weekends. [237844]

Jonathan Shaw: Atos Healthcare, formerly Atos Origin Medical Services, provides medical services on behalf of the Department to support the Department's decision making on sickness and disability related benefits, including incapacity benefit.

Working within departmental guidelines, Atos Healthcare uses a telephone appointment system to contact customers to arrange their medical examination appointments. The telephone lines are open from 8 am to 8 pm, Monday to Friday, and 9 am to 5 pm, Saturday to Sunday, as approved by the Department. This allows for both inbound and outbound calls within these times.

Income Support: Lone Parents

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his Department's estimate is of the average benefit income of lone parents affected by the changes to the eligibility rules for income support coming into effect in November 2008 (a) before and (b) immediately after these changes come into effect (i) in the UK and (ii) broken down by the smallest geographical area for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [230280]

Kitty Ussher: Jobseeker's allowance is paid at the same rate as income support so lone parents who claim income support on other grounds or who transfer to jobseeker's allowance will receive the same amount.

According to latest benefit data (February 2008), the average income support payment for a lone parent with a child aged seven or over is £95.32 per week.

A table showing the average income support payment for a lone parent with a child aged seven or over, at local authority level, has been placed in the Library.

The assessment phase rate of employment and support allowance is also paid at the same rate as income support and so, in general, lone parents will see no change to their benefit if they transfer over to employment and support allowance.

However, those who are in receipt of the income support disability premium and transferring to the main phase of employment and support allowance will receive slightly less (£1.85 a week), from the point they transfer to employment and support allowance. Jobcentre Plus identified, and attempted to contact, all the lone parents affected, to make them aware and to invite them to claim income support on the grounds of incapacity to give them an opportunity to remain on income support on the grounds of incapacity. All existing incapacity benefits customers will be moved to employment and support allowance by 2013.

Mentally Ill Staff

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what information his Department has gathered on the effect of its policies and practices on the recruitment, development and retention of employees with mental illnesses within (a) his Department and (b) the public sector bodies for which he has responsibility; and what use has been made of that information. [228561]

Jonathan Shaw: Under the Disability Equality Duty introduced by the Disability Discrimination Act 2005, the Department and its public sector bodies listed in the associated regulations are required to publish and implement Disability Equality Schemes. These are plans setting out how they will carry out the Disability Equality Duty, monitor, and report on progress. In particular this includes their arrangements for gathering information on the effect of their policies and practices on the recruitment, development and retention of their disabled employees, including those with mental health conditions, and making use of that information.

The public sector bodies sponsored by my Department that are subject to these requirements are responsible for publishing and implementing their own disability equality schemes.

In order to carry out the Disability Equality Duty we have adopted a number of specific measures which include:

all external recruitment advertisements contain the "Positive About Disabled People Two Ticks Symbol", which ensures that all applicants who declare a disability are given reasonable adjustments at each stage of the selection process to ensure they are competing on a level playing field.

when disabled applicants are successful, all relevant adjustments are made, in consultation with the individual and expert advisors where appropriate. Managers keep under review any particular requirements that disabled employees may have, in line with the "Two Ticks" commitments.

we operate the Workstep scheme, which enables people with severely disabled people to be employed, with support from external providers such as Scope.

all our employment policies and processes are subject to equality impact assessments in order to assess the impact of the policy or process on disability, race or gender.

we run a specific development programme for disabled and ethnic minority staff which aims to identify and overcome the barriers that can prevent these groups of staff from fulfilling their potential. The current intake includes staff who have mental health conditions.

we are currently developing a holistic wellbeing programme to look at and tackle the underlying causes of poor physical and mental health. To assist this we collect and analyse data on sickness absence caused by anxiety, depression and other mental health conditions. Our annual staff survey also seeks employees' opinions on the causes and effect of work-related pressure and we collect anonymous data on the reasons our staff telephone our counselling help line.

In line with the Disability Equality Duty, a report is published every three years to show progress towards disability equality in my policy sector and proposals for co-ordination of future work by relevant public authorities, within my policy sector. These reports will show what impact, if any, policies have had on the recruitment and retention of disabled people including those with mental health conditions, and set out proposals to address any gaps identified when establishing the progress made across the policy sector. The first report must be published by December 2008.

Motability

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 69W, on Motability, how many allegations of (a) fraud and (b) misuse were substantiated but did not lead to the cancellation of a contract; and what the nature of the fraud or misuse was in each year since 1999. [236375]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Motability is an independent charitable company and is responsible for the administration of the Motability scheme. Motability has advised that this information can be obtained only at a disproportionate cost.

Further information about Motability can be obtained directly from the scheme.

Post Office Card Account

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what additional functionality the new Post Office Card Account will offer; and if he will make a statement. [236850]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The precise functionality will be subject to detailed contractual discussions with Post Office Ltd., but we expect enhancements to include: (i) a simpler more automated opening process for customers (ii) an ability to make payments more quickly into Post Office card accounts through industry standard Faster Electronic Payments (iii) an ability to correct mistakes, for example if the customer withdraws more than they intended to and wants the money immediately put back into their account. This can happen when the customer does not realise, for example, that their winter fuel payment has been paid into their Post Office card account and they ask to withdraw the full balance in their account.

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the oral statement of 13 November 2008, Official Report, columns 965-82W, on the Post Office Card Account, what the increased functionality of the new Post Office Card Account will be under the new contract. [237000]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The precise functionality will be subject to detailed contractual discussions with Post Office Ltd., but we expect enhancements to include: (i) a simpler more automated opening process for customers (ii) an ability to make payments more quickly into Post Office card accounts through industry standard Faster Electronic Payments (iii) an ability to correct mistakes, for example if the customer withdraws more than they intended to and wants the money immediately put back into their account. This can happen when the customer does not realise, for example, that their winter fuel payment has been paid into their Post Office card account and they ask to withdraw the full balance in their account.

Alan Duncan: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will place a copy of each of the public tender documents for the Post Office Card Account in the Library. [237407]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The procurement exercise for a successor to the Post Office card account has been halted and instead another contract will be awarded to Post Office Ltd.

As the tender process never reached a final conclusion it would serve no purpose to publish anything more than the notice that appeared in the Official Journal of the European Union (already in the Library) which set out what we intended to procure.

Winter Fuel Payments

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate his Department has made of the cost of extending the winter fuel payment to people (a) receiving the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance and (b) receiving the higher rate care component of disability living allowance because they are terminally ill, who otherwise would not be entitled to it in each of the next six years in real terms; and if he will make a statement. [237094]

Jonathan Shaw: Winter fuel payments are made to people aged 60 or over including those who are disabled or terminally ill.

The estimated annual cost of extending winter fuel payments to people receiving the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance is in the table.

Estimated annual cost of extending winter fuel payments to people receiving the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance—all under 60 (including children)

| | Total cost in each year at 2008-09 prices (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 199 |
| 2009-10 | 160 |
| 2010-11 | 160 |
| 2011-12 | 161 |
| 2012-13 | 162 |
| 2013-14 | 163 |

The estimated annual cost of extending winter fuel payments to people receiving the higher rate care component of disability living allowance under the special rules relating to a terminal illness is in the table.

Estimated annual cost of extending winter fuel payments to people with a terminal illness receiving the higher rate care component of disability living allowance under the special rules—all under 60 (including children)

| | Total cost in each year at 2008-09 prices (£ million) |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 6.6 |
| 2009-10 | 5.6 |
| 2010-11 | 5.7 |
| 2011-12 | 5.8 |
| 2012-13 | 6.0 |
| 2013-14 | 6.1 |

These estimates include those customers living in a household that already receives a winter fuel payment. It is not possible to identify disability living allowance customers living in households that are not entitled to a winter fuel payment.

The estimates for 2008-09 are based on a £250 payment, which includes a one off additional payment of £50 for this year. Constant prices have been used, therefore, the estimates are based on a £200 payment for subsequent years.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Afghanistan

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many studies his Department has (a) initiated and (b) completed on the lessons learned for his Department from the war in Afghanistan; and if he will place copies of each completed study in the Library. [232933]

Bill Rammell: We continuously review our strategy in Afghanistan to identify and learn lessons for the future. My right hon. Friends the Prime Minister and the Secretaries of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, International Development, and Defence are actively involved. In addition to the work undertaken in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO), the Stabilisation Unit, a cross-Government department, provides specialist, targeted assistance to countries emerging from violent conflict, and the FCO works closely with them to draw on the experience of those in theatre.

British Indian Ocean Territory: Prisons

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the Prisons Ordinance 1981 of the British Indian Ocean Territory was intended to authorise. [228650]

David Miliband: The British Indian Ocean Territory Ordinance No. 9 of 1981, more generally known as the "Prisons Ordinance, 1981", was an Ordinance to make provision for prisons in the British Indian Ocean Territory (BIOT). It enables the BIOT Commissioner to declare prisons where necessary to do so. The Ordinance was signed by the then BIOT Commissioner on 27 November 1981.

China: Carbon Emissions

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what plans he has to hold discussions with the Governments of China and India on ways to reduce carbon dioxide emissions and use more renewable energy resources; and what plans he has to involve the incoming US administration in such discussions. [235812]

Gillian Merron: Climate change is not just an environmental problem but something that threatens international peace and security, prosperity and development.

The UK is seeking to agree, at the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change meeting in Copenhagen in December 2009, a comprehensive, global and long-term framework for addressing climate change. This deal must put us on the right pathway for stabilising emissions in the atmosphere at a level that avoids dangerous climate change consistent with global emission pathways in line with the 2° C target.

It is important that all countries are included in a global deal, and China and India, as well as the United States and the EU, will be critical to achieving it. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has twice visited China this year and held substantive discussions on China's low carbon future. The UK Government have also hosted a number of inward visits from Chinese dignitaries with whom we have had extensive dialogues on climate change.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has also been working with our Chinese (and European) partners to ensure climate change is a priority for the 1 December EU-China summit. We hope that one outcome from this summit might be further discussions on possible low carbon development zones (LCDZ) which could be a very practical step in reducing China's greenhouse gas emissions.

We are equally committed to continuing our discussions with India about climate change. The British high commission in New Delhi recently hosted the UK-India Structured Dialogue on Climate Change and the global move to low carbon is a consistent theme in our conversations with partners in India.

We welcome the positive statements President-Elect Obama has made on climate change and energy, and we are looking forward to engaging with his administration when they are formally in place.

Climate Change

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress his Department has made on Departmental Strategic Objective 8 to promote a low carbon, high growth global economy since it was set; and if he will make a statement. [225370]

Gillian Merron: Departmental Strategic Objective (DSO) 7—promoting a low carbon, high growth, global economy has five outcomes:

A visible and accelerated shift in investment initiated in the major economies towards low carbon.

Political conditions created for an equitable post-2012 agreement at the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) conference of parties to the Kyoto protocol in Copenhagen in December 2009 of sufficient ambition to avoid dangerous climate change.

Risks to UK and EU energy security managed through more diverse and reliable external sources of supply and more efficient global markets.

Increased international commitment to an open, stable and equitable low carbon global economy delivering higher standards of living.

Increased international commitment to achieve the millennium development goals.

We are adjusting our strategy to meet the risks of greater protectionism caused by the current economic climate and to preserve the benefits of open markets for trade and investment. We are continuing to make the case for EU leadership on the transition to the low carbon economy outlined by my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary's speech to the London School of Economics on 7 May.

We have increased resources in some of our overseas posts in order to deliver the Government's international objectives on tackling climate change in the run up to the international climate change meeting in Copenhagen at the end of 2009. Examples of progress are:

We are supporting efforts to increase low-carbon co-operation between the EU and China in advance of the EU-China summit on 1 December;

Leaders in a number of priority countries have expressed a raised level of ambition on climate change, including Australia, Japan, the Republic of Korea, Mexico and South Africa;

Appointment of the UK Climate Security Envoy for Vulnerable Countries in October;

Maintaining political momentum for EU 2020 Package;

June European Council Conclusions called for a financing mechanism for carbon capture and storage and European Parliament approved the use of New Entrant Reserve for funding the 12 EU carbon capture and storage demonstration plants;

The G8 Summit at Toyako reaffirmed Heiligendamm commitments on the goal of achieving at least 50 per cent. reduction of global emissions by 2050;

Political agreement at the June Energy Council for the Third Energy Package.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what contribution the UK (a) provides and (b) plans to provide to the UN mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [233067]

David Miliband: The UK contributes 7.8 per cent. of the cost of the UN mission in the Democratic Republic of Congo (MONUC) through its assessed payments to the UN's peacekeeping budget, and also contributes through the provision of UK military staff. In the 2007-08 financial year the UK contributed £39,728,447 to MONUC through assessed costs, and provided six military personnel at a cost of £1,077,271. We expect the UK assessed contribution to MONUC in 2008-09 to be approximately £45 million. The UK currently has five military personnel in the mission, including three based in Goma and a senior military advisor to MONUC's force commander. If the UN Security Council mandates an increase in resources for MONUC then our assessed financial contribution to MONUC will increase.

MONUC's current mandate expires in December 2008, and subject to UN Security Council decisions regarding its renewal, its budget for 2009-10 will be approved by UN member states at the UN's fifth Committee in June 2009. We will keep our voluntary contribution to the mission under review.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether it is UK policy that the UN mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo should be reinforced; and what changes are being proposed. [233077]

David Miliband: We fully support the efforts of the UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) (MONUC) to reinforce its presence in and around Goma by moving troops and resources from other areas of the DRC.

The UK is committed to working with international partners and the UN to ensure MONUC's resources are utilised as efficiently as possible and targeted where they are most needed.

The UN Secretary-General has written to UN Security Council member states requesting further resources for MONUC and will present further recommendations on the restructuring of MONUC to the Security Council in his report due to be issued on 19 November. The extra resources are likely to be further troops and enablers, such as air support. We will support a properly evidenced request for extra resources and will work closely with Security Council partners to agree on the resources required by MONUC.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what IT projects (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies is undertaking; and what the most recent estimate of (i) the cost and (ii) the completion date of each is. [229163]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO Services, an executive agency of the FCO, undertakes a wide range of IT-enabled projects. Some are managed centrally, while others are initiated and managed by the holders of devolved budgets both in the UK or at posts overseas. Details of the larger projects, requiring formal approval by the FCO's Investment Committee, are shown in the following table. In some of these, FCO Services was a supplier for the project.

| Current information technology projects > £2 million | Expected completion date | Estimated costs £million |
|---|---|---|
| Future Firecrest Programme[1] | February 2012 | 401.0 |
| FCO Web Platform | December 2008 | 9.7 |
| FTN (FCO Telecommunications Network) PFI Implementation and service 2000 to 2010[2] | May 2010 | 252.0 |
| Ocean (Telecommunications procurement)[3] | November 2009 | 7.6 |
| Prism Simplification | April 2009 | 5.3 |
| Prism Management Information Phase 1 | April 2009 | 3.1 |
| FEDIS Phase 1—Emergency Passports | December 2009 | 4.5 |
| Secure Video Conferencing | December 2008 | 2.5 |

[1] Previous answers to similar questions from other hon. Members have included just the AIM project, the largest single project within a programme that includes also an electronic document records management system, business change, and various other items needed to effect the comprehensive replacement of the FCO desktop infrastructure.

[2] FTN is a service, chargeable by usage. The figure given is the total service charge anticipated over the 10 years of the contract and includes both implementation and running costs.

[3] Ocean is led by FCO; the scope includes the procurement of the successor to FTN, but also the cross-Government managed Telephony Service and the Government secure intranet. The cost given here is that to be incurred by the FCO.

Departmental Marketing

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the cost effectiveness of Government-commissioned advertising in the last 12 months relating to matters falling within the remit of his Department. [226523]

Gillian Merron: Obtaining full information to answer this question would involve contacting a wide range of departments within the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) in London, and a large number of our posts overseas. This could be done only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many and what proportion of civil servants in his Department and its agencies are members of the (a) Classic, (b) Classic Plus, (c) Nuvos and (d) Premium civil service pension schemes. [229532]

Gillian Merron: The following table shows the distribution of UK civil servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO services between the various civil service pension schemes.

| Scheme | Number of members | Percentage of staff |
|---|---|---|
| Classic | 4,598 | 66 |
| Classic Plus | 326 | 5 |
| Premium | 1,834 | 26 |
| Nuvos | 207 | 3 |

Departmental Public Participation

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many citizens' juries his Department has held since 1 July 2007; what the cost was of each; what issues were discussed at each event; and how many (a) Ministers and (b) members of the public attended each event. [227479]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has not held any citizens' juries in this period.

Departmental Security

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many security passes have been reported (a) lost and (b) stolen by staff in (i) his Department and (ii) agencies sponsored by his Department in each year since 2001. [228919]

Gillian Merron: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1071W.

Departmental Telephone Services

Colin Challen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what agencies or units for which his Department is responsible require the public to make telephone calls to them on numbers which charge more than the national call rate; and how much income each such agency has derived from such charges in each of the last three years. [225709]

Gillian Merron: No telephone numbers in use by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) or its agencies require the public to make telephone calls which charge more than the national rate.

A contractor, on behalf of the FCO's consular directorate, maintains one local rate number (0845) in use for the public to obtain travel advice. This service supplies all travel advice offered by the FCO and is primarily aimed at people calling from the UK, but is contactable from certain countries outside of the UK. No income is derived from this number.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Mr. MacNeil: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost of overseas visits by each Minister in his Department has been since 1997. [214651]

Gillian Merron: Since 1999, the Government have published the total cost of all overseas travel by Ministers and a list of all overseas travel by Cabinet Ministers costing over £500. Information for 2007-08 was published on 22 July 2008, Official Report, column 102WS. All ministerial travel is undertaken in accordance with the Ministerial Code.

Information in respect of overseas visits by all Ministers for the period 1997-99 could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Diego Garcia: Aviation

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs who is responsible for maintaining and possessing the flight logs of aeroplanes flying in and out of Diego Garcia. [228465]

David Miliband: Records on flight departures and arrivals on Diego Garcia are held by the UK authorities on the island. Records are generally kept for a period of between three and five years. These include the Customs and Immigration Daily Occurrence Log and the General Declarations made by all aircraft on arrival. In addition to this, a seven-day rolling flight schedule is given to the UK authorities on the island by the US authorities on a daily basis. Any changes to this schedule are also notified to the UK authorities.

Diego Garcia: Detainees

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the United States is required to seek permission from the UK Government to use UK-run civilian detention facilities on Diego Garcia. [228462]

David Miliband: The UK detention facility on Diego Garcia is operated and staffed by the UK authorities and there is no standing agreement between the US and the UK for use of the facility. The US would, therefore, be required to seek permission from the UK authorities if they wished to use the facility.

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether there is a US-administered military detention facility on Diego Garcia. [228463]

David Miliband: The US detention facility (for US servicemen within the US base) on Diego Garcia was decommissioned in August 2007. There is now only one detention facility on Diego Garcia. It is operated by the UK authorities.

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many people have been held in the police station on the island of Diego Garcia since 2001; and for what reasons in each case. [228467]

David Miliband: Our records indicate that, since 2001, approximately 200 people have been held in the police station and/or the detention facility. A significant proportion of those were detained in connection with illegal fishing in British Indian Ocean Territory waters, assault or being drunk and disorderly. Others were held under suspicion of or having been found guilty of one or more of the following offences under British Indian Ocean Territory law: driving whilst disqualified; causing criminal damage; violations of the Visitors and Visiting Vessels

Ordinance; driving under the influence; dangerous driving; breaking and entering; importing prohibited articles; being drunk and incapable; attempted murder; drunkenness; harassment; fighting; taking a vehicle without consent; grievous bodily harm; actual bodily harm; wounding with intent; indecent assault; burglary; leaving the scene of an accident; rape; vagrancy; threatening behaviour; obtaining property by deception; affray; mooring in the outer islands without permission; possession of an offensive weapon; indecency; driving without a licence; theft; and urinating in public.

Diego Garcia: Military Bases

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether there have been any requests put (a) to British officials based in Diego Garcia and (b) directly to his Department since 2001 to (i) change the nature of US facilities on the island, (ii) construct new US facilities and (iii) extend existing US facilities. [228524]

David Miliband: Under Section 2(b) of the 1966 Exchange of Notes, before either the US or UK Government proceeds to construct or install any facility in the British Indian Ocean Territory, which includes the island of Diego Garcia, both Governments shall first approve in principle the requirement for that facility, and the appropriate administrative authorities of the two Governments shall reach mutually satisfactory arrangements concerning specific areas and technical requirements for respective defence purposes.

Approval under the Exchange of Notes is only required for construction or installation of major new developments. Such developments would be of the order of an air staging base, a fleet support installation or a space tracking station. The UK authorities have received several requests from the US for upgrades to existing facilities within the Exchange of Notes since 2001. In August 2001, the UK received a request for infrastructure upgrades to the existing US Navy support facility on Diego Garcia and its designation as a "bomber forward operating location". Further requests for infrastructure upgrades were received in July 2002. In November 2004, the UK received a request from the US to expand the existing satellite tracking station on Diego Garcia.

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether there have been any requests from the US Administration for permission to use their facilities on Diego Garcia for extraordinary purposes since 2001. [228525]

David Miliband: With thanks to the hon. Member for his subsequent clarification of the information that he seeks: there have been no requests from the United States to use Diego Garcia for purposes outside of the agreements governing their use of the island.

Georgia: Russia

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of relations between Georgia and Russia; and if he will make a statement. [231649]

Caroline Flint: Relations between Georgia and Russia are strained, following the conflict in August.

The EU and Organisation for Security Co-operation in Europe (OSCE) ceasefire plan, brokered between President Sarkozy and President Medvedev on 12 August, included a commitment to talks on security and stability in South Ossetia and Abkhazia. The first round of these talks took place in Geneva on 15 October under EU chairmanship with UN and OSCE participation. The next meeting is scheduled for 18 November. We are encouraging both Georgia and Russia to engage constructively and hope that this will lead to a lasting, peaceful solution. In the meantime we urge restraint on both sides.

Ilois: Resettlement

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions his Department has held with the Chagos islanders on their wish to return to the Chagos Islands. [235121]

Gillian Merron: In April this year discussions were held with the Diego Garcia Society about the possibility of a visit to the British Indian Ocean Territory (BIOT) by a group of Chagossians who had settled in the UK. A visit was agreed to take place from 15-22 November, funded by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office. Officials have been in frequent touch with the Diego Garcia Society over the arrangements.

In August, the Chagos Refugees Group met with the Acting Commissioner of BIOT to discuss various issues of concern to Chagossians living in or hoping to live in the UK. Future visits to the territory were also discussed.

On neither occasion was the issue of a return to BIOT by the Chagossians raised. The issue was sub judice following the Government's appeal to the House of Lords.

Our high commissions in Port Louis and Victoria are also regularly in touch with the Chagossian communities in Mauritius and the Seychelles.

Iraq: Asylum

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much it has cost to date to administer the Locally Employed Staff Assistance scheme for Iraqi nationals; and if he will make a statement. [227952]

Bill Rammell: The cost to date of administering the Iraq locally employed staff assistance scheme are as follows:

The cost of administering the scheme at our missions in Iraq is £256,000. The cost of administration at our embassy in Amman is £27,000. These costs include staff and overheads.

Administration costs are also being incurred in London by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO), Department for International Development (DfID), UK Boarders Agency (UKBA) and Ministry of Defence (MOD). FCO has so far incurred £75,000 costs, DfID £15,000 and UKBA £156,000. The costs incurred by MOD are not yet available and will be forwarded in an addendum to this answer.

The Government have also contributed US$80,000 to the UN high commissioner for refugees to enable the recruitment of two additional members of staff to process applications under the scheme.

This gives a total cost (excluding MOD costs) of £529,000 plus US$80,000.

These statistics represent costs to date and do not include the Gateway Resettlement programme which has allocated £12,000,000 over two years to resettle 600 Iraqi former locally employed staff and their dependents. It also excludes the financial assistance package payments of US$2,418,552 made to staff as set out in PQ 227954.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the legal basis for the presence of UK forces in Iraq will be after the expiry of the UN mandate in December 2008; and if he will make a statement. [237270]

Mr. Hutton: I have been asked to reply.

The multinational force, including British forces, operates in Iraq under the mandate of United Nations Security Council Resolution 1790 and at the request of the Government of Iraq. The UK and the Government of Iraq are negotiating a legal framework to allow us to continue to provide the assistance requested of us by the Iraqi authorities, laying the foundations for a long-term normalised bilateral relationship. Our negotiations have made good progress and we expect to conclude an agreement prior to the expiry of UN Security Council Resolution 1790 at the end of 2008.

Plain English

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many documents produced by his Department were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [230651]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) submitted 22 documents to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in 2005, and five in 2006. All of these documents were approved for a Crystal Mark. The FCO did not submit any documents in 2007 and 2008.

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many documents produced by his Department were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [231118]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) submitted 22 documents to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in 2005, and five in 2006. All of these documents were approved for a Crystal Mark. The FCO did not submit any documents in 2007 and 2008.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Hurricanes

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assistance his Department plans to provide to the people of the Turks and Caicos Islands during the reconstruction phase following Hurricane Ike; on what basis overseas territories receive financial assistance from the Government for help with reconstruction efforts following natural disasters; and if he will make a statement. [236772]

Mr. Michael Foster: I have been asked to reply.

The Department for International Development (DFID), jointly with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, has indicated a willingness to provide up to £5 million to support post Hurricane Ike priority reconstruction needs.

Overseas Territories receive assistance for reconstruction after natural disasters on the basis of our assessment of a range of factors. These include the scale of damage suffered, the urgency of the need, the extent of the territory's capacity to meet recovery costs itself. We also take into account the likelihood of receiving assistance from other sources, such as from insurance.

CULTURE, MEDIA AND SPORT

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237413]

Mr. Sutcliffe: The Department subsidises the sale of food and drink at its offices at Cockspur street.

The Royal Parks, the Department's one executive agency, does not subsidise the sale of food to staff from public funds.

Gambling

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport whether he plans to revise his guidance on split premises and adult gaming centres. [235651]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 13 November 2008]: In line with its responsibilities under the Gambling Act 2005, the Gambling Commission is required to provide Guidance to Licensing Authorities (GLA) and, in turn, Licensing Authorities are required to have regard to this advice.

Following a full public consultation the Gambling Commission issued revised guidance on 31 October 2008 to licensing authorities on split premises and also on the primary purpose of the gambling activity. This revision to the second edition of the GLA took immediate effect.

This guidance covers all gambling facilities, though the issues on split premises have emerged primarily in respect of adult gaming centres and bingo clubs. A copy of the guidance can be found on the Gambling Commission website at the following link:

http://www.gamblingcommission.gov.uk/Client/mediatail.asp?mediaid=138

Licensing Laws

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport if he will bring forward proposals to amend the legislation relating to applications for licences under the Licensing Act 2003 so that (a) right hon. and hon. Members and (b) local councillors can (i) make representations to and (ii) speak at application hearings on behalf of their constituents without the necessity of first being asked by a constituent to do so; and if he will make a statement. [227671]

Mr. Sutcliffe [holding answer 16 October 2008]: I believe that the current arrangements for making representations sufficiently protect the rights of local residents in licensing cases. Local residents and local businesses may make representations or seek a review under the Act, as can bodies acting on their behalf (e.g. residents' associations, parish or town councils, or trade associations). Any of these individuals or groups may specifically request a representative to make a representation on their behalf (e.g. a Member of Parliament or a local ward or parish councillor). Local councillors can also make representations in their own right if they live or are involved in a business in the vicinity of the premises in question. I have received no indication from any source that these arrangements have led to significant problems. Furthermore, I think it would be inappropriate for an hon. Member or ward or parish councillor who is not personally affected by the premises in question to make representations without first obtaining the authorisation, by way of a request, of those who are.

Music: Internet

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what plans he has to protect smaller music bands and record labels from illegal downloading. [233246]

Mr. McFadden: I have been asked to reply.

The problem of unlawful peer-to-peer file-sharing was addressed in the Government's consultation which closed on 30 October. This identified potential regulatory options including the Government's preferred co-regulatory approach.

We have had a good response from individual members of the public, trade associations, Internet Service Providers and consumer groups as well as companies and organisations from the content industries (including music). These responses need to be considered and evaluated both in terms of unlawful file-sharing but also in the wider context of the Digital Britain Report.

File-sharing itself is a manifestation of the new digital age and the communications revolution of the last 20 years. It is the result of converged technologies and new consumer behaviours and dealing with it may require a combination of responses by a number of players, including Government. The Digital Britain work will look to deliver a digital copyright framework which supports creativity, investment and job creation in the creative sectors.

We would expect that any action which significantly reduced the overall level of unlawful file-sharing would benefit the smaller music bands and record labels.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how many staff in his Department left under (a) involuntary and (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in each year since 2005-06; how many of them in each case were paid (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000 in the year before they left; and how much (A) was spent in each of those years and (B) is planned to be spent on such schemes in (1) 2008-09 and (2) 2009-10 by (Y) his Department and (Z) its agency. [237356]

Mr. Sutcliffe: In the Department for Culture, Media and Sport there have been no (a) involuntary or (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in any year since 2005-06. There are none planned for 2008-09 or 2009-10. In our agency the Royal Parks there was an involuntary staff exit scheme in 2006-07 but as the numbers of staff involved were less than five we are unable to reveal how much they were paid in order to protect the privacy of the individuals. There are no staff exit schemes planned in the Royal Parks for 2008-09 or 2009-10.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Bangladesh: Overseas Aid

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether he has plans to fund a catering training institute in Sylhet, Bangladesh; and if he will make a statement. [236474]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) is funding the Hotel and Catering Institute in Sylhet, through the Skills and Opportunities for Employment Project (SKOPE). This funding was approved in February 2008. SKOPE is a three-year, £12.9 million project run by a leading Bangladesh education non-governmental organisation (NGO) (the Under Privileged Children's Education Project, UCEP). It provides skills and training to the urban poor that is directly linked to getting a job in the private sector. A portion of this project, £400,000, has been ear-marked to establish the Hotel and Catering Institute in Sylhet. The Institute will be a private-public partnership between UCEP and the Government of Bangladesh. A Memorandum of Understanding to that effect was signed this year on. 1 September.

The foundation stone for the architect-designed, three-storey building will be laid on 25 November 2008, in the presence of senior UK and Bangladesh Government officials. The Institute will provide training in food preparation and cooking, beverages, reception, and accommodation services. Around 300 students will complete training in the first five years, and this should provide a model for future skills development in Bangladesh.

Cayman Islands: Hurricanes

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what estimate he has made of the number of islands on the Cayman Islands which have been affected by the recent hurricane. [237107]

Mr. Michael Foster: Hurricane Paloma caused minimal damage to the main island of Grand Cayman. Little Cayman and Cayman Brac, which have a combined population of 2,000, suffered extensive infrastructure damage.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the level of the damage caused by the recent hurricane to hit the Cayman Islands; and what estimate he has made of the cost of reconstruction. [237156]

Mr. Michael Foster: Hurricane Paloma caused extensive damage to infrastructure on Little Cayman and Cayman Brac. There was minimal damage to the main island of Grand Cayman.

Initial reports indicated that up to 80 per cent. of houses on Cayman Brac were damaged. There were no deaths or major injuries. It is too early to determine the cost of reconstruction. The Cayman Islands government are undertaking a detailed impact assessment with the assistance of the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. We have offered support for this assessment.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what aid his Department has provided for the Cayman Islands following the recent hurricane. [237157]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Royal Navy hurricane patrol assisted Cayman Island authorities with an initial reconnaissance of Cayman Brac in the immediate aftermath of Hurricane Paloma, with reopening of the airport and with the distribution of relief supplies provided by the Department for International Development (DFID) and the Royal Navy.

The emergency response for Cayman Brac and Little Cayman has been effective and well co-ordinated. The government of the Cayman Islands has not requested external assistance.

Chain Reaction Conference

Mr. Andrew Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what funding his Department provided to the Chain Reaction conference on 17 to 18 November 2008. [236118]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development provided £100,000 to the Chain Reaction conference.

Departmental Accountancy

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's (a) chart of accounts and (b) resource account codes and usage descriptions for the financial years (i) 2006-07 and (ii) 2007-08. [235959]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: A copy of the Department for International Development's (DFID) chart of accounts for 2006-07 and 2007-08 will be placed in the Library.

The codes used in the chart are also used for preparing resource accounts. Each code has a brief description that describes its use.

Montserrat

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps the Government is taking to encourage tourists to visit Montserrat. [236109]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development (DFID) has recently approved funding of nearly £1 million for a three-year Montserrat tourism development project, building on support provided in previous years. The project will also receive financing from the European Union's European Development Fund.

The project will improve tourism infrastructure, in particular marine and beach environments, walking trails, and develop the Volcano Visitor Centre. It will also regenerate marketing activities and develop tourist services to international standards. The project includes a community-based challenge fund to support creative ideas for tourism investment.

Other work supported by the DFID, including the development of the new capital town at Little Bay and the improvement of air and sea services to the island, will also contribute to enhancing Montserrat as a tourist destination.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions his Department has had with the government of Montserrat on encouraging alternative industries to tourism in Montserrat. [236108]

Mr. Michael Foster: Officials from the Department for International Development (DFID) are in regular contact with the Montserrat government on business development initiatives.

DFID has financed the establishment of the Montserrat Development Corporation (MDC) in 2007 to promote private sector development. The corporation is implementing a programme to support local businesses and to expand and diversify the economy. Plans are being developed in renewable energy, fruit and vegetable processing, and volcano-related products, including the manufacture of composite building materials using volcanic ash. We are separately financing projects to explore the potential for commercial wind-power and geothermal energy production.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development whether there are plans to develop the transport infrastructure of Montserrat. [236110]

Mr. Michael Foster: The new airport on Montserrat was completed in 2005. Focus has now shifted to the improvement of sea access. A preferred option for harbour improvements and the construction of a breakwater in Little Bay has been agreed by the government of Montserrat and detailed design studies are expected to be commissioned shortly.

A road investment programme to improve the main arterial route on the island is planned to start in 2009. We have agreed in principle to fund this, which is likely to cost in the region of £3 million.

We are also supporting the Montserrat government's efforts to improve services, notably through the re-introduction of a ferry route to Antigua and the appointment of an access co-ordinator to ensure better quality and reliability of both air and ferry services to the island.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development if he will provide financial assistance to Montserrat to establish a network of abattoirs for the humane slaughter of animals. [236113]

Mr. Michael Foster: We recognise there is a need for improved livestock slaughtering arrangements in Montserrat. We are willing to provide financial assistance for an appropriate solution, which is likely to be a single facility rather than a network of abattoirs. The Montserrat government is currently developing proposals.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Overseas Aid

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what aid his Department plans to provide to the residents of the Turks and Caicos Islands during reconstruction following Hurricane Ike; and whether this includes a cash element. [235528]

Mr. Michael Foster: The Department for International Development, jointly with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office has indicated an intention to provide up to £5 million to support the post Hurricane reconstruction plan. This will be subject to agreements on managing the funds, including the appointment of technical expertise to oversee the use of all funds, to ensure that they are targeted to the most vulnerable.

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what role his Department has played in the development of a long-term recovery plan for the Turks and Caicos Islands following Hurricane Ike. [235529]

Mr. Michael Foster: In conjunction with other international agencies, the Department for International Development (DFID) has funded expert technical support to the Government of the Turks and Caicos Island (TCI). The United Nations Development Programme has engaged a consultant to assist the TCI Government develop its reconstruction plan.

DFID, jointly with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office has indicated an intention to provide up to £5 million to support the reconstruction plan.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Aerials: Planning Permission

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what information her Department holds on the number of mobile telephone mast planning applications which were (a) refused and (b) approved in the latest period for which figures are available; and what average number of objections to such applications were received in that period. [237177]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department does not hold this information.

Buildings: Demolition

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what statistics (a) her Department and (b) its agencies collect on the number of demolitions of non-domestic dwellings. [235839]

John Healey: Neither the Department nor its agencies collect statistics on the number of demolitions of non-domestic properties.

Business Links: Finance

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1256W, on business links: finance, which projects are under investigation for potential financial irregularities. [236027]

John Healey: The information cannot be disclosed due to commercial confidentiality.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1256W, on business links: finance, what the timetable is for the investigation of the financial irregularities in the Business Link projects funded under the Interreg programme. [236028]

John Healey: The Business Link projects funded under the Interreg programme, which have been subject to audit checks, have been submitted in a report to the European Commission. The European Commission has not set a specific timetable for responding to my Department.

Carbon Monoxide: Poisoning

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department is taking to reduce levels of carbon monoxide poisoning in private homes. [237012]

Mr. Iain Wright: Landlords are responsible for maintaining their properties, including the safety of gas and electrical appliances and the fire safety of furniture and furnishings provided under the tenancy. All private landlords are required by the Gas Safety (Installation and Use) Regulations 1998 to ensure that all gas appliances are maintained in good order and that an annual gas safety check is carried out by a CORGI-registered tradesman.

There are no current requirements to install carbon monoxide monitors in privately rented properties. However, we are keen to promote good practice and landlords' organisations are already engaged on safety issues and are involved in the promotion of good practice to their members.

The Building Regulations are reviewed periodically on the basis of advice from technical experts, and we are planning later this year to look at the changes and developments that have taken place since our last review in 2002.

Community Relations: Dalits

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will assess the extent of inter-communal discrimination against Dalit people living in the UK. [237916]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Communities and Local Government has conducted, with stakeholders, an informal scoping exercise to learn more about the extent to which some communities believe caste is a continuing social phenomenon within British society and to identify any evidence that individuals have been discriminated against on these grounds. We are currently in the process of assessing responses received.

Council Housing

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which organisations are being paid to facilitate work for her Department on (a) council housing, (b) the review of council housing finance and (c) the housing reform green paper; and how much each organisation is being paid. [235505]

Mr. Iain Wright [holding answer 13 November 2008]: In terms of (a) council housing, there are too many organisations to list on this topic. This question would need to be more specific for us to be able to respond.

Council Tax: Fraud

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate the Audit Commission has made under the National Fraud Initiative of the (a) level and (b) number of fraudulent claims of council tax discounts. [236085]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar (Mr. Pickles) on 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 125-26W.

[237667]

John Healey: A table has been deposited in the Library of the House that lists the lower super output area (LSOAs) in the principal seaside towns which falls within the 15 per cent. most deprived on the Index of Multiple Deprivation for 2004 and 2007.

Eco-towns: Shelter

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 122W, on eco-towns (1) how much funding has been (a) provided and (b) allocated for future financial years to Shelter in relation to work on eco-towns; [236018]

(2) on what grounds her Department decided to give funding to Shelter; and whether the decision to provide such funding was made by a Minister. [236019]

Mr. Iain Wright: We have committed £166,000 + VAT to Shelter in relation to their project on eco-towns. The funding has been provided for this specific project only and at this stage there are no plans for further funding to Shelter in future financial years in relation to eco-towns. This project was supported by the then Housing Minister, my right hon. Friend for Don Valley (Caroline Flint).

We agreed to provide funding to Shelter to assist them with this project on the basis of a proposal that they put to the Department to produce publications to provide information about the housing situation in and around potential eco-town locations, with associated dissemination, so that people are able to make an informed input to decisions about whether an eco-town should go ahead. Any views expressed in the document are those of the authors and not my Department.

Energy Performance Certificates

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of energy performance certificates in encouraging homeowners to improve levels of domestic energy efficiency. [236727]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department will commission research to assess the effectiveness of energy performance certificates, including the extent to which recommendations are followed up, early in the new year.

Government Offices National Indicator Analysis Tool

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the (a) purpose and (b) specification of her Department's Government Offices National Indicator Analysis Tool scoping project is. [235874]

John Healey: The purpose of the national indicator analysis tool is to drive the performance management of the national indicators (NIs) and local area agreement (LAA) targets.

The specification of this stage of work is to work with the Government Office and LSP potential users of this tool to understand better their requirements and to provide advice and an options appraisal on how best to deliver the requirement.

Home Ownership Incentive Schemes

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much local authority stock was sold under the Right to Buy scheme in each year since 1997. [234925]

Mr. Iain Wright: The following table shows the number of local authority right to buy sales in England for each year since 1997-98.

| | Local authority right to buy sales |
|---|---|

Homelessness

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps the Government has taken to reduce levels of (a) street and (b) youth homelessness. [237206]

Mr. Iain Wright: We have long recognised that the most visible form of homelessness is that of people sleeping on the streets. In 1998 the then Prime Minister set a target that by 2002 the number of rough sleepers should be reduced by at least two thirds. The target was met ahead of time and is being sustained. On 18 November we launched a new strategy "No One Left Out: communities ending rough sleeping", in which we stated our vision to end rough sleeping once and for all by 2012. The strategy includes a 15 point action plan which has been developed with leading rough sleeping charities and will use action, advice and assistance across England to prevent the flow of people onto the streets, as well as to support those already there to get off the streets into stability.

In November 2006 the Government announced a package of measures to prevent and tackle youth homelessness. Alongside this we made a commitment that by 2010, no 16 or 17-year-olds should be placed in bed and breakfast accommodation by a local authority under the homelessness legislation, except in an emergency. Since then we have seen a dramatic fall from an estimated baseline of 1,000 in September 2006 to 420 at the end of June this year.

We have improved access to homelessness mediation across the country (including family mediation for young people) and have helped local authorities establish supported lodgings schemes across the country, providing accommodation, advice and mediation services for young people who can no longer stay in the family home.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps the Government has taken to promote services available to people who are homeless. [237208]

Mr. Iain Wright: We have allocated £200 million to local authorities and voluntary organisations over the next three years to support their strategies for tackling and preventing homelessness in their areas—the biggest cash injection for homelessness services. It is for local authorities to determine how they promote homelessness services that best serve their communities.

We also invested £90 million capital funding in 2005-08, to improve hostels and day centres used by rough sleepers so they can move into education and employment and make the transition from the street to a settled home. A further £80 million capital funding has been allocated through our Places of Change Programme to work in partnership with voluntary organisations to build on the success of improving hostels and day centres.

We provide £2.5 million funding to the National Homelessness Advice Service which is a partnership between Citizens Advice and Shelter, to ensure high quality advice on homelessness prevention through the network of participating Citizens Advice Bureaux and other voluntary agencies across England.

In September we announced a £200 million mortgage rescue scheme, which will help up to 6,000 of the most vulnerable households facing repossession over the next two years. The scheme will be launched very shortly.

Homelessness: Cornwall

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people have been recorded as homeless in (a) Cornwall, (b) the South West and (c) each parliamentary constituency in Cornwall since 1979. [235194]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected include all decisions made on applications by eligible applicants, and the number of applicants accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). These households are known as 'accepted' households. If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available. Information on acceptances and number of households in temporary accommodation at local authority level is available from 1997-98 onwards.

Figures at parliamentary constituency level are not held centrally. A table summarising homelessness figures for the South West region and each local authority within Cornwall, for the past 10 years, including (a) the total number of households accepted as owed the main homelessness duty, and (b) the total number of households in temporary accommodation are provided as follows:

Housing

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what reports on housing policy her Department and its predecessors have (a) commissioned and (b) issued in each year since 1997; and what the cost of (i) drafting and (ii) producing each was. [237264]

Mr. Iain Wright: Departmental reports are published in accordance with the Communities and Local Government Publications scheme, details of which can be found on the departmental website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/corporate/about/freedomofinformation/communitieslgps/publication-scheme/

A list of publications can be found on the departmental website at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/corporate/publications/all/?viewPrevious=true

The information requested is not available in the form requested and could be issued only at disproportionate cost.

Housing: Construction

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effect of changes in the (a) market for housing, (b) availability of mortgage finance and (c) projected house completion rates on her Department's (i) targets for annual house building and (ii) estimates of housing need in each Government region. [235977]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Government recognise that current international credit conditions pose serious difficulties for all housing sectors.

However, the Government remain committed to the delivery of the homes we need over the long-term to accommodate our ageing, growing population. We remain committed to achieving an annual completion rate of 240,000 net additions per year, and continue to work with regional partners to ensure that there is capacity in the planning system to achieve this.

Housing: EC Law

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 125W, on housing: regeneration, for what reasons the Government Office was found not to have complied with the European Commission's regulations. [236015]

John Healey: In 2007, the European Commission suspended payments on the 2000-06 North West ERDF Objective 2 and Urban programmes because of deficiencies in aspects of the recording of actions taken by intermediate bodies engaged in the delivery of the programme in the amount of on-site checking of project expenditure that had been carried out to the end of 2006. There was no suggestion of financial impropriety and vigorous action has been taken since to rectify the problems identified.

Housing: Elderly

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimates she has made of the number of over-80s households in (a) the Vale of York, (b) North Yorkshire and (c) the UK. [237118]

Mr. Iain Wright: The following table shows the projected number of 'over-80s' households in York local authority, North Yorkshire and England for mid 2008.

| | Number of over 80s households for mid 2008 (Thousand) |
|---|---|
| York local authority | 7 |
| North Yorkshire | 30 |
| England | 1,690 |

The figures are from the Communities and Local Government Household Projections (revised 2004-based). These provide figures for England only, not UK.

Housing: Low Incomes

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether she has assessed the merits of revising her targets for the creation of new (a) social and (b) intermediate market housing in the light of recent changes in the housing market and house building sectors. [235976]

Mr. Iain Wright: We remain committed to the delivery of affordable housing for social rent and low cost home ownership. Our aspiration is to reach 70,000 homes a year by 2010-11, of which, 45,000 are for social rent with 50,000 a year during the next Spending Review period, our long-term aspiration. This is still some time away and it remains too early, given current market conditions, to predict outputs with certainty.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 124-5W, on housing: low incomes, what data her Department and its predecessors have transferred to the Valuation Office Agency from the National Register of Social Housing. [236146]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Beckenham (Mrs. Lait) on 3 September 2007, Official Report, column 1700W.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 3 November 2008, Official Report, columns 124-54W, on housing: low incomes, and with reference to the December 2004 letter to local authority directors of housing from the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister's Divisional Head of Housing Data and Statistics, how many local authorities provided data to the Valuation Office Agency to assist with the council tax revaluation (a) directly and (b) via her Department's predecessor. [236149]

John Healey: No data were provided directly. 134 local authorities provided information via the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much her Department has allocated for affordable housing in Crosby constituency in the next three years. [236710]

Mr. Iain Wright: Over the three years, 2008 to 2011, an indicative total of over £830 million is being made available through the regional housing pot for the north west region, of this around £525 million has been earmarked for use through the Affordable Housing programme. Allocations are not made to constituency levels.

Housing: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 628W, on housing: valuation, if she will place in the Library information that identifies the geographical extent of each locality for the Valuation Office area of Hammersmith and Fulham. [235861]

John Healey: The extent of any locality is the intellectual property of an arm of government, and as such, is commercially sensitive. It is not appropriate to place this in the public domain.

Local Government Finance

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1279W, on local government finance, which (a) district councils, (b) metropolitan councils, (c) unitary council and (d) London boroughs will receive the lowest possible increase in grant from her Department in 2008-09. [235862]

John Healey: The information is as follows:

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1277W, on local authorities, what her Department's definition is of (a) a rural and (b) an urban local authority for local government formula grant purposes. [235866]

John Healey: In calculating the amount of formula grant for an authority we make no distinction between authorities on the basis of any classification of rural and urban authorities. We apply the same formula to all authorities that provide the same services and we also use the best data that are available on a consistent basis across all authorities.

Local Government: Bank Services

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Sutton and Cheam of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 724W, on local authorities: bank services, which local authorities had borrowed funds from Icelandic bank accounts under prudential borrowing arrangements. [236023]

John Healey: The Department does not collect information on which individual financial institutions local authorities have borrowed funds from.

Local Government: Non-Profit Making Organisations

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what guidance she has issued to (a) local authorities and (b) regional development agencies on increasing the number of contracts awarded to social enterprises. [236226]

John Healey: Social Enterprises can play an important role in supporting local authority objectives by bringing dynamism and innovation to the design and delivery of public services. They can also help local authorities achieve more with their money, engage local communities and stimulate new markets.

In December 2006, Communities and Local Government, alongside other Government Departments, launched Partnership in Public Services, an action plan for social enterprise and wider third sector engagement with public bodies, including local authorities.

CLG also published statutory guidance to local government and its key partners earlier this year. Creating Strong, Safe and Prosperous Communities states local authorities should recognise and embrace diversity in the way services are provided, with the focus on desired outcomes and not whether the service is delivered by the public, private or third sectors.

We also intend to publish the Tackling Worklessness Review early in 2009 which will make recommendations on how Regional Development Agencies, the private sector, social enterprises and other third sector groups, can work with local partners to improve employment in Working Neighbourhood Fund areas and through the new Local Performance Framework.

Local Government: Reorganisation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the timetable for elections to each of the new unitary authorities is. [236090]

John Healey: Elections to each of the new unitary authorities will be held on 4 June 2009, with the exception of Cheshire East, Cheshire West and Chester, Durham and Northumberland, where elections were held earlier this year on 1 May 2008.

In relation to Cornwall, due to the delays in putting in place new electoral arrangements for the new Cornwall unitary, I announced to the House, in the debate on the Order moving the date of the 2009 local elections to coincide with the European Parliament elections, that I was minded to introduce for consideration an order that would, exceptionally, move the election date for Cornwall from the beginning of June to the end of October 2009. I also made clear that this would be dependent on the work of the Boundary Committee and Electoral Commission being completed in good time and said that before doing so, I propose to take soundings and consult those affected in Cornwall.

Mobile Homes: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) permanent and (b) holiday caravans there are in the catchment area of each of the principal seaside towns of England. [237670]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not held centrally.

Multiple Occupation

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many houses of multiple occupation there are in each of the principal seaside towns of England; and what percentage this represents of total housing stock in each case. [237669]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not available centrally.

Noise: Pollution

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of noise levels attributable to micro-wind turbines under permitted development consents; and if she will make a statement. [236327]

Mr. Iain Wright: This Department has not made any assessment of noise levels attributable to micro-wind turbines under permitted development as micro-wind turbines do not currently have permitted development rights. However, this Department is considering what an appropriate noise limit on permitted development would be. Our aim is to ensure that what would be permitted would have little or no adverse impact on others.

Work is being undertaken by the Department of Energy and Climate Change's Microgeneration Certification Scheme to put in place a methodology that would predict the likely noise level arising from the installation of a turbine on a site-specific basis.

Non-domestic Rates: Business

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether implementation of (a) a Nottingham workplace parking tax and (b) a Greater Manchester congestion charge would constitute a material change of circumstances for the purposes of calculating the rateable value of business premises within the charging zone. [235838]

John Healey: Whether the implementation of a (a) Nottingham workplace parking tax and (b) Greater Manchester congestion charge would count as a material change of circumstances (MCC), would depend on establishing the physical facts at the material date i.e. when the scheme(s) came into existence and judging those facts against the matters set out in schedule 6 to the Local Government Finance Act (LGFA) 1988 and by reference to the Non-Domestic Rating (Alteration of Lists and Appeals) (England) Regulations 2005 (SI 2005 No. 659) & [Wales (WSI2005 No 758)].

Any MCC may or may not have an effect upon the rateable value (hypothetical letting value) of hereditaments.

Non-domestic Rates: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1284W, on non-domestic rates: valuation, whether (a) hard copy and (b) electronic maps exist of the boundaries of each sub-location. [235849]

John Healey: A sub-location defines a group of properties having similar characteristics which are not necessarily geographically contiguous and neither electronic nor hard copy maps of them are produced.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1284W, on non-domestic rates: valuation, what criteria have been used to identify the boundaries of each sub-location. [236147]

John Healey: 'Sub-location' is a VOA description or label for a particular category of property having similar characteristics and which should therefore be treated in the same way for valuation, but may not cover a geographically continuous area.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1284W, on non-domestic rates: valuation, whether each sub-location is ranked according to its value. [235850]

John Healey: Sub-locations are not ranked as such because they are intended to identify groups of property which will reference a particular pool of market evidence for arriving at a valuation level. However properties within them may have different values reflecting their individual physical characteristics and/or specific location factors.

Regional Planning and Development

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what the reasons are for the time taken to publish the Government's response to the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration; [236096]

(2) whether she plans to bring forward legislation to implement the content of the Government's response to the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration; [236098]

(3) when she expects to publish a response to the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration. [236100]

John Healey: The Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration (the SNR) and the subsequent consultation document 'Prosperous Places—Taking Forward the Review of Sub-National Economic Development and Regeneration' generated a high level of interest and a large number of responses. We have been carefully considering options for implementing the SNR reforms following the consultation. We will make our formal response shortly and will legislate to implement the reforms at the earliest opportunity.

Regional Planning and Development: Thames Gateway

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many small businesses she expects to undertake work in connection with the Thames Gateway project. [235807]

Mr. Iain Wright: Data are not collected in the form requested. Government intervention in the Thames Gateway is not targeted at individual businesses. The role of central Government across the Thames Gateway is to create the conditions for economic growth. All businesses will benefit from the additional Government investment set out in the Thames Gateway Delivery Plan (November 2007) and the Thames Gateway Economic Development Investment Plan, published by the three Greater South East regional development agencies in September 2008.

Repossession Orders

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many house repossessions have been enforced by lenders without a court order in each month of the last three years, broken down by (a) constituency and (b) region. [237847]

Mr. Iain Wright: Data giving the number of repossessions are published separately by the Council of Mortgage Lenders and the Financial Services Authority. Data are only available at the UK level and cannot be split by whether a court order was involved or not.

Retail Trade: Planning

Mr. Betts: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether the revised Planning Policy Statement 6 will include a presumption against out-of-town retail development. [236507]

Mr. Iain Wright: Planning Policy Statement 6: Planning for town centres (PPS6, March 2005) sets out a strong town centre-first policy which positively promotes vital and viable town centres across England. However, neither PPS6 nor our Proposed Changes to Planning Policy Statement 6: Planning for town centres, published on 10 July 2008, contain a presumption against out-of-town retail development. PPS6 sets out a clear framework within which local authorities should plan for their town centres and the considerations which need to be taken into account when managing development proposals for town centre uses in specific locations. Our proposals reaffirm and strengthen this policy framework. They refine the way in which development proposals should be considered and tested if they are outside town centres and not in accordance with an up to date development plan strategy.

Shelter: Eco-Towns

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what steps her Department took to ensure that (a) hon. Members, (b) local authorities and councillors, (c) local media and (d) members of the public received copies of the documents concerning eco-towns produced by Shelter and funded by her Department; how many hon. Members were sent copies; what further arrangements were made for the distribution of the documents in the relevant areas; and if she will make a statement; [232767]

(2) what discussions (a) she and (b) officials in her Department had with Shelter about the arrangements for (i) publicising and (ii) consulting on the eco-town documents produced with a grant from her Department. [232768]

Mr. Iain Wright: Shelter organised mailings of their series of publications in respect of each potential eco-town location. Shelter is in the process of sending copies of publications to the relevant hon. Members, and is also mailing them to local authorities and councillors, members of the public, community groups, housing organisations and other organisations that are in contact with local residents in areas where a potential eco-town has been proposed. The publications are available to download from Shelter's website. Shelter has also issued press notices to coincide with the publication of each document, which have been sent to the local media and include links to the PDFs of these documents on Shelter's website.

Shelter discussed and agreed the arrangements for publishing and disseminating these eco-town documents with, my officials. However, any views expressed in the publications are those of the authors and not my Department.

Small Businesses: Tax Allowances

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Brentwood and Ongar of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 116W, on business: tax allowance, what funding has been given to local authorities to assist them in promoting and raising awareness of small business rate relief. [235854]

John Healey: When the scheme was introduced in April 2005 the Department requested that all local authorities send information leaflets to ratepayers to provide information on revaluation 2005 and the new small business rate relief scheme. The total amount paid to local authorities for the distribution of the leaflets was £500,000.08.

Travelling People

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many authorised sites for gypsies and Travellers were provided in (a) 1988 and (b) 1998 by local authorities in (a) Essex, (b) Suffolk, (c) Norfolk, (d) Kent, (e) Hertfordshire, (f) Berkshire, (g) Cambridgeshire and (h) Greater London. [237751]

Mr. Iain Wright: The number of authorised local authority sites as at January 1998 was as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Essex | 15 |
| Suffolk | 4 |
| Norfolk | 5 |
| Kent | 19 |
| Hertfordshire | 12 |
| Berkshire | 7 |
| Cambridgeshire | 15 |
| Greater London | 37 |

We do not hold data on authorised local authority sites in 1988.

Valuation Office: Databases

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for how many residential dwellings in England and Wales the Valuation Office Agency has access to property data through its interface with rightmove.co.uk. [236175]

John Healey: Releasing this information would prejudice the commercial interests and the procurement position of the Valuation Office Agency.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the proportion of records relating to private (a) sales and (b) rental transactions in England which are accessible each year to the Valuation Office Agency through its interface with rightmove.co.uk. [236177]

John Healey: The Valuation Office Agency does not obtain records of sales or rental transactions as a result of its contract with Rightmove.

Valuation Office: Reorganisation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether the Valuation Office Agency will use the property information held by the Rent Service for its valuation functions once the Rent Service is integrated into the Valuation Office Agency. [236164]

Mr. Timms: I have been asked to reply.

Work is well under way in both organisations to ensure a seamless transfer of Rent Service functions to the Valuation Office Agency (VOA) in April 2009. The aim is to ensure minimal disruption to normal working.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Departmental Members Interests

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will place in the Library the latest copy of the Cabinet Office Board Members' Register of Interests. [233698]

Kevin Brennan: The Cabinet Office maintains a Register of Board Members' Interests in accordance with Government accounting requirements.

A copy of the Register as at July 2008 has been placed in the Library of the House.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Children in Care: Crime

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he has taken to reduce the risk of young people in care becoming involved in criminal activity. [234039]

Beverley Hughes: I would refer my hon. Friend to the reply given on 11 November 2008, Official Report, columns 1067-68W.

Children: Bed and Breakfast Accommodation

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children were housed in bed and breakfast accommodation in each of the last 10 years, broken down by (a) age and (b) region. [236949]

Mr. Iain Wright: I have been asked to reply.

Data are not held centrally on the overall number of children housed in bed and breakfast accommodation. However, since mid-2004, some information has been collected on the number of children (and expected children) housed in bed and breakfast style accommodation used under homelessness provisions of the 1996 Housing Act.

Information about English local authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (Part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available.

Information on the number of children (and expected children) in bed and breakfast style temporary accommodation (i.e. bed and breakfast hotels and other privately managed shared facility annexes) is reported quarterly by local authorities as at the last day of each quarter. This has been collected since mid 2004. Figures as reported by local authorities from 2004-05 onwards (as at the last day of March each year) are provided in a table, which has been placed in the Library. The response rate and quality of data reported by authorities is not yet sufficient to gross up to a regional and national level estimate, and data on the age of the children is not collected centrally.

Children: Day Care

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many child care places there were in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since 1997. [235453]

Beverley Hughes: The information requested is shown in the following tables.

Table 1: Number[1, 2] of day care places for children under eight years of age by type of provider, Enfield local authority area, position at 31 March each year 1997 to 2002

Since 2003, Ofsted has been responsible for the registration and inspection of child care providers. Ofsted have produced figures on the number of registered child care providers and places on a quarterly basis from March 2003. Their latest figures were published in their report "Registered Childcare Providers and Places, August 2008", which is available on their website at:

Departmental Information

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend East, of 17 October 2008, Official Report, column 1583W, on departmental information, what the individual names are of the publications, reports and datasets sold by his Department. [233358]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Most of the Department's publications are available free of charge on the Department's website and can be reused free of charge under the terms of the PSI Click-Use Licence which is administered by the Office of Public Sector Information (OPSI) in accordance with the Re-Use of Public Sector Information Regulations. Core information produced by the Department can also be reused under the terms of the Value Added Licence which is also administered by OPSI. Re-use of the information under the terms of the Value Added Licence may incur a change based on the type and amount of information.

OPSI has provided the available information on the individual names of the departmental publications, reports and datasets that have been made available for re-use under the terms of the Value Added Licence and incurred a charge since 2005, as follows:

Child Abuse Linked to Accusations of "Possession" and "Witchcraft"

Common Assessment Framework

Identification, Referral and Tracking Software

Models of Adult Learning—A Literature Review

Open Plan Schools.

These are all publications and some of them were published by the former Department for Education and Skills.

The answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East (James Duddridge) of 17th October 2008, Official Report, column 1583W, on departmental information, covered the same information and period but inadvertently referred to the financial year 2007-08. No departmental publications, reports and datasets have been made available for re-use and incurred a charge under the terms of the Value Added Licence in the last 12 months.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small and medium-sized businesses were paid within 30 days of receipt by (a) his Department and (b) the agencies for which his Department is responsible in 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [226501]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: I would direct the hon. Member for Hertford and Stortford to the Departmental Published Account for 2007-08 which sets out the performance of the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) in this regard. The Department paid 98.8 per cent. of all valid invoices for goods and services within 30 days.

DCSF does not currently publish information about the size of its suppliers. We do not discriminate by size of business because many small and medium sized enterprises (SME's) can be found within larger supply chains. Alongside speeding up government payments we are also looking to our main contractors to pass on the benefits to smaller suppliers in their supply chains.

The Department for Children, Schools and Families was created on 28 June 2007 as a result of a machinery of government change. The data included in the 2007-08 account also includes that of its predecessor department, the Department for Education and Skills.

The Department does not have any Executive Agencies.

The Department for Children, Schools and Families welcomes the statement by the Prime Minister to Prime Minister's questions on 8 October 2008 on moving to the payment of invoices as soon as possible and within 10 days. The Department will be working towards this goal.

Further Education

Mr. Swire: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent guidance he has issued to local authorities on the provision of post-16 education. [237538]

Jim Knight: Following the proposals set out in the White Paper Raising Expectations: Enabling the System to Deliver to transfer of funding for learning for 16 to 19-year-olds from the Learning and Skills Council to local authorities from September 2010, guidance for local authorities on the new arrangements was issued on 28 July 2008 and can be found at:

http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/14-19

This outlined the need for local authorities to work together in sub-regional groupings and the process by which readiness of the groupings would be reviewed. We will be issuing further guidance to local authorities on the second stage of the process which will focus on the governance of the sub-regional groupings and set out how we expect local authorities to come together with their partners e.g. schools, colleges and 3rd sector in delivering these reforms.

Additionally, the Department is working closely with the Local Government Association and the Association of Directors of Children's Services to support local authorities in taking on their new functions.

General Certificate of Secondary Education: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what percentage of eligible pupils passed GCSEs at grades A to C including English and mathematics in Crosby constituency in 2008; [236676]

(2) what percentage of GCSE students in schools in Crosby constituency achieved five or more A* to C grades including English and mathematics in 2008. [236720]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: Information at constituency level will be available when the 2008 Secondary School Achievement and Attainment Tables have been published in January.

Higher Education: Vocational Guidance

Mr. Hollobone: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment he has made of the extent to which careers advice influences academically-able pupils in their decision on whether to proceed to higher education. [237721]

Jim Knight: Young people's decisions about HE are influenced by a range of factors. Research suggests that for a young person with no family history of higher education (HE), discussions with teachers, university visits and information on courses of interest enhance considerably the likelihood of a positive attitude towards HE. We also know that Information, Advice and Guidance (IAG) on learning and careers can raise the aspirations of a Level 3 student who has financial concerns and no family history of HE[1].

A range of measures are in hand that will improve the careers education/IAG available to support young people. For example, we have specifically targeted gifted and talented disadvantaged young people that are eligible for Free School Meals, through City Challenge, in a programme which has the explicit aim of improving progression to university. We will bring together our work to improve IAG in the spring in a published Information Advice and Guidance Strategy for Young People.

Plain English

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much has been spent by his Department on Plain English Campaign training courses for its staff in each year since 2005. [230612]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Department was formed on 28 June 2007. The Department does not offer central Plain English training courses to employees. Some plain English courses have been run in-house by writing editors in the Communications Directorate but these have been at no extra cost to the Department. Costs for individual literary training arranged for employees as part of their learning and development are not held centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

The Department does provide a writing style guide including information on standards and plain English which employees can access from the departmental intranet.

Primary Education: Greater London

Mr. Davey: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the expected demand is for primary school places for each London borough for the next four years. [235667]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Department collects information annually from each local authority on their projected pupil numbers for forthcoming years, as part of the Surplus Places Survey. The following table gives a breakdown of primary pupil numbers in 2008 and primary pupil projections for the next four years for each London borough, as provided by the respective local authorities.

Pupils: Intimidation

Mrs. James: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what progress his Department is making in tackling cyberbullying in schools. [236728]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Department introduced legal provisions in the 2006 Education Act which gave school staff new powers to confiscate mobile phones and to discipline pupils for bad behaviour outside the school gate, including cyber bullying. We published detailed guidance for schools on how to prevent and tackle cyber bullying in September 2007, and have more recently produced a resource pack for school staff which includes a DVD and a booklet for teachers. We ran a digital information campaign on cyber bullying last year aimed at 12 to 15-years-olds, and as part of anti-bullying week we are currently re-running this campaign to drive home the message that if young people laugh at, or pass on bullying messages online or with mobile phones, they are taking part in bullying. I have asked the Anti-Bullying Alliance and National Strategies to work with local authorities and schools to ensure the cyber bullying guidance is effectively implemented on the ground, and that schools make effective use of the other materials.

Runaway Children

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) how many young runaways there were in each year since 2000; and what steps have been taken to assist them over that period; [236941]

(2) what estimate his Department has made of the number of children who were sleeping rough in each of the last five years, broken down by local authority. [236948]

Beverley Hughes: Statistics on the numbers of all children who are reported as missing, and on the number of children who sleep rough are not collected centrally. However, a recent Children's Society survey ("Still Running II, 2005") estimates that each year 100,000 children in the UK run away or are forced to leave home to escape problems. That survey suggests that one in six of those young people will sleep rough while they are away.

In June 2008, the Department, in partnership with the Home Office and the Department for Communities and Local Government, published the Young Runaways Action Plan. This set out how we will support those who have run away from home or care, draws on the findings of a series of parliamentary hearings, and reflects the direction set by the working group of officials and local government and voluntary sector experts which my Department set up earlier this year to drive work to improve services for runaways. In particular, we have committed to update the statutory guidance for local authorities about service provision for runaways; to produce a resource pack that schools and other organisations working with young people can use to educate them about the dangers of running; and to review the provision of emergency accommodation, which helps those young people who do run to stay safe.

Additionally, the National Police Improvement Agency's Missing Persons Bureau has been working with the Association of Chief Police Officers and the charity Missing People to establish joint working arrangements to improve the recording, sharing and exchange of information, to improve the way in which missing persons are dealt with, and to inform our understanding of the problem in order to develop strategies to address it. A comprehensive national police database of missing and unidentified people reported either to the police or the charity has been established, and will be supported by a new police Code of Practice on the recording of data relating to missing people, which will be in place in the spring. Local areas will be asked to confirm the extent to which this data is collected and used appropriately at a local level as part of the new indicator, N1 71, 'Missing from Home or Care', which will be in place from April 2009.

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what provision is in place for long-term specialist foster carers to take in young runaways for an extended period of time; and if he will make a statement. [236951]

Beverley Hughes: Local authorities are responsible for commissioning sufficient placements in order to respond to the diverse needs of children in their care. The information requested, therefore, is not held centrally.

Our Care Matters White Paper outlined a range of initiatives to offer support to foster carers and improve placement choice.

Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what original estimate was made of the costs of implementing the provisions of the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006; and what his most recent estimate is of such costs. [235897]

Meg Hillier: I have been asked to reply.

Implementing the provisions of the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 required the setting up of a new Vetting and Barring Scheme (VBS) through which unsuitable people would be barred from working with children and/or vulnerable adults. The VBS Full Business Case of 28 September 2007 showed set-up costs for 2007-08 and 2008-09 are expected to be £84 million in total, with five-year operational costs expected to be £246 million. Hence, over the five years of implementing the scheme, and vetting approximately 11.3 million people, the total costs will be £330 million. Since the figures quoted in that business case, the costs have not risen.

Special Educational Needs

Mr. Fielle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what the average time taken to issue a statement of special educational needs was in (a) Stoke-on-Trent and (b) England in the latest period for which figures are available. [231603]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: The Audit Commission has collected figures on how many draft statements have been completed by each local authority within the statutory 18 weeks, both when none of the allowed exceptions to the time limits within the 18 weeks are relevant and when they are. The latest figures available are for 2006-07 and are available on the Audit Commission's website at http://www.audit-commission.gov.uk/performance/dataprovision.asp

(Best Value Performance Indicators (BVPIs) 43a and 43b). These show that Stoke-on-Trent achieved an average of 98.2 per cent. of draft statements completed within 18 weeks excluding exceptions and 87.6 per cent. with exceptions. The average local authority scores for England were 97.5 per cent. and 86.5 per cent. respectively.

2007-08 is the last statutory period for the collection and reporting of the BPVIs. The new national indicator set, which has replaced all other local authority performance indicators, includes an indicator on what percentage of final statements each local authority completes within the statutory 26 weeks.

Special Educational Needs: East of England

Special Educational Needs: Transport

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what his most recent assessment is of the steps necessary to implement the removal of the Government's reservations on the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child; and what timetable he has set for taking these steps. [237061]

Beverley Hughes: The Government are currently taking the necessary procedures to remove the reservations against the Articles 22 and 37c of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office is writing to the UN Secretary-General withdrawing the reservations. The Secretary-General will then notify the other states parties of the withdrawal. The withdrawal will take effect upon such notification, which we anticipate will take place by the end of this year.

Vetting: Overseas Residence

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps need to be taken in order to facilitate the taking into account of relevant offences committed overseas when individuals put themselves forward to be monitored under procedures established under the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006. [235896]

Meg Hillier: I have been asked to reply.

The Independent Safeguarding Authority, established under the Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act (2006), can use foreign offences information when deciding whether to bar individuals from working with children or vulnerable adults.

There are several ways this information can be accessed. Under an EU Council Decision agreed in November 2005, an EU member state must inform the UK if a UK national is convicted in that other EU state. This information is put onto the Police National Computer (PNC) and is available for the disclosure services.

Under the same Council Decision criminal conviction information can also be sought on EU nationals being proceeded against in the UK and any information received from other member states put onto the PNC. A standard format for securely exchanging this information electronically was agreed at the Justice and Home Affairs Council on 24 October.

The UK sees information sharing as a key priority for the next EU work programme. We have signed the Council of Europe Convention on the Protection of Children against Sexual Abuse and Sexual Exploitation which recognises the need to share information among member states for child protection purposes.

The Criminal Records Bureau is pursuing bilateral agreements, for example with France, Ireland and Australia, on exchanging information for employment vetting purposes. But, this is a difficult area and so far only three of the 26 EU countries approached have said they can co-operate with us on these bilateral agreements and we recognise that there is much more work to do on this.

Sir Ian Magee's Review of Criminality Information published in the summer recommended that by January 2009, the Government should agree an approach to the international exchange of criminality information and that vetting and barring should be a priority area. The Government expect to publish its response to the review shortly.

Young People: Antisocial Behaviour

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families pursuant to the Answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1082W, on young people: anti-social behaviour, when the independent national evaluation (a) will begin and (b) is expected to report. [236335]

Beverley Hughes: The independent national evaluation of Intensive Intervention Projects will begin in 2009, and will report in 2011.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Broadband

Mr. Gray: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent representations his Department has received on the role of private companies' in the roll-out of broadband internet. [233619]

Mr. McFadden: This Department has not received representations explicitly about the role of private companies but has received correspondence, where calls were made for Government to intervene to make industry roll-out broadband internet to areas that currently suffer from lack of service.

I am committed to looking at this issue seriously and we will consider this in more detail over the coming months, in particular through The Digital Britain Report that the Government launched on 17 October. Reporting in the spring, The Digital Britain Report will develop a comprehensive strategy to further our digital economy and society. One strand of this work will look at options for maximising broadband participation and levels of service.

Business Confidence

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what surveys of business confidence his Department and its predecessors have conducted or commissioned since 1997; and if he will place in the Library copies of each. [232036]

Ian Pearson: The Department has not conducted or commissioned surveys of business confidence. There are a number of private sector surveys of business confidence (for example, the quarterly CBI Industrial Trends Survey) that provide a regular, reliable source of information on business confidence, which negate the need for BERR to conduct its own surveys and add to the survey burden on business.

Business Link

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate his Department has made of the number of businesses that (a) sought advice, (b) received intensive assistance and (c) received other assistance from the Business Link network in each year since 1997. [231957]

Ian Pearson: The information requested, where available, can be found in the following table.

It shows the number of customers that have benefited over the years from Business Link where they can access a wide range of business support products. Business Link provides a wealth of information on business related topics, it helps customers diagnose their needs and helps them to identify solutions to meet those needs in both the public and private sector. It can be accessed through the website www.businesslink.gov.uk, by telephone (0845 6009006) or through the network of advisers based in England.

Business: VAT

Sir Peter Soulsby: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many new businesses in Leicester South constituency have registered for value added tax in each year since 1997. [234683]

Ian Pearson: The number of new VAT registrations in Leicester South in each year from 1997 to 2006 is shown in the following table. Data for VAT registrations in 2007 will be available 28 November 2008.

Number of new VAT registrations and VAT-registered businesses, Leicester South

| 2004 | 380 |
| 2005 | 425 |

Source:
BERR National Statistics publication "Business start-ups and closures: VAT registrations and de-registrations 2006" available at: http://stats.berr.gov.uk/ed/vat/index.htm

Although the number of new registrations fluctuated over the 10 years, the total number of VAT registered businesses in Leicester South increased from 3,170 at the start of 1997 to 3,580 at the start of 2007, an increase of 13 per cent.

VAT registrations do not capture all business activity. Businesses are unlikely to be registered if they fall below the compulsory VAT threshold, which was £60,000 at the start of 2006. Only 1.9 million out of 4.5 million UK enterprises (43 per cent.) were registered for VAT at the start of 2006.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235033]

Mr. McFadden: The Department's website is:

www.berr.gov.uk

It received a total of 10,107,460 visits from 6,589,815 unique visitors in the period 01 April 2007 to 31 March 2008.

The main cost elements of its upkeep are:

The Rhythmyx content management system (CMS). The CMS is used by staff across the Department and cost £1,029,474.83 in 2007-08.

Provision and maintenance of the site's search engine facility by a third-party supplier, Open Objects. In 2007-08 this cost £15,784.21

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236915]

Mr. McFadden: The remit of each of the non-departmental public bodies sponsored by the Department can be found at the following link. An updated version of this list will be published shortly.

http://www.berr.gov.uk/aboutus/corporate/performance/annual-spending/page40391.html

Funding for 2008-09 agreed with each of the Department's Executive non-departmental public bodies, above £1 million, can be found on page 398 of the published Central Government Supply Estimates 2008-09—see extract and following link. The only body not included on the list is "Sitpro" and we have agreed a figure of £800,000 for 2008-09. Funding for future years (i.e. 2009-10 and 2010-11) has not yet been agreed.

The advisory NDPBs sponsored by the Department incur little or no expenditure and are resourced from within the Department. As a result, information on budgets for 2008-11 is not available.

New Businesses: Greater London

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many new business start-ups there were in Bexley in each of the last three years. [232292]

Ian Pearson: VAT registration data provide the only accurate indicator of the level of business start-up activity.

The number of new VAT registrations in the London borough of Bexley was 580 in 2004, 535 in 2005 and 560 in 2006. Data for VAT registrations in 2007 will be available 28 November 2008.

Although the number of new registrations fluctuated over the three years, the total number of VAT registered businesses in Bexley increased from 5,140 at the start of 2004 to 5,385 at the start of 2007, an increase of 245 (5 per cent.).

VAT registrations do not capture all business activity. Businesses are unlikely to be registered if they fall below the compulsory VAT threshold, which was £60,000 at the start of 2006. Only 1.9 million out of 4.5 million UK enterprises (43 per cent.) were registered for VAT at the start of 2006.

Smarta

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much funding his Department provided for Smarta in each of the last three years. [231953]

Ian Pearson: Smarta is a private sector enterprise, of which the Department is aware but has no direct involvement in its day to day operations. The Department has not given any funding to Smarta in the last three years.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate his Department has made of the user numbers for Smarta in each of its first three years. [231955]

Ian Pearson: The Smarta website is a private sector enterprise, of which the Department is aware but has no direct involvement in its day to day operations.

JUSTICE

Administration of Justice: Mental Health Services

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what discussions he has had with the Welsh Assembly Government on the implementation of the proposals on service users in the justice system made by Professor Michael Williams in his review of mental health services in Wales. [235989]

Mr. Hanson: No ministerial discussions were held between the Ministry of Justice and Welsh Ministers about Professor Williams's report: "Iechyd Meddwl Cymru—A Well Being and Mental Health Service Fit for Wales". The report was published in April 2008 and proposed a statutory body responsible for Mental Health and Well Being in Wales.

The Welsh Assembly Government subsequently undertook a consultation on the proposal, which involved local partnerships whose shared responsibilities include those in the justice system. Welsh Ministers announced on 29 September that mental health services will become a fundamental part of the new integrated local NHS bodies, which was also subject of a consultation exercise, and not the responsibility of a separate statutory body.

Civil Proceedings

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what research his Department has carried out on the cost to the Courts Service of litigants in person. [235900]

Bridget Prentice: The Ministry of Justice has carried out no research on litigants in person.

The former Department of Constitutional Affairs published research on two projects in 2005 that are broadly relevant:

Richard Moorhead and Mark Sefton's 'Litigants in Person: Unrepresented litigants in first instance proceedings';

Joyce Plotnikoff and Richard Woolfson's 'Evaluation of appellant work in the High Court and the County Court' which has a small section on unrepresented litigants.

Both documents are available from:

http://www.dca.gov.uk/research/2005/res05fr.htm.

Cremation

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many cremation certificates were issued in each of the last five years; [237074]

(2) what guidance he issues on good practice in issuing cremation certificates; [237075]

(3) what representations he has received on an unsatisfactory practice in the issuing of cremation certificates. [237076]

Bridget Prentice: The Cremation Society of Great Britain provides statistical information about the number of cremations authorised each year. In England and Wales the number of cremations for each of the last five years was as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 404,754 |
| 2004 | 388,336 |
| 2005 | 387,874 |
| 2006 | 380,663 |
| 2007 | 381,067 |

Each cremation requires three or four certificates depending on the circumstances of the death. These are completed by the applicant, two medical practitioners or the coroner, and the medical referee at the crematorium. Guidance on the completion of the medical certificates was published in 2002 and 2003. New cremation regulations come into effect on 1 January 2009 and new guidance has been issued to cremation authorities, medical referees, funeral directors, medical practitioners and applicants for cremation as well as being published on the Ministry of Justice website and elsewhere within the cremation industry. Representations about the poor completion of medical certificates are made very occasionally to this Department. In certain circumstances these may be referred to the prosecuting authorities for investigation.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans there are for each of the sites owned by HM Courts Service registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when he expects each site to be returned to use. [236439]

Bridget Prentice: HM Courts Service has three sites listed on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land. There are two sites listed at New Mitts, High Peak which were to be used as part of the Derbyshire Magistrates' Court PFI scheme but we are no longer proceeding with a new courthouse at New Mills. HM Courts Service and New Mills Town Council (who own one of the areas of land) are now in the process of selling this land. We also own land at Ebbw Vale, Gwent that was acquired by the former Gwent Magistrates' Courts Committee for a possible new courthouse but. there are no plans in the current spending round to progress this project.

Disability Living Allowance: Appeals

Dr. Evan Harris: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many disability living allowance and incapacity for work cases his Department lost on appeal in the latest period for which figures are available, broken down by category of reason. [234971]

Bridget Prentice: The total number of disability living allowance cases where the Department of Work and Pensions lost on appeal in the latest period for which figures are available was:

30,606 (50.5 per cent.) from a total of 60,600 cases cleared at hearing between October 2007 and October 2008.

The total number of incapacity benefits cases where the department for work and pensions lost on appeal in the latest period for which figures are available was:

25,970 (44.7 per cent.) from a total of 58,085 cases cleared at hearing between October 2007 and October 2008.

The tribunal only records the outcome of appeals and not the reason.

Legal Advice and Assistance

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many individuals have been assisted using the Legal Help Scheme since the introduction of fixed fees; [235910]

(2) how many individuals have had more than one case prepared with assistance from the Legal Help Scheme since the introduction of fixed fees. [235911]

Mr. Malik: In the 12-month period from 1 October 2007 to October 2008, when the Legal Services Commission (LSC) introduced new fee schemes as part of the legal aid reform programme, the number of separate clients reported by providers in all Legal Help categories including immigration was 551,353. Of these, 77,514 received help on more than one occasion.

From 1 October 2007 to October 2008 legal aid providers started 625,670 Legal Help matters including immigration and excluding the Community Legal Advice telephone helpline. New matters started can help one or more people, and one individual can receive help on more than one matter in any given period.

From 1 October 2007 the LSC has required providers to record a Unique Client Number for each case they report. The client identifier means that the LSC can estimate how many individual clients legal aid providers have helped as well as the number of new matters started.

As the figures relate to cases closed, they may include more simple or general Legal Help cases than complex ones. The complex cases, which may involve multiple problems, tend to last longer and may not have closed yet. Research shows that clients often experience problems in clusters.

Legal Representation: Fees and Charges

Mr. Bellingham: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what recent research his Department has carried out on the effect of fixed fees on the number of people who represent themselves in court proceedings. [235899]

Mr. Malik: The Government implemented new legal aid fixed payment schemes for solicitors and not-for-profit organisations in 2007. The impact of the fixed fee schemes is currently being reviewed by the Legal Services Commission (LSC) and relevant stakeholders. The LSC will consult on any improvements needed in January 2009, to take effect with new contracts in 2010.

The following figures from HM Court Service show that the number of litigants in person in the family courts have fallen slightly in the last four years.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 52,905 |
| 2005 | 49,876 |
| 2006 | 49,410 |
| 2007 | 48,983 |
| 2008 | [1]31,979 |

[1] January to August.

Note:
The figures exclude adoption work and relate to the status of the petitioner/applicant in county court actions only.

National Probation Service for England and Wales

Mark Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice when he plans to publish the report his Department commissioned from KPMG on options for the future structure of the National Probation Service. [222301]

Mr. Hanson: A number of options for change to the National Probation Service structure have been considered by Ministers, based on the analysis provided by KPMG and other sources of information. On 22 October 2008, Official Report, column 12WS, I set out plans for the implementation of probation trusts. All probation boards will have the opportunity to apply to become a trust by 2010. A copy of the report has been placed in the House Library.

Pleural Plaques

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many responses he has received from (a) trades unions, (b) insurers and (c) members of the public to his Department's consultation on pleural plaques; and if he will make a statement. [236534]

Bridget Prentice: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 330W.

A total of 224 responses were received to the consultation paper. Of these, 125 responses were received from individuals and 30 from the legal profession. 18 responses were received from insurers and defendant organisations. There were 15 responses from trade union bodies, and 12 from Members of Parliament. Seven responses were received from employers and business organisations; four from medical professionals; four from organisations representing asbestos victims; and two from academics. In addition there were responses from a devolved administration; a non-departmental public body; a constituency political party; an actuarial body; a charity for education in health and safety; a statutory public body; and a consultancy firm specialising in occupational environmental and public health risks.

Prisoners Transfers

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many requests were received from prisoners for transfer to a prison near their home in 2008; how many were approved; and if he will make a statement. [236839]

Mr. Malik: Prisoners' requests for transfer are only recorded on their individual files. To obtain this information would therefore require a manual examination of the paper files of all those who have been in prison during 2008. This would involve disproportionate cost.

The National Offender Management Service recognises the part family ties can play in reducing re-offending on release, and will facilitate transfers to maintain family ties whenever possible. However, the prisoner's security category must be the primary consideration in determining the appropriate location, along with the availability of programmes which address the individual's offending behaviour. The current high population levels also make it difficult to hold prisoners as close to home as we would otherwise wish.

Prisoners: Employment

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what provision will be made in Titan prisons to enable prisoners to undertake skilled real work initiatives. [237297]

Mr. Hanson: Large prison complexes will offer prisoners the opportunity to engage in meaningful work or education. Work opportunities will lead to qualifications with a focus on NVQs. The work available will be focused on skills shortages in the areas in which these prisons are located, and so assist prisoners to find work on release.

Prisons: Drugs

Dr. Stoate: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what comparative assessment his Department has made of the effects of using (a) buprenorphine naloxone, (b) methadone and (c) buprenorphone alone in prisons. [236668]

Mr. Hanson: Suboxone, buphrenorphine and methadone are available on the national health service for the treatment of heroin addiction. The decision to use a specific drug is a clinical one, taken in the community or in prison following consultation with the patient about their clinical needs and priorities.

Suboxone has been available to doctors since August 2007—its superiority or otherwise over other licensed treatments, buprenorphine or methadone, has yet to be determined, as experience of the effectiveness of this drug in clinical settings such as prisons is relatively recent, and it will take time for a clear picture to emerge. Offender Health will continue to keep this, and all other drug treatments, under review.

Rape: Sentencing

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people released from prison after serving a sentence for (a) rape and (b) sexual assault in England and Wales in each of the last five years have subsequently been convicted of another sexual offence. [236914]

Mr. Hanson: At present, figures on sexual reoffending post custody for a specific sexual offence are not available; extracting this information would be at disproportionate cost to the Ministry of Justice. However, published statistics on reoffending include information on the reoffending rates of offenders who were released from custody following an offence classified as sexual or sexual (child). These are shown in the following table.

| | Number of releases from custody | Rate of reoffending (one year) (percentage) | Number of offences per 100 offenders (one year) | Number of severe offences per 100 offenders[1] |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2002 | 347 | 14.1 | 43.5 | 0.6 |
| 2003 | 355 | 14.9 | 55.5 | 1.7 |
| 2004 | 456 | 13.4 | 44.5 | 1.1 |
| 2005 | 486 | 15.2 | 47.9 | 0.8 |
| 2006 | 583 | 11.7 | 39.5 | 0.0 |

[1] The number of severe offences committed by this group is very small and these numbers should therefore be treated with caution.

It is important to note that only a small proportion of offenders convicted of a sexual offence carry out a sexual reoffence on completion of their sentence. Therefore the 'Rate of reoffending (one year)' column in the table represents the percentage of sexual offenders who committed a further offence of any type, with only a small proportion of the offences committed being in the sexual/sexual(child) category. An indication of this can be seen from the number of severe offences committed by this group which on average shows that less than one severe offence is committed per 100 offenders in this group. In the most recent year for which data are available this was zero.

The latest reoffending statistics for adults, "Reoffending of adults: results from the 2006 cohort", were published on the same date and can be obtained from:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/reoffendingofadults.htm

Shoplifting: Fixed Penalties

Ann Coffey: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many and what proportion of those issued with a fixed penalty notice for retail theft in the last three years have subsequently reoffended. [236851]

Mr. Hanson: A study of criminal histories and re-offending rates of PND recipients is under way and will be published in late 2009.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Carbon Sequestration

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of when carbon capture and storage technology would be commercially deployed following the establishment of a European carbon price through the EU Emissions Trading Scheme. [234110]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The timing of the commercial deployment of CCS in the UK depends on several variables, including: how much demonstration projects succeed in confirming the technical performance of the technology; the scale of cost reductions gained from economies of scale and learning; the relative cost of fossil fuels; and the associated cost of carbon.

Modelling undertaken by DECC suggests CCS deployment at €40-60/tCO2, however the early stage of development of the technology and the variables outlined above that will affect this figure mean that there is significant uncertainty surrounding this range.

The Government do not comment on the future level of the carbon price.

Departmental Energy

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps he is taking to improve the energy performance of his Department's headquarters. [234108]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department intends to implement the guidance provided in Good Practice Guide 286—Energy Performance in the Government's Civil Estate. As well as considering ways to improve the building's energy efficiency, we are also looking for opportunities to reduce our carbon, energy and water consumption through changes to the way in which we work. 100 per cent. of the electricity supplied to 3-8 Whitehall Place is generated from renewable sources.

Departmental Expenditure

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what financial contributions his Department is making to international bodies in 2008-09. [236407]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The final budget for DECC will be agreed once negotiations on the Machinery of Government changes with BERR and DEFRA are complete.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much surplus land his Department owns; and what the (a) area and (b) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236429]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC owns no surplus land.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change pursuant to the Answer of 4 November 2008, Official Report, columns 441-42W, on departmental public expenditure, by what date he expects the negotiations on the machinery of government changes referred to in the Answer to be completed. [236580]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: There is no precise date but negotiations on the machinery of government changes, as they affect the Department of Energy and Climate Change, should be completed in time to allow the spring supplementary estimates to be completed.

Electricity Generation: Wind Power

Robert Key: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the annual (a) percentage of active generating time achieved and (b) total amount of electricity generated by micro-wind turbines allowed under the permitted development planning regime. [236328]

Mr. Iain Wright: I have been asked to reply.

Micro-wind turbines do not currently have permitted development rights. We do not have the figures referred to. We are currently considering the appropriate limits and conditions that would enable permitted development rights for householders to be extended to micro-wind turbines. To achieve this we would need to amend secondary legislation. The amending order would be accompanied by an impact assessment that would quantify the main costs and benefits of the change.

Energy Group

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library the organisational chart for the Energy Group. [236749]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The detail of the future organisational structure of the Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC) is currently being determined, following the creation of DECC on 3 October 2008.

Energy Markets Unit

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library the organisational chart for the Energy Markets Unit. [236750]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The detail of the future organisational structure of the Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC) is currently being determined, following the creation of DECC on 3 October 2008.

Energy Supply

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent progress has been made towards the objective of ensuring the (a) reliable supply and (b) efficient use of secure, clean and affordable energy. [236400]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: For the period from 2000, reliability of the UK National Grid transmission network in England and Wales has been 99.99983 per cent. There are incentives on operators of electricity distribution networks in Great Britain to reduce the number and duration of interruptions to supply over their network.

Significant new electricity generating capacity and gas storage is being developed in the UK and, in future, the planning process for such infrastructure should be speeded up through the streamlining of consenting through the Energy and Planning Bills. Security of gas supply is also being improved through the development of three major liquefied natural gas (LNG) terminals which will increase our options for importing gas from outside Europe. This week the UK received its largest ever LNG shipment as phase 2 of the Isle of Grain LNG terminal was commissioned.

DECC now publishes its views on longer term energy supply in its annual Energy Markets Outlook publication, which considers future security of supply options.

The Government have put in place a comprehensive framework of policies and measures to promote energy efficiency across all sectors of the economy, including the recent announcement by the Prime Minister of a new £1 billion package of measures to deliver lasting improvements in energy efficiency to help families permanently cut their energy bills.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps his Department is taking to monitor the UK's electricity supply capacity margin. [236730]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: National Grid is responsible for monitoring the UK's electricity supply capacity margin on an operational basis. The Department publishes a longer term view of the capacity margin in its Energy Markets Outlook document, which can be viewed at http://www.berr.gov.uk/energy/energymarketsoutlook/page41839.html

DECC has also published information in the context of the 2007 Energy White Paper and the subsequent renewables consultation.

Energy Supply: Africa

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what discussions he has had with his counterparts in African countries on the possibility of a high voltage direct current cable network connecting North Africa to Europe. [236654]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 November 2008]: None.

Energy Supply: Europe

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what discussions he has had with his European counterparts on the possibility of an integrated high voltage direct current cable network in Europe. [236655]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 November 2008]: None.

Fallow Initiative

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent steps have been taken by the Fallow Initiative; what assessment he has made of its progress; and if he will make a statement. [236409]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Fallow Initiative has been extremely successful. Each year the Department identifies licences where there has been no drilling activity for three years or longer. The owners then have just one year in which to drill or hand the licence back. In January 2008, a further 58 newly fallow blocks and 11 newly fallow discoveries were identified and an additional tranche will be identified in the new year.

In addition to the 26 field developments that the process has delivered in existing licences, 72 of the 257 blocks that were offered last week in the 25th Licensing Round had been made available for re-licensing as a result of the Fallow Initiative.

Franco-British Nuclear Forum

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) on how many occasions Ministers have attended meetings of the Franco-British Nuclear Forum since its creation; [236742]

(2) what role his Department has in arranging meetings of the Franco-British Nuclear Forum; [236743]

(3) who attended the most recent meeting of the Franco-British Nuclear Forum; [236744]

(4) when the most recent meeting of the Franco-British Nuclear Forum took place. [236745]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Franco-British Nuclear Forum has met twice: in November 2006 and March 2007. It was attended by my noble Friend the then Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Energy on both occasions. Membership of the forum was made up from industry, policy makers, regulators and scientists. The forum was managed by BERR—now DECC—officials. Full information about the forum is available at:

http://www.francobritishnuclearforum.org.uk/.

Natural Gas

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the number of days of gas supply held in UK gas storage facilities. [233929]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The following table, from National Grid's Winter Outlook 2008 report, shows the assumed number of days of storage the UK has for 2008-09 at the maximum withdrawal rate.

| | Space (GWh) | Deliverability (GWh/d) | Deliverability (mcm/d) | Days at full rate |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Short (LNG) | 2,202 | 526 | 49 | 4.2 |
| Medium (MRS) | 9,826 | 530 | 49 | 18.5 |
| Long (Rough) | 35,545 | 455 | 42 | 78.1 |
| Total | 47,573 | 1,511 | 140 | — |

The maximum deliverability of 140 mcm/day equates to around 28 per cent. of demand on a one-in-20 peak winter day. However, gas in storage is only one of the sources of supply which meet UK consumption, along with UK production not exported, and imported gas.

Mr. Crabb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the total capacity of new gas storage facilities that will come onstream in 2009. [233930]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The UK currently has 4,364 million cubic metres (mcm) of working storage capacity, with an additional 420 mcm of capacity expected to come online.

The Government are encouraging new investment in gas storage through the Energy and Planning Bill's reform of the planning and consents regulatory framework to ensure that is clear and consistent and reflects the national need for new infrastructure.

Nuclear Power Stations: Public Participation

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how he intends to take into account the submissions made to the consultation on the strategic siting assessment of nuclear power plants; what criteria he will use to evaluate the responses; when he expects to publish the revised strategic siting assessment; if he will publish on his departmental website all responses; and what steps he plans to take following this consultation. [236366]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Consultation on the Strategic Siting Assessment Process and Siting Criteria for New Nuclear Power Stations in the UK closed on 11 November 2008.

The Government are currently analysing the responses to the consultation. After careful consideration of those responses, we will publish the Government's response to the consultation in the new year. The Government's response will contain the final SSA criteria and any updates to the Environmental Study. We will also be inviting nominations for sites which will then be assessed against the SSA criteria.

The consultation document set out details of the proposed SSA process and next steps. We will update the process and next steps in the light of consultation responses and include details in the Government response to the consultation next year. All responses to consultation will be published on the DECC website unless confidentiality was requested. The home addresses of respondents will not be published for reasons of privacy.

PowerPerfector

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what progress has been made on the rollout of PowerPerfector at Whitehall Place. [236394]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The PowerPerfector at Whitehall Place was installed on 8 March 2008. It is currently saving an average of 9 per cent. of pre installation consumption, and is predicted to result in annual savings of 167,000 kg $CO_2$.

Renewable Energy

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change which funding schemes operated by his Department support (a) renewable energy (b) technology development and (c) production. [236739]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC provides capital grant and other funding for the demonstration and pre-commercial deployment of low carbon and renewable energy technologies under the Environmental Transformation Fund. This includes support for the Carbon Trust innovation portfolio. The Government also provide support for renewables through market drivers such as the Renewables Obligation, which is expected to be worth around a billion pounds a year by 2010.

Renewable Energy: National Grid

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the cost which would be incurred by the National Grid if nuclear energy were used to meet the 2020 renewables target. [236314]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department has made no analysis of the impact of using nuclear energy to meet the 2020 renewables target because nuclear is not a renewable. Nuclear will of course help to reduce emissions.

Renewables Advisory Board

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what future work programme has been set for the Renewables Advisory Board; and if he will make a statement. [236723]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Renewables Advisory Board sets its work programme in January of each year. The work plan is available at:

http://www.renewables-advisoryboard.org.uk/about.htm and the 2009 programme will be published in the new year.

Renewables Advisory Board: Finance

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what funding the Government has provided for the Renewables Advisory Board in each financial year since its creation. [234646]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Renewables Advisory Board (RAB) was created in 2002.

The Government have provided the following funding to support the activities of the advisory non-departmental public body, RAB:

|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 190,144 |
| 2006-07 | 310,785 |
| 2007-08 | 260,315 |
| 2008-09 | 252,145 |

West of Shetland Taskforce Steering Group

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what recent steps have been taken by the West of Shetland Taskforce Steering Group; what assessment of its progress he has made; and if he will make a statement. [236398]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The west of Shetlands and west of Scotland represents a potential 17 per cent. of the UK's remaining oil and gas reserves. Getting the right infrastructure in place to capitalise on this area is of growing significance as we continue to meet the challenge of a secure and diverse energy supply.

No one company or single field is sufficient to drive the building of this infrastructure and my Department established a Government/Industry Taskforce to seek a collective solution. The task force identified a number of options for new infrastructure and agreed an industry sponsored process to test the appetite for third party investment.

An independent broker was contracted to approach a range of potential investors including UK Continental Shelf licensees with interests to the west of Shetland, utility companies and financial organisations. The process closed at the end of October. I understand that there has been interest expressed by a number of licensees beyond the co-sponsors of the third party process (the Laggan/Tormore field and Rosebank field partners.)

It is now a matter for these interested licence groups to consider the options and establish the commercial arrangements necessary to bring forward development proposals for consideration by my Department. I am hopeful that we will see further technical work begin early in the new year that will lead to a development decision during 2009.

SCOTLAND

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department has spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237480]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office did not incur any expenditure in relation to Christmas parties or Christmas cards within the last 12 months. £262.33 plus VAT was spent on Christmas decorations.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department spent on external consultancy in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [239060]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office was established in its present form on 1 July 1999. Since that date expenditure on external consultancy has been as follows:

| | Expenditure (£) |
|---|---|
| 1999-2000 | 0 |
| 2000-01 | 0 |
| 2001-02 | 23,329 |

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office expenditure on flat screen televisions, DVD players and stereo equipment in each of the last three years is listed as follows:

| | | | £ |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
| Flat screen televisions | 0 | 0 | 2,076 |

All expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235029]

Ann McKechin: Between April 2007 and March 2008, the Scotland Office web-site received 94,714 visitors. During this period, the cost of hosting the site was £550 and the cost of routine maintenance was £2,440.

The Scotland Office sponsors the Boundary Commission for Scotland which runs its own website. Between April 2007 and March 2008, that website received 686,342 page hits. The number of visitors is not separately recorded. During this period, the cost of running the site was £1,320. Routine maintenance is carried out internally, and associated staff costs are not collected separately.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much surplus land his Department owns; and what the (a) area and (b) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236417]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office does not own any land.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237467]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office did not employ any staff to undertake branding activities in 2007-08.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department spent on (a) publicity and (b) advertising in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [238951]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office was established in its present form on 1 July 1999. Since that date expenditure on publicity and advertising has been as follows:

| | Expenditure (£) |
|---|---|
| 1999-2000 | 26,861 |
| 2000-01 | 270,494 |
| 2001-02 | 186,564 |
| 2002-03 | 10,390 |
| 2003-04 | 0 |
| 2004-05 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 0 |
| 2006-07 | 17,510 |
| 2007-08 | 0 |

Most of the expenditure in 2000-01 and 2001-02 relates to electoral registration matters. Since 2001, this has been the responsibility of the Electoral Commission.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237500]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office does not maintain records of the administrative time provided to special advisers and therefore is unable to identify the full time equivalent figure. However no staff, in the three years to 30 March 2008, were dedicated to supporting special advisers.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland pursuant to the answer of 18 November 2008, Official Report, columns 251-2W, on departmental written questions, what the cost of providing the answer was. [236853]

Ann McKechin: The cost of providing the answer to the Member was minimal and well within the disproportionate cost limit.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236904]

Ann McKechin: There have been no complaints of racial abuse in the Scotland Office in the last 12 months.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Alcoholic Drinks: Crime

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the written ministerial statement by the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport of 4 March 2008, Official Report, columns 102-5WS, on tackling alcohol-related problems, when the summit of police and local authorities to discuss proposals to tackle alcohol-related problems was convened; and what the outcome of the discussion was. [234277]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The Home Office and Department for Culture Media and Sports jointly held a summit with senior police officers and local authority chief executives on 5 June to discuss how the powers in the Licensing Act 2003 and other interventions can be used most effectively to control problem premises which sell alcohol. Following the successful summit, the Department for Culture Media and Sports has issued guidance on a range of innovative and tough conditions as well as on the introduction of the 'yellow card/red card' scheme to encourage earlier and stronger intervention to tackle problem premises. The Home Office has recently rolled out bespoke, regional workshops to help frontline practitioners to better understand and encourage them in the use of the general alcohol-related tools and powers and specifically Licensing Act 2003 offences.

We will be augmenting these workshops with a comprehensive support package including updated tools and powers guidance, video training modules and reference materials.

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) cautions and (b) arrests for alcohol-related offences there were in (i) Ashford constituency and (ii) Kent in the last eight quarters for which records are available. [237011]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested in respect of cautions covering offences of (a) drunkenness, (b) drunkenness with aggravation, (c) offences against the licensing acts, (d) other offences against intoxicating liquor laws, and (e) elected motoring offences, is provided in the following table. The Office for Criminal Justice Reform is unable to provide data for Ashford constituency as data are not collected at the level required.

The information requested on arrests is not collected centrally. The arrests collection held by the Home Office covers arrests for recorded crime (notifiable offences) only, broken down at a main offence group level, covering categories such as violence against the person and robbery. The alcohol related offences presented in the table are not notifiable offences and do not form part of the arrests collection.

From data reported to the Ministry of Justice, with the exception of these offences, it is not possible to separately identify whether arrests and cautions for other offences were alcohol related.

Number of offenders cautioned[1] for alcohol related offences[2] and issued with penalty notices for disorder (PNDs)[1] in the Kent police force area, broken down by quarter, 2005 to 2006[3]

| | 2005 | | | | 2006 | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Q1 | Q2 | Q3 | Q4 | Q1 | Q2 | Q3 | Q4 |
| Cautions | 55 | 34 | 25 | 27 | 20 | 37 | 28 | 31 |
| PNDs | 312 | 424 | 434 | 463 | 408 | 524 | 514 | 509 |

[1] From 1 June 2000 the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 came into force nationally and removed the use of cautions for persons under 18 and replaced them with reprimands and final warnings. These figures have been included in the totals.
[2] Includes offences of:
(a) Drunkenness simple.

(b) Drunkenness with aggravation simple.
(c) Offences by licensed person.
(e) Driving after consuming alcohol or taking drugs.
(d) Other offences against intoxicating liquor laws.
[3] Includes all alcohol related penalty notices for disorder:
Drunk and disorderly
Selling alcohol to person under 18
Selling alcohol to a person who is drunk
Supplying alcohol to a person under 18
Purchasing alcohol for person under 18 in licensed premises
Purchasing alcohol for person under 18 for consumption in a bar in licensed premises
Delivering alcohol to person under 18 or allowing such delivery
Being drunk in a highway, other public place or licensed premises
Consuming alcohol in designated public place
Consuming alcohol by person under 18 in licensed premises
Allowing consumption of alcohol by person under 18 in licensed premises
Purchase of alcohol by a person under 18
[4] The cautions statistics relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been cautioned for two or more offences at the same time the principal offence is the more serious offence.
[5] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the costs of alcohol-related crime in (a) Ribble Valley, (b) Lancashire and (c) the UK since the implementation of the Licensing Act 2003. [237210]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Home Office has estimated that in 2006-07 the cost of alcohol related crime in relation to England and Wales was £9 billion-15 billion. We are not able to break down the figures to local authority area. This estimate is based on the crime figures from 2006-07, and the Home Office is not able to compare the costs before and after the Licensing Act 2003 came into force. The estimate was published in the impact assessment which accompanied the Department of Health's consultation on the next steps in the Alcohol Strategy. This can be found at:

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Consultations/Liveconsultations/DH_086412.

The 2008 review of the Licensing Act found that since the new legislation came into effect, serious violent crime at night was down 5per cent. and less serious wounding at night was down 3 per cent.

However, between October 2005 and September 2006 there was a small increase in offences reported between 3 am and 6 am (these represent only 4 per cent. of night-time offences).

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much of her Department's funding will be allocated to alcohol arrest referral pilots in (a) 2008-09 and (b) each of the next three years. [234290]

Jacqui Smith: In the current financial year, the Home Office expects to spend £1.275 million on the alcohol arrest referral pilots. This includes the grants paid to the pilot areas, as well as the costs of evaluating the pilots. The Home Office expects that in 2009-10, the amount spent on the alcohol arrest referral pilots will be £1.795 million. The funding allocation for the alcohol arrest referral pilots has not yet been agreed for 2010-11 or beyond.

Antisocial Behaviour Orders: West Midlands

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many breaches of anti-social behaviour orders have been recorded in (a) Tamworth constituency, (b) Staffordshire and (c) the west midlands in each year since the inception of such orders; [237335]

(2) how many breaches of anti-social behaviour orders have resulted in a criminal conviction in (a) Tamworth constituency, (b) Staffordshire and (c) the west midlands in each year since the inception of such orders. [237336]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) became available in April 1999. Information collected centrally on the number of breaches of ASBOs counts only those instances where the breach of the ASBO was proven in court.

ASBO breach data are available for ASBOs issued between 1 June 2000 and 31 December 2006 (latest available) and are not compiled below Criminal Justice System (CJS) area level.

The number of occasions in each year on which ASBOs were proven in court to have been breached in the Staffordshire and the west midlands CJS areas is shown in the following table:

Number of occasions in the Staffordshire and west midlands CJS areas[1] in each year between 1 June 2000 and 31 December 2006 where persons were proven in court to have breached their ASBO

Number

| | Staffordshire | West midlands |
|---|---|---|
| 2000-02[2] | 10 | 112 |
| 2003 | 19 | 137 |
| 2004 | 40 | 344 |
| 2005 | 62 | 488 |
| 2006 | 68 | 408 |
| 1 June 2000 to 31 December 2006 | 199 | 1,489 |

[1] ASBOs may be issued in one area and breached in another. Breaches are counted in this table by area of breach.
[2] From 1 June 2000.
Note:
Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Antisocial Behaviour: Greater London

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department is taking to reduce alcohol misuse and anti-social behaviour in London, with specific reference to south-west London. [236942]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Home Office work in relation to tackling alcohol misuse is focused on areas prioritised on the basis of perceptions of drunk or rowdy behaviour and police-recorded crime statistics for less serious wounding. However, the Home Office is taking a number of steps to tackle alcohol misuse and ASB in London.

For example, in relation to tackling alcohol misuse, we are rolling out bespoke media campaigns in seven priority areas. These 'Know Your Limits'-based local media campaigns will take place from December 2008 to March 2009. These campaigns will communicate the national responsible drinking 'Know Your Limits' messages using a tailored approach for each local area. The areas where this will take place are Stoke-On-Trent, Stevenage, Southampton, North East Lincs, Weymouth, Durham and Barking and Dagenham.

Additionally, we are holding a series of two-day bespoke regional practitioner training workshops (the first of which took place in London on 28 to 29 October) on the application of the Licensing Act 2003 and practical enforcement of offences under it; and the use and enforcement of other alcohol-related tools and powers, including designated public places orders (DPPOs) and alcohol disorder zones (ADZs). The second event, in Cambridge, was held on the 18 to 19 November. These workshops will be accompanied by the publication of a comprehensive digital support package early in 2009.

Also, in October 2007, four Home Office-funded alcohol arrest referral (AAR) projects began operating, one of which was in Ealing in south-west London. Alcohol arrest referral schemes aim to reduce offending among people arrested for alcohol related offences by providing them with advice on the links between unsafe drinking levels and offending. It is hoped that if the AAR schemes, such as Ealing in south-west London, demonstrate a reduction in the level of re-offending, local authorities will be persuaded, due to the savings to the CJS, to re-prioritise funding in order to pay for future provisions. A further nine pilots, funded by the Home Office started in November 2008; of which one, Islington, is in London.

Further, five London boroughs are benefiting from the Tackling Violent Crime Programme: Barking and Dagenham, Westminster, Greenwich, Southwark and Newham. This funding is aimed at the Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnership's work in aiming to reduce alcohol related violent crime and domestic violence.

In relation to antisocial behaviour, the Home Office have provided practitioners with a toolkit to tackle antisocial behaviour, which they operate according to local priorities as well as a practitioner website and advice line. In south-west London, a multidisciplinary antisocial behaviour team operates many initiatives, based on prevention and enforcement that engage, educate and promote awareness among young people, engage with residents and tackle antisocial behaviour in families.

Additionally, in autumn 2007, antisocial behaviour practitioners in London suggested that assistance in using ASB preventative tools and powers to combat alcohol-related disorder would be useful. Government Office for London was successful in drawing down £25,000 from the Home Office to fund a research project examining this very issue and a well-received guide—'What Works to Tackle Alcohol-related Disorder?: An Examination of the Use of ASB Tools and Powers in London'—was completed by London South Bank university earlier this year. The final report contains a number of observations and recommendations that will lead to real improvements in tackling alcohol related antisocial behaviour and disorder in London.

Asylum

Patrick Hall: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many and what proportion of asylum seekers who were detained during 2007 were subsequently released on temporary admission and then rearrested and detained; [237042]

(2) how many and what proportion of asylum seekers detained during 2007 were released on temporary admission. [237121]

Mr. Woolas: The information requested is not available.

Following a change in the computer system in which information is collected, summary statistics on all persons recorded as leaving detention in the UK solely under Immigration Act powers by reason for leaving detention are not available after September 2006. Information for 2005 and January to September 2006 is available from the Library of the House and in Table 9.3 of each year's Asylum Statistics United Kingdom publication published each August http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/pdfs07/hosb1407.pdf.

Counter Terrorism Command

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many members of Special Branch SO12 transferred to Counter Terrorism Command (SO15) (a) at the time SO15 was set up and (b) since that time. [223708]

Mr. Coaker: The Metropolitan Police Service's Counter Terrorism Command was formed in October 2006 through a merger of both the resources and the personnel of the anti-terrorist branch and special branch. The total number of staff in this newly formed branch is in excess of 1,500.

Crime: Diplomatic Service

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will assess the adequacy of the procedures in place to investigate cases involving alleged criminality by holders of diplomatic passports, with particular reference to the cases of (a) Mr Ananias Tumukunde and (b) Ms Rose Birungi; and if she will make a statement. [229820]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Diplomatic passports do not automatically provide immunity from criminal jurisdiction in the UK. In each case the investigating authority will need to determine whether the individual is entitled to immunity from criminal jurisdiction under the relevant UK law, primarily the Diplomatic Privileges Act 1964 or the State Immunity Act 1978. However, it is ultimately for the courts to decide questions of immunity.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) her Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237419]

Mr. Woolas: A cash subsidy is paid to support (a) one staff restaurant in the Department and (b) catering and vending at one agency site. These subsidies total £67,300 per year. Otherwise cash subsidies are not paid.

Departmental Computers

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many documents there were on laptops stolen from her Department in each year since 2001. [232968]

Jacqui Smith: I am unable to answer this question as to do so would incur disproportionate costs.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much her Department and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237448]

Mr. Woolas: The Department's accounts system does not hold the information at the requested level of detail. An answer could not be provided without incurring disproportionate cost.

Departmental expenditure is incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average cost to her Department was of employing a press and media officer in 2007-08. [215187]

Mr. Woolas: Press and media officers in the Home Office are employed at the senior information officer (SIO) and information officer (IO) grades. The following tables provide information on the salary scales for both grades (minimum to maximum and the allowances payable for out of hours working.

Salary Scales

| Grade | Gross Pay (includes RRA) | ERNIC | Superannuation | £ Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| SIO (Max scale) | 44,829 | 5,738 | 7,397 | 57,964 |

| SIO and IO | Sat/Sunday full 24 hrs | 15.62 | 19.53 | 37.24 |
| SIO and IO | Public/Bank Holidays full 24 hrs | 19.77 | 24.66 | 46.74 |

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by her Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236925]

Mr. Woolas: Non-departmental public bodies for which the Home Office has lead responsibility are set out in the Department's 2007-08 Resource Accounts which can be found at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/documents/resource-accounts-07-08

Wider details on Home Office executive NDPBs are published through the annual public bodies exercise that is owned by Cabinet Office. The Home Office contribution to public bodies 2008 can be found at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/documents/Public-bodies-2008

Details of funding for 2008-09 can be found in the Home Office 2008-09 Main Estimate (HC 479) and on HM Treasury's website available at:

Indicative figures for 2009-10 and 2010-11 can be found in Table 5.1 of the 2008 Departmental Report in Cm 7396 and on the Home Office website at:

www.homeoffice.gov.uk/documents/ho-annual-report-08

The advisory NDPBs sponsored by the Department incur little or no expenditure and are resourced from within the Department. As a result, information on budgets for 2008-11 is not available.

Departmental Pilot Schemes

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which pilot projects initiated by her Department in the last two years have not proceeded to further roll-out. [211844]

Mr. Woolas: Trialling or piloting systems and processes, or their component parts, is normal practice throughout the lifecycle of projects large and small. Records of such trials and pilots are not held centrally. Details of their status and rollout could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the Answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 259W, on Departmental procurement, what payments her Department made to Heathrow Gymnastics Club in 2007-08; on what dates; and for what purpose in each case. [233443]

Jacqui Smith: Pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 259W, on departmental procurement, based on the purchase order data held in the Home Department's financial database, the details of the payments made to Heathrow Gymnastics Club in 2007-08 are as follows:

|---|---|---|
| 4 May 2007 | Rental of gym for personal safety training of Home Office UK Border Agency staff | 1,300.00 |
| 2 November 2007 | Rental of gym for personal safety training of Home Office UK Border Agency staff | 1,560.00 |
| 7 April 2008 | Rental of gym for personal safety training of Home office UK Border Agency staff | 1,300.00 |

Departmental Public Expenditure

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department from which companies her Department has purchased goods and services of a total value above £1 million in each of the last three years; and how much was spent in respect of each such company. [234454]

Mr. Woolas: I would refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 794W.

Deportation

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent representations have been made to the Special Immigration Appeals Commission on cases of deportation on the grounds of threat to national security; how many cases there are where individuals are awaiting deportation; how many applications have been rejected in the last (a) year and (b) five years; how many cases are awaiting tribunal decisions; what the average length of time taken to process a tribunal case has been since the Commission's inception; and in how many cases individuals are under watch on bail after a successful appeal against their deportation. [237099]

Mr. Woolas: There are 12 cases where individuals are subject to deportation on national security grounds and 11 of these are at various stages of the appeals process. In the past year, one national security deportation case has been determined by the Special Immigration Appeals Commission (SIAC). That appeal was dismissed. In the past five years, a further 12 national security deportation appeals have been determined by SIAC; three were allowed, and the other nine were dismissed. Two national security deportation cases are currently awaiting hearings before SIAC.

The Home Office does not collect information about the length of time taken between an appeal being lodged with SIAC and a determination issuing.

As a matter of policy, we do not comment on operational matters affecting national security. I therefore cannot say whether or not any of those who have had their appeals allowed (or where the notice of intention to deport has been withdrawn) are subject to surveillance.

Detention Centres: Children

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many minors have been held in detention centres for the purposes of immigration control in each of the last 10 years, broken down by (a) age and (b) sex. [227896]

Mr. Woolas: The requested information is not available; the Home Office published the number of persons recorded as leaving detention in the UK solely under Immigration Act powers between January 2005 and September 2006. The accompanying table shows the number of children who left detention by age and sex for this period. Information outside this time period is not available.

National Statistics on detention are published annually and quarterly in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin Control of Immigration. Information on the number of persons detained, as at the last Saturday of the quarter, broken down by sex and those who are under 18 years of age, are published in table 10 of the Quarterly Asylum Bulletin, which is available in the Library of the House and from the Home Office Research, Development and Statistics website at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/immigration-asylum-stats.html.

Drinking Banning Orders

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions (a) she and (b) departmental officials have had with Ministerial colleagues and officials in the Ministry of Justice on the (i) introduction and (ii) enforcement of drinking banning orders. [232899]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Home Office Ministers and officials continue to have discussions with their counterparts in the Ministry of Justice about the introduction of legislation, including Drinking Banning Orders (DBOs). However, a decision has been taken not to commence these powers in the light of recent developments; an improvement in alcohol-related disorder problems and the Government's Alcohol Strategy which sets out the way forward for tackling alcohol misuse. We will continue to monitor the situation and take stock at a later date on whether, in the light of this, there is a need to commence DBOs.

Driving Offences: Fixed Penalties

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many fixed penalty notices for speeding were issued to drivers in each year since 1997 for which records are available. [237932]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The information requested on fixed penalty notices covering the period from 1997 to 2006 (latest available) is provided in the following table.

Information for 2007 is due to be published in early 2009.

Note:
Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Driving Under Influence: Drugs

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what work her Department has carried out since December 2005 on a detailed specification for a device to facilitate roadside testing for the presence of illegal drugs. [237183]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The Department's advisers in the Forensic Science Service and HO Scientific Development Branch have been working together, with outside experts and in consultation with manufacturers, to prepare such a specification. This work is continuing.

Drug Seizures

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps she plans to take to increase awareness in local communities of seizures of assets from drug dealers. [234560]

Jacqui Smith: Police forces are encouraged to consider adopting campaigns like "Payback" and "Rat on a Rat" to increase awareness in local communities. In addition we issue quarterly data to the media on amounts of money paid back to local police forces, under the asset recovery incentive scheme, from assets seized from drug dealers and other criminals.

Drugs: Crime

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what funds her Department has allocated to the Street Level Up initiative for tackling drug dealers (a) in each of the last two years and (b) for the next two years. [234553]

Jacqui Smith: The Home Office allocated a grant payment of £75,000 to the Street Level Up initiative in 2007. A further grant payment of £50,000 has been agreed for 2008.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what criminal asset sharing agreements are in place between the UK and other countries under the Drugs Action Plan 2008 to 2011. [234556]

Jacqui Smith: There are currently six Asset Sharing Agreements already in place between the UK and the following countries; Canada, USA, Jamaica, Colombia, the Netherlands and UAE. The UK can also enter into ad hoc agreements.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what guidance has been issued to police on the powers and sanctions available to them to tackle the supply of illegal drugs on streets in the last 12 months. [234557]

Jacqui Smith: The National Police Improvement Agency published Practice Advice on the Investigation of drug offences (Level 1) in 2008.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police forces (a) are participating and (b) are planned to participate in the Street Level Up initiative for tackling drug dealers. [234558]

Jacqui Smith: There are seven police forces currently participating in the Street Level Up initiative, in addition to the Serious Organised Crime Agency. They are:

Avon and Somerset
Devon and Cornwall
Dorset
South Wales
Sussex
Greater Manchester
Merseyside.

The initiative is work in progress and aims to encourage additional forces to participate over time.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the national drug intervention programme regional representative group proposed in the Drugs Action Plan 2008 to 2011 was established; how many times it has met; who the members of the group are; and what the running costs of the group will be in 2008-09. [234563]

Jacqui Smith: The first Drug Interventions Programme regional representatives group, known as the Drug Interventions Programme Regional Operational Group (DIPROG), was held on the 21 May 2008. It has since met on 9 September 2008 and its next meeting will take place on 9 December 2008.

Membership consists of representatives from the Home Office Drug Interventions Programme and Prolific and Priority Offenders teams, the National Treatment Agency, Ministry of Justice (National Offender Management Service and HM Court Services), Crown Prosecution Service, Welsh Assembly Government, Association of Chief Police Officers, regional Government Offices and National Treatment Agency teams.

The group's members attend meetings as part of their role, and cover their own travel and other expenses. The Home Office provides the venue for meetings either using Government buildings or, where it is unavoidable, bought conference facilities. Final costs for 2008-09 are not yet available.

Drugs: Rehabilitation

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when pilots to extend integrated offender management models for drug misusing offenders will be introduced; in which areas they will be introduced; and what their cost will be. [234562]

Jacqui Smith: The Government announced on 16 July this year that the Integrated Offender Management pioneer areas would be based in Nottinghamshire, Lancashire, London, west Yorkshire and the west midlands, to strengthen and extend existing partnership work to reduce crime and re-offending in those areas, including drug-related crime. £1.65 million has been made available by the Home Office and Ministry of Justice jointly so far this year to assist development and monitoring of the approach. All the areas except west midlands, which is expected to start in the new year, are already operational.

Extradition

Mr. Dismore: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people have been (a) extradited from the UK under European arrest warrant, (b) extradited to the UK under European arrest warrant, (c) extradited to the US under the UK/US extradition treaty and (d) extradited to the UK under the UK/US extradition treaty; and if she will make a statement. [231874]

Meg Hillier: Extradition is the responsibility of the Secretary of State for Home Affairs. The Extradition Act 2003, which gave effect to the provisions of the European Arrest Warrant (EAW) in the UK, came into force on 1 January 2004. Since that date and up to 30 September 2008, 920 people had been extradited from the UK under the EAW, and 335 people had been extradited to the UK under the EAW.

In the same period, 55 people have been extradited to the US from the UK; and 23 people have been extradited to the UK from the US. A new UK/US extradition treaty came into force on 26 April 2007; prior to that, requests were made and received under the 1972 extradition treaty.

Football: Arrests

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for what reason the annual Football Arrest Statistics document was not published in October 2008; and when she expects it to be published. [239032]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Football Banning Orders Authority, who manage football banning orders and collate police information in respect of every football match in England and Wales, moved offices in August. Consequently the relevant IT system was unavailable for a short time. This led to a delay in processing detailed information on arrests for football related offences. The statistics will be published on 25 November.

Forced Marriage

Lembit Öpik: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent estimate she has made of the incidence of forced marriage in the UK. [229294]

Gillian Merron: I have been asked to reply.

It is not possible to give an estimate of the number of cases of forced marriage in the UK, due to the underground nature of the abuse, as well as issues around recording of forced marriages by agencies, and the sharing of recorded information. The joint Foreign and Commonwealth

Office, Home Office Forced Marriage Unit (FMU) has been involved in 1,308 incidences of forced marriage or potential forced marriage in the first three quarters of 2008. As well as cases where the FMU has directly intervened, this statistic also includes incidences where the unit has provided support to an individual facing potential forced marriage who has made an anonymous call for advice to the public helpline and incidences where the FMU has provided referral support and guidance to agencies handling a case locally. We believe that this figure represents only a fraction of the total number of incidences of forced marriage in the UK, with many more being handled by local statutory or voluntary sector agencies without referral to the FMU and a far greater number going unreported.

Genetics: Databases

Lynne Featherstone: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department with reference to the answer of 8 October 2007, Official Report, column 165W, on genetics: databases; if she will place in the Library a copy of the equality impact assessment conducted by the National Policing Improvement Agency relating to the national DNA database. [212372]

Meg Hillier: I refer the hon. Member to the reply given to the hon. Member for Brent, East (Sarah Teather) on 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1217W.

Human Trafficking: London

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her most recent estimate is of the percentage of people trafficked into the United Kingdom who entered via or who pass through London. [237854]

Mr. Alan Campbell: There is no estimate of the percentage of people trafficked through London.

However, we continue to improve our knowledge of the nature and scale of human trafficking through the work of the UK Human Trafficking Centre and the Child Exploitation and Online Protection Centre (CEOP). This is being done both through analysis of intelligence gained during frontline agency operations and through research.

Identity Cards: Foreigners

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department for what reason 10 fingerprints will be collected from foreign nationals applying for identity cards instead of the two fingerprints required under EC Regulation No. 380/2008. [226409]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 October 2008]: Capturing and enrolling all 10 fingerprints onto our system will allow us to search other biometric databases providing a more robust approach to confirming identity. In the unlikely event we are unable to make a match against the two fingerprints held on the identity card for foreign nationals, we can make a further check against the applicant's other fingerprints.

In addition, we can verify identity with other fingerprint records we hold. As such, we are able to tie a person to a single identity which will help tackle immigration abuses and identity fraud.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which of the separate pieces of information set out in Schedule 1 of the Identity Cards Act 2006 will be retained from foreign nationals applying for identity cards from November 2008. [235513]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Identity cards for foreign nationals will be introduced on 25 November under the UK Borders Act 2007. The UKBA is not bound by schedule 1 of the Identity Cards Act 2006, however, the same information set out in schedule 1 of the Identity Cards Act will be collected under the UK Borders Act and will be retained by the Secretary of State as long as retention of the data is necessary for the specified functions e.g. functions under the Immigration Acts or for the prevention or detection of an offence.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department which database will store the personal data from foreign nationals applying for identity cards from November 2008. [235514]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: Biometric and biographical data from foreign nationals applying for identity cards from November 2008 will be securely and safely stored on the UKBA's central databases. It will also be stored on the national identity register, once it is up and running and the identity card for foreign nationals has been designated as a document under section 4 of the Identity Cards Act 2006.

Illegal Immigrants: Prisoners

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average length of time is that each immigration offender detained in the immigration estate has been detained. [234732]

Jacqui Smith: The information requested is currently not available.

Following a change in the computer system in which information is collected; summary statistics on all persons recorded as leaving detention in the UK solely under Immigration Act powers by length of detention are not available after September 2006. Information up to that date for each year is available from the Library of the House and in Table 9.4 of each year's Asylum Statistics United Kingdom publication published each August http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/pdfs07/hosb1407.pdf.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many children have been detained in the immigration estate in each of the last five years. [234734]

Jacqui Smith: The requested information is not available; the Home Office published the number of children recorded as leaving detention in the UK solely under Immigration Act powers between January 2005 and September 2006. Information outside this time period is not available.

National Statistics on how many children are detained on a quarterly snapshot basis is available from the Library of the House and in Table 9.2 of the Asylum Statistics United Kingdom 2007 bulletin:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/pdfs08/hosb1108.pdf

Children are detained in four limited circumstances: first, as part of a family group whose detention is considered appropriate; second, when unaccompanied, while alternative care arrangements are made (and normally only overnight); third, in the case of a former FNP under the age of 18 where it can be shown that they pose a serious risk to the public; and fourth, unaccompanied children escorted from their normal place of residence to a port for the purpose of removal.

While the detention of families with children is very regrettable, it nevertheless remains necessary in appropriate cases in order to maintain an effective immigration control and to tackle abuses of the asylum and immigration system.

Immigrants: Children

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what timescale she has set for actions and decisions concerning children subject to immigration control to be taken in compliance with the full obligations and rights set out within the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. [237060]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency's treatment of children must be as sensitive as possible.

Withdrawing the reservation was made possible largely because of the way we have transformed our child protection arrangements since 1991. This includes legislating to impose a duty on UKBA to abide by a code of practice.

This code is designed to ensure that while exercising its functions in the UK, UKBA takes appropriate steps to ensure that while children are in the UK they are safe from harm. No additional changes to legislation, guidance or practice are currently envisaged.

Immobilisation of Vehicles: Licensing

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) companies and (b) individuals have been investigated by the Security Industry Authority for an alleged breach of licensing rules relating to vehicle immobilisation in each year since 2002. [236482]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information on the number of investigations relating to vehicle immobilisation carried out by the Security Industry Authority (SIA) is not available. The SIA does record details of written warnings and improvement notices on its website for all licensable sectors, but not by individual sector, such as the vehicle immobilisation sector.

A written warning may be issued to an individual or a company found to be in breach of the Private Security Industry Act 2001. Similarly an improvement notice may be issued to an individual or a company found to be in breach of the Act.

The SIA introduced licensing of the private security industry on a phased basis from 2004. It issued the first improvement notices to companies in 2006. 79 companies had been issued with improvement notices as at 31 October 2008. The first written warnings were issued to individuals in 2005 and 981 had been issued by 31 October 2008.

Members: Correspondence

Sir Gerald Kaufman: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will answer the letter of 4 August 2008 from the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton, with regard to Mrs Anila Zaidi. [224116]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 12 September 2008]: I replied to the right hon. Member for Manchester, Gorton on 25 September 2008 with full details of the case.

PA Consulting

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether the review of all Home Office contracts with PA Consulting has been concluded; and when she will make public the outcome of the review. [225219]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 8 October 2008]: The review of contracts between the Home Office and PA Consulting Group has been completed, as we committed to do so, by the end of September 2008. The Home Office Departmental Security Unit (DSU) engaged independent experts from the Security Specialist Squadron of the RAF Police, to carry out this review, under the leadership of the Home Office Commercial Director.

This work was carried out over the period 15 to 30 September and comprised a detailed review of existing policy and applied procedures in support of each of the nine contracts in place.

The review concluded that each contract meets or exceeds the minimum requirements from a security and data handling perspective, as set out by OGC and Cabinet Office. The review recommended a small number of areas that could be further strengthened on one of the contracts, which PA Consulting have agreed to and already implemented.

The detailed report will not be made public, given commercial sensitivities and confidentialities.

Passports

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the Identity Card Scheme Cost Report of May 2008, how the estimates of the volume of passports and identity cards to be issued over the next 10 years have been calculated. [226404]

Jacqui Smith: Estimates of the volume of passports and identity cards to be issued over the next 10 years are derived by modelling both existing trends of passport issuance among British citizens and the strategy underpinning the roll-out of the national identity scheme, informed by market research as to likely customer behaviour at each stage of the roll-out.

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many passports have been issued in each of the last eight years; and what estimate has been made of the number of passports that will be issued in each of the next eight years. [235512]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The following table shows how many passports were issued in each financial year for the 2000-01 to 2007-08 periods.

| Financial year | Actual output |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 5,509,704 |
| 2001-02 | 5,588,550 |
| 2002-03 | 5,354,348 |
| 2003-04 | 5,723,471 |
| 2004-05 | 6,031,325 |
| 2005-06 | 6,453,095 |
| 2007-08 | 5,683,445 |

The Identity Cards Scheme Cost Report published in November 2008 sets out the estimated product volumes over the next 10 years, combining the total volume of identity cards and passports issued by IPS to United Kingdom citizens resident in the UK. The figures for issuing both products were combined as, in many cases, the same application would result in the issue of both a passport and an identity card.

This is the most recently published information on product volumes that is currently available. Previous estimates of product volumes are included in National Identity Scheme Cost Reports that may be found at:

http://www.ips.gov.uk/identity/publications-legislature.asp

The Identity and Passport Service is currently developing the product choice offered to customers, as indicated in the national identity scheme delivery plan published in March 2008, figures for the projected product volumes will be published in due course.

Passports: Fees and Charges

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the fee revenue from passports has been in each of the last eight years. [235515]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 13 November 2008]: The fee revenue received by IPS over the last eight financial years has been as follows:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 134.3 |
| 2001-02 | 138.5 |
| 2002-03 | 153.0 |
| 2003-04 | 197.5 |
| 2004-05 | 242.1 |
| 2005-06 | 277.7 |
| 2006-07 | 345.6 |

Police: Pay

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many temporary advances issued to police officers in England and Wales (a) attending courses outside their area is and (b) performing duty outside their area are outstanding; and what the monetary value of those advances is. [237395]

Mr. Coaker: This information is not held centrally.

Police: Pensions

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what proportion of members of the police pension scheme joined on or after 6 April 2006; and what projections she has made of changes to this figure over time. [233129]

Mr. Coaker: Information on the number of members of the police pension schemes is not held centrally. However, virtually all serving officers are members of either the Police Pension Scheme 1987 (PPS) or the New Police Pension Scheme 2006 (NPPS), which was introduced for new entrants on 6 April 2006. Figures in the Home Office Statistical Bulletin series "Police Service Strength, England and Wales"—available in the Library and at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/policeorg1.html

suggest that at 31 March 2008 there were 129,593 officers (91.4 per cent. of the total) eligible for membership of PPS and 12,266 officers (8.6 per cent. of the total) able to be members only of NPPS. No projections have been made of the changes over time to the proportion of officers who joined on or after 6 April 2006, but the proportion of officers who are members of the closed PPS is expected to reduce to zero by about 2036.

Police: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers there are in (a) Tamworth constituency and (b) Staffordshire. [237338]

Mr. Coaker: There were 2,269 full-time equivalent officers in Staffordshire police and 410 full-time equivalent officers in the basic command unit of Trent Valley as at 31 March 2008. These figures are calculated on a full-time equivalent basis and include officers on career breaks or maternity/paternity leave. Police personnel data are not collected by parliamentary constituency.

Prisoners

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the size of the prison population was at the latest date for which figures are available, broken down by ethnic group. [236838]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

The following table shows the prison population of England and Wales at June 30th 2007, broken down by ethnicity:

|---|---|
| All nationalities | 79,734 |
| White | 58,251 |
| Mixed | 2,441 |
| Asian or Asian British | 5,288 |
| Black or Black British | 12,016 |

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Chinese or Other ethnic group | 1,154 |
| Not Stated | 279 |
| Unrecorded | 56 |
| 1991 Census ethnic codes | 249 |

This table is taken from table 7.21 in the recently published Offender Management Caseload Statistics, 2007, a copy of which has been placed in the House of Commons Library. This table can also be found at the following website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/prisonandprobation.htm

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Protection: Religious Freedom

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police forces in England and Wales are providing police protection for individuals who have converted from Islam to other faiths. [173946]

Mr. Coaker: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Serious and Organised Crime Agency: ICT

James Brokenshire: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the capability of computer systems used by the Serious and Organised Crime Agency to share data with other agencies; and if she will make a statement. [236261]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 17 November 2008]: SOCA has well-developed processes for exchanging information, set out in its publicly-available Statement of Information Management Practice. These ensure information exchange with partners is timely, risk-assessed, and accords with legal and other standards.

SOCA has secure electronic links to the police service and major Government partners for the transmission of sensitive material. Further exchange of information is achieved through direct access by partners to SOCA-managed information systems and SOCA uploading information to shared law enforcement systems, as well as via SOCA liaison staff and the operation of inquiry services.

Small Businesses: Crime

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what definition she uses of crime against business. [234870]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Various definitions of 'business crime' are in use by police forces to reflect local concerns and circumstances. The Government do not specify a particular definition of business crime, but is looking with the National Retail Crime Steering Group, at how a fuller picture of the scale and nature of the crime problems that affect businesses nationally might be obtained.

Telecommunications: Surveillance

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will place in the Library copies of the information which was presented to internet service providers on 3 November 2008 by her Department on the issues and technology surrounding the Government's Interception Modernisation Programme. [235526]

Mr. Coaker: We have been considering how we can continue to protect the public by utilising communications data in the light of changing technology and have created the cross-Government Interception Modernisation Programme (IMP) to analyse the available options. Since 2006 there has been ongoing work with intelligence agencies, SOCA, police, HMRC and the telecommunications industry to analyse the size of the problem and to investigate possible solutions to help maintain this essential capability, including relevant safeguards.

I recognise there is a difficult balance between public safety and public rights to privacy so I recently announced my intention to launch a public consultation on the Interception Modernisation Programme. As part of the ongoing engagements with communications service providers, and to raise awareness of the forthcoming consultation, the Interception Modernisation Programme recently presented at the Internet Services Providers' Association conference, outlining the importance of communications data to public safety and the problems that the move to internet technologies will cause. The consultation document also will set out the range of background issues including the vital requirement of communications data in protecting the UK from serious crime and terrorism, the need for a solution to maintain our capability and the need to provide adequate safeguards as part of any solution.

This will be published in January 2009 and as a matter of course be placed in the Library. The results of the public consultation will be used to inform any decisions on the programme's preferred solution and safeguards and to determine whether future legislation is needed.

Terrorism

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) arrests and (b) convictions there were for criminal activity connected to (i) eco-terrorism and (ii) environmental activism in each year since 2001. [235997]

Jacqui Smith: The information requested is not collected centrally.

Activities relating to "Eco-terrorism" and "environmental activism" are not covered by specific legislation, as such ecological and environmental activists involved in consequential criminal behaviour are likely to be arrested or charged with an offence appropriate to the circumstances (such as criminal damage, common assault etc).

The arrests collection held by the Home Office covers arrests for recorded crime (notifiable offences) only, broken down at a main offence group level, covering categories such as violence against the person, burglary, robbery and drug offences. Information on the individual circumstances of arrests is not reported to the Home Office.

The particulars surrounding prosecutions, other than the offence and outcome, are not collected centrally.

UK Border Agency

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many officials of the UK Border Agency were stationed outside the UK in each of the last five years. [234737]

Jacqui Smith: The UK Border Agency came into existence on 1 April 2008, in the last machinery of government changes. It presently has the following staff located abroad:

Staff as at 31 August 2008

| | UKBA immigration staff[1] | UK Visas[2] |
|---|---|---|
| Former BIA staff | 87.25 | 280 |
| Former FCO staff | — | 255 |

UK Border Agency: Expenditure

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much the UK Border Agency and its predecessors spent on hotel and other accommodation for its staff (a) in the UK and (b) abroad in each of the last five years. [234738]

Jacqui Smith: The financial record system in use at that time called BASS did not have a category to record hotel payments alone. This figure includes hotels and all subsistence, such as allowances for meals. There was no separate category for UK or overseas accommodation at that time. The total differs slightly due to rounding up from decimal points of the original sums.

| | 2007-08 | 2006-07 | 2005-06 | 2004-05 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| (a) UK hotel accommodation | 4,393,418 | 5,690,737 | 1,991,529 | 0 |
| (b) Overseas hotel accommodation | 205,856 | 187,653 | 444,733 | 1,611,415 |
| Total hotel accommodation | 4,599,275 | 5,878,389 | 2,436,262 | [1]1,611,415 |

[1] The financial record system in use at that time called BASS did not have a category to record hotel payments alone. This figure includes hotels and all subsistence, such as allowances for meals. There was no separate category for UK or overseas accommodation at that time. The total differs slightly due to rounding up from decimal points of the original sums.

Vetting

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what guidelines her Department has issued for those undertaking Criminal Records Bureau checks; [232945]

(2) what reviews her Department plans to undertake of procedures for those undertaking Criminal Records Bureau checks. [233428]

Meg Hillier: There are a number of published guidelines issued to organisations and applicants undertaking Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) checks, all of which are available on the CRB website at:

www.crb.gov.uk

There are no plans to review the procedures for the undertaking of CRB checks. However, the CRB regularly provide advice and guidance to registered organisations relating to best practice through its customer newsletter and the website.

Any reviews of procedures affecting those organisations undertaking CRB checks are done so in full consultation with major stakeholders.

As for the disclosures themselves, standard and enhanced disclosures must contain 'every relevant matter' recorded in 'central records'. This means all convictions, cautions, reprimands and warnings held on the Police National Computer (PNC), including spent convictions. Enhanced disclosures must also include any local police force information which, in the chief officer's opinion, might be relevant to the application and ought to be included in the disclosure or exceptionally ought not to be included in the disclosure, in the interests of the prevention or detection of crime, but can without harming those interests, be disclosed to the registered body. It is a matter for each chief officer to decide what additional information might be relevant and should be included in an enhanced disclosure.

Home Office Circular 5/2005 provides guidance to the police on how forces should approach the task of determining what information is relevant and should be provided to the Criminal Records Bureau as part of the enhanced criminal record certificates. This guidance is available on the Home Office website and this Circular is currently under review.

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many Criminal Records Bureau checks were found to have been incorrect in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007; how many individuals were affected in each year; and what estimate she has made of the (i) number and (ii) percentage of individuals in respect of whom the Criminal Records Bureau holds incorrect information. [234660]

Meg Hillier: The Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) do not hold criminal records but does release information held on police records and other data sources.

The total number of disclosures where the details released by the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) were successfully challenged by the applicant in the last three years are detailed in the following table.

|---|---|---|---|
| Total number of disclosures issued | 2,770,265 | 3,277,957 | 3,323,251 |
| Total number of disputes upheld | 2,669 | 2,797 | 2,785 |
| Percentage of disputes upheld | 0.0963 | 0.0853 | 0.0838 |

Information released on a disclosure can be disputed for a number of reasons including the inclusion of locally held non-conviction information which the applicant believes to be inaccurate or misleading; situations where an applicant has had their identity stolen; or the inclusion of data which an applicant was unaware would appear on the disclosure.

The CRB cannot provide a figure to determine how many individuals have been affected by records that were found to be incorrect because an applicant may apply for several disclosures in a year and the CRB only records the number of disputes that were raised.

The CRB is committed to ensure that it maintains high levels of accuracy and the aforementioned table shows that the proportion of upheld disputes has reduced year on year.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she expects to answer question 214526, tabled by the hon. Member for Lewes on 24 June 2008, on US personnel. [226561]

Mr. Alan Campbell: I replied to the hon. Gentleman on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 783W.

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Agriculture: Subsidies

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what administration costs were incurred in respect of processing claims made under the Rural Payments Agency in each of the last three years. [236613]

Jane [illegible] [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Rural Payments Agency administers a wide range of Common Agricultural Policy schemes including the Single Payment Scheme, internal market schemes, external trade measures, milk quotas and the Older Cattle Disposal Scheme. The following table sets out the cost for administering these CAP schemes for the last three years.

| Financial year | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 239.2 |
| 2006-07 | 228.3 |
| 2007-08 | 241.7 |

Financial years cover the period 1 April to 31 March.

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Government has allocated in national aid for nut growers in each of the last five years, broken down by type of nut. [238095]

Jane Kennedy: No national aid has been given to nut growers in the past five years.

Air Pollution: EU Law

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he expects the provisions of the EU Air Quality Directive to be implemented; and if he will make a statement. [228798]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Directive 2008/50/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 21 May 2008 on ambient air quality and cleaner air for Europe, came into force on 11 June and must be transposed into national legislation by 10 June 2010. DEFRA will work with the devolved administrations to achieve this.

Over the past 10 years the quality of our air has improved and apart from some hotspots alongside busy roads in major cities we are meeting our current objectives for all pollutants in 99 per cent. of the UK.

The UK is likely—along with a number of other European countries—to use new provisions in the directive to apply for more time to meet the requirements in respect of particulate matter ($PM_{10}$) and nitrogen dioxide. This is because, despite the improvement we have seen in recent years, we are unlikely to meet the current 2010 deadline for nitrogen dioxide. For $PM_{10}$—where the problem is confined chiefly to London—the deadline has already passed and we are still exceeding the limits in some areas. The problem with nitrogen dioxide is mainly about existing pollution from traffic in London and in other major cities across the UK.

Subject to public consultation, we expect to submit an application to the European Commission for flexibility in the compliance date in respect of $PM_{10}$ early in 2009. The due date for compliance with the limit value for nitrogen dioxide is 2010 and we expect to submit an application for this pollutant in 2010, again after a period of consultation. If applications were granted by the Commission, the maximum period of 'extra time' for implementation would be an extension to 2011 for $PM_{10}$ and until 2015 for nitrogen dioxide.

We are determined to take action to tackle the remaining exceedences of the limit values alongside busy roads in some cities particularly London. Following publication of the revised UK Air Quality Strategy in July 2007, we are continuing to make progress on implementing new measures. Budget 2008 includes an incentive through vehicle excise duty of £120 (a saving of £60) for Euro V compliant vans registered between 1 January 2009 and 31 December 2010 remaining in place for the lifespan of these vehicles.

Angling

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of (a) people employed in the recreational sea angling sector and (b) businesses serving the recreational sea angling sector. [236623]

Huw Irranca-Davies: A DEFRA-funded study carried out by Drew Associates into the economic impact of the recreational sea angling sector in England and Wales was published in 2004. This study estimated that 18,889 people were employed in the sector, of which 5,652 resulted from shore angling, 3,092 from charter boats and 10,145 from private boat angling. We do not have an estimate of the number of businesses serving the recreational sea angling sector but the same report found that sea anglers generated some £71 million net income in England and Wales for suppliers of services to the sector. Suppliers included tackle and food retailers and accommodation-related businesses.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many meetings he has had with (a) representatives of the commercial fishing sector and (b) representatives of the recreational sea angling sector since January 2008. [236624]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Since my appointment, I have met representatives of the commercial fishing sector and the recreational sea angling sector on 22 October at a meeting with UK marine fisheries stakeholders to discuss priorities for the annual end of year European negotiations over fishing opportunities. I subsequently met representatives of the commercial fishing sector ahead of the November EU Agriculture and Fisheries Council, and I have recently accepted an invitation to meet recreational sea angling representatives to discuss issues of concern to them.

Animal Welfare

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will hold discussions with his EU counterparts with a view to minimising the number of tests on animals within the EU. [229826]

Jane Kennedy: The European Regulation 1907/2006 concerning the Registration, Evaluation, Authorisation and Restriction of Chemicals (REACH) requires all sectors of industry across the EU to assemble data about the properties and potential human health and environmental impacts of the substances they manufacture in, or import into, the EU and market. Industry will need to carry out more tests in order to fulfil this obligation, but this is balanced by provisions which prohibit duplication of any tests involving animals and promote the use wherever possible of alternative, non-animal, methods for assessing hazards.

The United Kingdom will continue to play an active role within the European Union and in the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development to maintain the drive towards new non-animal alternative test methods leading to regulatory approval for their use. We expect the first amendments to the European Test Methods Regulation under REACH to be put to member states for approval early in the new year.

Animal Welfare: Codes of Practice

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the cost has been to his Department of producing the new draft codes of practice for (a) cats, (b) dogs and (c) equines. [237405]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 19 November 2008]: The cost of the consultation exercise on the draft codes of practice, excluding staff costs, was around £1,000.

Animals: Infectious Diseases

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps he is taking to introduce a comprehensive surveillance of infection in imported pet animals. [236357]

Jane Kennedy: The current DACTARI (Dog and Cat Travel And Risk Information) system has been designed to provide a surveillance system for all exotic diseases, although its primary focus is on Leishmaniasis, Babesiosis, Ehrlichiosis and Dirofilariasis. The DACTARI system is for the voluntary reporting of such diseases by veterinary surgeons.

All the diseases reported through the scheme are transmitted by vectors such as insects (e.g. leishmaniasis is transmitted by a sandfly) and not from direct contact with an infected dog or cat. Leishmaniasis is one of the more serious diseases as it can also affect humans. The Health Protection Agency monitors information on human cases diagnosed through their laboratory services.

Birds: Conservation

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate his Department has made of the number of robins living in England in each of the last five years. [237238]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The population of robins in England is not estimated annually. The last estimate was made by Brown and Grice (2005), covering the period 1990-2000. This estimated that the average annual breeding population during that period was 2,969,000 pairs.

The British Trust for Ornithology's Breeding Bird Survey is based on recording birds in randomly selected 1 km squares every year. While it does not provide estimates of total abundance, it does provide an index of population trends for common and widespread birds. The index for the robin in England has shown an increase of 26 per cent. in the period 1994-2007.

Bluetongue Disease

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what systems exist to monitor the prevalence of blue tongue disease throughout the UK. [237134]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA has a number of scanning and targeted surveillance measures in place to monitor bluetongue in England, as detailed in the UK-wide Bluetongue Control Strategy.

This includes specific surveillance work targeted at higher risk areas, and a requirement on anyone who suspects the presence of bluetongue disease to report this to DEFRA (through Animal Health, who then follow up with a veterinary investigation).

DEFRA also conducts post-import tests on all susceptible animals imported from continental Europe, for all bluetongue serotypes, and urges industry to consider the risks and check the health and vaccination status of any animals sourced from within the UK or abroad.

Bovine Tuberculosis: Vaccination

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what systems are in place to establish (a) how many doses of BtV8 vaccine have been purchased by farmers from vets and (b) what proportion of them have been administered. [237133]

Jane Kennedy: Vaccination against bluetongue in England and Wales is voluntary. Vaccine is delivered through existing veterinary medicine supply chains, an approach agreed with the livestock industry to ensure the simple, rapid roll-out of vaccine to protect animals earlier this year. Because the approach to vaccination is voluntary, no definitive figures can be provided on the numbers of sales from veterinary practices to farmers, or the number of livestock actually vaccinated.

However, to date, sales data from the supply chain suggest enough vaccine has been sold to vaccinate around 60 per cent. of the susceptible livestock population in England.

British Waterways: Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what payments British Waterways (a) has made in the last 12 months and (b) is contracted to make to Cavendish Public Affairs; and for what purposes. [238467]

Huw Irranca-Davies: British Waterways has paid £58,309.28 + VAT to Cavendish in the last 12 months. Future payments to Cavendish are dependent on levels of support required, and this is due for consideration by British Waterways in early 2009.

Cavendish has provided a range of support services to British Waterways over the last 12 months including Select Committee preparation, parliamentary events management, and advising on building links with local authorities.

Climate Change

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many staff were employed in his Department's climate change group on 1 October 2008. [236736]

Huw Irranca-Davies: As at 1 October 2008, 510 full-time equivalents were employed in DEFRA's Climate Change Group.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many external consultants are undertaking work for his Department. [233254]

Huw Irranca-Davies: This information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The Departmental Report, published annually, contains much helpful information on DEFRA's expenditure and I refer the hon. Member in particular to Chapter 9 of the 2008 Report: Better Regulation and Corporate Services.

Departmental Contracts

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs which organisations provided goods and services for his Department in relation to (a) hospitality and entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion, (c) consultants, (d) photography, (e) media training, (f) media monitoring, (g) foreign language tuition, (h) hotel accommodation, (i) external legal advice, (j) recruitment and (k) public affairs in each of the last 10 years; and what the 10 most valuable contracts were in each case. [233424]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA came into being in June 2001. The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The departmental report, published annually, contains much helpful information on DEFRA's expenditure and I refer the hon. Member in particular to chapter 9: Better Regulation and Corporate Services and chapter 10: Defra's Delivery Partners, of the 2008 report. Copies of previous departmental reports are held in the Library of the House.

Departmental Expenditure

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what his Department's expenditure was on (a) hospitality and entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion, (c) consultants, (d) photography, (e) media training, (f) media monitoring, (g) foreign language services, (h) hotel accommodation, (i) external legal advice, (j) recruitment and (k) public affairs in each year since 2001. [233592]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA came into being in June 2001. The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The departmental report, published annually, contains much helpful information on DEFRA's expenditure and I refer the hon. Member in particular to Chapter 9: Better Regulation and Corporate Services and Chapter 10: Defra's Delivery Partners, of the 2008 report. Copies of previous departmental reports are held in the Library of the House.

Departmental Internet

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent on maintaining his Departmental website in the latest year for which figures are available. [231941]

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the cost of maintaining his Department's website was in 2007-08; and what the forecast costs for maintaining his Department's websites are in 2008-09. [233249]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Direct operating costs—the staff costs for the central team with lead responsibility for updating and maintaining websites—are estimated to be around £330,000 for the financial year 2007-08 and about £340,000 for the current financial year. Additional costs arise from the activities of staff in business units across the Department, contributing to the content of websites, but the cost for this could not be readily calculated. Website hosting services—as well as a range of IT applications—are provided as part of DEFRA's overall IT service provision and the costs could not be readily disaggregated.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what (a) equipment and (b) data was lost by his Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231444]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs has recorded 15 personal data related incidents in its 2007-08 Departmental Report published on 19 May 2008. All involved the loss of laptop computers.

Since then, a number of initiatives have been—and will continue to be—introduced, aimed at improving the safety of data assets and raise security awareness. This includes encryption rolled out as part of an IT Renew programme, guidance about protecting data (in on-line and paper form) and a project to ensure compliance with the requirements of the Review of Data Handling Procedures in Government.

Departmental Offices

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much was spent by his Department on office removal contracts in each of the last three years. [236747]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: DEFRA office removal contract expenditure covering the last three financial years:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 299,000 |
| 2007-08 | 613,000 |
| 2006-07 | 237,000 |

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235246]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In 2007-08, DEFRA (excluding the Executive Agencies) recruited eight staff who were over 55 years of age and fewer than five staff who were over 60 years of age, which represented 2.8 per cent. and 0. per cent. respectively of all new recruits in the period.

Departmental Public Participation

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs, pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Devizes of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 162W, on departmental public participation, what outcomes resulted from the citizens' jury meeting held with 15 people from Devon in November 2007; and if he will make a statement on the Department's plans for citizens' juries. [231323]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 28 October 2008]: A Citizen's jury was formed as part of a three-year research and development project funded under the Rural Economy and Land Use Programme, lead by the research councils and with supporting funds from DEFRA.

The project was aimed at determining risks associated with pollution of water courses in the Taw river catchment, Devon, from microbes arising from livestock farming.

With the specific scientific aim of gaining insight into the public's attitudes and responses to the risks posed to water quality by these microbes, the jury was made up of 15 people from Devon. It was constituted to address:

- defining and attributing responsibilities for water course pollution from the livestock farming sector;
- assigning responsibilities to specific stakeholders on reducing the risk of microbial pollution from livestock farming; and
- the efficacy of specific policy measures to reduce the risk of pollution from livestock farming.

Within the context of a much wider programme of research, the jury's findings contributed to informing scientific recommendations supporting potential policy options in reducing water course pollution, compatible with current farming practices.

Citizen juries are one of the research tools available to scientists seeking to gain further insight into the behavioural responses to proposed policy measures, in this instance into potential options to reduce water course pollution. They provide valuable scientific information into the efficacy of proposed options in advance of formulation and implementation. As such they provide an option, of many, for engaging public perceptions of science across research and development programmes. Within the framework of well-defined scientific programmes, they will continue to be convened on a specific needs basis only.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 17 September 2008, Official Report, column 2231W, on departmental public participation, what the timetable is for the Navigator study to be completed. [235047]

Jane Kennedy: It is anticipated that the executive summary of the Navigator study will be completed early next year.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the cost was of (a) entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy to his Department in 2007-08. [228152]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The core Department holds no information centrally on the expenditure categories of (a) entertainment (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy. It could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Surveillance

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the most recent inspection report of his Department by the Office of the Surveillance Commissioner. [234988]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The last report on DEFRA by the Office of Surveillance Commissioner (OSC) was in May 2008. As the report includes sensitive information on the areas and use of covert investigation techniques under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 (RIPA), including the resources available, it would be inappropriate to place the report in the Library.

The Interception of Communications Commissioner, the Chief Surveillance Commissioner and the Intelligence Service Commissioner, who each have particular inspection and oversight responsibilities under RIPA, publish annual reports. The latest reports were laid before Parliament and copies placed in the House Library on 22 July. The figures provided in the reports for use of specific covert techniques are not broken down by individual public authority. The question of further disclosure for any particular public authority is a matter for the relevant Commissioner.

Departmental Television

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether the television licence fee in his official Ministerial residence is paid for from public funds. [233243]

Huw Irranca-Davies: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State (Hilary Benn) does not have an official ministerial residence.

Departmental Temporary Employment

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs which companies were used by his Department for providing temporary staff in each of the last five years; and what the value of contracts with each such company was in each of those years. [229085]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The totality of this information is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. The Department publishes in its annual departmental report information on its expenditure for consultancy and professional services, which includes temporary staff. I refer the hon. Member to Chapter 9 of the 2008 Report: 'Better Regulation and Corporate Services'.

Domestic Waste: Waste Disposal

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs which local authorities have introduced weekly organic waste collections for households (a) across their locality and (b) as pilot schemes. [235061]

Jane Kennedy: This information is not collected centrally.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the average cost per household to local waste collection authorities of domestic waste collection with (a) a weekly and (b) an alternate weekly frequency. [235091]

Jane Kennedy: No such estimate has been made.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, columns 654-56W, on domestic waste, what (a) financial incentives will be available to and (b) financial penalties will be imposed on local authorities if they meet or fail to meet the targets for reducing residual household waste. [236036]

Jane Kennedy: There are no financial incentives available to, or financial penalties imposed on, local authorities if they meet or fail to meet their agreed targets for reducing residual household waste.

Many local areas have adopted their own targets around waste management, recycling and street cleanliness. Details of individual agreements are available publicly from the CLG website, IDeA website or from local authorities.

Domestic Wastes

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Beckenham of 9 October 2008, Official Report, columns 743-45, on the Waste and Resources Action Programme, which of the authorities and partnerships listed in the Answer have been allocated funding to assist with the introduction or implementation of alternate weekly collections. [232588]

Jane Kennedy: None of the authorities and partnerships listed have been allocated funding specifically for the introduction or implementation of alternate weekly collections. The Waste and Resources Action Programme's funding for local authorities was designed to help them improve the performance of, and increase levels of public participation in, their recycling and composting services. Funding has been awarded to a large number of local authorities, running a variety of waste collection schemes. In each case, the purpose was to support the local authority's delivery and communication of its strategy for improving recycling rates. What this strategy was in each case, and whether or not it involved the introduction of alternate weekly collection of residual waste, was a matter for the local authority to decide.

Domestic Wastes: Contracts

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 1 September 2008, Official Report, column 1487W, on domestic wastes: contracts, what the timetable is for the peer review of WR0106 and for the completion of WR0506. [235005]

Jane Kennedy: The peer review for WR0106: Achieving Household Waste Prevention Through Service Systems, is now complete. The final report for WR0506: Benefits of Third Sector Involvement in Waste Management, is due to be submitted to DEFRA by the end of November 2008.

Dorneywood

James Duddridge: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer to the right hon. Member for Horsham of 19 June 2008, Official Report, column 1187W, on Dorneywood: official hospitality, what use his Department has made of Dorneywood for official engagements in the last 12 months. [221931]

Huw Irranca-Davies: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given on 20 October 2008, Official Report, columns 90-91W, by my hon. Friend the Secretary for the Cabinet Office (Mr. Watson).

Fishing Catches

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what proportion of the fish catch in EU waters was discarded in each of the last five years; and if he will make a statement. [234367]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Information on the scale of such discards is not currently available.

Since 2002 all EU countries have been required to collect data on discarding under Council Regulation 1543/2000, but the information is not yet compiled systematically. Quantities of discards are estimated quarterly using data collected by scientific observers aboard commercial fishing vessels. They are required to record the quantity landed and discarded, and the species and size composition of the discards each time the fishing gear is hauled. Deploying scientific observers in this manner is expensive and time consuming, with the result that it is usually only possible to sample a small proportion of the overall fishing trips in a given area. As a result, it is necessary to extrapolate from the limited sampling to provide estimates for the entire fleet. Although the sampling is intended to cover a representative sample of the fleet, this does mean that the estimates of total discards are subject to uncertainty.

However, it is clear that in order to more effectively manage discard activity, it is essential that full and accurate data is available for all fisheries, and we continue to press the Commission to ensure this is delivered by member states.

Flood Control

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many miles of flood defences will be abandoned if the proposed catchment management plans proceed. [235104]

Jane Kennedy: The Environment Agency have now completed 55 out of 68 Catchment Flood Management Plans (CFMPs) for England. Within each CFMP, long term flood risk policies have been assigned to geographical areas.

Each geographical area is referred to as a policy unit and across England and Wales there are approximately 860. In 38 of these, the flood risk management policy option will be to provide no active intervention. In practice this means that the Environment Agency will continue to monitor flood risk, but will not carry out maintenance on watercourses and defences. Flood risk in these areas is relatively low and the policy reflects the current practice of low intervention to manage risk.

This policy option will be progressively managed in the long term. Therefore at this stage CFMPs do not identify the length of flood defence where no active intervention will take place.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent representations he has received on the proposed catchment flood management plans. [235105]

Jane Kennedy: The Environment Agency is responsible for preparing catchment flood management plans in accordance with agreed guidance and they are signed off by the regional director. DEFRA reviews a sample of the plans through its post-approval evaluation process. DEFRA has received a number of representations on this issue from members of the public and MPs over the last six months.

Flowers: Conservation

Mrs. Dorries: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much funding has been provided by his Department for the protection of native species of wild flowering vegetation in each region in each year since 1997; and if he will make a statement. [238204]

Huw Irranca-Davies: This information is not held centrally and could be gathered only at a disproportionate cost.

Fly Tipping

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many incidents of fly-tipping in (a) Ashford constituency and (b) Kent were reported in the last five years; and how many people were prosecuted for such offences in each year. [236875]

Jane Kennedy: The number of fly-tipping incidents and enforcement actions taken are recorded by local authorities. Data are available for the last four years. Ashford borough council recorded the following figures:

| | Incidents | Prosecutions |
|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 950 | 0 |
| 2005-06 | 1,177 | 2 |
| 2006-07 | 1,450 | 0 |
| 2007-08 | 1,177 | 0 |

The total figures recorded by the 12 district and borough councils and one unitary council within Kent are as follows:

| | Incidents | Prosecutions |
|---|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 29,210 | 8 |
| 2005-06 | 33,774 | 22 |

Prosecution is just one of a range of enforcement actions which may be taken by a local authority. Other actions for which separate figures are recorded include warning letters, serving of statutory notices, fixed penalty notices and formal cautions.

Fly Tipping: Rural Areas

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what steps he is taking to reduce fly-tipping in rural areas. [236306]

Jane Kennedy: Fly-tipping occurs in both urban and rural areas. The Government, working with local authorities and the Environment Agency, aim to reduce fly-tipping through better prevention, detection and risk-based enforcement. As members of the National Fly-tipping Prevention Group, DEFRA works closely on this issue with large, private landowner organisations, many of whom have strong rural interests. We are funding the Environment Agency to undertake some specific work this year with these organisations, including the National Farmers Union and Country Land and Business Association, to quantify the extent of fly-tipping on private land and identify best practice to tackle the illegal dumping of waste in these areas.

Food Supply: Competition

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the merits of the Competition Commission's proposed establishment of a new grocery supply code of practice, with particular reference to whether it will provide (a) clarity and (b) protection for primary food producers. [238501]

Jane Kennedy: The Competition Commission recommended that DEFRA and BERR should consider the introduction of appropriate measures, including the extension of the Grocery Supply Code of Practice (GSCOP) and the role of the ombudsman or the introduction of a similar, complementary code and arrangements to cover the intermediaries and primary producers. The Government response to chapter 11 was clear in that they would want to see how any change impacts on the operation of the supply chain before considering whether any further action might be necessary.

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether he has assessed the merits of the proposal in chapter 11 of the Competition Commission's supply of groceries in the UK report in respect of giving primary food producers the right to initiate complaints about the conduct of grocery retailers. [238502]

Jane Kennedy: The Government response to the chapter 11 proposals noted that the Competition Commission would engage with large grocery retailers to implement an ombudsman that could, among other things, consider complaints from primary food producers. If it cannot get agreement the Government will consider establishing the ombudsman itself. The Government would make any assessment based primarily on what would be in consumers' best interests.

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on the Competition Commission's proposed remedies for primary producers following its report into the grocery sector. [238503]

Jane Kennedy: There have been no such discussions.

Forestry Commission: Property

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much the Forestry Commission has spent on maintaining its domestic properties in each of the last five years. [238734]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The estimated costs of maintaining the Forestry Commission's domestic properties over the last five years are:

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 289 |
| 2004-05 | 202 |
| 2005-06 | 237 |
| 2006-07 | 299 |
| 2007-08 | 247 |

Growing Sector Investigation

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the Competition Commission's Growing Sector Investigation report published in April. [237793]

Jane Kennedy: The Government response to the Competition Commission's inquiry into the UK grocery market was published on 29 July by BERR.

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of Chapter 11 of the Competition Commission's Growing Sector Inquiry report in respect of primary producers. [237863]

Jane Kennedy: With respect to primary producers, the CC recommended that DEFRA and BERR should consider the introduction of appropriate measures, including the extension of the Groceries Supply Code of Practice (GSCOP) and the role of the ombudsman or the introduction of a similar, complementary code and arrangements to cover the intermediaries and primary producers. The Government response was clear in that it would want to see how any change impacts on the operation of the supply chain before considering whether any further action might be necessary.

Gypsum

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the potential risk to (a) human health and (b) the environment from hydrogen sulphide gases created when gypsum is mixed with biodegradable wastes in landfills. [236590]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The risk to health and the environment from the mixing of gypsum waste in landfills containing biodegradable landfill is well known and should be avoided to minimise the production of hydrogen sulphide gas which is toxic and odorous. The Landfill Directive implemented in 2005 requires gypsum to be landfilled in separate areas from biodegradable waste.

The Environment Agency is currently undertaking projects looking at the health effects of landfilling and the quantities of hydrogen sulphide produced at landfills.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he will publish new guidance on the acceptance of waste gypsum to landfill; and when he expects the new guidance to come into force. [236591]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The Environment Agency is due to publish revised guidance by the end of November 2008.

Martin Horwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how new guidance on the acceptance of waste gypsum to landfill will be disseminated to private sector operators within the waste sector; and by what means he will ensure that the new guidance will be enforced. [236592]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The Environment Agency will issue a press release to accompany its revised regulatory position statement. This will be available to industry (including the construction and demolition industry) and waste managers, through their trade associations, and published in the relevant journals. The position statement will be placed on the Environment Agency website.

The Environment Agency will e-mail approximately 7,000 businesses, academic institutions and other interested parties advising them of the revised position.

The Environment Agency will also develop guidance for its staff describing how they should approach compliance assessment over the next few months. This will include awareness raising at relevant sites (landfill and waste transfer stations) leading up to the adoption of its tougher enforcement position from 1 April 2009.

Horses: Conservation

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 13 November 2008, Official Report, column 1293W, on horses: conservation, for what reason the Dartmoor Pony Society has temporarily suspended the issuing of Heritage Trust passports; and what advice the Society has sought from his Department. [237790]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Dartmoor Pony Society (DPS) informed DEFRA that they had ceased to produce Heritage Trust passports as of 19 October 2008, as they believed that a number of applications they had received were for ponies that had been presented for sale at the Dartmoor sale in Chagford, Devon and for which passports had already been applied for from a different organisation.

DEFRA have been in contact with the DPS to help resolve this issue and the Society have informed us that they are now issuing Heritage Trust Passports again.

Incinerators

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what methodology his Department uses to assess the environmental impacts of proposed incineration facilities. [237749]

Jane Kennedy: Under the Environmental Permitting (England and Wales) Regulations 2007, operators of proposed incineration installations are required to apply for an operating permit from the regulator (the Environment Agency or, for smaller installations, the local authority). The application must include information relating to the impact of the proposed installation upon the environment, and the regulator will determine the application on that basis using its own methodology.

Inspections

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department and its predecessor has spent on inspections in each of the last 10 years. [237193]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 18 November 2008]: DEFRA, through agencies such as Animal Health, the Marine and Fisheries Agency, the Horticultural Marketing Inspectorate and the Rural Payments Agency carries out a wide range of inspections throughout the course of a year.

These range from the inspection of fishing vessels at sea, to cattle identification, the inspection of animal by-product sites and horticultural marketing standards. The information you request could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Littering: Young Offenders

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the guidance provided by (a) his Department and (b) the Environment Agency on the issuing of fixed penalty notices for waste offences to juveniles. [235068]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA published general guidance on issuing fixed penalty notices to juveniles in 2006. This document, 'Fixed Penalty Notices to Juveniles' is available on the DEFRA website.

The Environment Agency have not issued any specific guidance on this issue. However, the Environment Agency's enforcement and prosecution policy and functional guidance provide general guidance on the enforcement of environmental offences, including enforcement in respect of juveniles and the elderly.

National Farmers Retail and Markets Association

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the National Farmers Retail and Markets Association. [236220]

Jane Kennedy: I have not had any discussions with the National Farmers' Retail and Markets Association (FARMA). However, in recent years both DEFRA Ministers and officials have met with representatives of FARMA to explore how we can work together on our common goals of reconnecting farmers to their markets and helping them to add value. FARMA have also previously presented to our Regional Food Cross-Cutting Group which includes representatives from all the regional development agencies.

This year, DEFRA officials have been in regular contact with FARMA to ensure they are aware of the documentation required to enable draw down of the first instalment of their Agriculture Development Scheme grant award.

I attended the Parliamentary All Party Markets Group meeting on 20 November 2008, at which the FARMA were present.

Pesticides: Environment Protection

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) if he will assess the effect on the landscape, with particular reference to (a) railway embankments, (b) waterway verges, (c) public parks and (d) other public areas of the changes to the availability of pesticides proposed in the draft EU Regulation on plant protection products; if he will estimate the cost to the public purse of manual weed control in such areas; and if he will make a statement; [236973]

(2) if he will undertake research to assess the effect on physical exercise levels of those who undertake gardening (a) at home and (b) on allotments as a result of any changes to patterns of gardening activity resulting from the proposed EU Regulation on placing of plant protection products on the market; if he will also undertake research to assess effects of such changes on people with disabilities; and if he will make a statement. [237092]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The majority of pesticides are used in agriculture. Pesticides Safety Directorate's impact assessment, which was published in May 2008, therefore focused on the agronomic impacts of changes to pesticide availability arising from these proposals. It recognised that there could be wider implications, but did not analyse them in detail, as the agronomic assessment provided sufficient indication of the potential impacts to determine our response. On 5 November the European Parliament Environment Committee voted on a range of amendments that reduce the potential impact of the new regulation on the availability of pesticides.

Plastic Bags

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether he has a target for a reduction in the use of disposable bags. [235070]

Jane Kennedy: The Government's Waste Strategy 2007 set the objective of making the free single-use carrier bag a thing of the past. We are working with retailers who are making good progress towards reducing the numbers of bags they distribute, setting themselves ambitious individual targets.

The powers we have introduced into the Climate Change Bill, enable the Government to require retailers to charge for single use carrier bags as a fallback should retailers fail to make significant reductions on a voluntary basis.

Plastics: Recycling

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many local authorities do not carry out doorstep collections of mixed plastics for recycling. [238640]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA does not collect data from English local authorities on whether they carry out kerbside collection of particular materials.

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the average number of types of plastic recycled by local authorities. [238641]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA collects data through WasteDataFlow from English local authorities on the tonnage of plastic sent for recycling, but does not differentiate between different types of plastics.

Pollution: EU Law

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what plans he has to apply for a derogation from the EU Air Quality directive. [234345]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The UK is working to meet ambient air quality limit values in the shortest time possible. The UK Air Quality Strategy that was published in 2007 provides full details, and can be found on the DEFRA website. Over the past 10 years the quality of our air has improved and apart from some hotspots alongside busy roads in major cities we are meeting our current objectives for all pollutants in 99 per cent. of the UK.

In response to difficulties faced across Europe, the new ambient air quality directive (2008/50/EC), which replaces the earlier 1996 directive and three other related directives, provides in Article 22 for a notification procedure for member states to be able to seek authorisation from the EU Commission for additional time to meet the limit values for particulate matter ($PM_{10}$) and nitrogen dioxide ($NO_2$).

On $PM_{10}$ limit values, in September the Government made the European Commission aware that, subject to public consultation, the UK intends to submit an Article 22 application for an exemption for those few parts of the UK where there have been breaches, including London, from the obligation to apply the limit value until 2011. Most other member states will also be submitting applications. We expect to consult early in 2009.

On nitrogen dioxide, the limit values are extremely challenging and despite efforts to date, the UK, like most other member states, expects to report breaches beyond the 2010 compliance deadline. The problem is mainly concerned with existing pollution from road traffic both in London and in other major cities across the UK. Again, subject to public consultation, the Government expect to submit in 2010 an application to the Commission which would give the possibility of a further five years to meet the limit values for nitrogen dioxide.

For both these pollutants, securing such postponement of attainment deadlines is subject to submission of detailed plans that will need to satisfy the Commission that the limit values can be achieved by the extended deadlines. We are determined to tackle remaining hotspots of pollution and to meet our EU obligations.

Pollution: Heathrow Airport

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs when he proposes to respond to the letter to him dated 23 October 2008 from solicitors Harrison Grant, acting on behalf of the 2M Group, on pollution levels around Heathrow. [237770]

Huw Irranca-Davies: My officials sent a response to solicitors Harrison Grant's letter on 14 November.

Recycling

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what records (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme keeps on which waste collection authorities have adopted compulsory recycling collection policies. [235063]

Jane Kennedy: None.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what estimate he has made of the amount of recycled waste of (a) paper and (b) plastics in the last period for which figures are available; what proposals he has for their disposal and in what timeframe; and how many energy-from-waste plants have been built in each of the last three years. [236792]

Jane Kennedy: In the UK, an estimated 8.6 million tonnes of paper and board and 545,000 tonnes of plastic were collected for recycling in 2007.

The disposal of recycled materials is a matter for local authorities and their business partners.

Two energy-from-waste plants have been constructed since 2006, at Allington, Kent and Lakeside, and Heathrow.

Recycling: Fees and Charges

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will meet representatives of the UK Youth Parliament to discuss charges to schools for recycling. [235319]

Jane Kennedy: I would welcome a meeting with the UK Youth Parliament.

Recycling: Hampshire

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much waste was recycled by each local authority in the ceremonial county of Hampshire in each of the last five years. [235951]

Jane Kennedy: The following table shows the amount of municipal waste sent to be recycled, composted or reused by each authority in the ceremonial county of Hampshire in the financial years 2003-04 through to 2007-08.

Some data for 2004-05 are unavailable due to authorities not providing complete data returns.

Recycling: Landfill

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what volume and proportion of household recycling was deposited in landfill in the latest year for which figures are available. [235841]

Jane Kennedy: Based on responses from local authorities in England to WasteDataFlow for the financial year 2007-08, the tonnage of municipal waste collected for recycling, but subsequently rejected to landfill was 90,000 tonnes. This represents 0.9 per cent. of municipal waste sent for recycling in that period.

Shellfish: Colchester

Bob Russell: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1013W, on shellfish: Colchester, what the membership of the applicant group is; and on what dates his officials have sent reminders to the applicant group since May 2007. [237198]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The membership of the applicant group consists of three producers and three producer/processors, of which Richard Haward of Richard Haward Oysters and Christopher Kerrison of the Colchester Oyster Fishery Ltd. are the main contact points.

Officials last met the representatives of the applicant group to discuss the application to protect Colchester Oysters under the EU-protected food name (PFN) scheme as a Protected Geographical Indication (PGI) on 1 May 2007. Following that meeting a revised application highlighting the additional information required was passed to the applicants for their comments on 15 May 2007. Since then reminders have been sent by officials on the following dates:

16 July 2007—email
5 September 2007—telephone
Mid-September 2007—telephone
12 October 2007—email
8 November 2007—email
10 January 2008—telephone

Tesco

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs if he will discuss with Tesco the outcome of its recent negotiations with its supply chain companies. [235652]

Jane Kennedy: We do not discuss the specifics of negotiations between individual companies as they are for the market to determine within the constraints of competition law. The Department, at both official and ministerial level hold frequent discussions with different sectors of the industry on a range of issues that concern them, including the encouragement of long term sustainable relationships between suppliers and retailers.

Waste Disposal

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much and what percentage of (a) retail and (b) wholesale waste in the UK was re-used or recycled in each of the last three years. [234664]

Jane Kennedy: The most recent figures for retail and wholesale waste arisings and re-use/recycling in England are derived from the Environment Agency's National Waste Production Survey for 2002-03. The total estimated waste for this sector was 12.8 million tonnes and 6.6 million tonnes, or 52 per cent of this was re-used/recycled.

Waste Disposal: Fees and Charges

Robert Neill: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Beckenham of 9 October 2008, Official Report, columns 747-8W, on waste disposal: fees and charges, how the organisations which attended the launch were selected. [232591]

Jane Kennedy: Organisations known to have an interest in this area of policy were selected from DEFRA's Shared Stakeholders Database. Respondents to the Consultation on the Incentives for Recycling by Households in May 2007, were also invited.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) whether the new schemes for charging for the collection of household waste will allow local authorities to charge Schedule 2 waste producers for the disposal of their waste; [234989]

(2) whether Schedule 2 waste producers will be liable for waste incentive charges where such schemes are in operation. [235011]

Jane Kennedy: Waste incentives pilots will apply to domestic premises, as defined in the Climate Change Bill. They could therefore include households which produce Schedule 2 waste. However, they will not apply to other 'Schedule 2 producers' such as schools and hospitals.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) which local authorities responded to consultation on technical guidance on the pilots of charges for the collection of household waste; [235062]

(2) what organisations and individuals responded to the consultation on the guidance on the waste incentive pilots; [235067]

(3) if he will place in the Library copies of each individual response to his Department's most recent consultation on guidance on pilot waste incentive schemes for the collection of household rubbish. [235142]

Jane Kennedy: Six guidance documents have been drafted to provide information for local authorities on the issues they may wish to consider when designing and running a pilot incentive scheme. Comments were invited on draft guidance during the summer. In addition, the guidance documents were made available for comment on the DEFRA website. Details of the responses received will be published alongside the final guidance documents.

We have consulted formally on one of the six pieces of draft guidance—the guidance on the kerbside recycling service which should be in place before a local authority may introduce a pilot scheme. This consultation closed on 14 November and responses will be published, and placed in the Library, in due course.

Waste Management

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what records (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme keeps of which waste collection authorities have adopted closed lid collection policies. [234987]

Jane Kennedy: None.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) what guidance (a) his Department and (b) the Waste and Resources Action Programme has produced on the provision of bins in public places; [234990]

(2) what guidance (a) his Department, (b) the regional improvement efficiency partnerships and (c) the Waste and Resources Action Programme has provided to local authorities on provision of communal bins in urban areas. [235130]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA launched 'Recycle on the Go' on 2 June 2008 which aims to put accessible recycling bins in public places. A good practice guide and a voluntary code of practice will help those responsible for public places to make recycling easy and accessible and includes guidance on providing recycling opportunities along with provisions for the correct disposal of non-recyclable waste. The materials, which were developed in collaboration with the Waste and Resources Action programme and ENCAMS, are available on the DEFRA website or at the Recycle Now website:

http://www.recyclenowpartners.org.uk/

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs whether private waste contractors will have voting rights on joint waste authorities. [235012]

Jane Kennedy: Private waste contractors will not have voting rights on joint waste authorities. Only elected members of constituent authorities of joint waste authorities will be eligible for voting rights.

Waste Management: Economic Situation

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the effect of the economic downturn on the recycling and waste industry. [233873]

Jane Kennedy: On 11 November DEFRA, the Waste and Resources Action Programme (WRAP) and the Environment Agency issued a joint statement about the approach being taken to address the fall in prices for some recyclable materials. This made clear that our priorities are:

to further promote waste minimisation;

to maintain public confidence that recycling is worthwhile to ensure continuity of collection systems for recyclables; to focus on producing high quality marketable recyclables;

to ensure any storage of recyclables doesn't undermine the environment or public health or the recyclability of those materials;

where the traditional markets for recyclables have contracted, to encourage recovery and disposal options towards the top of the waste hierarchy—i.e. landfill as a last resort; and to avoid actions which exacerbate the situation while markets stabilise.

The Environment Agency, with Government support, has issued guidance on the circumstances in which it will allow extra storage of recyclable materials in the short term. WRAP will continue to monitor markets and prices and make information regularly available. The Government will keep the situation under review to assess what further action may be necessary.

Waste Management: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the household recycling rate was in the City of York Council area in 1996-97 and each year since then; what percentage of waste collected by City of York Council was sent to landfill in 1996-97 and each year since then; and how much City of York Council has paid in landfill tax in each year since the tax was introduced. [237014]

Jane Kennedy: The following table shows the percentage of household waste sent to be recycled or composted and the percentage sent to landfill by the City of York council up to the financial year 2007-08.

These figures were reported to the Audit Commission by local authorities under the best value performance regime. Prior to 2000-01 there was no indicator for waste sent to landfill.

| | Household recycling and composting rate | Percentage Household waste sent to landfill |
|---|---|---|
| 1996-97 | 5.30 | — |
| 1997-98 | 5.24 | — |
| 1998-99 | 5.85 | — |
| 1999-2000 | 9.69 | — |
| 2000-01 | 9.81 | 90.19 |
| 2001-02 | 10.66 | 89.34 |

| 2003-04 | 15.43 | 84.57 |

Local authorities do not record separately the amount spent on landfill tax in the returns which councils submit to the Government.

Water Charges: Religious Buildings

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs which sewerage companies charge for surface water drainage; and which of these exempt churches from these charges. [235188]

Jane Kennedy: All sewerage companies charge for surface water drainage. Charging schemes are approved by Ofwat, the independent economic regulator.

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what recent representations he has received on the proposed new water charges on places of worship and premises operated by voluntary groups; what assessment he has made of the effects of these new changes on such groups; and what discussions he has had with these groups on the effects of the proposed new changes. [232995]

Jane Kennedy: DEFRA has received a range of representations on water charges for places of worship and other voluntary organisations.

Ofwat, the independent economic regulator of the water industry, is responsible for approving water companies' charging schemes. Where a company makes a change to the way it charges for water or sewerage services, Ofwat challenges the company's proposals to make sure charges are not unduly preferential to one customer group over another. Groups of customers are defined by the costs they are likely to impose and are independent of the financial or charitable status of individual non-household customers.

My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Environment (Hilary Benn) has not held any discussions with places of worship or voluntary groups on the effects of the proposed changes to water charges.

Water: Meters

Linda Gilroy: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what plans he has to encourage the introduction of smart water meters. [237308]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 19 November 2008]: An independent review of charging and metering for water and sewerage services is currently under way. It will look in particular at social, economic and environmental concerns, including the costs and benefits of metering and smart metering. The interim conclusions are expected in spring 2009.

White Fish: Conservation

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) if he will review the decision not to increase the minimum landing size of bass; and if he will make a statement; [236595]

(2) what consideration he has given to the introduction of a system of carcass tagging for bass; [236596]

(3) whether he intends implementing further measures to develop the recreational bass fishery. [236621]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Scientific advice from the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea in 2004, and subsequent advice to DEFRA from the Centre for Environment, Fisheries and Aquaculture Science, suggests that the bass stock is fished sustainably. In addition to being a prime sports fish for the sea angling sector, bass is a particularly important stock for the inshore fishing fleet. Given the pressures faced by this fleet and the relatively healthy state of the stock, I have no plans to increase the minimum landing size of bass. For the same reasons, I currently have no plans to introduce a system of carcass tagging as a means of controlling exploitation of the bass stock.

However, we announced last year a package of new measures that will provide increased protection for stocks of bass and more widely benefits for anglers. This includes a review of inshore netting restrictions and of 30 restricted areas around the English coast for the protection of juvenile bass. This may result in new protected areas, increased restrictions or extensions to current areas around the coast. We will consult on any proposals relating to these restricted areas in the new year. In addition, we are also funding research exploring the use of restricted areas to benefit recreational bass anglers.

Alongside this work, we are continuing to monitor the state of the bass stock and I do not rule out returning to an increase in the minimum landing size of bass once the effectiveness of these new measures has been assessed.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs in relation to Article 17 of Council Regulation 2371/2002, if he will institute measures governing pair-trawling for bass within 12 nautical miles applicable to foreign vessels fishing with grandfather rights. [236622]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In 2004 we banned pelagic pair trawling for bass by UK vessels within 12 miles of the south-west coast of England (within the International Council for the Exploration of the Sea (ICES) area VIIe) as this fishery was shown to have relatively high levels of cetacean by-catch. The UK asked that the ban on pelagic pair trawling for bass be extended (under Article 9 of Council Regulation EC No 2371/2002) to the vessels of other member states, who are currently permitted to fish between six and 12 miles off the south-west English coast. However, as this request was rejected by the European Commission, we could only take unilateral action in relation to our own vessels out to 12 miles.

The UK report on 2006-07 observed cetacean by-catch levels, as required by Council Regulation (EC) 812/2004, has been submitted to the European Commission, and is available on our website www.defra.gov.uk.

It is important for us to consider reports provided by those member states which have vessels permitted to fish in our waters in order to understand the overall level of cetacean bycatch. Once we have done this we will consider whether to make further representations to the Commission.

Scientific advice from ICES in 2004, and subsequent advice to DEFRA from the Centre for Environment, Fisheries and Aquaculture Science (Cefas), suggests that the bass stock is fished sustainably. Given this assessment, I currently have no plans to institute any measures governing pair trawling for bass for the purposes of stock conservation.

Wood: Smuggling

Mr. Peter Ainsworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many seizures of illegal timber imports have been made in each year since 1997. [233423]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Under current UK law it is not illegal to import timber which was illegally felled, processed or transported in another country provided the actual importation is legal. The UK Government cannot institute legal proceedings in the UK relating to a breach or breaches of sovereign laws in another country, with one exception.

The exception is CITES—the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species. As a CITES signatory, the UK Government have the legal powers to seize timber or timber products containing a CITES—listed species imported without the correct CITES paperwork. Information on any such seizures is not held by core-DEFRA and should be obtained from HMRC as the relevant central Government Department.

JUSTICE

Appeals Service: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what national targets have been set for the Appeals Service; and what the performance of the relevant offices in South Devon was against those targets in 2007-08. [237938]

Bridget Prentice: The social security and child support performance data is collected on a Tribunals Service regional only basis with South Devon falling under the Wales and South Western Region. Data is not recorded by venue and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

In 2007-08, the following national targets, and the Wales and South Western Region performance against the target, are as follows:

75 per cent. of hearings to take place within 14 weeks of receipt; 'overall performance 88 per cent.'

85 per cent. of rehearings returned from the Social Security Commissioner following the appeal against the original tribunal to be heard within eight weeks; 'overall performance 85 per cent.'

10 per cent. average of 'live load' that will be over 20 weeks; 'overall average 8 per cent.'

Approved Premises

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many child sex offenders are currently managed in one of the 101 probation approved premises. [237728]

Mr. Hanson: The number of child sex offenders accommodated in the 101 approved premises in England and Wales will vary at any one time. Statistical information about the type of offences committed by offenders residing in approved premises at any one time is not collected centrally, although the offenders' assessed level of risk of harm at the point of admission is.

Approved premises provide for enhanced and effective supervision of certain offenders which would be much more difficult to achieve if such offenders were dispersed into less suitable accommodation in the community.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many classified dangerous or very dangerous offenders are currently managed in one of the 101 probation approved premises. [237729]

Mr. Hanson: The terms "dangerous" or "very dangerous" are not designated terms for the description of offenders admitted to and supervised in approved premises. At the end of September 2008, 66 AP residents (3.6 per cent.) were assessed as presenting a very high risk of serious harm and 1,348 (73.5 per cent.) were assessed as presenting a high risk of serious harm.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many child sex offenders have been managed in one of the 101 probation-approved premises in each of the last three years. [237730]

Mr. Hanson: The number of child sex offenders accommodated in approved premises will vary at any one time. Statistical information about the type of offences committed by offenders residing in approved premises at any one time is not collected centrally, although offenders' assessed level of risk of harm at the point of admission is.

Approved premises provide for enhanced and effective supervision of certain offenders which would be much more difficult to achieve if such offenders were dispersed into less suitable accommodation in the community.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many child sex offenders living in approved premises committed further sex offences whilst a resident in each of the last three years. [237731]

Mr. Hanson: The National Offender Management Service collects data about serious further offences committed by offenders who are under any form of supervision by the Probation Service. The available data covers all AP residents whose index offence was of a sexual nature but does not specify whether that index offence was a sexual offence against a child. Figures for the number of sex offenders convicted of a serious further offence of a sexual nature while residing in an approved premises are as follows:

| | Number of sex offenders convicted |
| 2006-07 | 5 |
| 2007-08 | [1]6 |
| 2008-09 | [2]1 |

[1] With one offender charged with an offence of a sexual nature and still awaiting trial.
[2] As of 22 November 2008.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the minimum level of training is that a probation area requires of staff working in approved premises. [238057]

Mr. Hanson: The minimum level of training for probation area staff working in approved premises will vary according to grade, role, responsibility, and also from area to area. Probation officers are trained to degree level and probation support officers to NVQ or equivalent level.

All staff working in approved premises are required to be competent for their duties, and the majority of staff will therefore be trained in some or all of the following subjects: risk of harm assessment; pro-social modelling; motivational interviewing; 'living here moving on' (LiHMO); health, safety (including fire training) and first aid; mental health issues; suicide and self-harm prevention; diversity and equality; drug and alcohol awareness; dealing with violence and aggression (including physical 'breakaway' techniques); working with sex offenders; domestic violence awareness; group work; enhanced regimes; teamworking; keyworking; and management and leadership.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many deaths of residents in approved premises have been recorded in each of the last five years. [238058]

Mr. Hanson: The number of residents of approved premises who have died in each year for the last five years are:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 11 |
| 2004 | 20 |
| 2005 | 17 |
| 2006 | 10 |
| 2006-07 | 13 |
| 2007-08 | 17 |

Up to 2006, the figures were collated by calendar year; since April 2006 they have been collated on a financial year basis instead.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many approved premises have not introduced double working night levels. [238059]

Mr. Hanson: Double waking night cover was introduced in approved premises in 2006. Eight out of 101 APs are not currently operating double waking night cover. These eight operate a system of single waking night cover with another member of staff sleeping on the premises, who may be called to duty, should the need arise.

Double waking night cover is the expected norm, although there are justifiable exceptions. We will shortly be issuing new instructions that will allow alternative arrangements to be used, provided they have been risk-assessed, provide equivalent levels of staff safety and public protection and have involved consultation with local staff representatives, directors of offender management and ministers.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether a national record is kept of violent incidents against staff working in approved premises. [238060]

Mr. Hanson: Incidents of violence and abusive behaviour against probation staff are recorded locally but not collated nationally. However, we are considering introducing a national reporting requirement in conjunction with the safer custody initiative.

Cemeteries

Andrew Gwynne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many of the recommendations made by the Environment, Transport and Regional Affairs Committee in its Eighth Report of Session 2000-01, HC 91, on cemeteries, have been implemented; and what progress has been made on implementing the other recommendations accepted by the Government. [237551]

Bridget Prentice: The Government Response (Cm 5281) made clear that the great majority of the Select Committee's 41 recommendations had or would be implemented. In particular, an advisory stakeholder group has been established, and we have published the results of a survey of burial grounds, the Government response to public consultation on burial law reform, and guidance for burial ground managers. I intend to publish guidance on the management of memorial safety shortly and expect to make an announcement early next year about the provision and maintenance of burial grounds and proposals for amendments to existing burial legislation. I will write to my hon. Friend with details of the progress made on each recommendation.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237483]

Maria Eagle: The first year that a Ministry of Justice Christmas card was produced was 2007 and 6,000 cards were ordered at a cost of 34p each, totalling £2,040. These cards were produced internally and were not centrally funded. Each business area covered the costs of the cards they ordered from their stationery budgets.

The order for cards for 2008 has not yet commenced.

I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, columns 742-43W, to the hon. Member for Hertford and Stortford (Mr. Prisk), which provides information on the spend on Christmas functions in 2007-08.

The cost of trees and decorations for the central London HQ buildings for 2007 is as follows:

Trees—£460.40 + VAT

Decorations—£325.90 + VAT

An order has not yet been placed for 2008 and wherever possible, last year's decorations will be reused.

The information for agencies can be gathered only at a disproportionate cost, as each individual building would order their own trees and decorations.

Courts: Fees and Charges

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what estimate he has made of the likely cost to local authorities resulting from (a) the increase in public law family fees and (b) making those changes retrospective over the next two years. [237596]

Bridget Prentice: Her Majesty's Courts Service (HMCS) calculated the cost of public law family proceedings, was £40 million. The increased fees were set on this basis, and an additional £40 million was built into the local authority settlement for England and Wales. This figure applies to all three years of the settlement and will form part of the baseline for future spending reviews. It is likely to exceed the actual expenditure on court fees for local authorities as it assumes that the maximum fee is payable in each case. It does not allow for any savings arising from early resolution or fast track procedures recently introduced under the revised Public Law Outline.

Fees have not been charged retrospectively.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many external consultants work for his Department. [235302]

Maria Eagle: In the financial year 2007-08, the Ministry of Justice let contracts for consultancy services with 244 suppliers. The number of individual consultants involved in the delivery of those contracts is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental ICT

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his Department's total IT budget was in the last year. [228863]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice's IT expenditure in 2007-08 was £660 million. This includes the cost of running the live operational services across the Ministry, the costs of new IT developments and the transition costs to new IT suppliers for the former Department for Constitutional Affairs.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what IT projects (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies is undertaking; and what the most recent estimate of (i) the cost and (ii) the completion date of each is. [229159]

Maria Eagle: Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. These will be subject to a further budget review in December 2008, as part of the Ministry's wider review of all areas of expenditure, including IT projects.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237470]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice has no staff solely responsible for branding activity in the Department this year. It is not possible to separate out branding activity from other communications and marketing duties undertaken by staff.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237503]

Mr. Straw: In each of the last three years, the Ministry of Justice and the former Department for Constitutional Affairs has employed the services of two special advisers. Each special adviser has the support of one member of administrative grade staff. The cost of these two members of staff was £64,923 in 2005-06; £63,866 in 2006-07; and £45,308 in 2007-08.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been in the last 12 months. [238173]

Mr. Straw: There is no provision for Government cars for special advisers in the Ministry of Justice. There has therefore been no cost to the Department.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how much was spent on entertainment by his Department in 2007-08; and how much of that sum is accounted for by (a) food, (b) alcohol, (c) staff and (d) accommodation. [235303]

Maria Eagle: This information could be provided across the Ministry only at disproportionate cost.

All expenditure on entertainment should be incurred in accordance with published departmental guidance on financial procedures and propriety that are based on the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many civil servants working in his Department and its agencies have pensions with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million. [229547]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice has information in respect of cash equivalent transfer values (CETVs) for civil servants that are Board members only. These are disclosed in the Remuneration Report in the Annual Ministry of Justice Resource Accounts (of which a copy for the financial year 2007-08 can be found in the Library of the House and on the Ministry of Justice website). There are seven Board Members with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million.

The Department does not hold information on CETVs for all its civil servants. This information can be obtained only by writing to the individual's Authorised Pension Administration Centre and obtaining this would involve disproportionate cost.

Driving Offences: Alcoholic Drinks

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people imprisoned on conviction for a drink-driving offence have been released because the blood taken to assess the blood-alcohol level was taken by a nurse rather than a police officer in each of the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [237279]

Maria Eagle: Information is not held centrally on the number of drivers imprisoned for driving etc. after consuming alcohol or taking drugs who elect to challenge the court's decision and the outcome of the challenge.

Entry Clearances: Pakistan

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice on what date the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal notified the Home Department of the decision of the Asylum and Immigration Tribunal in the case of Mrs E.K., wife of Mr S.Z. of Aylesbury and the Entry Clearance Officer, Islamabad (reference OA 52562/2007). [236205]

Bridget Prentice: Asylum and Immigration Tribunal (AIT) records show that the original appeal decision was heard on 13 May 2008. The tribunal sent the decision to UK Border Agency on 22 May 2008.

A further hearing by AIT to reconsider the initial decision was held on 24 July 2008. A decision was sent to UK Border Agency on 1 October 2008.

HM Courts Service: Finance

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made (1) of the likely effect of reductions in the budget of Her Majesty's Courts Service (HMCS) on (a) the number of courts, (b) the number of courts staff, (c) the number of consultants, (d) the number of agency staff and (e) the level of service to the public provided by HMCS in each of the years of the forthcoming Comprehensive Spending Review; [232501]

(2) of the effect on the budget of HM Courts Service of (a) recent increases in family court fees, (b) recent reductions in the number of tax prosecutions and (c) the Service's modernising money programme. [233002]

Mr. Straw: It has been clear since the publication of MOJ's CSR07 settlement that the Department and its constituent bodies, including HMCS, would have to reduce previously planned budgets. The efficiency savings plan for MOJ for 2008-09 is underway and HMCS is committed to delivering their contribution to the MOJ savings plan.

We are developing over the next few months the performance and efficiency plan for MOJ and its constituent bodies, including HMCS, to cover 2009-10 and 2010-11. When that plan is agreed for 2009-10 and 2010-11, we will be in a position to inform Parliament of the impact on MOJ, including HMCS.

The judiciary are engaged in discussion of HMCS resources under the terms of the HMCS framework and the concordat between the Lord Chancellor and the Lord Chief Justice.

We expect there to be a reduction in headcount in HMCS parts of MOJ but we expect a large part of that to come from reductions in agency staff and contractors. Exact numbers will be available only once we have completed our planning exercise. We have started discussions with the trade unions on this and will continue to involve them as our plans develop.

We will aim better to match courts work to the changing pattern of demand and do not have any current plans to close courts.

The HMCS budget includes an estimate of £28 million as additional income expected as a result of the increases in family court fees on 1 May 2008.

HMRC have changed the focus of their enforcement activity and are targeting higher value cases. This has resulted in a reduction in the expected volume of claims from that source. It is not possible to quantify the exact impact this will have on HMCS at this stage.

The Modernising Money Handling project is currently piloting its processes within six court areas. Benefits targeted include reduced headcount for processing payments, economies of scale arising from implementing national supply agreements and further reductions in cash collection costs. The financial impact of these benefits will be measured once the pilots are completed.

Legal Systems: Islam

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Hemel Hempstead of 23 October 2008, Official Report, column 562W, on matrimonial proceedings: religion, what comparative research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the role of Sharia councils in (i) the UK and (ii) other jurisdictions; [236852]

(2) what research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on the role of female Muslim scholars in the process of Islamic religious arbitration, in respect of those tribunals which may act as arbitrators within the meaning of the Arbitration Act 1996; [236853]

(3) pursuant to the answer of 23 October 2008, Official Report, column 562W, on matrimonial proceedings: religion, how many draft consent orders embodying the terms of an agreement reached by the use of a Sharia council have (a) been enforced within the meaning of the Arbitration Act 1996 and (b) been held not to comply with English legal tenets. [236854]

Mr. Straw: In the past year the Ministry of Justice has received a number of requests for information and details of policy relating to Sharia law and Sharia councils and their position on family issues. Earlier this year this Department conducted an initial review of the research into Sharia councils in England and Wales and we intend to commission further research in the form of a scoping study. We hope that the scoping study will assess the feasibility of identifying Sharia councils, their members and users; explore the feasibility of obtaining data to establish the number, scope and clientele of Sharia councils in relation to Sharia family law and determine how Sharia councils, members and users can best be engaged in future research.

Arbitration is not a system of dispute resolution that may be used in family cases. Therefore no draft consent orders embodying the terms of an agreement reached by the use of a Sharia council have been enforced within the meaning of the Arbitration Act 1996 in matrimonial proceedings.

The issue of enforcement of an arbitrated decision only arises in civil disputes. At present there is no mechanism in civil proceedings to record how many draft consent orders embodying the terms of an agreement reached by the use of a Sharia council have been enforced within the meaning of the Arbitration Act 1996 or those that have been held not to comply with English legal tenets. Judges in England and Wales will only know that the consent order they are scrutinising comes from a Sharia council if this is made known to them by the parties.

National Offender Management Service: Finance

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his estimate is of the change to the budget of the National Offenders Management Service headquarters under the Ministry of Justice Financial Plan for the Comprehensive Spending Review for 2008-11. [235912]

Mr. Straw: Under the agreement reached in the last comprehensive spending review, the Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

We are currently working up the savings from the budget that can be achieved from the restructure of the National Offender Management Service's headquarters structures (both nationally and regionally). Our aim is to create a lean and focused agency headquarters which will enable offender management to be delivered more effectively and will strengthen and streamline commissioning to improve efficiency and effectiveness. The detail of the final headquarters structure has yet to be determined but will focus on reducing overheads, removing duplication and increasing efficiency in order to prioritise frontline services for offenders both in the community and in custody.

Operation Safeguard

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what plans there are to review the operation of Operation Safeguard. [237007]

Mr. Straw: A review of Operation Safeguard was commissioned by the National Offender Management Service in February 2008. A further review of the operating procedures laid out in Prison Service Instruction 30/2006 "Operation Safeguard" was commissioned in September 2008.

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how inappropriate prisoners as identified by Prison Service Instruction (PSI 30/2006) and Integrated Drug Treatment Systems Continuity of Care guidance have been identified so as to ensure that they are not in police cells overnight since the reactivation of Operation Safeguard in January 2007. [237008]

Mr. Straw: All prisoners are risk assessed before being held in police cells under Operation Safeguard. This risk assessment takes place against the criteria laid out in Prison Service Instruction (PSI 30/2006) "Operation Safeguard".

Prisoners are screened on leaving prison reception, at court and on reception to police custody.

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many inappropriate prisoners as identified by Prison Service Instruction (PSI 30/2006) and the Integrated Drug Treatment Systems Continuity of Care guidance have been held in police cells overnight since the reactivation of Operation Safeguard in January 2007. [237009]

Mr. Straw: All prisoners are risk assessed following the criteria laid out in Prison Service Instruction 30/2006 "Operation Safeguard" before being held in police cells under Operation Safeguard.

Every effort is made to avoid the use of police cells for various categories of prisoners and if a prisoner is deemed unsuitable to be held in police cells, they will be returned to an appropriate local prison.

Information on the number of prisoners who have been deemed unsuitable to be held in police cells is not recorded centrally.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235218]

Mr. Wills: In the Ministry of Justice (MOJ) for the reporting year 2007-08 the number of staff who did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade (or equivalent marking) is detailed as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Former DCA, including HMCS, OPG, Tribunals Service, Wales Office, Scottish Office, and the MOJ headquarters | 95 |
| Prison Service and the former Prison Service headquarters | 77 |
| Former Home Office staff now within the MOJ | 3 |

Plain English

David T.C. Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many documents produced by his Department have been submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [230508]

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many documents produced by his Department and its predecessor were submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [231114]

Mr. Wills: The Ministry of Justice does submit documents to the Plain English Campaign for Crystal Mark accreditation and we apply Plain English principles and best practice to all our documents. However the information requested is not held centrally and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Police Custody

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 22 July 2008, Official Report, column 1240W, on police custody, how many prisoners have been held in police cells overnight in each month since the reactivation of Operation Safeguard in January 2007; and if he will make a statement. [236872]

Mr. Straw: It is not possible to ascertain how many individual prisoners were held under Operation Safeguard since it was reactivated in January 2007. The following table covers the period from January 2007 up to the night of 31 October 2008 and gives the aggregate total of the number of prisoner nights in which a police cell was used during each month shown.

Prisoners: Employment

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice with which businesses HMP Coldingley has contracts for work for prisoners; and what the (a) value of, (b) nature of work specified under and (c) payment to prisoners specified under each contract is. [237294]

Mr. Hanson: A number of external customers have placed business with HM Prison Coldingley since April 2008: These are summarised in the following table. Contracts are restricted—commercial, and to release the names of customers may prejudice our continued and future trading relationship. The work areas also undertake production for the internal market providing employment for prisoners and helping to reduce the cost of imprisonment.

Prison Service Order 4460, a copy of which has been placed in the House Library, sets out minimum rates of pay for prisoners who participate in purposeful activity. The order requires governors and directors of contracted prisons to devise local pay schemes that reflect regime priorities of their establishment.

In addition prisoners are employed in a number of other activities, including information and communication technology, kitchen, cleaning (including accredited training), learning and skills, physical education, land-based activities, recycling and other regime places that provide opportunities to learn new skills and accredited learning. The prison also has a partnership agreement with the Howard League who run a small design shop in the prison. We are not aware of the contract details this workshop has with customers.

HMP Coldingley external/commercial sales for the period 1 April 2008 to 18 November 2008[1]

| Nature of work | Number of external customers | Approx. external sales value (£000) |

Prisoners: Ex-servicemen

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many ex-service personnel there were in prison who had (a) post-combat stress, (b) alcoholism and (c) substance abuse problems in (i) 2001, (ii) 2002, (iii) 2003, (iv) 2004, (v) 2005, (vi) 2006 and (vii) 2007; and if he will make a statement. [237283]

Mr. Hanson: The information requested is not available. Although data from nationally representative surveys of some 2,000 sentenced prisoners near release conducted in 2001, 2003 and 2004 showed the proportion of prisoners who had previously served in the armed forces in those years as 6 per cent., 4 per cent., and 5 per cent. respectively, no research was done on the particular problems raised in the question.

We are currently working with the Ministry of Defence to help better identify the number of veterans currently serving prison sentences. Part of the process is likely to involve surveying a proportion of the prison population.

Prisoners: Females

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice for what offences for women from Wales who were held in prison on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004 were imprisoned. [237691]

Mr. Hanson: The following table shows the number of women who were tried in courts in Wales and detained in prison establishments in England and Wales under custodial sentence as at 31 March each year 2004-08 by offence group.

| | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |
| All | 145 | 143 | 135 | 137 | 159 |
| Violence against the person | 43 | 37 | 42 | 48 | 48 |
| Sexual offences | 3 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 3 |
| Robbery | 20 | 10 | 7 | 12 | 14 |
| Burglary | 11 | 13 | 15 | 11 | 18 |
| Theft and handling | 20 | 14 | 20 | 14 | 21 |
| Fraud and forgery | 3 | 9 | 1 | 3 | 3 |
| Drug offences | 29 | 43 | 26 | 25 | 30 |
| Motoring offences | 2 | 7 | 8 | 2 | 2 |
| Other offences | 14 | 7 | 12 | 16 | 20 |
| Offence not recorded | 1 | 0 | 1 | 2 | 1 |

These figures are based on the court from which the prisoner was received.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many of the women from Wales who were held in prison on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004 were held on remand. [237692]

Mr. Hanson: The following table shows the number of women prisoners held on remand by a court in Wales at 31 March in each year from 2004 to 2008.

| Females as at 31 March | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 49 |
| 2005 | 39 |
| 2006 | 34 |
| 2007 | 39 |
| 2008 | 37 |

These figures are based on the court from which the prisoner was received.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Prisoners: Foreigners

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many foreign prisoners were held at (a) HMP Peterborough, (b) HMP Whitemoor and (c) HMP Littlehey on 31 October (i) 2006, (ii) 2007 and (iii) 2008; and if he will make a statement. [237855]

Mr. Hanson: Information on the number of foreign national prisoners in each prison establishment in England and Wales is published quarterly on the Ministry of Justice website at http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/populationincustody.htm.

The following table shows the number of foreign national prisoners held in the three requested establishments as at 30 September in 2006, 2007 and 2008.

| | September 2006 | September 2007 | September 2008 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Peterborough | 119 | 176 | 161 |
| Whitemoor | 65 | 66 | 66 |
| Littlehey | 106 | 100 | 119 |

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Prisoners: Mentally Ill

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what recent estimate he has made of the number of prisoners with severe psychiatric disorders. [237176]

Phil Hope: I have been asked to reply.

No recent assessment has been made. In 1997, the Office for National Statistics survey indicated that as many as 58 per cent. of male and 75 per cent. of female remand prisoners, and 39 per cent. of male and 62 per cent. of female sentenced prisoners met criteria for a diagnosis of anxiety and/or depression. Rates of psychotic illness were also higher than in the general population.

Prisoners: Mothers

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many mothers held in prison had their babies with them on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004. [237688]

Mr. Hanson: The numbers of mothers held in prison who had their babies with them from 1 April 2004 to 1 April 2008, are as follows:

| As at 1 April: | Number |
|---|---|
| 2008 | 50 |
| 2007 | 48 |
| 2006 | 49 |
| 2005 | 45 |
| 2004 | 46 |

Where a custodial sentence has been given, specific provision is made for those women who are pregnant or have babies with them in prison.

Prisoners: Voting Rights

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what steps he plans to take to give effect in UK law to the judgment of the European Court of Human Rights in the case of Kirit v. the UK; [236965]

(2) when he plans to publish the results of his Department's March 2007 consultation on the voting rights of sentenced prisoners; [236966]

(3) what recent assessments his Department has carried out on the effect of extending the franchise to sentenced prisoners; [236968]

(4) what consultations his Department has undertaken with prison governors on the effect of extending the franchise to sentenced prisoners; [236969]

(5) what information his Department has collected for comparative purposes on the voting rights of convicted prisoners in other states party to the European Convention on Human Rights. [236970]

Mr. Wills: I have been advised that in the first question the hon. Gentleman is referring to the European Court of Human Rights' judgment in the case of Hirst v. UK, rather than Kirit v. UK as the question has been typed.

In response to that judgment, we announced we would undertake a two-stage public consultation, the first stage of which concluded in March 2007. The Government have been studying its findings carefully and are mindful of the implications that any course of action may have with reference to the rights and responsibilities of all its citizens. This is a sensitive and complex issue, involving not only human rights considerations with regard to offenders, but also the victims of crime and public confidence in the criminal justice system overall.

The Government intend to publish the results of the first stage of the consultation on prisoners' voting rights in tandem with the launching of the second stage consultation paper. I can confirm that the Government remain committed to carrying out this second, more detailed public consultation, to which people holding all shades of opinion, including those who work with offenders on a professional basis, are invited to respond.

Following the closure of this stage, the Government will make their final recommendations that will be reflected in legislation.

As part of consideration as to the options bringing into effect the judgment there has been consideration of the effect of extending the franchise to sentenced prisoners. This will form part of the second stage consultation paper.

Similarly in looking to understand the impact of implementing the judgment on the Prison Service, operational aspects of prisoner enfranchisement have been the subject of discussions with the Prison Service and the Prison Governors' Association responded to the first stage consultation paper. We will ensure that the Prison Governors' Association will be engaged, along with other relevant bodies, when the second stage consultation paper is launched.

In respect of comparative studies of policies within states party to the ECHR, the first stage consultation paper acknowledged that out of the 41 Council of Europe countries, 18 states allow prisoners to vote without any restriction whereas 13, including the UK, do not. Among the remainder, enfranchisement of prisoners varies depending the nature of offence committed by, or length of the sentence imposed on, prisoners, while in some countries the decision as to whether an individual prisoner is permitted to vote remains at the discretion of the sentencing court. Whatever policy is pursued by other states, Government have a duty to select the right course for the United Kingdom.

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will bring forward legislative proposals to amend the Human Rights Act 1998 to provide for a universal franchise. [236967]

Mr. Wills: The Human Rights Act 1998 contains the right (set out in Article 3 of the First Protocol to the European Convention on Human Rights) to free elections by secret ballot to ensure the free expression of the people in the choice of the legislature. The Government have no plans to amend the Act in respect of free elections.

Prisons: Complaints

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many complaints by prison officers have been made against fellow officers on the grounds of (a) sexual discrimination, (b) sexual harassment, (c) homophobic behaviour and (d) racial discrimination in each of the last 10 years; what proportion of these complaints were upheld; what proportion of those making such complaints received compensation payments; and how much each received. [237049]

Mr. Malik: According to the information held centrally by the National Offender Management Service, in the period from 1 January 2005 to 31 October 2008, at least 82 formal investigations were commissioned into allegations of a sexual or sexist nature and at least 151 formal investigations were commissioned into allegations of a racial or racist nature. Over that same period, there were at least 34 proven cases of sexual harassment and at least 79 proven cases of racial harassment.

However, the information available centrally is not complete. It does not distinguish between types of sexual, sexist, racial or racist behaviour, nor identify homophobic behaviour. Nor does the available information identify how many of these cases resulted from complaints by prison officers against other prison officers.

In order to provide the complete and specific information requested and for the period before 2005, it would be necessary to carry out comprehensive data gathering and analysis across the prison estate. This would incur disproportionate cost through contacting and scrutinising case files with each of the 138 prisons across the Service.

Prison Service Order 8460 (Conduct and Discipline) does not provide a facility for compensation awards to be made to complainants whose allegations have been substantiated as a result of internal disciplinary proceedings.

Prisons: Methadone

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his policy is on the prescribing of methadone in prisons in England and Wales. [237680]

Mr. Hanson: Methadone is one of a number of drugs licensed for the clinical management of substance misuse. The prescribing of methadone in prisons in England is, as with any treatment intervention in NHS, based on individual clinical need following an assessment by a registered health care practitioner.

Guidance on the treatment of drug misuse in the UK is provided by the 2007 Department of Health Clinical Guidelines. They are based on current evidence and professional consensus on how to provide drug treatment for the majority of patients, in most instances. The guidelines have a specific chapter which includes additional advice specific to criminal justice setting, including prisons

The policy for all Welsh prisons and those not currently part of the Integrated Drug Treatment System, is set out in Prison Service Order 3550 Clinical Services for Substance Misusers. For prisons funded as part of the prisons Integrated Drug Treatment System, policy is set out in the Department of Health guidance "Clinical management of drug dependence in the adult prison setting".

Prisons: Overcrowding

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what steps the Government is taking to reduce prison overcrowding; and if he will make a statement. [237010]

Mr. Hanson: The prison capacity programme has delivered over 4,000 new prison places since 2007 and will provide nearly 200 further places before the end of the year. It is anticipated this programme will also deliver over 2,000 further places in 2009.

The programme will provide an additional 20,000 prison places and an increased overall capacity to just over 96,000 by 2014.

Probation: Manpower

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many job reductions there will be from natural wastage in the Probation Service under his Department's Financial Plan for the Comprehensive Spending Review for 2008 to 2011. [236245]

Mr. Straw: Under the agreement reached in the last comprehensive spending review, the Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

We will be working with the 42 probation areas and trusts, the employers of staff in the National Probation Service (NPS), to achieve the necessary efficiency savings. Our aim is to create a front line focused NPS that will enable offender management in the community to be delivered more efficiently and effectively by reducing overheads, duplications of work and seeking economies of scale. Ultimately, the size and scope of any staffing reductions will rest with the 42 areas and trusts who manage probation business at the local level.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236900]

Mr. Wills: In the Ministry of Justice there have been six complaints brought on the grounds of race in the 12 months ending July 2008. Of those, four cited actual racial abuse, and of those, two were upheld.

For NOMS and OCJR, no complaints of racial abuse have been recorded.

The prison service does not hold the information centrally in the format requested. This could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Rape: Sentencing

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average sentence handed down by courts in England and Wales for convictions for rape was in each of the last three years. [236912]

Maria Eagle: The requested information is contained in the following tables.

2006 is the latest year for which annually published statistics are available. Data for 2007 will be published on 27 November.

Number of persons sentenced[1] by result and average length of immediate custodial sentence[2] for offences of rape, all courts, England and Wales, 2004-06

| Rape[4] | 81.8 | 15 |
| Rape of a female | 82.5 | 13 |
| Rape of a male | 74.0 | 2 |
| Rape[4] | 81.2 | 131 |
| Rape of a female | 82.0 | 120 |
| Rape of a male | 68.0 | 11 |

[1] These data are on the principal offence basis.
[2] Months. Excludes life and indeterminate sentences.
[3] Sentences of imprisonment for public protection introduced by the Criminal Justice Act 2003 on 4 April 2005.
[4] Includes rape of a male and a female.

Notes:
1. Persons receiving an indeterminate sentence of imprisonment for public protection for a serious offence would previously have received a lengthy determinate sentence that would have been included in the calculation of average custodial sentence length. These longer sentences are now effectively excluded from the calculation. This may account for the observed decrease in average custodial sentence lengths since 2004-05.
2. These figures have been drawn from administrative data systems. Although care is taken when processing and analysing the returns, the detail collected is subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large scale recording system.

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made of the effectiveness as a deterrent of sentences handed down by courts in England and Wales for convictions relating to rape. [236913]

Maria Eagle: No specific research has been done into the deterrent effect of sentences imposed for rape. For certain types of crime such as rape custody will almost always represent the most appropriate sentencing option as a means of punishment and as a means of protecting the public.

Reoffenders

Nick Herbert: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what information his Department holds on the reconviction rates of prisoners released from each prison in England and Wales in the last 10 years. [238281]

Mr. Straw: At present, data are not available for the reconviction rates of prisoners released from each prison in England and Wales in the last 10 years. The Ministry of Justice is currently undertaking a programme of work to look at how best to produce these data (accounting for the different types of prisons and movement of offenders between prisons). This work should be completed by the end of the financial year 2008-09.

However, information on the rate of reoffending for custodial prisoners is available covering 2000 to 2006, as shown in the following table. The current data demonstrate that the adult reoffending rate for offenders with previous custodial sentences has fallen since 2000 by 15 per cent.

| Q1 | Number of offenders | Number of offences per 100 offenders |
|---|---|---|
| 2000 | 15,727 | 245.5 |
| 2002 | 15,578 | 288.2 |
| 2003 | 14,358 | 279.1 |
| 2004 | 15,761 | 253.1 |
| 2005 | 14,595 | 228.5 |
| 2006 | 14,380 | 208.4 |

The latest reoffending statistics for adults, 'Reoffending of adults: results from the 2006 cohort', were published in September 2008 and can be obtained from:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/reoffendingofadults.htm

UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religion

Kelvin Hopkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what response he plans to make to the UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religion or Belief's report of her mission to the UK (A/HRC/7/10/Add.3). [190523]

Gillian Merron: I have been asked to reply.

The Government welcome the publication of the report on the United Kingdom by the UN Special Rapporteur on freedom of religion or belief. The Government have noted the contents of her report and welcomed the positive statements about freedom of religion or belief in the United Kingdom as well as her recognition of the great wealth of experience we have on this issue. We expect to make a statement at the Human Rights Council in March 2009 in response to the Special Rapporteur's presentation of her report there.

The Government were pleased that, during her visit to the UK in June 2007, the Special Rapporteur was able to meet a wide range of government officials, political leaders, legal professionals, academics and representatives of religious communities and civil society.

The Government, and the devolved administrations in Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, are firmly committed to upholding the right to freedom of religion or belief, including through legislation and policies which address discrimination, intolerance and violence.

The Government's aim is cohesive communities in which every individual, regardless of ethnic origin or religion or belief (or lack of it) is able to fulfil his or her potential through the enjoyment of equal rights, opportunities and responsibilities.

I apologise for the delay in replying to your question.

Unpaid Fines: Sentencing

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many women from Wales were held in prison for non-payment of fines on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004. [237690]

Mr. Hanson: Figures showing the number of women who were held in custody at 31 March 2004-2008 whose sentencing court was in Wales can be found in the following table.

| As at 31 March | Number |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 0 |
| 2005 | 1 |
| 2006 | 2 |
| 2007 | 0 |
| 2008 | 1 |

These figures are based on the court from which the prisoner was received.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Whitemoor Prison

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prison officer staff have contested dismissal through tribunal from HMP Whitemoor in each of the last 10 years; and what the outcome was in each case. [237050]

Mr. Malik: In 2007, the number of prison officer staff contesting their dismissal through an employment tribunal was five. Three of the cases are continuing. In one case the claim was unsuccessful and the other was settled. There have been no cases in 2008. Details in respect of earlier years are not available.

Mr. Moss: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prison officer staff have been dismissed from the service from HMP Whitemoor in each of the last 10 years, broken down by grounds for dismissal. [237051]

Mr. Malik: Records are available only for 2007 and 2008. In 2007, the number of prison officer staff dismissed was 20. Of that number 13 were dismissed for medical inefficiency with seven dismissed for misconduct. For 2008, as at 18 November; three prison officer staff have been dismissed, all for medical inefficiency. Information on earlier years is not readily available.

Young Offenders: Education

Mr. Malins: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether education or training is compulsory for young offenders aged (a) between 15 and 17 and (b) between 18 and 21 years in young offender institutions. [238289]

Mr. Hanson: The Young Offender Institution Rules and Prison Rules provide that, in the case of a young person of compulsory school age, arrangements shall be made for his participation in education or training courses for at least 15 hours a week within the normal week.

The Youth Justice Board require that 90 per cent. of young people in juvenile accommodation (including those aged 15-17) in YOIs receive 25 hours of education, training and personal development activity per week.

Neither education nor training is compulsory for young offenders aged between 18 and 21 years in young offender institutions.

Young People: Remand in Custody

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many supported accommodation beds are available for juveniles on remand, broken down by youth offending team area; [236829]

(2) how many remand foster beds are available for juveniles, broken down by youth offending team area; [236830]

(3) how many beds are available for juveniles detained overnight pending court appearances under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984, broken down by youth offending team area. [236831]

Mr. Hanson: This information is not collected centrally and to do so could be carried out only at disproportionate cost.

Local authorities have responsibility for placement of juveniles on non-secure remand in a range of accommodation based on their needs. The accommodation may be supported, placement in foster care, in a children's home or in the family home. The provision of these places is a matter for the local authority to meet local need.

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what proportion of juveniles who have been remanded in custody or under court ordered secure remand pending trial were (a) acquitted and (b) received a non-custodial sentence upon conviction in each of the last five years; [236832]

(2) how many (a) remands in custody and (b) court ordered secure remands were made in respect of those under 18 years old in (i) youth courts, (ii) adult magistrates courts and (iii) Crown courts in each of the last five years; [236833]

(3) what the average length of custodial remands for children tried in (a) youth courts, (b) adult magistrates courts and (c) the Crown court is; and what the average was in each case in each of the last five years; [236834]

(4) how many juveniles were (a) detained by the police overnight, (b) placed in local authority accommodation and (c) bailed pending a first court appearance in each of the last five years; [236835]

(5) what proportion of juveniles charged with an offence were remanded in custody in the latest period for which figures are available, broken down by offence. [237745]

Maria Eagle: With regards to the proportion of juveniles who have been remanded in custody or under court ordered secure remand pending trial and the proportion of juveniles charged with an offence were remanded in custody broken down by offence, I will write to the hon. Member within two weeks when it is anticipated that the data to address those juveniles who have been acquitted and received a non-custodial sentence upon conviction will be available.

These data are not routinely collated and require five years of data from large administrative datasets to be analysed which is a resource intensive and time-consuming process. It is planned to review the remands data collection during 2009.

The information to answer the remainder of the questions is not readily available and would require individual court files to be examined which could be carried out only at disproportionate cost.

NORTHERN IRELAND

Abortion

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland when he expects the Northern Ireland Assembly will take on responsibility for the criminal law in Northern Ireland, with particular reference to abortion; what recent discussions he has had on the issue; what recent representations he has received on the issue; what response he gave; and if he will make a statement. [237713]

Mr. Woodward: I refer the hon. Member to the written ministerial statement I made on 19 November 2008, Official Report, column 23WS.

I have received a number of representations from interested parties on all sides of the debate on the abortion law in Northern Ireland. The Government's position remains that the best forum for discussion of these matters is the Northern Ireland Assembly when it assumes responsibility for the criminal law. While the precise timing of the devolution of policing and justice is a matter for the Assembly, an agreed process is under way that will end in the transfer of policing and justice powers, including responsibility for the criminal law relating to abortion.

Alcoholic Drinks: Crime

Sammy Wilson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many and what proportion of arrests in Northern Ireland were for drunken and disorderly behaviour in each council area in each of the last five years. [239271]

Paul Goggins: That is an operational matter for the Chief Constable. I have asked him to reply directly to the hon. Member, and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Rochford and Southend, East of 6 October 2008, Official Report, columns 85-86W, on departmental buildings, what the cost of each refurbishment was. [233392]

Paul Goggins: The information provided in the answer of 6 October related solely to offices that were newly opened and requiring fit-out works before occupation. None of these premises required refurbishment.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many external consultants work for his Department. [236653]

Mr. Woodward: 25 external consultants work for the Northern Ireland Office.

Departmental Hospitality

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department has spent on (a) hosting events and (b) bottled water in the last 12 months. [234239]

Mr. Woodward: The amount spent by the Northern Ireland Office, excluding its agencies and executive NDPBs, on hosting events in 2007-08 was £318,176.

The amount spent on bottled water which includes water provided for water coolers for the 2007-08 financial year was £25,777. The NIO has recently reviewed its drinking water policy and decided that where staff have access to tap water which is of drinking water quality, bottled water should no longer be purchased.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work and (b) provide assistance for his Department. [236654]

Mr. Woodward: 13 full-time press officers and one part-time press officer work for my Department.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many page hits from and visitors his departmental website received for the 2007-08 financial year. [236655]

Mr. Woodward: During the financial year 2007-08, my departmental website (nio.gov.uk) had 263,214 visitors and 11,356,942 page hits.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland what the cost of maintaining his departmental website (a) was in 2007-08 and (b) are expected to be in 2008-09. [236656]

Mr. Woodward: The cost of maintaining my departmental website (nio.gov.uk) in 2007-08 was £4,308. It is expected to remain the same in 2008-09.

The estimate for expenditure for 2008-09 is £5,612,000. That estimate assumes a 3.5 per cent. inflationary rise on the 2007-08 position.

(2) how much was spent on his Department's staff's international travel in the last 12 months. [234244]

Mr. Woodward: The Northern Ireland Office, excluding its agencies and executive NDPBs, spent £3,187,123 on travel costs during 2007-08. It is possible to separate domestic and international travel only at disproportionate cost.

Paul Goggins: The Northern Ireland Office, excluding its agencies and executive NDPBs, spent £200,601 on overnight accommodation during 2007-08.

| 2006-07 | 6.04 |
| 2007-08 | 7.33 |

Mr. Woodward: The costs for each of the last six months for the inquiries, apart from the Saville Inquiry, and the HET are shown in the following tables.

Police: Pay

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many temporary advances issued to police officers in Northern Ireland (a) attending courses outside Northern Ireland and (b) performing duty outside Northern Ireland are outstanding; and what the monetary value of those advances is. [237394]

Paul Goggins: That is an operational matter for the Chief Constable. I have asked him to reply directly to the hon. Member, and a copy of his letter will be placed in the Library of the House.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236902]

Mr. Woodward: During the last 12 months, the Northern Ireland Office has not received any official complaints of racial abuse. An equal opportunities and diversity course, which was introduced in the summer of 2007, is currently being rolled out to all staff in the Department. It highlights the importance of treating others with dignity and includes guidance on appropriate behaviour in the workplace.

Saville Inquiry

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much of the cost of the Saville Inquiry has been spent on legal fees to date. [234176]

Mr. Woodward: I am advised that legal costs currently total £98.4 million to the end of October 2008. This comprises £65.9 million incurred by the inquiry and £32.5 million incurred by the Ministry of Defence.

Television

Mr. Paterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department has spent on (a) televisions and (b) receiving digital television in the last 12 months. [234240]

Mr. Woodward: The Northern Ireland Office, excluding its agencies and executive NDPBs, spent £2,415 on televisions in the 2007-08 financial year.

PRIME MINISTER

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Prime Minister how much his Office has spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237481]

The Prime Minister: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave the hon. Member for West Chelmsford (Mr. Burns) on 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 126W and to the answer I gave him on 24 January 2008, Official Report, columns 2178-79W.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Prime Minister what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Office has been in the last 12 months. [238175]

The Prime Minister: Special advisers are temporary civil servants. They have no entitlement to an allocated Government car. Special advisers' travel arrangements are made in accordance with the rules and guidance set out in the 'Civil Service Management Code' and departmental staff handbooks.

Intelligence and Security Committee

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Prime Minister when the annual report of the Intelligence and Security Committee for the year 2007-08 will be published. [238429]

The Prime Minister: The Committee is due to submit its Annual Report for 2007-08 to me by the end of the year. Once the report is received I will make the necessary arrangements for it to be published and laid before the House in the usual way.

Retail Trade: Competition

Andrew George: To ask the Prime Minister (1) what meetings at which the Competition Commission market investigation into the supply of groceries in the UK was discussed he has had since 1 May 2008; [237214]

(2) what meetings he has had with representatives of UK grocery retailers since 1 May 2008. [237215]

The Prime Minister: My officials and I have meetings with a wide range of organisations and individuals on a range of subjects.

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Armed Forces

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what resources the Government have provided for the training of local militias in Afghanistan. [238210]

Mr. Hutton: The UK Government are not involved in the training of local militias in Afghanistan. We do however provide personnel (both military and civilian) and funding to train and mentor the Afghan National Security Forces.

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many contacts there have been between British forces and the Taliban in Helmand province in each of the last 12 months. [230161]

Mr. Hutton: The number of direct engagements (regardless of the instigator) involving the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) and insurgents in Helmand province in each of the last 12 complete months are as follows:

| | Number of attacks involving coalition forces |
|---|---|
| November 2007 | 168 |
| December 2007 | 207 |
| January 2008 | 114 |
| February 2008 | 102 |
| March 2008 | 127 |
| April 2008 | 92 |
| May 2008 | 107 |
| June 2008 | 135 |
| July 2008 | 182 |
| August 2008 | 277 |
| September 2008 | 247 |
| October 2008 | 219 |

ISAF forces operating in Helmand come from a number of different nations which often operate closely alongside each other. These forces also operate very closely alongside Afghan army and police units. Without undertaking a detailed assessment of each engagement, it is not possible precisely to define in every case whether an attack was aimed at UK forces, at our ISAF partners, or against Afghan units. Data are therefore collected on the number of incidents involving ISAF forces in Helmand without attempting to identify the nationality of the forces actually being attacked. The environment also makes it extremely difficult precisely to distinguish between incidents initiated by insurgent forces and those initiated by ISAF.

These data are based on information derived from a number of sources and can only be an estimate, not least because of the difficulties in ensuring a consistent interpretation of the basis for collating statistics in a complex fast-moving multinational operational environment.

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how UK armed forces plan to contribute to NATO's anti-narcotics strategy in Helmand province. [236112]

Mr. Hutton: UK forces in Afghanistan, as part of the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force mission, will support Afghan National Security Forces in targeting those parts of the illegal narcotics trade with a proven link to the insurgency. This support will continue to be provided in response to direct requests from the Government of Afghanistan and within existing means and capabilities.

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) how many of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2006 (a) have received no compensation, (b) are awaiting a decision on their compensation claim and (c) have already received compensation; [236625]

(2) how many of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 (a) have received no compensation, (b) are awaiting a decision on their compensation claim and (c) have already received compensation; [236634]

(3) how many of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured in Afghanistan in 2007 (a) have received no compensation, (b) are still awaiting a decision on their compensation claim and (c) have received compensation. [236638]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Of the 13 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2006, nine personnel have made a claim for compensation under the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS).

Of the 40 personnel who were seriously injured in Afghanistan during 2007, 33 personnel have made a claim for compensation under the AFCS.

Of the 23 personnel who were very seriously injured (VSI) in Afghanistan during 2007, 22 personnel have made a claim for compensation under the AFCS.

Welfare staff at Headley Court, Selly Oak hospital and other units offer advice to our injured personnel on the most appropriate time to apply for compensation.

Table 1, as follows, presents the number of individuals that (a) have made no claim under the AFCS, (b) are awaiting a decision on their compensation claim under the AFCS and (c) have already received compensation under the AFCS. Figures are presented by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan. Figures presented are as at 13 November 2008.

Table 1: Number of claims registered, claims awarded and registered claims pending a decision, by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan

| | Total | No claim registered | Claim pending | Claim awarded |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2006 | | | | |
| Seriously Injured[1] | 13 | 4 | 1 | 8 |

Table 1: Number of claims registered, claims awarded and registered claims pending a decision, by severity and year of injury in Afghanistan

| | Total | No claim registered | Claim pending | Claim awarded |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2007 | | | | |
| Seriously Injured | 40 | 7 | 2 | 31 |
| Very Seriously Injured | 23 | 1 | 1 | 21 |

[1] The claim with a pending decision from a 2006 serious injury was not made until October 2008.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans there are to change overall UK troop numbers in Afghanistan in the next 12 months. [238457]

Mr. Hutton: On 16 June 2008, Official Report, columns 675-79, we announced an uplift in force levels in Afghanistan to bring our commitment to around 8,000. We do not comment on future troop deployments but our force levels are kept under regular review by Chiefs and Ministers as part of routine defence business.

Africa: Piracy

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps his Department is taking to counteract piracy off the coast of Africa. [238141]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Government's stance on piracy has been reviewed. This has resulted in a move to a more proactive posture whereby Royal Navy units in the region will actively seek out pirates, and we have issued them with more robust guidance to deal with any pirates encountered. The Royal Navy contributes to counter-piracy operations through three international efforts:

The UK is already engaged in efforts to combat acts of piracy off Somalia, through the Combined Task Force (CTF) 150, which has established a Maritime Security Patrol Area in the Gulf of Aden. CTF 150 units in this area, including Royal Navy vessels, are actively conducting operations to counter destabilising activities primarily aimed at deterring and disrupting acts of piracy.

Standing NATO Maritime Group 2, including attached Royal Navy units, has also deployed to the region with a mandate which includes counter-piracy. Last week HMS Cumberland, currently deployed with NATO, deterred several suspected pirate attacks in the Gulf of Aden and the Royal Navy subsequently captured and handed over eight suspected pirates to Kenyan authorities.

We have also supported EU planning for a counter-piracy naval operation off the coast of Somalia, and on 14 October the EU Political and Security Committee decided to accept the offer made by the UK to provide the operation commander and the operation HQ (the Multinational Headquarters at Northwood). On 10 November EU Foreign and Defence Ministers met at the General Affairs and External Relations Council and agreed the joint action to set up the EU mission. A further joint action to launch the mission is expected in early December. The UK offer is subject to sufficient forces being generated for an operation likely to begin in December.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what UK forces are stationed off the east African coast to deal with piracy in the area. [238142]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The UK is currently supporting two international efforts to counter piracy off the Horn of Africa and is involved in planning a third. Currently HMS Cumberland is deployed as part of Standing NATO Maritime Group 2 which has a mandate that includes counter-piracy operations and World Food Programme escort. HMS Kent and RFA Wave Knight are deployed with Combined Task Force 150 which is conducting operations to counter destabilising activity in the Gulf of Aden. HMS Northumberland is currently attached to CTF 150 pending attachment to the planned EU counter-piracy mission which is anticipated to start in December.

Armed Conflict: Monuments

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether (a) the Commonwealth War Graves Commission and (b) another organisation maintains a list of the names of fallen service personnel recorded on major war memorials; whether the names of those on the plaques removed by thieves from the Plymouth Royal Naval Memorial in 2008 were independently recorded; whether the stolen plaques have been (i) recovered and (ii) replaced; and if he will make a statement. [238290]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I can confirm that, under the terms of its Royal Charter, the Commonwealth War Graves Commission (CWGC) maintains the official lists of all Commonwealth Service personnel who died in the two World Wars and associated conflicts, covering the periods from 4 August 1914 to 31 August 1921 and 3 September 1939 to 31 December 1947. Outside of this, responsibility for commemoration rests with the relevant Commonwealth Government. The Ministry of Defence maintains the official list of names of those members of the UK armed forces who have died since 1 January 1948.

Records of the names on the Plymouth Royal Naval Memorial of Naval personnel who died in the two World Wars are held by the CWGC. The CWGC confirm that four bronze plaques were recently stolen from the memorial but have all been recovered by the police. Unfortunately two of the plaques were damaged beyond repair and replacements are being manufactured; these are expected to be available for installation by spring 2009. The two undamaged plaques are scheduled to be reinstalled on the memorial in the week beginning 24 November and alterations are being made to the installation arrangements to reduce the risk of future theft. The CWGC understand several arrests have been made in connection with the case.

There are also many war memorials in the UK and more widely around the world for those killed in the service of HM armed forces which are not official commemorations. The UK National Inventory of War Memorials—a joint initiative between the Imperial War Museum and English Heritage—lists a large number of these but does not record the names of all those listed on them. Responsibility for these memorials lies with their owners.

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will make it his policy to support the establishment of a national memorial to Bomber Command. [238572]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my noble Friend, the then Minister for Defence, Equipment and Support, Baroness Taylor, on 19 March 2008, Official Report, column 249, in the other place.

The nation can be justly proud of the bravery and dedication of those who served in Bomber Command during World War II and of the contribution they made to the Allied victory. The Government welcome the appeal launched by the Bomber Command Association to fund a memorial in London and the Ministry of Defence is providing support by helping to ensure effective co-ordination of the various stakeholders.

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence for what reason his Department has not established a memorial to Bomber Command in London. [238573]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my noble Friend, the then Minister for Defence, Equipment and Support, Baroness Taylor, on 19 March 2008, Official Report, column 249, in the other place.

Armed Forces: Deployment

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what percentage of the (a) armed forces, (b) Army, (c) Navy and (d) Air Force are currently engaged in (i) operations and (ii) other military tasks. [237806]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The following table shows the requested percentage of UK Service personnel deployed on operations as at 7 September 2008. The total trained strength figures that were used to calculate the percentage are for 1 September 2008. The number of personnel in theatre will naturally fluctuate on a daily basis for a variety of reasons, including leave (rest and recuperation), temporary absence for training, evacuation for medical reasons, the roulement of forces and other factors.

Percentage of trained armed forces in operations

|---|---|
| Total armed forces | 8.2 |
| Army | 10.7 |
| Navy | 4.1 |
| RAF | 5.8 |

Source:
DASA (Quad-Service)

Other military tasks encompass a wide spectrum of military duties. In its broadest sense this includes all duties carried out by Service personnel.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many UK military personnel are based in Pakistan. [238273]

Mr. Hutton: There are currently 25 UK military personnel based in Pakistan.

Armed Forces: Health Services

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent discussions he has had with Help for Heroes on funding for rehabilitation for military casualties from (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [238258]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Secretary of State and I have had several recent meetings and discussions with the chief executive of Help for Heroes about the range and quality of rehabilitation support available to our military casualties.

We continue to invest in facilities and staff at the Defence Medical Rehabilitation Centre, Headley Court, as well as the Regional Rehabilitation Units, to ensure that the treatment provided to military personnel is second to none. When Help for Heroes was established last year, it announced that it intended to raise the necessary funds for a swimming pool at Headley Court. While the unit already has a hydrotherapy pool and several gyms, the new pool will be a welcome enhancement to the excellent facilities that the unit already has. Furthermore, the campaign to raise funds has offered another very real opportunity for the public to demonstrate support for our armed forces. For these reasons we warmly welcome the efforts of Help for Heroes and of the other charities that do so much in support of our servicemen and women.

We are now working closely with Help for Heroes on a project to build a new rehabilitation complex at the unit, including a pool and gym. Ministerial discussions with the charity have covered that project and related issues.

Armed Forces: Suicide

Mrs. Humble: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many episodes of (a) suicide, (b) attempted suicide and (c) self-harm have been recorded and subject to significant event analysis in primary care since the circulation of Policy Letter 62/03 by the Director General of Army Medical Services, broken down by episodes recorded (i) in the UK, (ii) in Iraq, (iii) in Afghanistan and (iv) elsewhere overseas. [236162]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Since 2003 there have been 36 coroner-confirmed suicides in the regular Army. Of these, 26 occurred in the United Kingdom, three in Iraq, one in Afghanistan and six in other overseas locations.

Between 2003 and 2005 (the latest data compiled), during which time there were on average 111,000 serving in the Army, there have been 626 cases of deliberate self-harm by Army personnel investigated by the Royal Military Police. Of the 626 cases investigated, 426 occurred within the UK, 12 were in Iraq, two were in Afghanistan and 186 occurred in other overseas locations. The information held does not include any clinical information, thus it is not possible to differentiate between acts of deliberate self harm and attempted suicide.

The MOD plans to update the data it holds on deliberate self-harm in the first part of 2009 to include data for 2006 and 2007.

Armed Forces: Training

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the wastage rates from (a) phase 1 and (b) phase 2 training were in (i) each year since 2001 and (ii) each month since January 2008; and how many people left each category of training in each period. [235426]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information is as follows:

Wastage rates during new entry (phase 1 and 2) training

The following table details the outflow from the untrained strength to civilian life for each financial year:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| FY 2001-02 | 6,780 |
| FY 2002-03 | 7,250 |
| FY 2003-04 | 6,940 |
| FY 2004-05 | 5,830 |
| FY 2005-06 | 5,120 |
| FY 2006-07 | [1]6,290 |
| FY 2007-08 | [1]6,850 |

[1] Provisional

The following table details the outflow from the untrained strength to civilian life for each month:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| January 2008 | [1]400 |
| February 2008 | [1]530 |
| March 2008 | [1]620 |
| April 2008 | [1]600 |
| May 2008 | [1]540 |
| June 2008 | [1]610 |
| July 2008 | [1]500 |
| August 2008 | [1]560 |
| September 2008 | [1]360 |

[1] Provisional

For numerous reasons, including instances where there is no distinction between the types of training, it is not possible to specify the separate outflow from phase 1 and phase 2 training.

The wastage rates are constantly under review and a number of initiatives are under consideration, to lower these rates without compromising the quality of outcome. Initiatives include ways to better prepare potential recruits for selection and initial training, and increasing applicants' understanding of the military's expectations of trainees, and the unique aspects of a service life.

Armoured Fighting Vehicles

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence if he will place in the Library a copy of the technical specifications and photographs of the Alvis Vickers Scarab vehicle as evaluated by his Department in the assessment phase of the future command and liaison vehicle competition. [237622]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Alvis Vickers Scarab was a contender vehicle for the future command and liaison Vehicle (FCLV), now known as PANTHER. Scarab was withdrawn from the procurement competition by Alvis Vickers and consequently the MOD does not hold technical specifications or photographs resulting from its evaluation.

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) if he will place in the Library a copy of the technical specifications and photographs of the Glover Webb armoured patrol vehicle; [237623]

(2) how many Glover Webb armoured patrol vehicles were initially purchased; when they were purchased; when they were sold; and to whom they were sold. [237624]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Glover Webb armoured patrol vehicle (APV Mk 1) went out of service prior to the introduction of Snatch 1 in 1992. The requested information has not been retained by the Department due to the time elapsed since the APV Mk 1 left service.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many equipment failure reports there have been for Snatch Land Rovers in each year since 2005. [237805]

Mr. Quentin Davies: There has been a total of 758 equipment failure reports (EFRs) submitted on Snatch Land Rovers since 2005 as follows:

| | Number of EFRs |

[1] To 18 November.

The equipment failure reporting system (EFRS) is the mandated system for equipment users to report failures, such as accidental damage, maintenance-related failures and breakdowns, or the failure of an item fitted to the vehicle. It does not incorporate the results of subsequent investigations and therefore does not differentiate between what might later prove to have been a problem caused by operator error or damage sustained as a result of operations. Nor do these data record the severity of a failure which might have no discernible impact on operational capability or safety.

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what effect the procurement of new utility vehicles announced on 29 October 2008 will have on the Future Rapid Effect System programme. [238752]

Mr. Hutton: The announcement on 29 October 2008 of our plans to provide additional protected vehicles for Afghanistan will have no effect on the requirement for the Future Rapid Effect System (FRES) programme. The protected vehicles are specifically procured for use on current operations, in particular in logistics and other supporting roles. FRES is intended to replace legacy armoured fighting vehicles and to meet the Army's wider requirements for medium-weight capability able to operate across the whole spectrum of operations.

Army: Conditions of Employment

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what regulations there are on the compatibility of membership of the British National Party and service in the Army Intelligence Corps. [238891]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Under Queen's Regulations for the Army 1975, chapter 5, part 14, regular service personnel are free to join political parties, but are not allowed to take an active part in the affairs of any political organisation, party or movement. They are not to participate in political marches or demonstrations.

Army: Deployment

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what percentage of the Army failed to meet (a) harmony guidelines for tour intervals and (b) separated service guidelines in the latest period for which figures are available, broken down by corps; [237809]

(2) what the average tour interval was for each Army corps in the latest period for which figures are available. [237813]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The percentage of Army units (within those corps for which we record tour interval information) failing to meet harmony guidelines, as at 20 November 2008, is 46 per cent. The breakdown is as follows:

| Corps | Percentage breaching harmony guidelines |
|---|---|
| Royal Artillery | 55 |
| Royal Armoured Corps | 22 |
| Infantry | 50 |

The percentage of Army personnel failing to meet Separated Service guidelines, as at 31 December 2006, is 10.3 per cent. These are the most recent data available. It is hoped that Separate Service data will in future be produced by the Joint Personnel Administration system.

The average tour intervals for each Army corps (for which we record tour interval information), as at 20 November 2008, is as follows:

| Corps | Average tour interval (months) |
|---|---|
| Royal Artillery | 25 |
| Royal Armoured Corps | [1]25 |
| Infantry | [2]23 |

[1] Excludes two Royal Tank Regiment (2RTR) as they have not deployed as a formed unit since 2003.
[2] Excludes one and two LANCS due to their amalgamation (1 KORBR, 1 KINGS and QLR) in 2006.

The unit tour interval is a less relevant measure when applied to other corps (such as the Royal Engineers and the Royal Corps of Signals). This is due to the frequency with which personnel move between formed units within these corps (the personnel deployed with a unit will be substantially different from the personnel deployed with the same unit on a previous occasion). Unit tour interval data for these corps are not, therefore, routinely collated.

Defence Nuclear Safety Regulator

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what budget was allocated to the Defence Nuclear Safety (DNS) Regulator in the latest period for which figures are available; how many staff are employed by the DNS Regulator; how many are field inspectors; what expertise is required to be engaged as a DNS Inspector; and what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the (a) skills base and (b) numbers employed by the DNS Regulator. [237106]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Defence Nuclear Safety Regulator (DNSR) has a staff of 23, comprising 20 technical staff, supported by three administrative staff. All of the 20 technical staff engage in (field) inspections and 17 of them are appointed as Inspectors. In addition to the internal manpower costs, DNSR's budget in the current year is for operating costs of £0.2 million. This internal team is supported by dedicated staff in the Defence Science and Technology Laboratory (DSTL) and from industry, for which the budget in the current year is £4.254 million (representing around 35 man years).

The competence requirements for each post are specificaliy identified: they include competence in nuclear technology, safety management, safety regulation and nuclear accident management. All new inspectors joining DNSR follow a training programme, and their competence is formally assessed before they receive delegated authority. The level of skill and numbers required to effectively regulate the defence nuclear programmes is reviewed annually by the Defence Nuclear Environment and Safety Board (DNESB) Chairman, taking account of views of DNESB members and the representatives of the HSE Nuclear Directorate, the Environment Agency and the Scottish Environment Protection Agency who attend the DNESB. This is also considered by the independent Defence Nuclear Safety Committee, who separately advise the Secretary of State for Defence.

Democratic Republic of the Congo: Peacekeeping Operations

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence which United Kingdom military airframes (a) have been used and (b) are planned to be used in connection with operations in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [236994]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth [holding answer 18 November 2008]: There have been no UK military aircraft used in connection with operations in the Democratic Republic of Congo since the recent increases in violence began in the east. At present, MOD has no plans to perform any operations related to the current surge in violence in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; we are therefore not planning on using any United Kingdom military airframes of any type in the country.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what countries have contributed to the UN force in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and how many troops each has provided. [238458]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The information requested is available at:

http://www.monuc.org

and is updated on a regular basis.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237414]

Mr. Kevan Jones: There is no subsidy of prices for food and drink on sale to staff.

Departmental ICT

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) memory sticks, (b) laptop computers, (c) desktop computers, (d) hard drives and (e) mobile telephones were (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each year since 1997. [234088]

Mr. Kevan Jones: As part of its ongoing action plan, MOD is currently undertaking censuses of all IT and digital media as recommended by the Burton report. As a result, some adjustment of historic figures previously reported is expected. However, we take any loss of media storage devices very seriously. We have put in place revised, robust procedures. New processes, instructions and technological aids are also being implemented to mitigate human errors and raise awareness of every individual in the Department.

No centralised records were maintained prior to 2003 and are not therefore available. Figures from 2003 will continue to be adjusted to incorporate subsequent recoveries of items, the reporting of additional thefts and losses and subsequent clarification of historic incidents. The following figures reflect the latest data held as at 5 November 2008.

MOD units are not required to centrally report incidents of loss or theft of mobile phones, and to gather these data would incur disproportionate cost. These figures reflect reports which have been provided where the incidents have security significance or have been associated with the theft of other property.

[1] Up to 5 November 2008

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence pursuant to the evidence provided by the Permanent Secretary to the Public Accounts Committee on 22 October 2008, on the Defence Information Infrastructure programme, who provided the figure of the estimated value of £2.3 billion for the programme contract provided in the answer to the hon. Member for Portsmouth South of 17 July 2006, Official Report, column 210W, on defence information structure; when he was informed that the figure given in that answer was incorrect; what steps were taken to inform the hon. Member for Portsmouth South of that fact; and what steps are being taken to prevent other mistakes in the provision of information to Parliament on his Department's project costs. [236793]

Mr. Quentin Davies: At the time the hon. Member's question was tabled (July 2006), only Increment 1 of the DII Programme had obtained financial approval within the Department and was supported by a contract with the delivery partner. The answer given on 17 July 2006, Official Report, column 210W (which was based on information provided by the DII programme team), was confined to the value of that contract—£2.3 billion. This was in accordance with normal practice, which reflects the fact that giving estimated values for subsequent increments which are not yet approved or under contract could adversely affect the Department's position in future commercial negotiations. The answer was not incorrect. It made it clear that the figure given was the value of the DII Increment 1 contract.

Since 2006, additional increments of DII work have been placed on contract with Atlas, and parliamentary answers on DII(F) contract costs reflect the estimated value at the time, including uplifts for those additional increments. The NAO value for money audit report published on 4 July provides additional estimates of dependent programme costs, and potential DII(F) future increments, both of which lie outside of the current DII programme's approval.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236430]

Mr. Kevan Jones: A list of the Department's surplus land and property is regularly updated and placed in the Library of the House. The details provided include the area of each site.

The Department does not publish details of the estimated value of land that is due to be disposed of as this is commercially sensitive and could influence property transactions. Surplus property is normally sold on the open market with the benefit of competition.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what plans he has for each of the sites owned by his Department and registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when he expects each site to be returned to use. [236438]

Mr. Kevan Jones: On the assumption that there is no interest from other Government Departments or former owner considerations under the 'Crichel Down' rules, the Department sells its surplus sites on the open market as soon as practicable.

Any future use to which the land might be put will ultimately be determined by other Government Departments if transferred after exposure on the Register of Public Sector Land or by the purchaser subject to the rigour of the Town and Country Planning system.

Departmental Press Releases

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many press releases have been issued by his Department in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [238977]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Records are not available for the entire time period. However the statistics for the last three complete calendar years are as shown.

| | Press releases |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 334 |
| 2006 | 356 |
| 2007 | 305 |

It should be noted that press releases are only one part of the press officer function and will not include direct responses to journalist inquiries.

European Fighter Aircraft: Bombs

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence when he expects Paveway IV bombs to enter service on Royal Air Force Typhoon aircraft. [238051]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Paveway IV weapon system is expected to enter service on Royal Air Force Typhoon aircraft from early in the next decade.

Ex-servicemen: Counselling

Mr. Morley: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps his Department has taken to inform service veterans of services available to them, with particular reference to mental health counselling services. [234035]

Mr. Kevan Jones: When service personnel leave the armed forces, their healthcare needs are the responsibility of the NHS. Service leavers, particularly those who have medical problems or who are considered vulnerable, receive advice about the help available to them by MOD welfare services and are given information about the ex-service charities (such as the Royal British Legion and Combat Stress). This is reinforced by outreach events and information from the Department. More specifically, NHS-led community mental health pilots are running at five sites offering a best practice, culturally sensitive, veterans' mental health service; another one will begin shortly in Scotland. The service offers wider support of public and charitable providers and is being linked to the Government's Improving Access to Psychological Therapies programme. A current focus is raising awareness among local health professionals and potential clients.

Ex-servicemen: Radiation Exposure

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the implications for the health of British nuclear test veterans of the research conducted by the Medical Research Council into DNA defects in nuclear test veterans. [236368]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The Ministry of Defence is not aware of any research conducted by the Medical Research Council into DNA defects in nuclear test veterans.

The concerns of the nuclear test veterans, however, are a priority. That is why I have asked my officials to work with experts on scoping a study into the possible links between the service of the veterans and the ill-health suffered by some of their children and grandchildren. The study will need to be sufficiently thorough and robust if it is to have the confidence of all concerned and I am happy that the British Nuclear Test Veterans Association is willing to be involved in this process. We are hopeful that a decision will be made on a way ahead before Christmas.

Future Large Aircraft

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether the basic A400M airframe will be configured to deliver an air-to-air refuelling capability; and what his policy is on whether the RAF fleet will be adaptable to such a capability. [238041]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The basic A400M airframe has been designed with an optional air-to-air refuelling (tanker) capability. The design also includes an air-to-air refuelling probe in order to receive fuel. These are only installed and cleared for use in line with specific customer requirements.

The future strategic tanker aircraft is being procured to meet the Department's currently envisaged air-to-air refuelling requirements. Therefore, while the A400M could be fitted with an air-to-air refuelling (tanker) capability, the Department currently has no plans to adapt them for this role. The Department also has no plans to clear the refuelling probe capability for A400M. The fleet will however remain adaptable to have these capabilities enabled if required.

Mr. Wallace: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what financial penalty clauses apply to his Department should it decide to (a) reduce orders under and (b) withdraw from the A400M Programme. [238303]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The A400M development and production contract, placed by OCCAR on behalf of the partner nations, contains provisions which allow nations to reduce aircraft numbers and provide suitable compensation for Airbus Military. The costs will vary depending on the timing of any reduction.

The contract contains provisions which allow nations to withdraw from the programme. Again, the cost of compensation will vary depending on the timing of the withdrawal.

Notwithstanding the contractual aspects, under the terms of the A400M development and production Memorandum of Understanding, all nations collaborating on the programme are obliged to hold their partners harmless from any associated impact resulting from a reduction in off-take or withdrawal from the programme.

Future Large Aircraft: Safety

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what estimate he has made of the cost of fitting a fuel inerting gas system to a A400M. [237068]

Mr. Quentin Davies: I am withholding the cost of fitting an A400M aircraft with a fuel inerting gas system as this is commercially sensitive.

Harrier Aircraft: Manpower

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what force size of Harrier pilots is required to achieve harmony for 11 pilots in theatre. [236790]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: A total of 55 Harrier pilots would meet Royal Air Force harmony guidelines to support 11 Harrier pilots in theatre. In my answer on 17 November 2008, Official Report, columns 134-35W, I stated that there were currently 12 Harrier pilots deployed in Afghanistan. The exact number of deployed pilots has fluctuated between 11 and 12 depending on circumstances. Inquiries made to answer this question have revealed that the figure of 12 pilots in my earlier answer was incorrect and I can confirm that there are actually 11 Harrier pilots currently in Afghanistan.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Adam Price: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) pursuant to the answer of 17 November 2008, Official Report, column 147W, on Iraq: peacekeeping operations, how many Jaish-al-Mahdi prisoners have been released as a result of these discussions; [239015]

(2) pursuant to the answer of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 304W, on Iraq: peacekeeping operations, whether the discussions with representatives of Jaish-al-Mahdi included discussions on the withdrawal of the British Army to Basra airport. [239171]

Mr. Hutton: Decisions on the disposition, role and number of UK forces in Iraq are taken by the UK Government, based on advice from military commanders on the ground and in conjunction with our coalition partners and the Government of Iraq.

With the full knowledge and support of both our coalition partners and the Iraqi Government, discussions with senior figures in Jaish al-Mahdi in Basra commenced in the summer of 2007 and continued until the end of that year. Over that period, 88 individuals were released from the divisional internment facility. For each of these individuals, the decision to release was taken by the Divisional Internment Review Committee on the basis that these individuals no longer represented an imperative threat to security.

Military Aircraft

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of (a) Merlin HM MK1 and (b) Nimrod MR2 are (i) in service, (ii) in the forward fleet and (iii) fit for purpose. [237071]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The information requested for Merlin Mk1 and Nimrod MR2 aircraft that are in service, in the forward fleet and considered fit for purpose (FFP) is provided in the following table. 'In service' has been taken to mean the effective fleet which covers all aircraft barring those which are redundant, declared as surplus or awaiting disposal. Aircraft in the forward fleet are those that are available to the front-line command for operational and training purposes, including those that are classed as 'short-term unserviceable'. Aircraft defined as fit for purpose are those considered capable of carrying out their planned missions on a given date: these statistics are taken daily and reported as monthly averages.

| | Merlin HM Mk1[1] | Nimrod MR2[2] |
|---|---|---|
| Effective fleet | 42 | 15 |
| Forward fleet | 21 | 9 |
| Fit for purpose (FFP) | 12 | 5 |
| Forward fleet as a percentage of effective fleet | 50 | 60 |
| FFP as a percentage of forward fleet | 57 | 55 |

[1] Data as of 31 October 2008.
[2] Data as of 14 November 2008.

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence (1) what assessment he has made of the merits of extending the life of the C-130K fleet; [237383]

(2) what assessment he has made of the merits of purchasing one or more additional C-17s; [237384]

(3) what his latest estimate is of the in-service date of the A400M aircraft. [237385]

Mr. Quentin Davies: It is planned that the Hercules C-130K fleet, the out-of-service date of which remains 2012, will be replaced by the A400M, which has a planned in-service date of 2011. However, following the recent announcement of delays by Airbus Military in the A400M programme, we are considering a number of options as a contingency to mitigate any potential capability gaps that may arise. Options we are considering include an extension to the life of the C-130K fleet and leasing or procurement of additional C-17 capacity. We are monitoring the situation closely and are pressing Airbus Military for further information so we can make a detailed assessment of the impact on A400M production deliveries and the planned in-service date.

Military Bases: Helicopters

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made of the levels of noise pollution from helicopters in the areas around (a) RAF Benson and (b) RAF Odiham. [237379]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Initial environmental baseline studies have been completed which include estimates of the existing noise climates (computer modelling) at all the sites being considered by programme Belvedere (a programme to rationalise the battlefield helicopter estate of Joint Helicopter Command). The programme includes RAF Odiham and RAF Benson.

An assessment of the potential changes in noise levels at existing and potential helicopter bases is being initiated by the project team. Their assessment will, in turn, closely inform the evaluation of the options.

Ministry of Defence Hospital Unit

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many new referrals to each Ministry of Defence Hospital Unit there have been in each year since 2003. [234922]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The number of referrals of military patients to the NHS trusts hosting the five Ministry of Defence Hospital Units (MDHUs) since 2003 are shown as follows. The data relate to in-patient and out-patient referrals for all medical conditions. Most operational casualties, however, are treated under the auspices of the Royal Centre for Defence Medicine in Birmingham (which is not an MDHU).

| Portsmouth | 4,738 | 4,264 | 4,619 | 4,502 | 4,217 | 2,552 |

n/a = Not available
[1] South Tees Hospitals NHS Trust did not account for referrals to MDHU Northallerton before November 2005.

Nuclear Power: Emergencies

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many (a) departmental officials and (b) members of the armed services are available for mobilisation in the event of a nuclear accident emergency; and what level of training is given to departmental officials on nuclear emergency response. [237285]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The number of civilian and military personnel employed within the MOD's nuclear accident response organisation will vary depending on the type, location and circumstances of any defence nuclear accident. It is therefore not possible to give precise numbers of personnel employed.

All those engaged in the nuclear accident response organisation are fully trained. Nuclear accident response capability is demonstrated on a regular basis to the satisfaction of the Health and Safety Executive (Nuclear Installations Inspectorate) and the Defence Nuclear Safety Regulator.

Nuclear Weapons

Nick Harvey: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether any of the UK's nuclear bombs exploded during (a) the major trials of the 1950s and 1960s in Australia and the Pacific Islands and (b) the minor tests code-named Kittens, Tims, Rats and Vixen conducted at Maralinga, contained beryllium. [237226]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Beryllium was employed in major weapon design trials undertaken in Australia and the Pacific Islands in the 1950s. The UK did not carry out any major trials in the 1960s.

Beryllium was also used in minor trials in the 1950s and 1960s, including some in the four series referred to. It has not proved possible in the time available to determine which individual tests in these four series did involve beryllium.

Sudan: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many UK military personnel are based in Sudan; and how many work with (a) NATO forces, (b) EU forces and (c) other forces. [238274]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The UK currently has six military personnel based in Sudan. Two are in the defence section within the embassy, three are with the UN Mission in Sudan (UNMIS), and one is with the UN/AU Mission in Darfur (UNAMID). The UK holds a further four posts in UNAMID for which three staff officers are due to deploy in the next two weeks.

Tornado Aircraft

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Tornado GR4 aircraft are available; how many were available in (a) October 2007 and (b) each month of 2008 to date; and how many aircraft were unserviceable at the latest date for which figures are available. [236463]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The numbers of Tornado GR4 aircraft in the forward available fleet (FAF) for the months of October 2007 and January to October 2008 are detailed in the following table. FAF aircraft are those that are available to the front-line command for operational and training purposes; aircraft undergoing scheduled depth maintenance, or planned routine fleet maintenance are not included.

| | Average number of Tornado GR4 in forward fleet |
| 2007 | |
| October | 106 |
| 2008 | |
| January | 106 |
| February | 106 |
| March | 106 |
| April | 106 |
| May | 106 |
| June | 106 |
| July | 106 |
| August | 106 |
| September | 105 |
| October | 102 |

In October 2008 an average of 18 Tornado GR4 aircraft were not fit for purpose (FFP). Aircraft defined as not FFP are those considered not to be capable of carrying out their planned missions on a given date; this includes aircraft undergoing short-term forward maintenance and other minor works.

The figures shown are the average for each of the given months, and have been rounded to the nearest whole number. The figures do not reflect the fact that an aircraft assessed as not FFP may be returned to the front line at very short notice to meet the operational need.

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many and what percentage of Tornado GR4s are (a) in service, (b) in the forward fleet and (c) fit for purpose by squadron. [237073]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The information requested is only measured across the entire fleet. The numbers of Tornado GR4 aircraft that are in service, in the forward available fleet (FAF) and considered fit for purpose (FFP) are detailed in the following table. FAF aircraft are those that are available to the front-line command for operational and training purposes; aircraft undergoing scheduled depth maintenance, or planned routine fleet maintenance are not included.

Aircraft defined as FFP are those considered capable of carrying out their planned missions on a given date; this does not include aircraft undergoing short-term forward maintenance and other minor works. The FAF and FFP figures shown are the average for the month of October 2008, and have been rounded to the nearest whole number.

| Tornado GR4 | Number | Percentage |
|---|---|---|
| Number of aircraft in total fleet | 138 | 100 |
| Average number in forward fleet | 102 | 74 |
| Average number fit for purpose | 84 | 82 |

The figures do not reflect the fact that an aircraft assessed as not FFP may be returned to the front line at very short notice to meet the operational need.

Trident

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what assessment he has made, with reference to the Trident submarine replacement programme, of (a) the adequacy of the contingency set aside, (b) the robustness of the calculation of inflation over the programme lifetime and (c) whether value-added tax will have to be paid for all or part of the expenditure on the programme. [237102]

Mr. Quentin Davies: In compiling the initial estimates of the procurement costs involved in sustaining our independent deterrent capability set out in the December 2006 White Paper: The Future of the United Kingdom's Nuclear Deterrent (Cm 6994) the Ministry of Defence followed HM Treasury guidance and the figures recognise uncertainty and the tendency for costs to be underestimated. As the costs mature through the Concept phase, they will capture the interdependent nature of the costs of the different elements of the programme.

Like the rest of Government, the MOD manages its finances so that inflation is taken into account. The figures set out in the White Paper are shown at 2006-07 prices but the Department's internal budgetary planning allows for the impact of inflation. The additional funding that the MOD received as part of the Comprehensive Spending Review 2007 settlement was provided on this basis.

The Ministry of Defence has assumed that VAT will be zero-rated for the submarine platform in the same way it currently applies to the Astute programme. The actual tax treatment of all the elements of the programme cannot be determined until nearer the time the contracts are placed and the precise manner in which we will procure the programme elements has been determined. The associated risk that the current VAT treatment assumptions may change has been recognised in compiling the estimates for the programme.

OLYMPICS

Departmental Early Retirement

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for the Olympics how many employees in her Office have taken early retirement since its inception; and at what total cost. [238965]

Tessa Jowell: Since its inception no employees in my Office have taken early retirement.

Olympic Games 2012: Ministry of Defence

Mr. Mullin: To ask the Minister for the Olympics whether the terms of reference set for KPMG in relation to its report on venue options for the 2012 Olympics included an instruction to hold discussions with the Ministry of Defence. [237719]

Tessa Jowell: [holding answer 20 November 2008] KPMG was instructed to assist in the evaluation of the options analysis including for the use of the Royal Artillery Barracks at Woolwich as the venue for both the Olympic and Paralympic Games shooting competitions. As announced following the Olympic Board on 19 November, the KPMG report will be published but it will be necessary to ensure it does not contain commercially sensitive material.

HEALTH

Alcoholic Drinks: Misuse

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what responsibility strategic health authorities have to manage the performance of primary care trust services commissioning in order to reduce harm from alcohol. [237161]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department's operating framework for 2008-11 describes the business processes required throughout the system to support delivery against national and local priorities, ensure local accountability and drive transformation for the benefit of patients. As part of the operating framework, the Department put in place a new vital signs indicator for the national health service from April 2008 that will measure change in the rate of alcohol-related hospital admissions.

Primary care trusts (PCTs) need to choose, in consultation with local partners, which Tier 3 indicators to prioritise locally. 99 PCTs have chosen alcohol as a Tier 3 indicator. Assurance of this process must take place at local level, between the strategic health authority (SHA) and PCT.

Where a PCT identifies reducing the rate of alcohol-related hospital admissions as a local priority, they will set annual plans to be jointly signed off by SHAs and in the case of any agreed local area agreement (LAA) priority, by the regional Government Office (GO). The Department's teams in each GO will work with the SHA to ensure this process is managed effectively in each region.

The intention is that performance against all vital signs indicators will be published annually. This will allow a local population to understand how well or poorly their local PCT is performing across a range of commissioner responsibilities and will be part of local conversation between PCTs and their populations. PCTs will therefore want to track progress against all the vital signs indicators.

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what he plans to include within the new standardised codes for alcohol-related activity under NHS Connecting for Health; and when the codes will become active; [237163]

(2) what each of the current Read codes for alcohol-related activity is. [237250]

Mr. Bradshaw: There are currently three different versions of Read codes (4byte, Version2, and Clinical Terms Version 3 - CTV3) in use within the national health service in England, and SNOMED CT which is the strategic terminology that is being deployed in new systems. All concepts authored in Read codes are simultaneously authored in SNOMED CT.

A complete list of over 300 published Read codes relating to alcohol-related activity, listed according to the CTV3 preferred term, has been placed in the Library. These codes are available for use now.

All versions of the Read codes and SNOMED CT are published bi-annually, in April and October. To date NHS Connecting for Health has received no further requests for additional coding to support the recording of alcohol-related activity for inclusion in the next scheduled release, planned for April 2009.

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department is taking to improve (a) the quantity and (b) quality of data on alcohol screening. [237252]

Dawn Primarolo: We have taken steps to enable primary care practitioners to record their work in alcohol identification and brief advice. New Read codes for general practitioners computing have been available since May 2008. This enables data to be collected locally and nationally.

Work undertaken in future as part of the recently announced clinical Directed Enhanced Service (DES) for identification and brief advice for alcohol misuse for newly registered patients and as part of Locally Enhanced Services (LES) for additional adult groups in individual primary care trusts (PCTs) can be recorded using the new codes.

Use of the new codes will enable PCTs and the Department to monitor how identification and brief advice is being taken up in primary care.

Asperger's Syndrome: Health Services

Dr. Tony Wright: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what support his Department makes available to adults who have Asperger's syndrome. [236780]

Phil Hope: "Better Services for people with an autistic spectrum disorder", published on 16 November 2006, clarified the nature and intent of Government policy as it relates to adults with an autistic spectrum condition (ASC) including Asperger's syndrome. It encourages people in the social care and health field to develop local agendas for action. A copy of the document has been placed in the Library.

As part of our commitment to meeting the needs of people with ASCs, we announced, in May 2008, a programme of work which will lead to a strategy for adults with autism, including Asperger's syndrome, that we will consult on next year.

Carers: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people over the age of 60 were registered as carers in Tamworth constituency in each year since 1997. [237327]

Phil Hope: I refer my hon. Friend to the written answer I gave on 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1190W, to the hon. Member for Hemel Hempstead (Mike Penning) and the hon. Member for Bexleyheath and Crayford (Mr. Evennett).

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237486]

Mr. Bradshaw: The amount the Department spent on purchasing Christmas cards for 2007 (inclusive of VAT) was £4,478.27. This does not include postage costs which are not available due to some cards being included with other correspondence or being hand delivered.

All expenditure incurred in the purchase and postage of Christmas cards is made in accordance with the Department's guidance on financial propriety, based on principles set out in Government Accounting.

In respect of the cost of Christmas parties in the last 12 months, I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave on 22 October 2008, Official Report, column 367W, to the hon. Member for Hertford and Stortford (Mr. Prisk).

In December 2007, the Department spent £2,755.65 on Christmas trees and decorations. This year's Christmas trees and decorations, paid for in October 2008, cost £2,966.68. These figures are inclusive of VAT.

Information on what agencies spend on these items is not held centrally.

Cognitive Behavioural Therapy

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimate he has made of the effect on NHS costs of achieving full compliance by primary care trusts with the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence appraisal TA97 on computerised cognitive behavioural therapy for depression and anxiety; [237029]

(2) what discussions officials from his Department have had with the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency on establishing a national contract for the purchase of treatments for the depression treatment beating the blues; and what estimate his Department has made of the potential change in cost to the NHS of this method of purchase compared with individual primary care trust commissioning. [237259]

Phil Hope: Departmental officials have recently met with the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency, who are currently reviewing the National Framework Agreement which assists primary care trusts in their local commissioning decisions about purchasing licences for Beating the Blues. As these decisions are taken locally the Department does not determine the cost and volume of licences to be provided. In these circumstances, no national estimate can be made.

However, there will be significant cost savings to the national health service by implementing Improving Access to Psychological Therapies services by reducing pressure on specialist psychology services in mental health trusts and reducing inappropriate referrals made to acute hospital trusts for people with medically unexplained symptoms.

We also expect to see savings to the economy as a whole by these new services making a contribution to helping people with these conditions retain or return to employment, thus reducing the burden on the Exchequer for the cost of statutory sick pay and incapacity benefit.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many treatments of (a) Beating the Blues and (b) Fear Fighter primary care trusts have commissioned through the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency using the National Framework Agreement; and if he will make a statement. [237179]

Phil Hope: Since the introduction of National Framework Agreement in 2007, 55 primary care trusts have commissioned licences for 30,458 treatments for Beating the Blues.

Due to the different pricing structure, it is not possible to provide the number of commissioned treatments for Fear Fighter. The licences sold under this arrangement are unlimited per primary care trust and are based on head of population. The product has currently been taken up by 38 primary care trusts providing the availability to the local population depending on need.

Dementia

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the number of people with (a) Alzheimer's disease and (b) other forms of dementia in each (i) strategic health authority area and (ii) primary care trust area. [237078]

Phil Hope: The Department does not collect this information. However, the Dementia UK report, published in 2007 by the Alzheimer's Society, estimated that there were 683,997 people in the United Kingdom with dementia. The report also estimated that approximately 62 per cent. of people with dementia have Alzheimer's disease and that those with vascular dementia and mixed dementia account for 27 per cent.

Dental Services: Contracts

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the average length of time was between the issue of invitations to tender and the initiation of work for NHS dental contracts in the last period for which figures are available. [237708]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally. Primary care trusts are responsible for commissioning dental services to meet the needs of their local populations and manage any tender exercises required locally.

Dental Services: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many dentists there are per 1,000 people in Tamworth borough. [237130]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the format requested.

The number of dentists with national health service activity, during the years ending 31 March, 2007 and 2008 per 100,000 population is available in table G1 of annex 3 of the "NHS Dental Statistics for England: 2007/08 report". Information is available by strategic health authority (SHA) and by primary care trust (PCT). This information is based on the new dental contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006.

Following a recent consultation exercise, this measure is based on a revised methodology and therefore supersedes previously published work force figures relating to the new dental contractual arrangements. It is not comparable to the information collected under the old contractual arrangements. The revised methodology counts the number of dental performers with NHS activity recorded via FP17 claim forms in each year ending 31 March. This report, published on 21 August 2008, has already been placed in the Library and is on the website of the Information Centre for health and social care at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dental0708

Figures relate to headcounts and do not differentiate between full-time and part-time dentists, nor do they account for the fact that some dentists may do more NHS work than others.

Departmental ICT

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) memory sticks, (b) laptop computers, (c) desktop computers, (d) hard drives and (e) mobile telephones were (i) lost by and (ii) stolen from his Department in each year since 1997. [234086]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not differentiate between stolen, missing or lost equipment, or between memory sticks and other portable storage devices. The portable equipment lost or stolen for the period April 1997 to March 2008 is as follows:

| Financial year | Laptops lost/stolen | Mobile phones lost/stolen | Other IT equipment peripherals lost/stolen | Total items lost/stolen |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 23 | 19 | 38 | 80 |
| 1998-99 | 19 | 19 | 37 | 75 |
| 1999-2000 | 18 | 26 | 30 | 74 |
| 2000-01 | 23 | 43 | 36 | 102 |
| 2001-02 | 35 | 36 | 18 | 89 |
| 2002-03 | 30 | 37 | 27 | 94 |
| 2003-04 | 34 | 29 | 16 | 79 |
| 2004-05 | 23 | 15 | 14 | 52 |
| 2005-06 | 16 | 11 | 10 | 39 |
| 2006-07 | 11 | 18 | 12 | 41 |
| 2007-08 | 04 | 21 | 0 | 35 |
| Total | 248 | 274 | 238 | 760 |

The Department takes the security and protection of its assets very seriously. Its policy and procedures are constantly reviewed and cases of losses or thefts are investigated. As a further deterrent, the Department marks its portable equipment with an invisible forensic dye called Smartwater. The Department's Security Unit continues to raise security awareness and physical protection of information technology equipment among its staff.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work and (b) provide assistance for his Department. [233526]

Mr. Bradshaw: As at April 2008 the Department's Media Centre employed 28 full-time press officers and no part-time press officers.

In addition, as at April 2008 there were five full-time press officers and no part-time press officers working in the Department that are employed by the NHS Business Services Authority on behalf of NHS Connecting for Health.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236423]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department owns approximately 80 hectares of land and buildings that has been identified as currently surplus to requirements. A disposal strategy is in place for each. The following is a list of the more substantial properties with their estimated land area. Their estimated value is commercially confidential. The NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency and the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency do not have any surplus land.

The information relating to the Department is in the following table:

| Property | Estimated area (hectares) |

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236924]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department publishes details of its public bodies on an annual basis. The latest version, Public Bodies 2007 is available on the Appointments Commission website at:

http://www.appointments.org.uk/publications.asp.

A copy has been placed in the Library.

The 2008-09 budgets for the executive non-departmental public bodies (ENDPBs) are:

2008-09 Recurrent Budgets

| | Near cash | Non cash |
|---|---|---|
| Alcohol Education and Research Council | 0 | 0 |
| Appointments Commission | 3,521 | 50 |
| Council for Healthcare Regulatory Excellence | 1,950 | 110 |
| Commission for Social Care Inspection | 41,349 | 15,400 |
| General Social Care Council | 8,529 | 2,158 |
| Healthcare Commission | 45,513 | 3,400 |
| Human Fertilisation and Embryology Authority | 2,405 | 351 |
| Health Protection Agency | 148,943 | 22,700 |
| Human Tissue Authority | 738 | 428 |
| Monitor | 12,657 | 0 |
| National Biological Standards Board | 12,416 | 6,184 |
| Postgraduate Medical Education and Training Board | 1,793 | 250 |

The advisory non-departmental public bodies (ANDPBs) sponsored by the Department incur little or no expenditure and are resourced from within the Department. As a result, information on budgets for 2008-09 is not available.

No decisions have yet been made on the ENDPB budgets for 2009-10 and 2010-11 onwards.

Diabetes: Children

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many children under the age of 16 years have type 1 diabetes in (a) Winchester and the Meon Valley, (b) Hampshire and (c) England. [238275]

Ann Keen: Data on the number of children under the age of 16 years with diabetes in Winchester and the Meon Valley and Hampshire are not collected centrally.

At a national level, exact figures for the number of children diagnosed with and treated for diabetes are not available. However, estimates suggest that approximately 20,000 children are currently diagnosed with type 1 diabetes in England.

Drugs: Rehabilitation

Dr. Stoate: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what assessment his Department has made of the use of the anti-opiate drug buprenorphine/naloxone; whether any assessments has been undertaken of buprenorphine/naloxone where the comparator was buprenorphine alone; and what benefits were detected; [236364]

(2) what assessment the NHS has made of whether buprenorphine/naloxone is regarded as having any advantages over buprenorphine alone in helping patients recover from the physical and behavioural aspects of opioid dependence; and if he will make a statement. [236365]

Dawn Primarolo: The National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) provides independent guidance on public health, health technologies and clinical practice, including the use of drugs by the national health service.

In January 2007 NICE published the 'Technology Appraisal' "Methadone and buprenorphine for managing opioid dependence", which recommended the use of both methadone and buprenorphine for the treatment of opioid dependence. However, this appraisal did not consider Suboxone, a newer product which combines buprenorphine and naloxone.

In 2007, the independent expert group commissioned to develop the United Kingdom clinical guidelines on the management of substance misuse considered the available research evidence on prescribing of Suboxone and the limited clinical experience in the UK. Their considered advice is included in the four UK Health Departments' publication, "Drug misuse and dependence: UK guidelines on clinical management", published in September 2007 (a copy of which has already been placed in the Library), and can be found at:

http://www.dh.gov.uk/en/Publichealth/Healthimprovement/Substancemisuse/Substancemisusegeneralinformation/DH_4064342

As with all new medicines, Suboxone's exact place in treatment is still being established, although the Department's clarification of August 2007 that Suboxone can be dispensed using existing instalment dispensing arrangements may have removed a possible barrier to the availability of Suboxone.

Both Suboxone and buprenorphine are available on the national health service. The decision to use either drug is a clinical one, taken following consultation with the patient about their clinical needs and priorities.

Food: Imports

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what rules his Department applies to the labelling of food and food products imported from (a) Israel, (b) Israeli settlements in the Palestinian territories, (c) Israeli-controlled areas of the Palestinian territories and (d) areas of the Palestinian territories under the control of the Palestinian Authority; whether he plans to make any changes to those rules; and if he will make a statement. [238064]

Mr. Bradshaw: Country of origin information is legally required for certain foods (fresh or frozen beef, veal, fish and shellfish, wine, honey, olive oil and most fresh fruit and vegetables). For other foods, the EC food labelling directive (2000/13/EC) requires an indication of the place of origin of a food if failure to give it might mislead a purchaser to a material degree about its true origin or provenance. These rules are implemented by the UK Food Labelling Regulations 1996.

The Government consider that it would be considered to be misleading to declare produce from the Occupied Palestinian Territories as produce of Israel. We also consider that goods labelled as 'produce of the west bank' should indicate to consumers whether they are buying goods from a Palestinian producer in the west bank or from an illegal Israeli settlement in the west bank. The Government are currently considering the development of voluntary guidance for retailers and manufacturers on clearer labelling on products from illegal Israeli settlements.

General Practitioners

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many copies of his Department's guidance and competencies for the provision of services using GPs with Special Interests: dermatology and skin surgery, have been printed; what the budget for distribution of the documents is; what criteria were used for the dissemination of the documents to (a) commissioners of services, (b) general practitioners and (c) other clinicians and health professionals; and if he will make a statement. [235882]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department's current guidance document, 'Guidance and Competencies for the Provision of Services using GPs with Special Interests', was published on the Department's website in April 2007, and publicised through the websites of the British Association of Dermatology, Primary Care Contracting and other routes. A small number of copies on CD were made available at the launch event. There is no budget for distribution of the guidance in hard copy. A copy has been placed in the Library.

General Practitioners: Pharmacy

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department plans to take steps to minimise variations in service specifications across primary care trust areas in implementing proposals set out in the Pharmacy White Paper. [236488]

Phil Hope: The White Paper "Pharmacy in England: Building on Strengths—Delivering the Future", set out the Government's proposals to strengthen commissioning in pharmacy and recognised that primary care trusts' (PCTs) local needs assessments are a valuable part of that process. It also recognised that there was considerable variation in the scope, depth and breadth of pharmaceutical needs assessments developed by PCTs to identify local needs and that they required further review and strengthening to ensure they are an effective and robust commissioning tool.

To help implement this, NHS Employers has been developing an appropriate support programme for PCTs. Guidance is expected to be finalised in the near future.

Health Centres

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 83W, on health centres, for what reasons he has not asked primary care trusts to assess the expected (a) volume of activity and (b) local demand prior to opening a health centre. [235604]

Mr. Bradshaw: Primary care trusts are planning the delivery and location of the general practitioner-led health centres and the services each will offer based on local health needs assessments and following an affordability and demand planning exercise which includes estimating the volume of patient activity required to meet expected capacity of the new service tendered for.

Health Education

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many health trainers there are in each primary care trust (PCT); and how many people have been helped by health trainers in each PCT in the last 12 months. [237399]

Ann Keen: Figures are not available centrally in the precise form requested.

In April 2008 there were 3,657 health trainers (individuals not whole-time equivalents) employed, funded, or supported by the national health service in primary care trust (PCT) areas.

Data on the number of clients seen by health trainers are not available centrally for all PCTs on a consistent or comprehensive basis.

The following table shows the distribution of health trainers between PCTs.

Number of health trainers.
1. Presently health trainers are not included in the NHS workforce survey.
2. The numbers of health trainers are people but not whole-time equivalents.
3. They are not necessarily employed by the NHS.
4. They are not necessarily funded wholly by the NHS.

Health Services: Foreigners

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how much was spent on providing assistance with health care costs to (a) foreign nationals and (b) higher education students through the HC2 form in each of the last five years; [237397]

(2) how many (a) foreign nationals and (b) higher education students (i) applied for and (ii) received assistance with health care costs in each of the last five years. [237398]

Dawn Primarolo: This information is not collected centrally.

Health Services: Low Incomes

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps he has taken to ensure that the HC1 claim form can be downloaded from the internet. [236484]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department has asked the prescription pricing division of the national health service business services authority to look at how the service for NHS low income scheme customers can be improved. Options being considered include on-line form completion and downloadable forms.

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the (a) change in cost to callers and (b) revenue generated for his Department as a result of changing the telephone number for ordering an HC1 form from an 0300 to an 0845 number. [236485]

Mr. Bradshaw: There has been no change in the cost to callers requesting an HC1 form as it has never been available from an 0300 number. HC1 forms are only available from the national health service forms order line on 0845 610 1112. No income is generated from incoming telephone calls to this number.

The prescription pricing division of the NHS business services authority is currently reviewing the relative costs and benefits of alternatives to the 0845 number currently in use.

Health Services: Manchester

Graham Stringer: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the cost of administering the concessionary scheme for patients when the Greater Manchester congestion charge scheme is implemented. [238055]

Mr. Bradshaw: No estimate has been made of the costs of administering concessionary schemes for patients should the proposed Greater Manchester congestion charge scheme be implemented.

A Greater Manchester National Health Service Transport Innovation Fund Working Group has been established that will further develop the arrangements proposed for the reimbursement of those attending medical appointments. The working group is committed to ensuring that any discount scheme is fair and equitable for people who need to attend health care facilities. The group will continue to incorporate the views and perspectives of NHS organisations from across Greater Manchester and will also progress work on the administration of any reimbursement scheme that is introduced.

The guiding principle will be that administration costs must be minimal with respect to staff time and that technological developments should be optimised to ensure that there is no unnecessary bureaucracy at trust sites.

The people of Greater Manchester will be able to vote on the Greater Manchester Innovation Fund Proposals in a referendum to be held on 11 December 2008.

Health Services: Overseas Students

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) whether his Department plans to review the provision of health care to non-EU students in higher education; [237230]

(2) whether his Department plans to review the provision of health care to foreign students. [237396]

Dawn Primarolo: Students from overseas who are in the United Kingdom for the purpose of pursuing a full-time course of study of at least six months' duration, or a course of any length which is substantially funded by the United Kingdom Government, are currently exempt from charges for hospital treatment. There are no plans to review this arrangement.

In conjunction with the Home Office, the Department is currently reviewing access to national health service health care by foreign nationals. Among other things, the review will consider access to primary medical services for all students from overseas. A full public consultation on this review will take place next year.

Health Services: Overseas Visitors

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he plans to publish the outcomes of his review of access to the NHS by foreign nationals. [236475]

Ann Keen: The review of access to the national health service by foreign nationals, which is currently being conducted jointly by the Department and the Home Department, has taken longer than expected due to the complex and inter-connecting issues under consideration. A full public consultation exercise will be undertaken early next year.

Health Services: Parliamentary Questions

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for which statistics relating to (a) hospitals, (b) maternity units and (c) other health services in England, about which information has been sought by means of parliamentary questions in the current Session, his Department has answered that such information is not collected centrally. [235898]

Mr. Bradshaw: Answers which state that information is not collected centrally are a matter of public record, available in the Official Report, but are not identified separately by the Department in its own systems. Therefore, to check all such answers sent this session would involve disproportionate cost.

The Department maintains rigorous procedures to ensure that it collects the most valuable statistical information. Information collected from the national health service by the Department is subject to a process called the Review of Central Returns. This seeks to ensure that information collected fits with national policies for health, does not duplicate existing collections, and minimises the burden to the NHS. Further details are available on the NHS Information Centre's website at:

http://www.ic.nhs.uk/services/the-review-of-central-returns-rocr

Health Services: Prisoners

Simon Hughes: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment his Department has made of the standard of health care for prisoners in England and Wales in comparison to that received outside prisons through the National Health Service. [237615]

Phil Hope: With regard to England, health services in prisons are monitored on three main fronts.

Within prisons, her Majesty's Inspectorate of Prisons (HMIP) undertake both announced and unannounced inspections of prison establishments, from which reports are produced and progress monitored. Health services to prisoners are included in these inspection visits. HMIP have worked closely with the Healthcare Commission to ensure that national health service standards relating to primary health trusts (PCTs) commissioning of health services in custody reflect the standards expected by all NHS organisations. Both organisations have a memorandum of understanding to support work in this area.

The Department has developed a range of prison health performance indicators to assess NHS standards of services provided in custody to support commissioners to measure these services against those that would generally be provided in the community. These new performance standards were introduced in 2008 across the prison estate with a 98 per cent. completion rate. These reports are supported at the strategic health authority level and allow for local monitoring and service development. The reports also enable comparison across establishments of the same size, same type of prison and same expected activity.

The Independent Monitoring Boards in each establishment provide an annual report highlighting progress and any concerns. Health care is included in this report. Both PCTs and the Department are expected to provide responses to any health issues including any action plans to improve services.

Health services in prisons in Wales are a matter for the Welsh Assembly Government.

Hearing Aid Council

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he expects the Hearing Aid Council to be disbanded. [238864]

Phil Hope: We are working towards the required secondary legislation to allow the closure of the Hearing Aid Council and the transfer of its register to the Health Professions Council in March 2010.

Hospitals: Infectious Diseases

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many health care-acquired infections there were in each primary care trust area in each of the last five years. [237222]

Ann Keen: The information requested is not available. The mandatory surveillance system in England applies to national health service acute trusts and data on primary care trusts are not currently compiled.

Human Papilloma Virus: Vaccination

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many girls in each local authority area have opted out of receiving the human papilloma virus vaccination. [237401]

Dawn Primarolo: The Department does not collect these data centrally.

IVF: Costs

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will estimate the cost to the NHS in each of the next 10 years of mandatory guidance on in-vitro fertilisation produced by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence. [237175]

Dawn Primarolo: Primary care trusts (PCTs) are making progress towards the implementation of the recommendations in the clinical guideline produced by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence in 2004. We have estimated that the cost of funding up to three cycles of in vitro fertilisation (IVF) in all PCTs is in the region of £170 million a year above the cost of the present level of provision. The estimate is subject to considerable uncertainty; it does not take into account recent progress made towards the full implementation of the NICE fertility guideline, for example in the East of England strategic health authority, and it varies with differing assessments of factors such as the number of people seeking treatment in the future and the range of costs of IVF treatment.

Maternity Services: Manpower

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library a copy of each of the most recent local maternity workforce plans submitted to his Department by strategic health authorities. [238537]

Ann Keen: The most recent local maternity workforce plans submitted to the Department by strategic health authorities (SHAs) were interim plans in February 2008 and these plans may have changed following ongoing work with primary care trust (PCTs) and providers. A summary of the local maternity workforce plans is shown in the following tables.

These figures were taken from individual SHA Maternity and Neo-natal workforce plans returned to the Department in February 2008. In addition, 2007 figures do not reflect the latest NHS Workforce Census Data. The 2006 figures are published data from the NHS Workforce Census.

Multiple Sclerosis: Drugs

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the answer of 28 October 2008, Official Report, columns 919-20W, on multiple sclerosis: drugs, what factors his Department considered when deciding not to publish Annex C of the ScHARR report; if he will place in the Library a full copy of the report; how many of the 5,000 patients subject to routine monitoring are still taking any of the drugs covered by the scheme; in which peer-reviewed medical journal the results of the two-year analysis will be published; and if he will make a statement. [237791]

Ann Keen: The Department considered a range of factors in deciding not to publish Annex C of the ScHARR report. These included the commercially confidential nature of the material in the annex. The ScHARR report was submitted to the Department as a summary of the work undertaken on the scheme. We have no plans to publish a full copy of the report or place it in the Library. A great majority of the 5,000 patients monitored in the risk sharing scheme are still taking the drugs covered by the scheme. Fuller details of patient numbers will be included in the forthcoming two-year analysis. Arrangements are being made for the publication of this analysis but it has yet to be accepted for publication in a specific journal.

National Health Service: Telephone Numbering

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether his Department has considered changing its 084 telephone numbers to 03 numbers in the National Health Service; and if he will make a statement. [236189]

Mr. Bradshaw: An information gathering exercise has been completed on the use of 084 telephone numbers in general practice. As part of that exercise, the merits of 03 numbers have also been considered.

The information gathered has been subject to lengthy and detailed analysis before being shared with Ministers, who are currently deciding on the most appropriate course of action. In the meantime, the Department remains clear that it does not expect patients to pay more than the equivalent cost of a local rate call when contacting their general practitioner.

NHS Direct

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what parties were consulted prior to the decision being taken that NHS Direct will not be granted foundation trust status; [237013]

(2) what plans his Department has to review the future operation of NHS Direct following the decision that it will not become a foundation trust; [237182]

(3) what reasons have been given to his Department for the decision by NHS Direct not to pursue foundation trust status; and if he will make a statement. [237636]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department of Health and NHS Direct jointly commissioned KPMG to look at options for a future model for commissioning and delivering a multi-channel health information and advice service to the public. The review also considered whether foundation trust was an appropriate organisational form for NHS Direct.

In the course of the review, KPMG consulted representatives from:

the Department;

NHS Direct;

the NHS including: East Midlands Strategic Health Authority, Nottingham City Primary Care Trust, Birmingham East and North Primary Care Trust, Yorkshire Ambulance Trust, London Ambulance Service, Wolverhampton Primary Care Trust, Trafford Primary Care Trust, NHS Direct Wales, North East SHA, South West Ambulance Trust, East of England Primary Care Trust, NHS Blood and Transplant, Devon Doctors; and external organisations including Pfizer Health Solutions UK.

The review concluded, among other things, that foundation trust status was not the right organisational model for NHS Direct at the current time. The recommendations were that NHS Direct's current status as an NHS trust should be retained for now until financial and contracting mechanisms are reviewed and agreed and foundation trust policy on national organisations is clarified. This does not preclude NHS Direct from reapplying for foundation trust status in the future. All parties agreed to accept the recommendations.

The Department continues its ongoing discussions with NHS Direct about future operational and organisation form, taking into account factors such as NHS Choices and the Government's wider work on digital technology.

NHS: Cleaning Services

Colin Burgon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many operations have been cancelled in the Leeds Health Authority area due to surgical equipment being inadequately sterilised in each of the last two years; and what estimate he has made of the cost of those cancellations to the NHS. [238697]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally and no estimate of cost can be made.

The Government's cancelled operations policy introduced in April 2002 provides an incentive for hospitals to avoid cancellations by giving patients the right to move to the hospital of their choice if they are not treated within 28 days. Since this came into force, the number of operations cancelled at the last minute has fallen from 1.5 per cent. to 0.9 per cent. of elective activity.

Colin Burgon: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the value is of the contract awarded to the private sector company to carry out surgical equipment sterilisation in the Leeds Health Authority. [238698]

Ann Keen: The Department does not hold the information requested.

The Leeds Teaching Hospitals NHS Trust is part of a collaboration for decontamination services with Bradford Teaching Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust and Calderdale and Huddersfield NHS Foundation Trust. Each trust has a separate contract with B. Braun Sterilog.

NHS: Drugs

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to paragraph 3.18 of the report to him by the National Cancer Director, Improving access to medicines for NHS patients; which NHS organisations (a) did and (b) did not maintain that a patient who purchases an additional private drug for a condition is no longer entitled to NHS care for that condition. [237022]

Mr. Bradshaw: Professor Richards' review did not assess whether the existing guidance had been applied appropriately, but instead sought to develop a view on whether it was sufficiently comprehensive or clear to provide a useful resource for the national health service in the future.

Professor Richards found that there was too much variation across the country in the way the guidance was being applied. This is why the Secretary of State issued, on 4 November, revised guidance for consultation which makes clear that patients wishing to purchase additional private care should not have their NHS care withdrawn. A copy of the guidance has been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library copies of all submissions made to Professor Mike Richards' review reported on in "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients". [237023]

Alan Johnson: Professor Mike Richards published, as part of his report "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients", a summary of the views he heard as part of his comprehensive engagement exercise, including a summary of the mailbox responses. This can be found at appendix 2 of his report.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will place in the Library copies of the evidence referred to in paragraph 2.17 of "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients"; if he will list the criteria used to demonstrate cost-effectiveness; and if he will make a statement. [237025]

Dawn Primarolo: I understand that the evidence referred to by Professor Richards in paragraph 2.17 of his report includes appraisals conducted by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) such as NICE's appraisals of the clinical and cost-effectiveness of trastuzumab (Herceptin) for both early-stage and advanced HER2-positive breast cancer.

Information relating to these appraisals is available on NICE's website at:

www.nice.org.uk/Guidance/TA107

(early-stage)

and

www.nice.org.uk/Guidance/TA34

(advanced).

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health when he plans to implement recommendation 1 of "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients"; with regard to what specific steps he will take to publish updated timetables; and if he will make a statement. [237030]

Dawn Primarolo: I refer the hon. Member to the oral statement made by the Secretary of State for Health on 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 131.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the average number of treatments involving the off-label usage of a drug (a) provided and (b) denied to patients in the latest period for which information is available; what steps his Department plans to take to assist primary care trusts to make decisions on funding off-label usage of drugs; whether his Department plans to discuss with (i) the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence and (ii) the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency the funding of off-label usage of drugs; what timetable he has set for implementing Recommendation 4 of "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients"; and if he will make a statement. [237080]

Dawn Primarolo: We have made no estimate of the annual number of such treatments and we have no plans to discuss the funding of such treatments with either the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence or the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency.

The NHS chief executive wrote to strategic health authority chief executives on 4 November 2008 to ask them to review, by April 2009, the way in which PCTs in their area collaborate to support effective decision-making on funding treatments. A copy of the letter has been placed in the Library. Strategic health authorities are now taking this piece of work forward in their areas.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what timetable he has set for implementing Recommendation 11 of "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients"; which organisations his Department plans to commission to conduct the recommended audit; whether he plans to publish the results; whether he plans to repeat the audit; and if he will make a statement. [237082]

Mr. Bradshaw: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State has asked Professor Mike Richards to lead the implementation of recommendation 11 of his report, "Improving access to medicines on the NHS", and Professor Richards is currently considering the best approach to this piece of work. A copy of this report has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Appendix 1 of "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients"; for what reasons his Department did not request that all primary care trusts respond to his Department's survey on the use of exceptional funding procedures; which primary care trusts provided (a) full and (b) partial responses; what assessment he has made of the reasons for six primary care trusts providing partial responses; and if he will make a statement. [237083]

Mr. Bradshaw: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State deliberately set a challenging time scale for the review in order to minimise the period of uncertainty for patients, while still allowing Professor Richards enough time to consider these difficult issues properly.

In light of the need to gather evidence as quickly as possible, primary care trusts (PCTs) were given a tighter deadline for responding to this survey than is normal, and the deadline for responding was over the summer period. This meant that some PCTs were unable to respond. However, Professor Richards was confident that the data collected from the 80 PCTS who did respond fully were representative of the picture across the country. For example, the results of the Department of Health survey are consistent with a survey conducted by the Rarer Cancers Forum, the results of which are set out in chapter 2 of Professor Richards' report, "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients". A copy of the report has already been placed in the Library.

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health with reference to Appendix 1 of Improving access to medicines for NHS patients; which (a) cancer and (b) non-cancer treatments were applied for through exceptional circumstances requests in 2008; and how many exceptional circumstances requests were (a) made and (b) approved for each treatment. [237084]

Mr. Bradshaw: This information is not held centrally. The survey of primary care trusts conducted by the Department to inform Professor Richards' review did not ask for details of specific treatments requested for exceptional funding in order to keep the administrative burden on the national health service to a minimum. Appendix 1 of the report, "Improving access to medicines for NHS patients" (a copy of which has already been placed in the Library), sets out the data held by the Department as a result of this survey.

NHS: Information and Communications Technology

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what (a) hardware and (b) software has been deployed to trusts under the National Programme for IT, broken down by trust; and how much the equipment in each deployment cost. [233290]

Mr. Bradshaw: Comprehensive detailed information on the hardware and software deployed to each trust, broken down by individual trust, could be obtained only at disproportionate cost. Of total payments made to local service providers to 30 September 2008, the sum of one-off payments, representing deployments, and recorded as capital in the Department's accounts, amounts to £758 million.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the unitary cost for each (a) small, (b) medium and (c) large trust under the National Programme for IT is; and what payments local service providers have (i) received and (ii) are owed for deployments in respect of each trust, broken down by size of trust. [233292]

Mr. Bradshaw: The value of local service provider contracts under the national programme for information technology, and entitlement to payment under the contracts, is based on the provision of systems and services that will meet the agreed requirements set out in the contracts. The sums concerned are linked to the type and mix of systems and services deployed at each site as well as the size of the trust receiving the deployment. It is therefore not possible to ascribe a single 'unitary cost' to national health service trusts according to whether they are small, medium or large.

Payments are not 'owed' to local service providers. Payments are made following local confirmation of successful deployment by the trust, when a one-off payment is made. A recurring service charge is paid monthly thereafter.

Of total payments made to 30 September 2008, the sum of one-off payments, representing deployments, amounts to £758 million.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what deployment (a) in total and (b) of Cerner BT has made at (i) the Homerton Hospital NHS Trust and (ii) the Newham University Hospital NHS Trust; and what payment BT has received for the deployments. [233294]

Mr. Bradshaw: Under its national programme for information technology (NPfIT) local service provider (LSP) contract, BT assumed responsibilities for the services already contracted for between Cerner and the Homerton University Hospital NHS Foundation Trust and the Newham University Hospital Trust. Under the contract £5 million has been paid to BT in respect of each of the trusts to take over service management responsibility for the deployed Cerner Millennium systems.

Details of other deployments at the trusts and payments to BT are shown in the following table.

| | System | Payment (£) |
|---|---|---|
| Newham | ESAP | [1] — |
| | MOM | [2] — |
| | PSC | [3] — |
| | PACS[4] | 1,199,411 |
| Homerton | ESAP | [1] — |
| | MOM | [2] — |
| | PSC | [3] — |
| | PACS[4] | 1,018,271 |

1 ESAP (electronic single assessment process): deployment testing has not been completed for either trust, and no payment has yet been made.

[2] MOM (map of medicine): a single deployment charge of £6,975,275 was paid in July 2007 to cover all London NHS organisations rather than as unit cost per organisation.

[3] PSC (pharmacy stock control): this is an additional service commissioned and paid for directly by the trusts and not via NPfIT.

[4] PACS : picture archiving and communications system

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much Connecting for Health paid for the deployment of PACS, broken down by trust. [233296]

Mr. Bradshaw: The deployment costs of picture archiving and communications systems (PACS) provided under national programme for information technology contracts were paid locally by national health service trusts. The Department's expenditure on PACS has been primarily on central development costs and the cost of central data stores.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what mechanism (a) Connecting for Health and (b) the London Programme for IT use for (i) price deployments and (ii) transfer payment to the local service provider. [233298]

Mr. Bradshaw: The value of local service provider contracts under the national programme for information technology, and entitlement to payment under the contracts, is based on the provision of systems and services that will meet the agreed requirements set out in the contracts. The sums concerned are not directly linked to the cost of hardware, software or other supplier costs.

The price payable for deployment of each of the elements of the contracted services is set by agreement with suppliers relative to other elements of the services and to the benefit of that element to the national health service. A one-off payment is made following confirmation of successful deployment by the trust, and then a recurring service charge is paid monthly thereafter.

Funds are transferred via the bankers' automated clearing system following receipt of invoices from the local service provider.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what percentage of the funds for each of Connecting for Health's contracts is allocated to (a) design, development and testing and (b) final deployment. [233301]

Mr. Bradshaw: Payment to prime contractors for systems and services deployed under national programme for information technology contracts is only made after 45 days of live running, and on the basis that no significant operational problems have been experienced. There is no entitlement to payment for completion of the design, development and testing phases.

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health to what extent the payments to suppliers under Connecting for Health contracts are tied to completion of work commissioned. [233772]

Mr. Bradshaw: Payments to suppliers under the national programme for information technology contracts are tied to successful delivery and acceptance of an agreed service. Payments may also be made for the provision of the infrastructure to support the services being delivered and, in line with Treasury rules, to aid with suppliers' capital costs in return for a reduction in the future payment for successful delivery. In that case there is no overall increase in the cost of the services.

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) which (a) Ministers and (b) heads of NHS IT have been responsible for the Cerner systems; over what periods each such person was responsible for the systems; and what meetings (i) have been held and (ii) are planned between the responsible Ministers or heads of NHS IT and hospital trusts on the systems; [235165]

(2) which part of the NHS has responsibility for funding additional costs arising from the introduction and running of NHS IT Cerner systems in hospital trusts. [235166]

Mr. Bradshaw: Under the national programme for information technology (NPfIT) it is the responsibility of the local service providers (LSPs) to manage the delivery of systems and services to the contracted timetables and for the management of their sub-contractors and suppliers, of which Cerner is one. The Department assesses progress against plans and manages the relationship and commercial arrangements with suppliers to ensure that national health service requirements are being met.

Ministerial responsibility for NPfIT over the period has been as follows:

John Hutton: Inception of NPfIT to May 2005;

Lord Warner: May 2005 to December 2006;

Lord Hunt: January 2007 to June 2007: and Myself as Minister of State for Health Services: July 2007 to present.

Day-to-day responsibility for NPfIT currently lies with Martin Bellamy as director of programme and system delivery accountable to Ministers for the strategic direction of the programme and for management of the contracts between the Department and LSPs. Mr. Bellamy took up his post in September 2008. Prior to his appointment, responsibility lay with Gordon Hextall, chief operating officer, from January 2008, following the departure of the then director general of NHS IT, Richard Granger. Mr. Granger was appointed, at the inception of the national programme, in October 2002.

No meetings have to date been held, or are currently planned, between Ministers and trust officials specifically relating to the systems. Responsibility for deployments, including planning and timetabling, lies with the relevant NHS bodies, who agree the deployments with suppliers in line with the suppliers' capacity and their local circumstances. There have been and will continue to be numerous meetings between trusts and heads of IT, including visits to trusts as a matter of routine business.

The local NHS service implementation and running costs of NPfIT systems and services are paid by the NHS bodies which receive and benefit from them, out of normal NHS allocations.

NHS: Manpower

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many NHS (a) nurses and (b) doctors were employed by the South Staffordshire primary care trust in each year since 1997. [237331]

Ann Keen: The information is not collected in the format requested.

The number of hospital and community health services (HCHS) medical and dental staff and nurses employed by South Staffordshire primary care trust (PCT) is shown in the following table. The information is not available prior to 2002.

HCHS: medical and dental staff and nurses[1] within South Staffordshire PCT[2]

| HCHS Nurses | 669 | 724 | 857 | 947 | 1,093 | 1,042 |

[1] General practitioners (GP) and GP practice nurses have been excluded from the figures, as they are not directly employed by the PCT.
[2] South Staffordshire PCT was formed in October 2006 from a complete merger of Burntwood, Lichfield and Tamworth PCT, East Staffordshire PCT, Cannock Chase PCT and South Western Staffordshire PCT. Figures prior to 2006 are an aggregate of these predecessor organisations.
Note:
Data Quality:
Work force statistics are compiled from data sent by more than 300 national health service (NHS) trusts and PCTs in England. The Information Centre for health and social care liaises closely with these organisations to encourage submission of complete and valid data and seeks to minimise inaccuracies and the effect of missing and invalid data. Processing methods and procedures are continually being updated to improve data quality. Where this happens, any impact on figures already published will be assessed but unless this is significant at national level they will not be changed. Where there is impact only at detailed or local level, this will be footnoted in relevant analyses.

Ann Keen: The number of qualified nurses per 100 beds in England and the North Yorkshire and York Primary Care Trust in each year since 1997 is shown in the following table.

The data were collected for the first time in 1997 and figures prior to this year are unavailable.

Patient Choice Schemes

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health which hospitals are not connected to the choose and book system. [237079]

Mr. Bradshaw: All national health service hospital trusts use the choose and book system. Of these, 145 currently receive direct electronic bookings, and 24 are not electronically connected to the system but receive 'indirect' bookings. In this case, booking information is transferred manually on to the choose and book system from hospital systems by trust staff.

Patient Information Advisory Group

Mark Simmonds: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many full-time equivalent staff are employed by the Patient Information Advisory Group; [235184]

(2) what (a) capital, (b) revenue and (c) other funding his Department has given to the Patient Information Advisory Group in each of the last three financial years. [235256]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Patient Information Advisory Group (PIAG) does not directly employ staff. PIAG is staffed by NHS employees, hosted by the NHS Business Services Authority. At present, there are five whole-time equivalent posts supporting PIAG, one of which is currently vacant.

Expenditure incurred by PIAG and funded by the Department in each of the last three financial years, which was for revenue purposes only, was as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 130,640 |
| 2006-07 | 122,458 |
| 2007-08 | 214,651 |

Prescriptions: Fees and Charges

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what percentage of exemption prescription items were dispensed to people aged 60 years or over in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) England in the last 10 years; and what percentage of prescription items were dispensed free to patients in (i) Vale of York constituency and (ii) England in the last 10 years; [237170]

(2) how many prescription items were dispensed to people aged 60 years or over in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) England in the last 10 years; and how many prescription items were dispensed free to patients in (i) Vale of York constituency and (ii) England in the last 10 years. [237172]

Dawn Primarolo: We do not hold this information at constituency level. Based on a one in 20 sample of prescriptions dispensed in the community, the information requested for North Yorkshire and York primary care trust (PCT) and its predecessor bodies and England is shown in the following table.

Psychiatry: Recruitment

Mr. Andrew Smith: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of whether there are enough prospective psychiatrists in training to meet future recruitment needs; and if he will make a statement. [237732]

Ann Keen: Local national health service organisations, supported by strategic health authorities and the Workforce Review Team, are best placed to determine the levels of service and resources required to meet the health needs of the local population.

The number of doctors training in psychiatry in 2007 is 3,479, an increase of 31 per cent. since 1997.

Smoking: Young People

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the effect of raising the legal age at which tobacco can be purchased on rates of smoking among young people. [237227]

Dawn Primarolo: Reducing the number of young people who smoke is a top priority for the Government. We raised the age of sale to 18 on 1 October 2007. It is still too early to assess the impact of the change on smoking rates of young people.

However, data collected in the winter of 2007 following the introduction of the ban showed smoking levels fell from 9 per cent. in 2006 to 6 per cent. in 2007. However, we cannot be sure what proportion of this was due to the additional restrictions on age of sale.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the Government are taking to prevent the purchase of tobacco on behalf of those under 18 years old. [237228]

Dawn Primarolo: Preventing the purchase of tobacco by young people under 18 is one of the Government's top priorities. We recently consulted on the issues in a major public consultation on the Future of Tobacco Control, a copy of which has already been placed in the Library. The issue of purchasing tobacco on behalf of under-18s was raised in the consultation.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps the police are able to take to prevent the purchase of tobacco on behalf of those under 18 years of age. [237229]

Dawn Primarolo: From 1 October, 2007, it has been illegal to sell tobacco to young people under 18. This was an increase from the age of 16. Trading Standards Officers rather than the police have responsibility for enforcing the law on age of sale of tobacco.

Social Services

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what statistical items are centrally collected from local authorities on social care in their area. [235610]

Phil Hope: Statistical returns are collected from local authorities by a number of different organisations as relate to the provision of children's and adults' social care services:

The NHS Information Centre for Health and Social Care (NHS IC) collects information on adult social care for the Department of Health;

The Department for Children, Schools and Families collects information on the provision of children's social care services;

The Commission for Social Care Inspection collects information on adult social care relevant to its function as the independent regulator of those services; and Skills for Care, the employer-led authority funded by the Department of Health, collects information on social care work force.

A table has been placed in the Library which sets out the individual data returns collected by the organisations above in 2008-09.

Following the implementation of the new Local Performance Framework for Local Authorities and their Partners from April 2008, the Department has undertaken a review of its adult social care collections (noted in the table as collected by NHS IC). This review, facilitated by the NHS IC, has been wide ranging and culminated in a public consultation on proposals for the future, conducted under Office for National Statistics rules. The consultation ended on 24 October 2008, and final recommendations for the scope and nature of future adult social care collections will be submitted for consideration by my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State before the end of the year.

Social Services: Haringey

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what inspections the Commission for Social Care Inspection and its predecessor inspectorates have undertaken of Haringey Council's social services department since 2000. [236669]

Phil Hope [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Commission for Social Care Inspection was created in April 2004, by the Health and Social Care (Community Health and Standards) Act 2003, from the National Care Standards Commission, the Social Services Inspectorate and the SSI Audit Commission Joint Review Team.

CSCI is responsible for the inspection of adult social services in Haringey. The responsibility for inspection of children's social services in Haringey transferred from CSCI to the Office for Standards in Education (Ofsted) on 1 April 2007. As part of this process all of CSCI's detailed records on children's services, including those since 2000, were passed to Ofsted at that time.

I am informed by CSCI that inspections of Haringey council's adult social services department carried out by CSCI and its predecessors, were as follows:

2000-01: Inspection of Health Authority Registration and Inspection Unit

2001-02: Inspection of Mental Health Services;

2001-02: Best value review inspection of Learning Disability Services;

2004-05: Inspection of Older People's Services;

2005-06: Mental Health Improvement Review (CSCI joint with the Healthcare Commission).

Responsibility for children's social services lies with the Department for Children, Schools and Families.

Social Services: Registration

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) when he announced his Department's intention to consult on adding further categories of social care workers to the General Social Care Council register; when the consultation commenced and closed; when he announced his decision; and when his decision was implemented; [236544]

(2) which categories of social care worker (a) are and (b) are not registered by the General Social Care Council; and what estimate his Department has made of the numbers of people in each category. [236545]

Phil Hope: From 1 April 2005, it became compulsory for all social workers in England to be registered with the General Social Care Council (GSCC). Social workers and social work students are the only category of social care workers required to register with the GSCC. The GSCC has registered almost 100,000 social workers and social work students to date.

Figures regarding the remainder of the social care workforce are not collected centrally. However, Skills for Care estimate that the remainder of the unregistered workforce is made up of 764,000 care workers, 141,000 other direct care/support providing workers, 131,000 managers and supervisors, and 184,000 administrative, ancillary and other workers.

On 7 February 2006 the Government announced their intention to assess the case for registration of other parts of the social care workforce, and asked the GSCC to begin planning for this. The GSCC held a public consultation which ended in May 2006 and delivered the outcomes of this consultation to the Government. The Government continue to work closely with the GSCC to progress this work.

Tuberculosis

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of tuberculosis were recorded in each primary care trust area in each of the last five years. [237223]

Dawn Primarolo: Data for cases of tuberculosis by primary care trust for 2001 to 2005 have been provided in the following table. Data for 2006-07 are not yet available.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Voting Behaviour: Religion

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what research the Equality and Human Rights Commission has undertaken on the implications for faith communities of proposals for weekend voting. [236755]

Maria Eagle: The Equality and Human Rights Commission has not undertaken any research on the implications for faith communities of proposals for weekend voting.

TREASURY

Bank of Credit and Commerce International

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate his Department has made of the amount of unrecovered local authority deposits in the former Bank of Credit and Commerce International. [236130]

Angela Eagle: According to the liquidators' website at:

http://www.bcci.info/

admitted creditors of BCCI will have received 86.5 per cent. of their claims by December 2008.

Bank Services

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on the use of post offices to provide banking services. [238481]

Angela Eagle: Treasury Ministers and officials have regular discussions with the Secretary of State for BERR and with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Bank Services: Charities

Jim Dowd: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps he is taking to protect the funds of registered charities held by Icelandic banks. [230114]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 27 October 2008]: The Government have put in place arrangements to ensure that all FSCS-eligible depositors in the Icelandic banks of Landsbanki, Heritable, and Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander will receive their money in full. If a charity is eligible to claim compensation from the Financial Services Compensation Scheme, it will be entitled to benefit from these arrangements. Charities not eligible for compensation from the FSCS will be creditors in the normal way.

Bank Services: EC Action

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on action which might be taken at EU level to discourage nationals of EU countries from using offshore financial centres. [237711]

Mr. Timms: There have been a number of recent discussions at EU level focused on offshore tax evasion. The main EU instrument for tackling this is the Savings Directive, together with associated agreements with non-EU financial centres. The Commission has made a proposal to amend the directive, which the Government will be considering carefully. The proposal aims to expand the scope and improve the effectiveness of the directive.

Bank Services: Iceland

Adam Price: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Great Grimsby of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 930W, on bank services, on which dates his Department was informed by the Financial Services Authority of (a) its decision to intensify its supervision of deposit-taking by Icelandic banks and (b) its decision further to increase contracts with the banks. [236211]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 17 November 2008]: As the memorandum of understanding between HM Treasury, the Bank of England and the FSA sets out, the three authorities meet at a number of levels on a very regular basis to exchange information on threats to financial stability.

Bank Services: Public Bodies

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the number of public bodies which use offshore banking facilities. [236310]

Ian Pearson: The Government do not collect this information centrally. However, in line with guidance in Managing Public Money, each public sector organisation is expected to manage its business, including its banking facilities, prudently, efficiently and effectively.

Banks

Mr. Fallon: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he was first informed of concerns about Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Bank; when these concerns were first discussed by the tripartite authorities; and at what level the discussion took place. [235915]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The FSA intensified its supervision of deposit-taking by Icelandic banks (including through increased contact with firms, more frequent visits and enhanced reporting requirements) from the beginning of 2008. As the economic situation deteriorated during the year, and particularly since September, the FSA worked increasingly with the banks concerned.

As the memorandum of understanding between HM Treasury, the Bank of England and the FSA sets out, the FSA informs the tripartite of its concerns on a regular basis.

Banks: Debts

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what level of debt the banks to which public money is committed have in connection with their involvement in the leveraged buyout of professional football clubs. [236047]

Ian Pearson: It is a matter for the management of the banks concerned to release specific business information and updates in line with their regulatory obligations and provide any required disclosures in their audited annual report and accounts.

Banks: Government Shareholding

Mr. Fallon: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what consideration he has given to opening to public subscription the 12 per cent. preference shares in (a) Lloyds TSB/HBOS and (b) the Royal Bank of Scotland due to be taken up by the Government; and if he will make a statement. [235914]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Agreements on the terms and conditions of the Government's recapitalisation have been reached with the banks involved and are available in the House of Commons Library. The terms of these agreements ensure value for money for the taxpayer.

Banks: Iceland

Mary Creagh: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of (a) the number of UK nationals who hold deposits with offshore Icelandic banks and (b) the value of such deposits. [229572]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 23 October 2008]: The UK Government and the Financial Services Authority do not hold such information.

Cost of Living: Barnet

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will assess the effects of rising prices in Chipping Barnet constituency. [237552]

Angela Eagle: A combination of an increase in global energy and food prices has driven inflation higher in constituencies across the UK although inflation fell in October. The Government do not underestimate the effect of higher prices on consumers and the constituents of Chipping Barnet are no exception. The Government have taken action to support people—including cutting income tax to give 22 million households up to £120 for this year and freezing fuel duty.

Council Tax: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 314W, on the Valuation Office, whether the specifications will include the use of geo-data to support the operation of the council tax automated valuation model. [236029]

Mr. Timms: They will.

Departmental Advertising

Mr. Evans: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department spent on television advertising in each of the last five years. [230932]

Angela Eagle [holding answer 27 October 2008]: The Treasury spent £2,991,000 on TV advertising within a publicity campaign running from September 2005 to March 2006 to raise awareness of Stakeholder savings and investment products. There were no other instances of TV advertising in the last five years.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many external consultants work for his Department. [237149]

Angela Eagle: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Holiday Leave

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the policy of (a) his Department and (b) its agencies is on whether leave taken by staff in the period between Christmas and new year must be taken from their annual holiday allowance. [237341]

Angela Eagle: HM Treasury and OGCbuying.solutions staff are entitled to one day's privilege leave over the Christmas and new year period in addition to the public holidays over this period. For any additional leave, staff are required to use their annual leave allowance between Christmas and new year from their annual holiday allowance.

Departmental ICT

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Fareham of 27 October 2008, Official Report, columns 778-80W, on departmental ICT, what IT projects (a) HM Revenue and Customs and (b) the Valuation Office Agency are undertaking; and what the most recent estimate is of (i) the cost and (ii) the completion date of each. [236024]

Mr. Timms: The following tables list large IT change projects being undertaken by (a) HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) and (b) the Valuation Office Agency (VOA) as at November 2008, with their associated cost ranges and currently planned implementation dates.

HMRC and VOA undertake IT change projects across a wide range of their business processes and systems.

Table (b) includes IT change projects managed through the 'World Class Programme' of the VOA, which manages the delivery of business projects that have an IT impact. Projects currently preparing viability proposals have not yet assessed their IT costs.

The tables do not include projects which are making minor enhancements to existing systems, or projects being delivered on behalf of other Government Departments. Costs identified are those relating to the IT elements of business change projects from April 2008 to the expected implementation date.

Many of our IT projects are at an early stage in their development lifecycle, and detailed technical solutions and IT supplier costs are yet to be established. The figures shown below are therefore estimates and remain subject to revision, finalisation and formal investment approval.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237465]

Angela Eagle: HM Treasury's Publishing Unit which comprises of 14 staff are responsible for various aspects of the publishing process including branding, web publishing, design and print production. Branding activity accounts for a small percentage of the unit's role.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been in the last 12 months. [238177]

Angela Eagle: Special advisers in the Treasury are not provided with Government cars.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what external speakers his Department and its agencies have paid since January 2005; how much each was paid; and on what date each spoke. [237606]

Angela Eagle [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The information requested in respect of the Treasury and its agencies is not available.

Departmental Procurement

James Duddridge: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will place in the Library a copy of the names and addresses of each organisation that supplied goods and services to his Department in 2007-08, based on the purchase order data held in the Department's financial database. [222036]

Angela Eagle: A copy of the list of active suppliers, including postcodes, held on the Treasury's accounting system at 28 October 2008 has been deposited in the Library.

Departmental Recruitment

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what criteria are used to assess candidates for non-executive directorships at his Department. [237762]

Angela Eagle: Treasury's most recent recruitment for independent non-executive directors was in summer 2008. Three non-executive directors were appointed following an open competition involving the independent Office of the Civil Service Commissioners.

Candidates were assessed against criteria set out on Treasury's website:

"An individual:

Of undisputed integrity and standing, and of sufficient authority to command the respect of HMT Ministers and officials

A leader: Chair, CEO or head of function in a major organisation; or a relevant area of public/voluntary sector; or a relevant area of public policy involving strategy development

With an interest in the wider public policy debate and in economic and financial policy in particular

With a strong, demonstrable commitment to diversity

Between the Non-Executive Board Members, we are also seeking to replace existing expertise from Non-Executives who are reaching the end of their terms:

A proven ability to lead and communicate change

Experience in financial management and risk management. Previous experience on audit committees would also be advantageous.

Extensive experience and expertise in a field relating to Treasury's remit and in particular the Financial Services sector"

Departmental Secondment

Norman Lamb: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many secondees have worked in his Department since 1 January 2005; from which organisation each was seconded; in which section of his Department each was employed while at the Department; and for what periods each worked at the Department. [237566]

Angela Eagle: The information is as follows:

1. The number of secondees from outside the civil service who have worked in HMT Treasury in the period 1 January 2005 to 31 July 2008 is 79.

2. The employment sectors they were seconded from are as follows:

| Employment sector | Number |
|---|---|
| Private | 41 |
| Public | 37 |
| Voluntary | 1 |

3. The section that each secondee worked in are listed as follows:

| Directorate | Total |
|---|---|
| Finance Regulation industry | 11 |
| Budget, Tax and Welfare | 14 |
| Government Financial Management | 7 |
| Ministerial Corporate Services | 4 |
| Macro-economic policy and International Finance | 14 |
| Public Services and Growth | 29 |
| Grand total | 79 |

4. The precise length of each secondment could be answered only at disproportionate cost. However, most secondments last between one and two years.

David Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people were seconded from the private sector to (a) HM Revenue and Customs, (b) the Office of Government Commerce and (c) OGC Buying Solutions in (i) 2005, (ii) 2006, (iii) 2007 and (iv) 2008. [238397]

Angela Eagle: There have been seven secondments from the private sector to HMRC in 2008 and two to OGC. Information for earlier years is not available. There was one such secondment to OGCbuying.solutions in 2005, two in 2006, none in 2007 and one in 2008.

Driving Offences

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how fines incurred by businesses for minor driving offences are treated for tax purposes. [238056]

Mr. Timms: Fines incurred by businesses for minor driving offences are not allowable deductions for tax purposes.

Excise Duties: Motor Vehicles

Norman Baker: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) for what reason light goods vehicles with lower emissions ratings do not fall into a lower vehicle excise duty band than similar vehicles with higher emissions; [237781]

(2) if he will assess the merits of vehicle excise duty gradation according to emissions levels in the case of light goods vehicles. [237782]

Angela Eagle: Comprehensive data on the carbon dioxide emissions of light goods vehicles are unavailable, and therefore vehicle excise duty for these vehicles cannot be differentiated by carbon dioxide emission levels at this time.

Financial Institutions: Iran

Mr. Hague: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the implications for UK financial institutions of the decision by the United States Administration to ban Iran from undertaking U-turn financial transactions involving US financial institutions. [237360]

Ian Pearson: The U-turn licence enabled Iranian entities to have indirect access to the US financial system—including through UK financial institutions. Revocation of that licence will mean financial institutions worldwide can no longer route payments for the benefit of Iran through the US.

We are not aware that UK financial institutions made any significant use of the U-turn licence, and therefore we expect the US decision to close the U-turn licence will have limited implications for UK financial institutions.

Financial Services Authority: Departmental Responsibilities

Ann Winterton: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer which Department has ministerial responsibility for the Financial Services Authority. [230844]

Ian Pearson: The Financial Services Authority (FSA) is an independent non-governmental body, given statutory powers by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000. It is a company limited by guarantee, operationally independent of Government and funded entirely by the firms it regulates.

This statutory independence means that the Government do not have any control over the day-to-day running of the organisation, but it falls within the policy field for which the Treasury is responsible. The FSA is accountable to Parliament, the Treasury, the public and industry in a number of ways including the requirement for the FSA to publish an annual report on the discharge of its functions and the extent to which its regulatory objectives have been met.

Intellectual Property

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment the Treasury has made of the contribution which industries dependent on intellectual property make to the UK economy. [238359]

Angela Eagle: The Treasury has made no such assessment.

However, a number of recent reports have examined the importance of innovative and knowledge-based sectors to the UK economy, including the Gowers Review of Intellectual Property (December 2006), the Sainsbury Review (October 2007), the Treasury's Economics Paper No. 1, "Intangible Investment and Britain's Productivity (October 2007)", the "Creative Britain" strategy document (February 2008), and the DIUS White Paper "Innovation Nation" (March 2008).

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment his Department has made of the effect of intellectual property crime on revenues received by the Exchequer. [238360]

Angela Eagle: The Treasury has made no such assessment.

Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he expects funds to be released from the Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Bank. [236227]

Ian Pearson: On 8 October, the Treasury used powers under the Banking (Special Provisions) Act 2008 to transfer Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander's Kaupthing Edge deposit business to ING Direct. These depositors are now customers of ING Direct.

The remainder of KSF was placed into administration following due legal process. Creditors will be paid out in accordance with UK insolvency procedures.

Kaupthing Singer and Friedlander: Isle of Man

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what discussions his Department has had with (a) the Isle of Man authorities and (b) Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander Bank (Isle of Man) on the bank releasing the funds held within it. [236228]

Ian Pearson: Arrangements for depositors in banks in the Isle of Man are a matter for the Government of the Isle of Man.

Deposits with Kaupthing, Singer and Friedlander, Isle of Man will be subject to the Isle of Man Deposit Compensation Scheme.

Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings and discussions with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings and discussions.

Non-domestic Rates: Empty Property

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the timetable is for the Valuation Office Agency's review of the effects of the increases in empty property business rates. [235102]

Mr. Timms: The Valuation Office Agency keeps the Department for Communities and Local Government regularly informed on empty property rates, from its perspective of keeping rating lists up to date, but is not itself undertaking a review.

Office of Government Commerce: Finance

David Taylor: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the budget for (a) the Office of Government Commerce and (b) OGC Buying Solutions is for each of the next three financial years. [238395]

Angela Eagle: Details on the Office of Government Commerce's DEL budget for the next three financial years are set out in "HM Treasury Annual Report 2007-08" (CM 7408). Approval for changes to the 2008-09 provision will be sought through the supply process.

OGCbuying.solutions is a trading fund set up under the Government Trading Funds Act 1973 and is therefore dependant on the funds it earns, and consequently receives no central budget for its operations. This means that Buying Solutions must cover its expenditure completely through sales to its customers. While Buying Solutions undertakes rigorous financial planning, its expenditure is off-set by its income earned.

Public Sector: Procurement

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the merits of using British Standards Institution standard PAS 2050 in public procurement. [237744]

Angela Eagle: PAS 2050 is a voluntary standard to assess the life cycle greenhouse gas emissions, GHG, in products (i.e. goods and services). Its development was co-sponsored by DEFRA and the Carbon Trust in response to demand from business. PAS 2050 is a method designed to enable businesses to carbon footprint their goods or services, to know where in their supply chain their greenhouse gas emissions occur, and then work to reduce them.

The Government are fully committed to reducing greenhouse gas emissions in public procurement. "Quick wins" product standards have been mandated for many categories of goods and services. Government Departments are currently working with the Carbon Disclosure Project, a not-for-profit organisation dedicated to understanding the carbon emissions associated with supply chains, on pilots that will provide information to Departments about the overall carbon emissions of suppliers to Government.

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what guidance he has given the Centre of Expertise for Sustainable Procurement regarding the use of whole-life costing in public sector procurement. [237746]

Angela Eagle: The Centre of Expertise for Sustainable Procurement uses the guidance published in HM Treasury 'The Green Book: Appraisal and Evaluation in Central Government', which states that whole life costing (WLC) must be applied in all public sector procurement as part of ensuring value for money solutions.

Research and Development Tax Credit

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how much was overpaid in research and development tax credits in each year since 2000; how many companies were overpaid research and development tax credits in each such year; and if he will make a statement; [231993]

(2) how much was underpaid in research and development tax credits in each year since 2000; how many companies were underpaid research and development tax credits in each such year; and if he will make a statement; [231994]

(3) how many appeals there have been against the (a) underpayment and (b) overpayment of research and development tax credits in each year since 2000; and how many appeals were successful in each year. [231995]

Angela Eagle: The information requested is not available.

Under the self-assessment system, a company makes a claim, in its corporation tax return, to a specific amount of research and development tax relief (including payable tax credit if appropriate).

HMRC carries out a risk assessment into every tax return and may intervene in a particular case. This may ultimately lead to an adjustment of the amount of tax relief given, in which case the company has a right of appeal. Such interventions take place for a large number of different tax reasons, many unrelated to any R and D claim. In many cases there will be a number of relevant factors. To safeguard its compliance processes, HMRC does not separately publish the numbers of interventions in respect of R and D.

Retail Trade: Competition

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what meetings at which the Competition Commission market investigation into the supply of groceries in the UK was discussed he has had since 1 May 2008; [237212]

(2) what meetings he and Ministers within his Department have had with representatives of UK grocery retailers since 1 May 2008. [237213]

Angela Eagle: Treasury Ministers and officials have meetings with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Revenue and Customs: Business Interests

Norman Lamb: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what date John Connors, the Director of HM Revenue and Customs' Large Business and Employers' Customer Unit, submitted an application under the business appointments procedures to join Vodafone; on what date the application was approved; and what conditions were placed on Mr. Connors when the application was approved. [237568]

Mr. Timms: John Connors submitted the application on 19 March 2007 and the application was approved on 8 May 2007. No conditions were placed on him.

Revenue and Customs: Correspondence

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on what date the Chief Executive of HM Revenue and Customs received the letter from the right hon. Member for Birkenhead of 31 October 2008 on his constituent, Natasha Brown; and when he expects the matter raised in the letter to be resolved. [238155]

Mr. Timms: As HM Revenue and Customs did not receive my right hon. Friend's letter, his office was contacted and provided a copy of the letter on 19 November 2008. The chief executive aims to reply within 15 working days.

Revenue and Customs: Fraud

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff at (a) HM Revenue and Customs and (b) the Valuation Office Agency have been investigated for alleged fraud in 2008. [237359]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs employs over 80,000 staff.

From 1 April 2008 to date, there have been 27 investigations into suspected fraudulent activity by HMRC staff. The investigations are for such activity as failing to declare a criminal conviction ranging to fraudulent claims to repayments.

The number of Valuation Office Agency staff investigated for alleged fraud in 2008 is less than five. The exact number cannot be disclosed on grounds of confidentiality.

Revenue and Customs: Manpower

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many staff of each grade were employed at the Inland Revenue and HM Revenue and Customs offices at (a) Concord House, Paignton and (b) Tor Hill House, Torquay on (i) 31 March 2005, (ii) 31 March 2007 and (iii) 31 March 2008. [237943]

Mr. Timms: The number of staff by grade employed at these HM Revenue and Customs/Inland Revenue offices, in both headcount and full time equivalent (FTE), were:

Concord House, Paignton[1]

| Grade | Headcount | FTE |
|---|---|---|
| (i) 31 March 2005 (Inland Revenue) | | |
| Officer | 2 | 2 |
| Assistant Officer | 4 | 2.73 |
| Administrative Assistant | 2 | 1.86 |
| Total | 8 | 6.59 |

[1] This office was vacated in June 2006.

Tor Hill House, Torquay

| Grade | Headcount | FTE |
|---|---|---|
| (i) 31 March 2005 (Inland Revenue) | | |
| Senior Officer | 1 | 1 |
| Higher Officer | 6 | 5.34 |
| Officer | 23 | 22.73 |
| Assistant Officer | 31 | 27.04 |
| Administrative Assistant | 23 | 20.75 |
| Total | 84 | 76.85 |
| (ii) 31 March 2007 | | |
| Senior Officer | 1 | 1 |
| Higher Officer | 3 | 2.16 |
| Officer | 21 | 20.81 |
| Assistant Officer | 33 | 28.94 |
| Administrative Assistant | 16 | 13.97 |
| Total | 74 | 66.88 |
| (iii) 31 March 2008 | | |
| Senior Officer | 2 | 2 |
| Higher Officer | 2 | 1.16 |
| Officer | 18 | 17.81 |
| Assistant Officer | 27 | 23.61 |
| Administrative Assistant | 15 | 13.16 |
| Total | 64 | 57.74 |

Revenue and Customs: Penzance

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how much tax revenue has been recovered as a result of the work of compliance staff in the Penzance HM Revenue and Customs office in each of the last five years; [238039]

(2) what estimate he has made of tax revenue recovered as a result of work undertaken in the Penzance HM Revenue and Customs office during the last five years. [238040]

Mr. Timms: HMRC does not have the available systems to trace back the amount of tax revenue recovered to the work of staff in a particular office.

Revenue and Customs: Reorganisation

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) when he will announce the results of the remaining decisions in the (a) workforce change and (b) transformation programmes; [237794]

(2) what factors underlay his decision to delay the final announcement of his future plans for the workforce change programme. [238263]

Mr. Timms: The remaining decisions on the future of the offices reviewed under the workforce change regional review programme are expected to be announced before the end of 2008.

HMRC will provide an update on its transformation programme in its forthcoming Autumn Performance Report.

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what assessment he has made of the impact which the closure of HM Revenue and Customs offices have upon the economy of the areas in which they were based; [237860]

(2) what assessment he has made of the fiscal stimulus which HM Revenue and Customs offices contribute to the economies in the areas in which they are located; [237861]

(3) what assessment he has made of the effect of the proposed closure of the Penzance tax office on the local economy; and if he will assess the potential contribution of that office to the local economy in the current economic climate; [238261]

(4) what assessment he has made of the fiscal stimulus provided to local economies from HM Revenue and Customs operations in local communities. [238262]

Mr. Timms: HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) draws socio-economic issues to my attention in the impact assessments it prepares when drawing up its regional review proposals. These are important issues but the primary consideration is HMRC's need to restructure itself into a modern and efficient organisation meeting the needs of its customers.

HMRC is organised on national business lines and most offices do not have a direct link to the taxpaying community in which they are located, with the exception of the inquiry centres. HMRC's general expectation is that staff based at offices that are to be vacated will commute to another office within reasonable daily travel.

They will still therefore contribute to their local economy.

Andrew George: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the merits of the proposal submitted by staff in the Penzance HM Revenue and Customs office in response to his Department's workforce change proposals on the deployment of their expertise to expand the Department's repayment compliance project. [237862]

Mr. Timms: All responses received in response to the consultation exercise on the workforce change proposal for the future of the HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) office in Penzance have been considered.

The proposal to vacate the HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) office in Penzance, with the exception of the inquiry centre service which will be maintained in the present building or nearby, was based on the latest plans of HMRC business units, including those of local compliance.

The repayment compliance project carried out in Penzance was a successful initiative which demonstrated that this type of work did not have to be carried out locally.

Revenue and Customs: Secondment

Norman Lamb: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many secondees have worked in HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) since 1 January 2005; from which organisation each was seconded; in which section of HMRC each was employed; and for what period each worked at HMRC. [237564]

Revenue and Customs: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what national processing performance targets were set for HM Revenue and Customs (HMRC) offices in 2007-08; and what the performance of HMRC offices in Devon was against those targets in that year. [237940]

Mr. Timms: Processing has a range of targets. The main ones for the PAYE/SA business are:

| Activity | Target (percentage) |
|---|---|
| PAYE Quality | 93 |
| SA Quality | 97 |
| Post Quality (40 days) | 90 |
| Post - 15 day turnaround | 80 |
| Post - 40 day turnaround | 95 |

Separate figures are not reported for individual offices.

Tax Credit

Bob Russell: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many tax credit cases are awaiting a decision by the Adjudicator's Office; what the target time for a decision to be made is; what the (a) length of the longest time and (b) average time taken to reach a decision has been in each year since its inception; and if he will make a statement. [238339]

Mr. Timms: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer my predecessor gave my hon. Friend the Member for Stroud (Mr. Drew) on 25 June 2008, Official Report, column 388W, and the answer I gave the hon. Member for North Thanet (Mr. Gale) on 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1196W.

Taxation: Companies

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what estimate his Department has made of the number of (a) limited liability companies, (b) partnerships and (c) self-employed individuals that were liable for late payment interest charges levied by HM Revenue and Customs in each of the last four years in respect of (i) main rate corporation tax, (ii) marginal small company rate corporation tax, (iii) small companies' rate corporation tax, (iv) VAT, (v) income tax and (vi) national insurance contributions; and what the projected figures for (A) 2008-09 and (B) 2009-10 are; [238834]

(2) what estimate his Department has made of the monetary value of late payment interest charges levied by HM Revenue and Customs on (a) limited liability companies, (b) partnerships and (c) self-employed individuals in each of the last four years in respect of (i) main rate corporation tax, (ii) marginal small company rate corporation tax, (iii) small companies' rate corporation tax, (iv) VAT, (v) income tax and (vi) national insurance contributions; and what the projected figures for (A) 2008-09 and (B) 2009-10 are; [238835]

(3) what estimate his Department has made of the number of late payment interest charges levied by HM Revenue and Customs on (a) limited liability companies, (b) partnerships and (c) self-employed individuals in each of the last four years in respect of (i) main rate corporation tax, (ii) marginal small company rate corporation tax, (iii) small companies' rate corporation tax, (iv) VAT, (v) income tax and (vi) national insurance contributions; and what the projected figures for (A) 2008-09 and (B) 2009-10 are. [238836]

Mr. Timms: The information requested is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Taxation: Pensioners

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many pensioners not eligible for pension credit have experienced a net reduction in their income following the removal of the 10 per cent. tax band and the subsequent increase of the tax-free allowance. [237946]

Mr. Timms: A breakdown of the 1.1 million households that experienced a net reduction in their income from the personal tax measures is provided in the Treasury's memorandum to the Treasury Select Committee as part of their inquiry into "Budget measures and low income households".

Taxation: Prisoners

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether the Prison Service ruling that prisoners may not be employed and pay tax applies to prisoners in open prisons. [237296]

Mr. Timms: Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs takes the view that because prisoners working inside prisons, whatever the category of prison, are working under prison rules, they cannot be treated as employees for tax and NICs purposes.

Taxation: Rehabilitation

Mr. Harper: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) what estimate he has made of the tax revenue received from taxation of rehabilitation services provided by employers to employees where the injury was sustained outside the workplace in the last financial year; [238789]

(2) what the tax treatment is of rehabilitation services for employees provided by employers for (a) the employer and (b) the employee in (i) cases where the injury is sustained in the workplace and (ii) cases where the injury is sustained outside the workplace. [238790]

Mr. Timms: No estimate has been made of the tax revenue received from the taxation of payments made by employers to cover costs of injuries suffered by their employees outside the workplace. Employers are not required to report to HMRC the reason for providing their employees with taxable private medical treatment.

Where an injury or condition derives directly from an employee carrying out his or her duties or in the case of other accidents or conditions that derive solely from the employee carrying out his or her job, the cost of the treatment paid for by their employer, including rehabilitation services, would not be subject to tax or national insurance contributions.

But where the injury or condition does not directly arise from the employee performing the duties of the job, the cost of treatment paid for by the employer will be subject to tax and to employer's class 1A national insurance contributions.

Taxation: Self-assessment

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer on which dates since September 2008 the HM Revenue and Customs online self-assessment tax pages have not had a full service available; for how long on each occasion; and if he will make a statement. [236799]

Mr. Timms [holding answer 18 November 2008]: HMRC's online services—including the Self Assessment service—are not available when HMRC and/or the Government Gateway need to upgrade their online systems. The Self Assessment service was not available on the following dates since September 2008:

1-2 September from 20.00 to 05.15, a total of nine hours and 15 minutes.

5-8 September from 19.30 to 06.00, a total of 58 hours and 30 minutes.

10 September from 0.00 to 06.00, a total of six hours.

6 October from 02.00 to 05.00, a total of three hours.

9 October from 22.04 to 22.18, a total of 14 minutes.

17-18 October from 20.00 to 01.33, a total of five hours and 33 minutes.

24-27 October from 06.00 to 6.00, a total of 72 hours.

30 October from 22.00 to 23.30, a total of one hour and 30 minutes.

1 November from 02.00 to 22.00, a total of 20 hours.

6-7 November from 27.53 to 8.20, a total of eight hours and 27 minutes.

10 November from 06.30 to 10.15, a total of three hours and 45 minutes.

11-12 November from 22.00 to 04.20, a total of six hours and 20 minutes.

The majority of downtime is scheduled to minimise impact on customers, for example overnight, and to avoid peak times such as the lead up to the online Self Assessment filing deadline. HMRC warns its customers in advance of such downtime.

Justine Greening: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many upgrades of the HM Revenue and Customs online self-assessment tax form have been made to the system since September 2008; when such upgrades were made; for how long the online form was unavailable as a result of the upgrades; and if he will make a statement. [236800]

Mr. Timms: Since September 2008 there have been two upgrades to the HM Revenue and Customs online Self Assessment service which have resulted in the service being temporarily unavailable.

The first took place on 1-2 of September and totalled nine hours and 15 minutes. The second occurred on 24-27 October and totalled 72 hours.

HMRC's customers are informed in advance of the downtime caused by upgrades; it is scheduled to minimise impact on customers, for example overnight, and to avoid peak times such as the lead up to the online Self Assessment filing deadline.

Valuation Office: Databases

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 684W, on Valuation Office: databases, if he will place in the Library a copy of the guidance given to staff on how the database alignment exercise should be conducted. [236030]

Mr. Timms: The specification for the Valuation Office Agency's GIS will not be finalised until December 2009. The go live date will be determined during the specification process. The VOA's GIS will cover England and Wales.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 314W, on the Valuation Office, if he will place in the Library a copy of the invitation to tender with commercially sensitive elements redacted. [236032]

Valuation Office: Northern Ireland Land and Property Services

Mrs. Lait: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 7 July 2008, Official Report, column 1266W, on the Valuation Office: Northern Ireland Land and Property Services, if he will place in the Library copies of the minutes of the Steering Committee on Harmonisation in respect of each of the meetings listed in the answer. [222896]

Mr. Timms: A copy of the minutes of the 45th and 46th meetings of the Steering Committee on Harmonisation (Practice and Procedure) England Wales, Scotland, Northern Ireland and the Republic of Ireland held on 8-9 May 2007 in Belfast and 6-7 November 2007 in London have been placed in the Library. There were no minutes from the other meetings.

Valuation Office: Rightmove

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much the Valuation Office Agency, or HM Revenue and Customs on its behalf, will pay to rightmove.co.uk plc in respect of 2008-09. [236183]

Mr. Timms: Terms for an extension to the contract with Rightmove are being finalised. Payments to third parties will be published in the Valuation Office Agency's Report and Accounts in due course.

Valuation Office: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what national targets have been set for the Valuation Office Agency (VOA); and what the performance of VOA offices in the South West Region against these targets was in 2007-08. [237935]

Mr. Timms: Within the South West Region, the Valuation Office Agency's structure during 2007-08 comprised the South West and Western Groups covering local taxation work, and the South West District Valuer Services Unit covering other work. The national targets set by my right hon. Friend the former Paymaster General for 2007-08 and announced to the House on 26 March 2007 together with the audited results (which are available on the Agency's website at: www.voa.gov.uk) are shown as follows alongside the individual outturns for the South West Region.

My predecessor announced to the House on 15 May 2008 the following national targets for the Agency for 2008-09. They are available at:

http://www.voa.gov.uk/publications/forward_plan/Forward_Plan_2008-11.pdf

Valuation: Licensed Premises

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 14 May 2008, Official Report, column 1625W, on valuation: licensed premises, if he will place in the Library a copy of the updated manual on valuing licensed premises. [23501]

Mr. Timms: The latest version of the Rating Manual is available on the Valuation Office Agency's website at:

www.voa.gov.uk

This includes updated sections on licensed properties in preparation for the 2010 revaluation, these are:

Rating Manual Volume 5: Section 825: Practice Note 2010;

Rating Manual Volume 5 Section 825: Public Houses, Licensed Restaurants and Wine Bars—Practice Note 1: 2010: Appendix 1: Approved Guide to Valuation; and

Rating Manual Volume 5 Section 825: Public Houses, Licensed Restaurants and Wine Bars—Practice Note 1: 2010: Appendix 2

These are accessible at:

http://www.voa.gov.uk/instructions/chapters/rating_manual/vol5/sect825/frame.htm

VAT: Bingo

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) on what grounds HM Revenue and Customs is contesting the recent ruling relating to overpaid VAT on interval games of bingo; and if he will make a statement. [23769?]

(2) what assessment he has made of the implications of the recent HM Revenue and Customs Tribunal on the application of VAT on games of interval bingo. [23795?]

Mr. Timms: Considerations of taxpayer confidentiality prevent HM Revenue and Customs from disclosing its grounds of appeal in the recent case, or its assessment of the implications of the Tribunal decision, neither of which are in the public domain.

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the implications of the European Court of Justice ruling on Linneweber for the tax treatment of licensed bingo. [23795?]

Angela Eagle: HM Revenue and Customs does not consider that the judgment has any implications for the tax treatment of bingo in the UK. It does not accept that there is any actual or potential distortion of competition in the UK caused by the different tax treatments and accordingly no breach of the principle of fiscal neutrality. This decision is being appealed in the High Court.

VAT: Energy

Mr. Francois: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the answer of 7 July 2008, Official Report, column 1267W, on VAT: lighting, what progress he has made at EU level on his proposals for wider application of reduced value added tax rates to energy saving and energy efficient products; and if he will make a statement. [23759?]

Mr. Timms: In response to a joint proposal from the UK and France for a reduced rate of VAT on energy-efficient products and energy-saving materials, and following the Conclusions of the Spring European Council, the European Commission has launched an external study to examine the economic effects of such measures. The Government's current understanding is that this study will be concluded within the coming months.

Welfare Tax Credits: Overpayments

Jenny Willott: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer (1) how much was recovered by his Department in overpaid tax credits following court cases in each (a) month of 2008-09 to date and (b) year from 2003-04 to 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [230485]

(2) how much, on average, his Department clawed back per case of tax credits overpayment taken to court in each (a) month of 2008-09 and (b) of the last five financial years; and if he will make a statement. [231026]

Mr. Timms: The information requested is not available. Departmental records do not link sums recovered with individual court cases.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Climate Change: Conferences

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what his Department's objectives are for the United Nations Climate Change Conference in Poznan; what discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Environment and Climate Change about the conference; whether a Minister from his Department will be part of the Government's delegation; and if he will make a statement. [234961]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Officials from the Department for International Development (DFID) will be attending the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) talks in Poznan as members of the UK delegation. DFID officials jointly lead for the UK on adaptation policy and on climate financing. The UK will be represented at ministerial level by the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change, Ed Miliband, and Parliamentary Under Secretary of State, Joan Ruddock.

The Poznan meeting is an important staging post en route to the Copenhagen meeting at the end of 2009, where we hope to secure global agreement on a long-term framework for addressing climate change that enables us to avoid dangerous climate change. Poznan should mark a turning point from the 'year of ideas' to the 'year of negotiations'. We will therefore be looking for commitment from all parties to move into full negotiating mode in 2009.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236927]

Mr. Thomas: The Department for International Development's (DFID) only non-departmental public body (NDPB) is the Commonwealth Scholarship Commission (CSC), which was established by Act of Parliament in 1959.

The Commonwealth Scholarship Commission is responsible for managing the UK's contribution to the Commonwealth Scholarship and Fellowship Plan (CSFP), an international programme under which all Commonwealth governments offer scholarships and fellowships to citizens of other Commonwealth countries.

The budget that has been set for the CSC is £15.93 million for 2008-09, £17.43 million for 2009-10 and £17.5 million for 2010-11.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development with reference to the answer to the hon. Member for Selby of 6 February 2007, Official Report, column 767W, on public relations, what expenditure (a) his Department and (b) CDC has incurred on public affairs firms since 2002. [239173]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development's (DFID) central data management system does not currently hold information on public affairs as a separate category. It would therefore not be possible to provide the requested information for either DFID or CDC without incurring disproportionate cost.

A list of contracts awarded by DFID since January 2005 is available on DFID's website http://www.dfid.gov.uk/procurement/contractslet.asp.

This includes the contract title, which provides an indication of the nature of work being carried out. The information published on our website does not include lower value contracts issued by DFID departments or overseas offices under delegated authority.

Djibouti: Overseas Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much UK aid was given to Djibouti in (a) 1997, (b) 2001 and (c) 2005. [237020]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: Details on UK aid to Djibouti since 1997-98 are laid out in the following table.

Total UK gross public expenditure on development (GPEX) to Djibouti, 1997-98 to 2007-08

£000

The 2006-07 and 2007-08 bilateral data in the above table are estimates of the value of DFID funding to the Education Fast Track Initiative (FTI) allocated to Djibouti. This allocation is based on the breakdown of expenditure reported by the FTI.

EU Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what the UK contribution to the EU international aid budget was in (a) 2004, (b) 2005, (c) 2006 and (d) 2007. [237019]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Details on the UK's contribution to the European Commission's (EC's) development programme are laid out in the following table.

UK contribution to the EC's development programme, 2004-05 to 2007-08

India: Overseas Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what plans he has for the future level of UK aid to India. [237180]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: With 456 million poor people living on less than $1.25 a day (the international poverty line), India is home to one-third of the world's poor. With such large numbers living in destitution, the world cannot make headway on poverty without tackling it in India. For this reason, the UK remains committed to its development programme in India. Currently there are no plans to decrease aid to India.

North Africa: EU Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions he has had with the European Commission on plans to increase EU aid to (a) Morocco, (b) Algeria, (c) Libya and (d) Egypt. [237027]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The European Neighbourhood and Partnership Instrument (ENPI) represents the majority of the European Commission's aid to Morocco, Algeria, Libya and Egypt. The 2007-10 aid budgets for all countries under the ENPI were approved by EU member states, including the UK, in 2006. Country allocations will be considered again during the mid-term review of the ENPI in 2010, when the budgets for 2011-13 will be agreed. The Department for International Development (DFID) will continue to be involved with the European Commission during this process.

Overseas Aid: Voluntary Work

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many seats on British Airways' flights have been purchased under the Platform2 programme; at what cost; and how many and what percentage of them were used. [236337]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Platform2 is implemented on behalf of the Department for International Development (DFID) by Christian Aid in partnership with Islamic Relief and the British Universities North America Club (BUNAC).

A total of four economy British Airways flights have been purchased by BUNAC under the programme: two to Accra in Ghana (at a cost of £576.29 and £726), one to Cape Town, South Africa (£1,118.26), and one to India (£726). All four flights were used.

Overseas Aid: Water

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development if he will increase the number of water wells which receive funding from his Department. [236232]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Department for International Development (DFID) is committed to increasing our level of funding for water and sanitation in Africa to £200 million a year by 2010, and maintaining it at this level for five years. This will involve a variety of measures, including water wells, to achieve better access to safe and clean drinking water.

Palestinians: Overseas Aid

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what recent steps the Government has taken to protect aid workers in Palestine. [237613]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The UK Government are not responsible for the safety of aid workers working in the Occupied Palestinian Territories (OPTs). We regularly post updated travel advice on the Foreign and Commonwealth Office website which we urge all British nationals working in or travelling to the OPTs to follow.

Department for International Development (DFID) staff posted abroad receive security briefing and training. While they are in country, office and home accommodation and local travel are security risk-assessed, and appropriate security safeguards are adopted. Consultants and contractors employed by DFID are responsible for their own security and safety arrangements. However, DFID seeks to ensure that they are appropriately briefed on security matters.

DFID is also funding a UN Access Support Team to help humanitarian agencies and NGOs negotiate with the government of Israel to move humanitarian imports and staff into Gaza and within the west bank. This should reduce the time aid workers spend waiting at crossings, some of which—particularly into Gaza—are hazardous.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what recent steps the Government has taken to promote economic development in Palestine. [237614]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) provided financial and technical support to the Palestinian Authority (PA) to host the first Palestine Investment Conference in Bethlehem in May this year, at which over £700 million of investment agreements were signed with mainly Arab companies. Following the success of the conference, the Prime Minister announced a further investment event to be hosted in London on 15-16 December 2008. This will build further momentum on the economic track of the peace process by helping to increase investment and economic relations between the UK and the Occupied Palestinian Territories.

DFID is also currently funding a new £3.7 million Facility for New Market Development (FNMD) to support Palestinian businesses to diversify and compete in new markets and enhance exports. During his visit in July this year, the Prime Minister presented the first grant awards to Palestinian entrepreneurs from this facility, and spoke at a seminar of leading UK and Palestinian businesspeople. The facility already has 23 clients, including seven businesses owned by women, and four coming from Gaza. DFID has also provided the PA with £3 million to help it pay off its private sector debts. This benefited firms in both Gaza and the west bank.

In parallel with these activities, the UK Government have called on the government of Israel to ease the restrictions on the movement of Palestinian people and goods.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236899]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Department for International Development (DFID) has received no complaints of racial abuse relating to staff in the last 12 months.

Republic of Congo: Politics and Government

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions he has had with the government of Congo-Brazzaville on reports of corruption in that country. [237024]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The Department for International Development (DFID) does not have a bilateral programme with Congo-Brazzaville and has had no formal discussions with its government. However, Congo-Brazzaville is a candidate country in the Extractive Industries Transparency Initiative (EITI) which DFID supports. The EITI brings together governments, business and civil society to increase transparency over extractive revenue flows from companies to governments.

Further information is available on the EITI website: http://eitransparency.org/.

Russia: Overseas Aid

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how much UK aid was given to Russia in (a) 2005, (b) 2006 and (c) 2007. [237018]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: Details on UK aid to Russia are laid out in the following table.

UK total bilateral gross public expenditure on development (GPEX) 2005-06 to 2007-08

| | Russia (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 5,684 |
| 2006-07 | 5,085 |
| 2007-08 | 373 |

Somalia: International Assistance

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what estimate has been made of the proportion of the Somali population which does not have access to aid due to the withdrawal of humanitarian agencies from the country. [236353]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: The humanitarian situation in Somalia continues to be of great concern to the UK Government. The UN Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (UN OCHA) does not have an official estimate of the proportion of the Somali population unable to access to aid due to the withdrawal of humanitarian agencies. However, a contingency plan has been put into place and other agencies have stepped in quickly to fill the gap left by the withdrawal. Our partners, including the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC), World Food Programme (WFP) and UNOCHA, remain responsive, and operational on the ground despite the difficult conditions and aid is still being delivered to the most vulnerable. Reports from the WFP indicate that 2.3 million Somalis will receive food aid in November.

Since January 2008, the UK Government have provided £20.5 million, and will shortly release a further £6.5 million, towards assisting the humanitarian situation in Somalia.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Jobcentre Plus

11. David Wright: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps he has taken to ensure that Jobcentre Plus is able to react rapidly to announcements of clusters of redundancies in a particular area. [237972]

James Purnell: On 12 November we announced that we are doubling the funding for the Jobcentre Plus' Rapid Response Service, from £3 million to £6 million for this financial year.

We will offer a Rapid Response Service to all employers declaring 20 or more redundancies and will also offer support where there are clusters of redundancies which require extra measures to help people find work.

Pensioner Poverty

12. David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent assessment he has made of poverty levels among married pensioners. [237973]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Between 1998-99 and 2006-07, 900,000 pensioners have been lifted out of relative poverty, measured as below 60 per cent. of contemporary median household income after housing costs. Around 200,000 of these are pensioners living with a partner.

Today, after housing costs are accounted for, pensioners who are living with a partner are less likely to be living in poverty than the population as a whole.

Personal Accounts

13. Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he expects personal accounts to commence. [237974]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Our package for reforms will transform the savings culture in the UK, helping many millions to build—and enjoy—a decent income in retirement. Auto-enrolment will overcome the indecision and inertia that prevents many people from saving.

The personal accounts scheme is a critical element of these reforms.

As we have always said, our plan is to introduce these reforms from 2012.

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate his Department has made of the cost of establishing the Personal Accounts Delivery Authority and other costs associated with the proposed personal accounts scheme (a) at the date on which the scheme was proposed and (b) in each month to date; and if he will make a statement. [236013]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 22 May 2008, Official Report, column 410W to the hon. Member for Epsom and Ewell (Chris Grayling).

I cannot reveal the estimated costs associated with the personal accounts scheme as these estimates are commercially sensitive until the commercial procurement of services underpinning the scheme is complete.

Actual expenditure associated with the Personal Accounts Delivery Authority from its creation until 31 March 2008 was £12.43 million. For 2008-09, the authority received an initial budget allocation of £36.1 million. My Department reviews the allocation throughout the year and will be considering the budget for 2009-10 in light of the anticipated passage of the Pensions Bill and the extended role of the authority, which includes setting up the personal accounts scheme.

The Government remain confident that the delivery authority will deliver a personal accounts scheme that offers low charges to members and is self-financing in the long-term, such that its costs of establishment and operation are met through members' charges.

Benefits Advice

14. Mary Creagh: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will assess the effect on benefit claimants of private companies operating premium rate telephone lines claiming to offer benefits advice. [237975]

Mr. McNulty: The Department for Work and Pensions makes advice on benefits and a wide range of other entitlements easily accessible to everyone through a variety of channels including information leaflets, telephone helplines, websites, and through intermediary organisations working closely with us.

These sources of help and information are consistently promoted through the DWP website, phone books, in Jobcentres, Pension centres and by local authorities and through promotional campaigns.

Where people are seeking information on entitlements, they should turn to the relevant DWP Agency or trusted sources of information like Age Concern or the Citizen's Advice Bureau.

Other organisations promoting benefits advice services on a commercial basis are the responsibility of the service Regulator to monitor their operation and to take action where necessary to control them.

Benefit Payments Non-residents

15. Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions What estimate he has made of the monetary value of benefits paid by his Department to citizens of other EU countries not resident in the UK in the last 12 months. [237976]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Nationality is not a condition of entitlement to DWP benefits and pensions, so it is not recorded. I can however tell you that the latest figures available show that the UK Government paid £1.01 billion in benefits and pensions during the period 1 October 2007 to 30 September 2008 for both UK nationals and EU citizens living in other EU countries.

20. Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his estimate is of the monetary value of benefits paid by his Department to citizens of other EU countries not resident in the UK in the last 12 months. [237981]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Nationality is not a condition of entitlement to DWP benefits and pensions, so it is not recorded. I can however tell you that the latest figures available show that the UK Government paid £1.01 billion in benefits and pensions during the period 1 October 2007 to 30 September 2008 for both UK nationals and EU citizens living in other EU countries.

Mental Illness

16. Anne Moffat: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps his Department is taking to assist people with a mental illness or recovering from a mental illness to enter employment. [237977]

Jonathan Shaw: We recognise the employment challenges that people with mental health conditions face and we are working to develop a National Strategy for Mental Health and Work, to ensure a coordinated response across Government to the challenges faced by people of working age with mental health conditions and improve their employment chances.

Incapacity Benefit

17. Fiona Mactaggart: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent discussions he has had on policy to enable people to move from incapacity benefit to employment. [237978]

Jonathan Shaw: Our Green Paper 'No-one written off: reforming welfare to reward responsibility' proposed a range of further steps to help people on incapacity benefits realise the personal benefits of moving into work. As part of the consultation process we have met with various groups representing disabled people to discuss welfare reform policy.

The Government will be publishing their response to the consultation in due course.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make an assessment of the effects of (a) low wages and (b) migrant workers on the number of incapacity benefit claimants in principal seaside towns; and if he will make a statement. [235533]

Jonathan Shaw: The Pathways to Work programme is now providing support for incapacity benefit and employment and support allowance customers across the whole country. Government and independent research continues to find no significant evidence of negative employment effects from migration. We do not plan to make a specific assessment of the effects on incapacity benefit claimants in seaside towns.

Jobcentre Staff

19. Hywel Williams: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what plans he has to increase staffing levels at Jobcentres in response to recent projections of rising unemployment. [237980]

Mr. McNulty: The Government's investment in Jobcentre Plus means that we are well placed to deal with the full range of economic conditions.

However, in recognition of the current situation and the anticipated increase in our workload, we intend to employ an additional 2,200 full-time equivalent staff by March 2009. Some of this increase is already in place and we have set in hand a fast track recruitment process to enable us to achieve this as quickly as possible.

Staffing levels will be kept under active review in order to respond to rising economic challenges.

Disability Living Allowance

21. John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what plans his Department has to extend the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance to people with severe sight loss. [237982]

Jonathan Shaw: We have had very constructive discussions with the Royal National Institute of Blind People and others on their proposal to extend the higher rate mobility component of disability living allowance to people with severe visual impairments.

I welcomed the opportunity attend the RNIB lobby of Parliament on 15 October, along with hundreds of blind and visually impaired people from all around the UK. I certainly recognise the force of the arguments made and I look forward to working with the Royal National Institute of Blind People on this important issue.

Jobseeker's Allowance

22. Mr. Robathan: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people are claiming jobseeker's allowance. [237983]

Mr. McNulty: The number of people in the UK claiming jobseeker's allowance in October was 980.9 thousand.

23. Mr. David Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many jobseeker's allowance claimants there were in (a) the UK and (b) Clwyd West constituency on the latest date for which figures are available. [237984]

Mr. McNulty: The number of people in the UK claiming jobseeker's allowance in October was 980.9 thousand.

In Clwyd West the number of people claiming jobseeker's allowance was 1,053.

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the average period was for which jobseeker's allowance was claimed in each month in each of the last three years, broken down by the smallest geographical area for which figures are available; and if he will make a statement. [232151]

Mr. McNulty: The information requested has been placed in the Library.

Mortgage Support

24. Ms Katy Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assistance his Department provides in respect of mortgage repayments to people who become unemployed. [237985]

25. Mr. Devine: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what support his Department offers in respect of mortgage repayments to people who have lost their jobs. [237986]

Kitty Ussher: I refer the hon. Members to the answer given by the Secretary of State to my hon. Friend the Member for Bolton, North-East (Mr. Crausby).

Access to Work Programme

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the budget for Access to Work will be in each of the next six years; and if he will make a statement. [237109]

Jonathan Shaw: The Access to Work budget for 2008-09 is £69 million. The Green Paper 'No one written off: reforming welfare to reward responsibility', Cm 7363, announced that the budget for Access to Work will be doubled. The budget will be steadily increased to £138 million by 2013-14.

Benefit Fraud Inspectorate: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what national targets there are for the Benefit Fraud Inspectorate; and what the performance of its activities in Devon has been against these targets in each year since they were set. [237739]

Mr. McNulty: The Benefit Fraud Inspectorate closed for business on 31 March 2008.

Responsibilities for assessing and reporting on local authorities benefit services now rest with the appropriate audit bodies in England, Scotland and Wales.

No national or local performance targets were set for the Benefit Fraud Inspectorate.

Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission: ICT

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions which computer system the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission will use to calculate maintenance payments for their customers; what system the Child Support Agency has used hitherto; and if he will make a statement. [233940]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to my right hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, which computer system the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission will use to calculate maintenance payments for their customers; what system the Child Support Agency has used hitherto; and if he will make a statement. [233940]

The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission took responsibility for the Child Support Agency functions, assets and people from 1 November 2008. In doing so it took responsibility for both of the existing statutory maintenance schemes. The Agency uses the computer system known as CSCS to manage some cases assessed under the Child Support Act 1991, and the CS2 system for some cases assessed under the Child Support Act 1991 and for all cases assessed under the Child Support, Pensions and Social Security Act 2000.

The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission expects to introduce the new gross income statutory maintenance scheme in 2011 and all Agency clients on both schemes will then be invited either to apply to the new gross income scheme or to make a private arrangement. It is currently planned that this process will take around three years, after which time both of the current schemes will close.

The Commission is currently inviting tenders for the computer system to support this new statutory maintenance scheme.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Children: Maintenance

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Child Support Agency cases were unresolved three months after initiation at the latest date for which figures are available. [234691]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The administration of the child maintenance system is a matter for the Commissioner of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission. He will write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many Child Support Agency cases were unresolved three months after initiation at the latest date for which figures are available.

At the end of September 2008, there were a total of 95,900 uncleared applications across both child maintenance schemes. Of these, 65,100 were uncleared current scheme applications over 12 weeks old and 20,200 were uncleared old scheme applications, which by definition are all over 12 weeks old. This is a significant reduction on the March 2006 total of 284,000 outstanding applications, at which point we put the Operational Improvement Plan in place.

Additional information on uncleared cases can be found in tables 2.1 and 5 of the Child Support Agency Quarterly Summary of Statistics, the latest copy of which is available in the House of Commons Library or online at:

www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/csa.asp

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what proportion of new Child Support Agency cases were resolved within six weeks of receipt in the latest period for which figures are available. [234711]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what proportion of new Child Support Agency cases were resolved within six weeks of receipt in the latest period for which figures are available. [234711]

The latest available information concerning the length of time it takes the Agency to clear new applications is routinely set out in Table 3 of the Child Support agency Quarterly Summary of Statistics (QSS), the latest copy of which is available in the House of Commons library or online at:

http://www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/csa.asp.

The latest statistics show that of all the applications received in July 2008, 71% were cleared within 6 weeks. They also show that there were 75,700 uncleared applications on the current scheme as at September 2008, compared to 106,100 in March 2008: a reduction of 30,400.

The Agency is currently surpassing the commitment set out in the Operational Improvement Plan to improve client service by reducing the length of time taken to clear new applications. The Agency committed to clearing 80% of new applications within 12 weeks by March 2009 and the latest information shows that 85% of the June 2008 intake was cleared within 12 weeks.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237477]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department does not have any account codes or categories to specifically identify spend on Christmas cards, parties or decorations. However, it does have in place a policy not to incur this kind of expense.

Connecting for Health

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the cost of buying out the Connecting for Health contracts. [233300]

Mr. Bradshaw: I have been asked to reply.

Each national programme for information technology (NPfIT) contract contains provisions for penalties to be paid in the event of premature termination of the contract by either party. The penalty payable would depend upon the circumstances leading to termination, and be either settled by agreement between the parties or, ultimately, be determined by a court. It is not possible to make a meaningful estimate of what the sum would be in respect of all NPfIT contracts because of the number of possible variables involved.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237427]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department provides an annual subsidy of £3.4 million for various catering outlets that sell food and drink to staff. This subsidy allows outlets to remain viable and varies depending on a number of factors, such as location and canteen usage.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237444]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department's capitalisation policy is to treat items costing over £5,000, either on an individual or a pooled basis, as capital assets recorded within the fixed asset register. No expenditure on flat screen televisions, DVD players or stereo equipment has been capitalised during the last three years.

The Department does not have any account codes or categories to specifically identify any spend on these categories which may fall below the capitalisation threshold and thus to try and identify any such expenditure would incur a disproportionate amount of time and cost.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Todd: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the cost of data cleansing of his Department's customer information system was in each year since 2004. [236324]

Jonathan Shaw: The information requested is shown in the following table.

| Financial year | Data cleansing[1] (£000) |
|---|---|
| 2008-09 | 460 |
| 2007-08 | 390 |
| 2006-07 | 312 |
| 2005-06 | 290 |
| 2004-05 | 290 |

[1] Ongoing costs for data cleansing work are drawn from the cost of a data maintenance team and the delivery of related change requests. Other Government Departments may also contribute to data cleansing in regards to shared data. This amount is not included in the table as it could be collated only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the cost of maintaining his Department's website was in 2007-08; and what the forecast costs of maintaining it are in 2008-09. [237575]

Jonathan Shaw: Maintenance of DWP websites including www.dwp.gov.uk is mostly carried out by the Department's own in-house digital media team. It is not possible for us to quantify internal staff costs, because in most cases, staff are engaged in more than one role. In addition, we are unable to establish accurately our infrastructure costs because they form part of a wider departmental IT contract.

DWP is currently working with the COI to develop a standardised method for quantifying website costs across Government. We will be implementing this standard from March 2009 in line with the current timetable.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors his Department's website received in 2007-08. [237576]

Jonathan Shaw: The website

www.dwp.gov.uk

received 9,979,110 visitors, 6,034,988 unique visitors and 51,469,970 page views 2007-08.

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what (a) equipment and (b) data was lost by his Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231426]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department takes its responsibilities for the protection of personal data very seriously.

(a) Since 1 December 2007, three laptops and four memory sticks were recorded as lost by the Department.

(b) The Department has recorded three instances of personal data related incidents during 2007-08 in its resource accounts which were published on 13 August 2008.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Evans: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department spent on advertising in each of the last five years. [227606]

Jonathan Shaw [holding answer 16 October 2008]: Government policies and programmes affect the lives of millions of people and in order for them to work they must be communicated effectively. However, this has also to be done with cost efficiency in mind and there are strict rules to ensure value for money on Government advertising.

Much Government advertising aims to alert people to things that can save lives—and we make no apologies for campaigns like this—such as wearing seat belts, not drinking and driving, quitting smoking and what to do in an emergency. We also use our communications work to protect public funds, for example through our work to drive down benefit fraud.

The other main area of activity is in recruiting people to important frontline services such as in attracting more people to become nurses and police, which are crucial to the public's welfare.

Advertising spend within the DWP covers both campaign advertising and recruitment advertising.

Advertising costs in the following table are for total media spend only and exclude the cost of creative work, research, production of supporting materials or launch events.

All costs are exclusive of VAT, advertising rebates and audit adjustments.

The majority of departmental spend on advertising is via the Central Office of Information (COI) rosters.

Total spend that is held centrally or with the COI is as follows:

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 37,423 |
| 2004-05 | 22,338 |
| 2005-06 | 11,211 |
| 2006-07 | 6,579 |
| 2007-08 | 9,179 |

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many staff in his Department and its agencies are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237464]

Jonathan Shaw: In 2007-08, a central branding team comprising of two full-time posts advised on the development, promotion, and use of the departmental corporate brand, promoted guidelines and best practice and ensured consistency and clarity in the use of the brand across the range of Departmental communications.

Our agency brands were managed by two posts with responsibility for ensuring the consistency of the brands on our customer facing products and communications.

The cost of these four posts over the period 2007-08 was £130,140.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236936]

Jonathan Shaw: The remit of each non-departmental public body (NDPB) sponsored by the Department for Work and Pensions can be found on the Department's Internet site at the following location http://www.dwp.gov.uk/ndpb/publicbodies.asp#ndpb.

In respect of the budget information requested, I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave the hon. Member on 30 October 2008, Official Report, column 1197W which refers to the executive NDPBs budgets. The advisory NDPBs sponsored by the Department incur little or no expenditure and are resourced from within the Department. As a result, information on the advisory NDPBs budgets for 2008-11 is not available.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was spent on entertainment by his Department at Caxton House in 2007-08. [237641]

Jonathan Shaw: While the Department separately identifies expenditure on entertainment within its agencies and business units, this information is not recorded by location. It would not, therefore, be possible to provide this information without incurring a disproportionate amount of time and cost.

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235239]

Jonathan Shaw: I refer the hon. Member for Sutton and Cheam to the answer I gave on 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1074W.

Departmental Redundancy

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many posts will be discontinued in (a) his Department and (b) its agencies to achieve the planned 12,000 headcount reduction; and if he will make a statement. [230436]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department achieved significant work force and financial efficiencies over the Spending Review 2004 period with a reduction in its total work force of over 31,000 and an increase in productivity of 11 per cent., between March 2004 and March 2008.

The Department's three-year plan for 2008 to 2011 published in February 2008 contained planning assumptions of further headcount reductions of 12,000 between April 2008 and March 2011. The plan is available in the Library.

The recent increase in unemployment will have an impact on departmental staffing levels. In particular, in 2008-09, the Department plans to retain many of the staff employed to support the introduction of the new employment and support allowance implementation in order to deal with increased work loads.

Plans for future years are being actively reviewed as part of the Department's planning process.

Departmental Responsibilities

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions which (a) external and (b) internal programmes of his Department and its agencies cost between £1 million and £50 million; and what the (i) purpose and (ii) expected completion date of each is. [226196]

Jonathan Shaw: All projects/programmes within DWP are subject to a formal monitoring and governance process. However, within this monitoring/governance process, there are two levels.

1. Monitoring by Investment Committee/Change Delivery Committee (CDC)

Projects which form part of the CDC Portfolio are projects/programmes where they require:

a. an up-front investment cost of over £25 million and/or,

b. requires a commitment of steady state ongoing costs in excess of £10 million per annum (DEL Admin/DEL Programme/or AME); and/or,

c. an Office of Government Commerce Risk Potential Assessment Score of 41 points or over; and/or

d. make a significant contribution to the Department's objectives (this is taken to include a close alignment with a ministerial objective, a public sector agreement target or a target set by the centre of Government for the Department as a whole).

2. Projects Managed by Business Unit Governance Boards

These are still subjected to a formal process but are projects which fall outside the scope of CDC because they have lower financial investment.

The majority of the projects/programmes covered in this response are monitored and managed within the CDC Portfolio, and are therefore within the £25 million to £50 million range. However, for some IS-IT projects, we have already collected these data and these have also been included.

For the majority of projects managed by business units (£1 million to £25 million) we are unable to provide details due to the disproportionate cost associated with obtaining these details.

When assessing the costs of the projects to be included, the 'investment (i.e. one-off)' costs of the project/programme have been used. Costs of running the solutions implemented by the projects and programmes are not included as in the vast majority of cases they are more than compensated for by the financial benefits they generate.

| Project | (i) Purpose | (ii) Expected completion date |
|---|---|---|
| Document Repository Service[1] | This project seeks to support the Department's modernisation programmes through the provision of a document repository to store digitised images of documents received from customers (letters, faxes, e-mails etc.), cutting down paper in the organisation | March 2009 |
| On Time Solution | Provide a range of improved information services to DWP businesses, including improved quicker management information, fraud and error intervention and analysis | March 2011 |
| Provider Referrals and Payment Project | Deploy an IT system to automate and e-enable transactions between Jobcentre Plus and training providers | June 2010 |
| Local Services Integration Programme | To provide local services with an IT solution that supports the end to end process | December 2011 |
| Government Connect | To roll out a secure data network connecting Government and local authorities, including secure file transfer, e-mail and web-browser capability | March 2011 |
| Method of Payment Reform | MPRP will develop modern, electronic, secure and efficient methods of payments for customers who require payment by an alternate means other than direct payment to bank accounts. | March 2011 |
| Tell Us Once | TUO is a major cross Government initiative, led by DWP, to transform the way in which people can tell Government (central and local) about changes to their circumstances | April 2009 |
| Data Centre Strategy | The project is addressing the ongoing continued threat of business service continuity at Washington Data Centre with a replacement strategy to be complete by the end of 2010 | 2010 |
| Lone Parent Obligations | LPO is part of welfare reform and intends increasing the lone parent employment rate. Currently lone parents are not required to seek employment until their youngest child reaches 16. Under new proposals to be phased in (starting with youngest child aged 12), lone parents will no longer be entitled to income support solely for being a lone parent if their youngest child is above seven. In the last year before entitlement ceases, work-focused interviews will take place to encourage lone parents to take up training opportunities, leading to employment | February 2011 |

|---|---|---|
| Provider Led Pathways to Work (PL Pathways) | Central to the welfare reform agenda, this project will contract the private and voluntary sector to provide additional help and support for all but the most severely ill or disabled incapacity benefit customers gaining employment. Additional help will be provided through additional mandatory monthly work-focused interviews and tailored, job-focused support, including help to manage customer's health condition, especially in relation to work | April 2008 |
| Jobseekers Regime and Flexible New Deal | This programme will replace and streamline the current new deal programmes and will concentrate on tackling the challenging problems of those who remain unemployed despite a strong economy and historically low unemployment. The programme will include provision of obtaining skills and mandatory work experience for customers | October 2010 |
| Periodicity and Payday | This project forms part of the Working Age (WA) Benefit Simplification Programme to align and extend payment periods for all WA benefits on an incremental basis so that they would over time be paid on a fortnightly basis, wholly in arrears. A single payday will be assigned to each individual, regardless of the benefits they receive | July 2009 |

[1] Document Repository System: The date shown for the expected completion date (March 2009) is the End Project Review (EPR) date. A completion date of November 2008 has been previously quoted; this refers to the 1st "Go Live Date" which was delivered to the original planned deadline.

Departmental Statistics

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what statistical releases and reports (a) his Department and (b) its agencies intend to publish in the next calendar year. [235883]

Jonathan Shaw: All National Statistics released by the Department or its agencies are pre-announced on the Release Calendar run by the UK Statistics Authority, in line with the National Statistics Code of Practice.

Departmental Visits Abroad

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many overseas visits he has made in his official capacity since his appointment. [238392]

Jonathan Shaw: The Secretary of State has made three overseas visits in his official capacity since his appointment.

Deprivation Indicators: Children

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what indicators his Department uses to monitor levels of child poverty; and if he will make a statement on trends in these indicators since 1997. [235557]

Kitty Ussher: The Department uses three indicators to monitor levels of child poverty; they were established in 2003 following a lengthy period of consultation.

Absolute low income measures whether the poorest families are seeing their income rise in real terms. The threshold is fixed as equal to the relative low income threshold for the baseline year of 1998-99 expressed in today's prices.

Relative low income measures whether the incomes of the poorest families are keeping pace with the growth of incomes in the economy as a whole. This indicator measures the number of children living in households below 60 per cent. of contemporary median equivalised income. This is the indicator which is used to measure performance against the public service agreement target to halve child poverty by 2010-11.

Material deprivation and low income combined provides a wider measure of people's living standards. This indicator measures the number of children living in households that are both materially deprived and have an income below 70 per cent. of contemporary equivalised median income.

Since 1998 progress has been made against all of the indicators. 600,000 children have been lifted out of relative low income between 1998-99 and 2006-07, a shift from 3.4 million children to 2.9 million children. The number of children living in absolute low income has halved from 3.4 million to 1.7 million.

Between 2004-05, the first year data were available, and 2006-07 the number of children in the UK defined as poor using the combined indicator of relative low income and material deprivation fell by 200,000 from 2.2 million to 2.0 million on the particular material deprivation threshold that was chosen.

Low income is not the only dimension to poverty and a child's quality of life, including access to health care, education and a safe environment, are critical.

The three indicators are therefore underpinned by the broader Opportunity for all indicators. Opportunity for all is the Government's report on poverty and social exclusion which includes a wide range of poverty and social exclusion indicators for children and young people (as well as working age adults, older people and communities) including health, education and housing. Details can be found on the Opportunity for all website at www.dwp.gov.uk/ofa.

Disability Living Allowance: Sight Impaired

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people with a visual impairment have received (a) the lower rate and (b) the higher rate of the mobility component of the disability living allowance in the last 12 months. [237258]

Jonathan Shaw: The available information is in the table.

Disability living allowance cases in payment with blindness as the main disabling condition by mobility award rate: Great Britain

| | Higher rate | Lower rate |
|---|---|---|
| May 2008 | 4,600 | 58,040 |
| February 2008 | 4,640 | 57,490 |
| November 2007 | 4,650 | 57,200 |
| August 2007 | 4,630 | 56,760 |

Notes:
1. Figures are rounded to the nearest 10.
2. Figures show the number of people in receipt of an allowance, and exclude people with entitlement where the payment has been suspended, for example if they are in hospital.
3. Where the claimant is eligible for both care and mobility components, the disabling condition associated with the mobility component is shown here. Where more than one disability is present only the main disabling condition is recorded.
4. Figures are published on the DWP website at www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/tabtool.asp

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) blind and (b) partially sighted people living in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency received the mobility component of disability living allowance at the lower rate in each year since 2003. [238138]

Jonathan Shaw: The available information is in the table.

Disability living allowance claimants in Bexleyheath and Crayford parliamentary constituency receiving lower rate mobility component where the main disabling condition is blindness

| As at May each year | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003 | 80 |
| 2004 | 80 |
| 2005 | 80 |
| 2006 | 90 |
| 2007 | 90 |

Disabled

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people with disabilities his Department employs. [238384]

Jonathan Shaw: The number of staff who have declared themselves to be disabled is 6,075, 5.7 per cent. of the work force.

However, while the Department encourages staff to make a declaration, declaration is voluntary. We are aware that not all disabled staff do declare that they consider themselves to be disabled, and the true figure may be higher than this. For example, the 2008 DWP staff survey (which is completed anonymously), showed that 13.6 per cent. of respondents considered themselves to have a long standing health condition or disability.

Employment and Support Allowance

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much employment and support allowance was paid on average in each week of the last period for which figures are available. [238389]

Jonathan Shaw: Employment and support allowance was introduced on 27 October 2008 for new customers claiming on the grounds of disability. New customers will go onto an assessment rate for 13 weeks while their medical condition is assessed. While on the assessment phase customers are paid the same amount, £60.50. However, we have fast-tracked a small number of customers who are terminally ill directly onto the support group, where they receive the higher rate of £89.50 immediately.

Information about average payments for employment and support allowance is not yet available.

Employment Level

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many British born people of (a) working age and (b) 16 years old and over were in employment in each year since 1997. [237132]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking how many British born people of (a) working age and (b) 16 years old and over were in employment in each year since 1997. (237132)

The attached table gives the number of people in employment in the UK for the categories requested, from July-September 2001 to July-September 2008. The estimates are derived from the Labour Force Survey (LFS). Estimates for years prior to 2001 are not available because the question asking for the part of the UK in which a respondent was born was not introduced into the LFS until spring 2001. As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

The figures in the table are derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in autumn 2007. They are not entirely consistent with the figures published in the monthly Labour Market Statistics First Release which are weighted using more up-to-date population estimates.

Employment Service

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) Employment Service and (b) Benefit Agency offices, accessible to the public there were in each year for which records are available, broken down by region. [231472]

Jonathan Shaw: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the acting chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, Mel Groves. I have asked him to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Mel Groves:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question asking how many Employment Service and Benefit Agency offices, accessible to the public, there were in each year for which records are available, broken down by region. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Acting Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

At Annex 1 I have attached information on the number of Jobcentre Plus customer-facing offices there have been since April 2002 when Jobcentre Plus was created. Information on the separate networks operated by the Employment Service and Benefits Agency prior to 2002 is not available.

Jobcentre Plus inherited around 1,500 offices from the merger of the Benefits Agency and the Employment Service. Often customers would have to walk from one office to the next to look for work and then deal with changes in their benefit claim. As we have modernised to improve customer service, we have been able to rationalise this estate to provide excellent high street coverage and reduce cost to the tax payer. We remain the largest office network in Government with 747 modern Jobcentres which are supported by 31 contact centres and 79 main benefit processing centres. This has brought our customer-facing services together in a more coherent and integrated network.

Jobcentres continue to provide an essential service—especially to those customers most in need of tailored help. However, the great majority of our services (in common with most large, modern organisations) are now also delivered through the telephone and internet. For example, to give customers more convenient access we have more than half a million vacancies on-line at any time (our website receives close to one million job searches every working day), and new claims to benefit are predominantly taken by telephone with some taken on-line.

All this is vastly improving the service Jobcentre Plus can provide for all its customers and ensures that it is delivered in the best way for them.

Employment Services: Data Protection

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what training his Department's employment advisers receive in the requirements of data protection legislation. [233656]

Mr. McNulty: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the acting chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, Mel Groves. I have asked him to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Mel Groves:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question asking what training his Department's employment advisers receive in the requirements of data protection legislation. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Acting Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

All Jobcentre Plus employment advisers undergo a comprehensive training process regarding the requirements of data protection legislation as it relates to the work that they do. This includes, but is not restricted to, matters of data confidentiality, under what circumstances data may and may not be shared, and matters relating to information stored on our databases that hold confidential details relating to members of their public.

Jobcentre Plus has, as an integral part of its core foundation training, an interactive data protection workbook. The workbook has been designed to help our advisers navigate the data protection element of the DWP Intranet site, which provides extensive advice about data protection legislation as it relates to the work of Jobcentre Plus.

Employment: Disabled

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what percentage of people with disabilities referred to the Shaw Trust by his Department's agencies have successfully entered (a) full-time and (b) part-time employment in each of the last three years; [236215]

(2) how many people with disabilities referred to the Shaw Trust by his Department's agencies have successfully secured (a) full-time and (b) part-time jobs in the last six months. [236216]

Mr. McNulty: The Department does not hold central records of the total number of people with disabilities referred to Shaw Trust and therefore figures to show the number of successful referrals as a percentage of all referrals could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Details of the number of people with disabilities referred to Shaw Trust's New Deal for Disabled People (NDDP) contract, who have successfully entered full or part-time employment in each of the last three years, and during the last six months, is provided in the following table. Shaw Trust also has a number of other small contracts including Workstep, Work Prep and Pathways to Work. The number of disabled people moving into full or part time work through these contracts is 2,167. Information to show the number of people separately entering full and part time work in these contracts is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Hotels

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much was spent on hotel bills by his Department in 2007-08. [235579]

Information for parliamentary questions is usually obtained from the Jobcentre Plus management information portal and this has been the source of data for the call centre figures. Information on job roles is not available within the Jobcentre Plus management information portal and therefore the work-focused interview adviser figures have been extracted from the activity based management system (ABM).

Danny Alexander: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps his Department is taking to ensure that the staffing levels at Jobcentre Plus are sufficient during the economic downturn. [235355]

Mr. McNulty: The administration of Jobcentre Plus is a matter for the Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus. I have asked the Acting Chief Executive to provide the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Mel Groves:

The Secretary of State has asked me to reply to your question asking what steps his Department is taking to ensure that the staffing levels at Jobcentre Plus are sufficient during the economic downturn. This is something that falls within the responsibilities delegated to me as Acting Chief Executive of Jobcentre Plus.

Jobcentre Plus's staffing assumption for March 2009 has been increased by an additional 2,200 full time equivalents from 65,453 to 67,653 in recognition of the anticipated workloads.

We intend to increase staffing from our current position of 66,733 by recruiting additional staff and have set in hand a fast track recruitment process to enable us to obtain staff as quickly as possible.

Our staffing levels will be kept under active review in order to respond to rising economic challenges.

I hope this is helpful.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions with reference to the letter from his Department's central Freedom of Information team to the hon. Member for Yeovil dated 8 October 2008, which 25 questions from the hon. Member for Yeovil and 36 questions from other hon. Members were colour-coded red during his Department's use of a colour coding system for answering parliamentary questions; and if he will make a statement. [227724]

Jonathan Shaw: For the early part of the 2006-07 session, Ministerial Private Offices in the Department trialled an informal system of colour coding parliamentary questions to help improve internal processes for answering them.

No formal monitoring system was in place during the period of the trial. Nor did the trial extend to all Ministerial Private Offices or to all parliamentary questions. The Department discontinued the trial in February 2007.

Nevertheless, as part of an investigation by the Information Commissioner, the Department was able to collate partial figures based on the limited information available while making it clear that they could not be considered definitive.

On the basis of this partial information the Hansard references for the parliamentary questions from the right hon. Member for Yeovil colour coded red during the period of the trial are set out in the following table.

New Deal Schemes: Standards

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the performance of (a) all designated New Deal providers and (b) the Shaw Trust against the objectives set for delivery of the New Deal. [236217]

Mr. McNulty: The Department continuously reviews the performance of providers including new deal providers.

The Department has implemented a number of initiatives to improve the management of contracts and of providers to achieve better performance and quality of delivery in all contracted employment provision including new deal. Formal processes are in place to deal with performance issues.

For individual organisation performance, a revised Contract Management Framework has been implemented which sets out the processes for monitoring DWP contracts, enabling early identification of poor performance so remedial action can be put in place.

A supplier relationship management team was also established in April this year. Their remit is to develop strong, positive relationships with providers in order to improve delivery of services to customers. In addition, all providers in England and Wales are subject to inspection.

Shaw Trust has one new deal contract to deliver. The contract is managed using standard contract management procedures to ensure performance meets contractual expectations. Any issues arising are addressed in this context.

Pension Credit

Jim Cousins: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his Department's most recent estimate is of the number of pensioners who (a) are not claiming and (b) have been refused pension credit because a gross rather than a post-tax net level of state retirement pension was used for the assessment. [234198]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is not available.

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many foreign nationals resident in the UK are in receipt of pension credit. [235306]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The information requested is not available.

Pension Credit: Carers

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many people claimed (a) carer's allowance and (b) pension credit for being a carer in each of the last five years; [233299]

(2) what the (a) budget for and (b) expenditure on pension credits for carers was in each of the last five years; [233302]

(3) what estimate he has made of the number of people eligible for pension credit for being a carer in each of the last five years; and how many of them claimed the credit. [233303]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Pension credit ensures a guaranteed minimum income for all people aged 60 and over. People who are entitled to carer's allowance—whether or not carer's allowance is in payment—may benefit from the additional amount for carers in pension credit. The pension credit standard minimum guarantee of £124.05 for single pensioners (£189.35 for couples) is increased by £27.75 where the additional amount for carers is payable. (If both members of a couple are entitled to carer's allowance, the additional amount is doubled.)

The guarantee element of pension credit tops income up to the appropriate guarantee level, which means that people entitled to the additional amount for carers could receive either more or less than the additional amount for carers depending on their circumstances. It is not therefore possible to specify what element of pension credit expenditure relates specifically to the additional amount for carers.

Pension credit is part of the Department's annually managed expenditure (AME). Forecasts of the expenditure for each benefit which is part of AME are produced twice a year and published on the Department's website. The forecasts are used to assess the expected provision required for each benefit which is part of AME. However, none of the elements which comprise the forecast for a particular benefit is budgeted for separately. In addition, all eligible benefit claims are met and so AME benefits are not budgeted for in the same way as other departmental expenditure.

The latest estimates of take-up of means-tested benefits in Great Britain, covering income support, pension credit, housing benefit, council tax benefit and jobseeker's allowance (income-based) are published in the report "Income Related Benefits Estimates of Take-Up in 2006-07". Estimates of the number of people eligible for the additional amount for carers in pension credit are not available.

The number of people in receipt of pension credit and carer's allowance over the last five years is shown in table 1 and all pension credit expenditure on recipients entitled to the extra amount for carers is shown in table 2.

Table 1: Pension credit and carer's allowance

1. Pension credit was introduced October 2003, so expenditure figures for 2003-04 are part year figures.
2. Estimates represent the expenditure on total pension credit for those claimants who are entitled to the additional amount for carers. Depending on the claimant's income, this may be either higher or lower than the nominal value of the additional amount for carers. It is not possible to specify what part of expenditure relates to the additional amount for carers.
3. From February 2005, estimates are derived from Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study 100 per cent. data. Prior to this, information on receipt of carer's addition in pension credit is not available from the same source, so estimates are derived from 5 per cent. sample data.

Personal Pensions

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent steps he has taken to encourage the use of personal private pensions. [238382]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The Government are keen to encourage more people to save more for their retirement by contributing to pensions (including personal pensions).

The current Pension Bill builds on the Pensions Act 2007 through a set of reforms, primarily to the private pensions system, that will enable and encourage more people to build up a private pension income to supplement that received from the state. The reforms will simplify pension saving and enable individuals to take responsibility for their own retirement. All eligible workers will be automatically enrolled into a qualifying workplace pension-helping to overcome barriers to saving such as inertia.

Post Office Card Accounts

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the Oral Statement of 13 November 2008, Official Report, columns 965-82W, on the Post Office Card Account, what (a) legal and (b) economic factors were taken into account in taking the decision to cancel the tender. [237001]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 18 November 2008]: At all stages we have taken the proper course of action based on the Government's wider social and public policy, legal advice and economic factors pertaining at the time.

Income from the Post Office card account has come to form an increasingly important part of the Post Office's income, as well as providing vital footfall to sub-postmasters. The loss of this business would mean there would be a real risk of a significant number of unplanned closures which would impact most on those vulnerable customers who rely on the Post Office and do not have easily accessible alternatives.

Global economic events have made people, particularly the most vulnerable in our society, more concerned about financial transactions. The Post Office is a trusted brand, and is seen as a safe, secure and reliable provider of services in these turbulent times. Now is not the time for the Government to do anything to put the network at risk, particularly as Post Offices are often the only providers of financial services in remote areas.

Taking all of these factors into account, we believe that awarding Post Office Ltd another contract is the right thing to do in public policy terms, because it will help maintain the existing Post Office network which provides vital services to vulnerable customers in areas where there is often little or no alternative provision. We are also clear that it represent best value overall to the taxpayer.

We recognise the importance of competition in the awarding of public contracts, but we have concluded that, in these exceptional circumstances, protecting vulnerable groups by preserving a viable Post Office network justifies the award of a contract outside the competitive process. These are exceptional times and we believe that this is a proper and proportionate response.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many written representations he has received on the Post Office card account. [238375]

Ms Rosie Winterton: My ministerial colleagues and I received a number of such representations from hon. Members and others.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much his Department was paid for the advertising to potential bidders of the Post Office Card Account contract. [238390]

Ms Rosie Winterton: My Department has received no payment for the advertising to potential bidders of the Post Office card account contract.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people have a Post Office card account. [238391]

Ms Rosie Winterton: There are 3.8 million active Post Office card accounts.

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many customers in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency had active Post Office card accounts in each year since their introduction. [220395]

Kitty Ussher: The following answer was provided to the hon. Member on 17 September 2008, however, due to a procedural error was not published in the Official Report. The answer is as follows:

The requested information is not available.

The information available was provided in the written answer I gave to the hon. Member on 17 July 2008, Official Report, column 648W.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236910]

Jonathan Shaw: The Department holds information on the number of complaints of racial abuse investigated by its central team of investigators.

During the last 12 months, the Department has investigated 18 cases of racial abuse. Of these, four cases were upheld on the grounds of racial abuse.

The Department takes all forms of racial abuse very seriously and publishes its Harassment, Discrimination and Bullying policy on the Department's intranet, which is accessible by all its employees. In addition this policy complies with the Department's commitment to embrace diversity and promote equality of opportunity.

Remploy

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people formerly employed in Remploy factories which have been closed down in the last two years have found new jobs; and if he will make a statement. [238669]

Jonathan Shaw: The current position concerning the 234 former Remploy disabled factory employees who opted to remain with Remploy is shown in the following table:

Former Remploy disabled factory employees who opted to remain with Remploy

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Permanent job | 40 |
| Job placements, which may lead to a permanent job | 131 |
| Job ready. Waiting to be placed by Remploy on a secure job placement | 16 |
| Undertaking development activity to help them become job ready | 17 |
| Undergoing occupational health assessments or re-assessments | 30 |

A further 1,784 employees opted to take voluntary redundancy or early retirement with a voluntary redundancy payment. Remploy has written out to all employees who opted to take voluntary redundancy or early retirement to offer Remploy support if they wished to return to work. So far 153 of its former employees have used Remploy's services to find new employment and have obtained jobs.

Remploy has continued to offer support to other former employees. The remainder have not currently accepted the company's help to find alternative work or have advised Remploy they do not wish to return to work.

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Remploy factories are operating; and how many people are employed in each factory. [238671]

Jonathan Shaw: Remploy operates 54 factories employing 2,987 people. The number of people currently employed in each factory is shown in the table.

Social Security Benefits: Lone Parents

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment he has made of the effect on demand for child care services and on the availability of child care services of the Social Security (Lone Parents and Miscellaneous Amendments) Regulations 2008; what steps he has taken to assess the adequacy of the availability of services; and if he will make a statement. [234625]

Kitty Ussher: We will be monitoring the effect of the lone parent changes on demand for child care services as the policy is implemented.

We can, however, state that the availability of child care places has improved significantly. The stock of registered child care is now approaching 1.3 million places, more than double the 1997 level, representing an increase of well over 17 per cent. or 194,000 places, since March 2004.

The Childcare Act 2006 places a legal duty on local authorities in England and Wales to secure, as far as practicable, sufficient childcare to meet the needs of working parents, in particular for those on low incomes and with disabled children. The position in Wales is slightly different in that the duty is an enabling power which the Welsh Assembly Government has the option of enacting. We have a published commitment that by 2010 there will be a child care place for all children in England aged between 3 and 14 years old, between the hours of 8am to 6pm each weekday.

Social Security Benefits: York

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many households in (a) City of York constituency and (b) the City of York local authority area received (i) the winter fuel payment and (ii) the free television licence entitlement in 2007-08. [236886]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave on 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 869W for the information on winter fuel payments.

TV Licensing, which administers free television licences for people aged 75 or over as agents for the BBC, is not able to provide geographical breakdowns of the number of free licences issued.

SOS List

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the meaning of the term SOS List is in referring to hon. Members who table Questions to him; what the purpose of the SOS List is; and if he will make a statement. [235842]

Jonathan Shaw: The designation "SoS list" is a purely administrative marking to indicate the correspondence addressed to the Secretary of State which should normally receive a reply from the Secretary of State. The designation has no other significance in relation to how correspondence is handled by the Department.

Because the Department uses a single database for both correspondence and parliamentary questions, the marking also appears on internal documents relating to questions. It has no significance whatsoever in relation to the handling of parliamentary questions.

State Retirement Pensions: Females

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the answer of 28 October 2008, Official Report, columns 868-69W, on the state retirement pension, if he will estimate the number of women who will be entitled to (a) lump sum pension backpayments only, (b) lump sum backpayments and home responsibilities protection (HRP) and (c) HRP only by the end of the special exercise; and what his estimate is of the cost to the public purse in each case at the end of the exercise. [235941]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The information requested is not available because it is too early in the special exercise to allow the results to date to be reliably extrapolated.

UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) when the Government plan to ratify the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities; and if he will make a statement; [238282]

(2) what assessment he has made of the compatibility of UK legislation with the provisions of the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities; and if he will make a statement. [238283]

Jonathan Shaw: The Ministry of Defence, Home Office and Department for Children, Schools and Families are finalising the texts of the small number of reservations/interpretative declarations that they want in their policy areas, to enable us to move towards ratification of the convention. We are continuing to explore whether there are any compatibility issues in respect of measures relating to the exercise of legal capacity, and my Department is considering the need for a reservation in this area in respect of the review of arrangements for benefit appointees. Issues in respect of aspects of mental health legislation; choice of place of residence; and cultural services (interpretative measures) to which reference was made in the written statement of 6 May 2008, Official Report, column 30WS, "UN Convention on Disability Rights", made by my predecessor as Minister for Disabled People, Anne McGuire, have been resolved. Reservations/interpretative declarations will not be needed for these.

My ambition is that we will ratify this convention in spring 2009.

Unemployment

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many people in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK were classified as unemployed and actively seeking work in each of the last five years. [237096]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question about what estimate has been made of the number of people in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK who were unemployed and actively seeking work in each of the last five years. (237096)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics for local areas from Annual Population Survey (APS) and its predecessor the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions, which includes the requirement for people to be actively seeking work to be classed as unemployed.

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people aged 16+, resident in (a) the Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK who were unemployed in each of the last five years. Estimates are provided for the 12 month period ending in February 2004 from the annual LFS, and for 12 month periods ending in March from 2005 to 2008 from the APS.

The UK estimates in the table have been compiled using the same source as those for the Vale of York and are different from the unemployment figures published in the Labour Market First Release.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

Table 1: Persons in unemployment[1] in (a) the Vale of York and (b) the United Kingdom in each of the last five years

| 12 months ending | Vale of York | Thousand United Kingdom |
|---|---|---|
| February 2004 | 1 | 1,464 |
| March 2005 | 1 | 1,412 |
| March 2006 | 1 | 1,527 |
| March 2007 | 1 | 1,629 |
| March 2008[2] | *1 | *1,590 |

[1] Levels of unemployment are provided for persons aged 16 and over. The figures presented are weighted to population estimates published in 2007.

[2] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates. See Guide to Quality as follows:

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* 0 ≤ CV < 5 Estimates are considered precise.

 5 ≤ CV < 10 Estimates are considered reasonably precise.

 10 ≤ CV < 20 Estimates are considered acceptable.

* CV ≥ 20 Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes.

Unemployment Benefits: Foreigners

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many foreign (a) EU and (b) non-EU nationals have obtained (i) jobseeker's allowance, (ii) incapacity benefit and (iii) income support in each of the last 10 years; and how much each category of person has received of each type of support in each of those years. [233685]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 6 November 2008]: The information requested is not available.

Winter Fuel Payments: Bolsover

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many pensioners in Bolsover constituency received the winter fuel payment in (a) 2003, (b) 2004, (c) 2005, (d) 2006 and (e) 2007. [238081]

Ms Rosie Winterton: The number of people in Bolsover receiving winter fuel payments is as follows:

| | Bolsover constituency |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 18,955 |
| 2003-04 | 19,230 |
| 2004-05 | 19,185 |

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Education Maintenance Allowance

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils who have been in receipt of the education maintenance allowance have not gained a qualification and are no longer in education and training. [226486]

Jim Knight: This is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) who operate the Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) for the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and hold information about applications made under the scheme. Mark Haysom, the LSC's Chief Executive, has written to the hon. Member for Surrey Heath with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Letter from Mark Haysom, dated 20 November 2008:

I am writing in response to your Parliamentary Question 226486 that asked:

"How many pupils who have been in receipt of the education maintenance allowance have not gained a qualification and are no longer in education and training."

Unfortunately the Learning and Skills Council are unable to supply this information as the Individual Learner Record returns for the 2007/08 year, which contains this information, have not at this time been finalised. However in 2007 the Institute for Fiscal Studies carried out an evaluation of the impact of EMA on attainment using new data sets. The study found that EMA had increased attainment at levels 2 and 3 by around 2 percentage points for male learners and 2.5 percentage points for female learners — this calculation included all learners, both EMA and non- EMA.

Further calculations suggest that attainment rates at levels 2 and 3 will be higher for those learners who received EMA compared to those with similar characteristics who did not—7 percentage points for female EMA learners and 5 percentage points for male EMA learners.

The research and consultancy group RCU also carried out an independent evaluation of the impact of EMA on the success of 16 year old learners following the national rollout of the scheme in 2004 and found that the success rates were 1.2 percentage points higher on the learning aims of those learners in receipt of EMA, compared to those who were not in receipt of EMA.

Education Maintenance Allowance: Enfield

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many people received education maintenance allowance in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since it was introduced. [235441]

Jim Knight: This is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) who operate the Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) for the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and hold information about payments made under the scheme. Mark Haysom, the LSC's Chief Executive, has written to the right hon. Member for Enfield North with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Letter from Mark Haysom, dated 20 November 2008:

I am writing in response to your Parliamentary Question 235441 that asked;

"How many people received education maintenance allowance in the London Borough of Enfield in each year since they were established."

Information on the number of young people who have applied, enrolled and received Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) is available at Local Authority Level. EMA take-up is defined as young people who have received one or more EMA payments in the academic year.

In the first year of national roll out EMA was available to all 16 year olds across England and to 17 and 18 year olds in former pilot areas (young people who are 19 are entitled to receive EMA in certain circumstances). In 2005/06 EMA roll out continued and EMA was available to all 16 and 17 year olds nationally. In 2006/07 EMA was available to all 16,17 and 18 year olds nationally.

EMA take-up for Enfield Local Authority area during each academic year since inception is as follows:

2004/05—1,337

2005/06—2,639

2006/07—3,499

2007/08—3,764

2008/09—774 (to end October 08)

EMA take-up data showing the number of young people who have received one or more EMA payments during 2004/05, 2005/06, 2006/07 and 2007/08 is available on the LSC website, at the following address:

http://www.lsc.gov.uk/providers/Data/statistics/learner/EMA take up.htm.

Educational Maintenance Allowance: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many people (a) are eligible for and (b) claim education maintenance allowance in Crosby constituency. [236677]

Jim Knight: This is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) who operate the Education Maintenance Allowance (EMA) for the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and hold information about applications made under the scheme. Mark Haysom, the LSC's Chief Executive, has written to the hon. Member for Crosby with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Letter from Mark Haysom, dated 20 November 2008:

I am writing in response to your Parliamentary Question 236677 that asked;

"How many people (a) are eligible for and (b) claim education maintenance allowance in Crosby constituency".

We do not hold data on the number of learners potentially eligible for education maintenance allowance (EMA). Information on the number of young people who have applied, enrolled and received EMA is available at Local Authority Level, but not at Constituency Level.

In the 2008/09 academic year to date a total of 2,897 Notices of Entitlement (NOEs) have been issued across the Sefton Local Authority area and of these 2,594 young people have received at least one payment.

EMA take-up data showing the number of young people who have received one or more EMA payments during 2004/05, 2005/06, 2006/07 and 2007/08 is available on the LSC website, at the following address:

http.7/www.lsc.gov.uk/providers/Data/statistics/learner/EMA take up.htm.

Lone Parents: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children under the age of 11 live in single-parent families in the Tamworth constituency. [237339]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many children under the age of 11 live in single-parent families in the Tamworth constituency. (237339)

The number of children living in lone parent families in the UK can be estimated using the Annual Population Survey (APS). Using this source, it is estimated that there were 2,000 children under the age of eleven living in lone parent families in the Tamworth constituency in 2007.

New Manton Primary School

John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what information his Department has on the number of books per pupil there were in New Manton Primary School in (a) 2007 and (b) 2008. [238194]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: This information is not collected centrally; it is for schools to decide how best to spend their budgets and what resources they secure for their pupils.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235230]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: In the Department, 54 (2 per cent.) employees did not achieve the acceptable performance assessment in their annual report for 2007-08.

Schools: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many schools have been (a) built and (b) rebuilt in Crosby constituency in the last 10 years. [236674]

Jim Knight: In 2007, the Department gathered information from all authorities on the improvements to their school buildings over the previous 10 years. These data are summarised in the report "School Building Investment Data", available in the parliamentary Libraries and at:

http://www.teachernet.gov.uk/docbank/index.cfm?id=11413

However, parliamentary constituencies are not identified in the data.

Teachers: Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families (1) what the average cost was of suspending (a) a head teacher, (b) a deputy head teacher and (c) a mainstream teacher for each month of suspension in the latest period for which figures are available; and what the average length of time of such suspensions was in each category in the last 12 months; [238400]

(2) what steps he plans to take to ensure that suspensions of head teachers, deputy head teachers and teachers are for as short a time as possible; [238401]

(3) what guidance his Department provides to local authorities on (a) dealing with the media and (b) communication with parents in cases of suspension of teaching staff. [238402]

Jim Knight: The operation of disciplinary procedures, including those that result in suspension, is a matter for local determination. To support schools in this area there are a variety of sources of advice available to help governing bodies with their responsibilities. The DCSF's 'A Guide to the Law for School Governors and Staffing' guidance set out the statutory responsibilities falling to schools as employers. This guidance is available through www.governornet.co.uk and www.teachernet.co.uk. These sources also provide access to an extensive range of additional guidance material including materials from the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service. Schools are therefore able to draw from a wide variety of guidance when devising their policies and handling disciplinary cases.

Our guidance concentrates on making schools aware of their responsibilities so that they can deal with the media and inform parents appropriately. It does not go into detail about issues such as the length of any suspension. Decisions of this nature are best left to schools to determine, drawing on the guidance that is available and where appropriate on advice and support from local authorities.

The information requested about the average cost of suspending teachers and the average length of time of such suspension is not held centrally.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Copyright: EU Action

John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the European Commission's 2005 Recommendation on collective cross-border management of copyright; and what plans his Department has to implement the recommendation. [234894]

Mr. Lammy: The Government have considered the European Commission's Recommendation of 18 October 2005 on collective cross-border management of copyright and related rights for legitimate online music services and there is no requirement for it to be implemented. Industry continues to work to implement the recommendation and therefore the Government do not believe it is appropriate to press for legislative action at this time.

Copyright: Works of Art

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the effects of the implementation of the Artists Re-sale Right Regulations 2006 on the UK art industry since 2006; and what assessment he has made of the performance of the art markets in (a) the United States and (b) Switzerland since 2006 for benchmarking purposes. [238154]

Mr. Lammy: The Government commissioned the Intellectual Property Institute to produce an independent report on the effect on the UK art market of the introduction of artist's resale right. That report, published in April 2008 and available in the Library of the House (I refer my hon. Friend to the written ministerial statement on 2 April 2008, Official Report, column 59-60WS, by my hon. Friend Ian Pearson, the then Minister of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills), compares the values of the art markets in the UK, the United States and Switzerland, over three specific periods, as follows:

| Country | Value | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | 1 March 2003 to 29 February 2004 | 15 February 2006 to 31 July 2006 | 1 August 2006 to 31 July 2007 |
| Switzerland | 22,390,414 | 50,309,480 | 46,941,692 |
| UK | 470,497,370 | 478,416,115 | 1,310,276,980 |
| USA | 635,555,500 | 685,667,748 | 1,827,900,290 |

Richard Younger-Ross: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what his policy on the Artist's Resale Right is; what account he has taken of the evidence received on the subject during the UK-IPO consultation; and what his policy is on the future of the right after 2010. [238280]

Mr. Lammy: The UK implemented directive 2001/84/EC on artist's resale right into its law in 2006. It needs to decide, before the end of this year, whether or not to seek to extend from 2010 to 2012 the current derogation under the directive which applies artist's resale right only to sales of the works of living artists. It launched a consultation on this issue in June and is currently considering, in the light of the responses, what decision should be made.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237472]

Mr. Simon: The Department has one member of staff who works on branding and this accounts for 15-20 per cent. of their time; during the first six months of the Department's existence in 2007, a larger percentage of time was spend on branding issues. The total staff cost on branding activity in 2007-08 was approximately £12,000.

In addition the staff member's line manager is responsible for multiple areas of work, therefore it is not possible to quantify any specific branding element within this role.

Further Education: Debts

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what guidance is provided to further education colleges on (a) taking on commercial debt to fund the costs of renovating or constructing buildings and (b) the use by the general public of buildings constructed using commercial debt. [235331]

Mr. Simon: The guidance provided to further education (FE) colleges on (a) taking on commercial debt to fund the costs of renovating or constructing buildings; and (b) the use of buildings constructed using commercial debt by the general public, is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC). The LSC's Chief Executive, Mark Haysom, has written to the hon. Member with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Letter from Mark Haysom, dated 20 November 2008:

I am writing in response to your Parliamentary Questions that asked: what proportion of payments by the Learning and Skills Council were made within 30 days of the receipt of the invoice in the last period for which figures are available, and what the level of total debt taken out by further education colleges at commercial rates of interest has been in each year since 2001, and what guidance is provided to further education colleges on (a) taking on commercial debt to fund the costs of renovating or constructing buildings and (b) the use of buildings constructed using commercial debt by the general public.

In the financial year April 2007 to March 2008, the LSC paid 95.3 per cent of its invoices within 30 days. This information forms part of the LSC's annual report, which has been audited by the National Audit Office.

The level of total debt is as follows:-

Total debt levels of FE colleges between 2001 to 2007

£000

| | 2001/02 | 2002/03 | 2003/04 | 2004/05 | 2005/06 | 2006/07 | 2007/08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Summary | | | | | | | |
| Total Debt Level | 250,110 | 365,290 | 431,789 | 546,280 | 663,781 | 815,396 | 965,417 |
| Percentage Change in Debt Level | — | 46 | 18 | 27 | 22 | 23 | 18 |

Assumptions

Above data is based on 2001/02 to 2006/07 audited college financial records submitted in Dec of each respective year

2007/08 data is based on the forecast Financial Plan 2008-11 submitted in July 2008

College sample sizes per year: 408 (2001/02), 399 (2002/03), 392 (2003/04), 377 (2004/05), 380/380 (2005/06), 374/376 (2006/07), 359/364 (2007/08).

Total debt level comprises overdrafts, short-term loans and long-term loans for the purpose of this exercise

(a) It is normally expected that colleges will have long-term borrowings (15-25 years typical) within the range 30-40% of annual turnover. This produces interest charges around 2% of turnover and annual capital repayments at a similar level, thus debt charges (interest plus capital repayments) are normally about 4% of annual turnover. This is considered reasonable, has proven not to have caused undue financial hardship to the sector, and is in line with the level of borrowings guidance to the Higher Education sector. It has also enabled many more colleges to be rebuilt at a far faster rate than would have been the case without the requirement to borrow.

The LSC's policy since 2003 has been to assess the level of capital grant support on the basis of affordability. It is intended to continue using the same criteria in that assessment process going forward, there is no reason to assume that those colleges that still require capital investment will not be as financially sound as those that have already invested in their estates. The key elements of that affordability judgement are a reasonable level of commercial bank borrowings within a financial forecast that demonstrates robust financial health by the third year after project completion and improving still further beyond then, with a robust risk management plan in place to demonstrate financial solvency against a range of downside scenarios going forward. This is carefully assessed before the LSC gives consent for a college to enter into a capital project.

(b) The LSC issues no specific guidance on the use of buildings constructed using commercial debt by the general public. FE colleges are, however, encouraged to offer the use of their facilities, when not being used for their primary purposes of providing education and training, for both community uses and commercial income generating purposes such as conferences.

Higher Education: Admissions

Dr. Iddon: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many and what percentage of students studying at each higher education institution in the 2007-08 academic year were from (a) state schools and (b) socio-economic groups 4-7, broken down by ethnic origin; and how much quality-related research funding each institution received for that year. [238088]

Mr. Lammy: The latest available information for the 2006-07 academic year is given in the table. Figures for 2007-08 will become available in June 2009. The figures that have been provided are not available broken down by ethnicity.

For each institution, the state school proportion and the NS-SEC 4-7 proportion are each shown against a benchmark. This is a sector average which is adjusted for each institution to take into account the following factors: subject of study, qualifications on entry and age on entry. The benchmarks can be used to show how a university is performing compared to the sector as a whole, and also help to determine whether a meaningful comparison can be drawn between two or more universities.

The proportion of students, from state schools and low socio-economic classes has been calculated using information on students whose state school/socio-economic class background is known. A significant proportion of students' social backgrounds are unknown and so exact numbers cannot be determined.

For figures relating to quality-related research funding I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given to the hon. Member for Northampton South (Mr. Binley) on 28 October, Official Report, column 994W.

Higher Education: Finance

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what recent discussions he has had with the National Union of Students on higher education funding. [237945]

Mr. Lammy: We will start to consider the future of higher education funding next year after we have published our framework for the development of higher education over the next 10 to 15 years. We have asked the National Union of Students for its perspective on the issues raised by that framework and we look forward to considering its views in due course.

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much of the funding reassigned from equivalent or lower qualification students to support additional student numbers has been made available to universities providing additional (a) part-time and (b) full-time places. [238881]

Mr. Lammy: All of the £24 million in institutional funding reassigned from equivalent and lower level qualification students in 2008-09 has been made available to support additional new entrants to higher education but no funding was ring-fenced specifically for either part-time or full-time students. The actual numbers of total full-time and part-time students recruited by institutions will become available later in the academic year.

Intellectual Property

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment he has made of the contribution of intellectual property to the UK economy. [238358]

Mr. Lammy: Intellectual Property (IP) plays a central role in capturing the value of knowledge and creativity and is essential to the UK's future economic prosperity. For example, it has been estimated that the service sector accounts for over two-thirds of the UK's Gross Value Added (GVA) and trade marks play a key role in this sector in securing the value of brands. Patents underpin technological innovation, critical to the manufacturing sector which has been estimated to contribute £150 billion a year to our economy. Our pharmaceutical, sector which is a world leader and had an estimated GVA in 2007 of £7.5 billion, is particularly reliant on patents for inventions which may take many years to reach the market.

Copyright underpins much of the creative sector, for example the literary, musical and film industries. The creative economies were estimated to account for 7.3 per cent. of the UK's GVA in 2005 and have grown at approximately 6 per cent. per annum. The Department of Culture Media and Sport (DCMS) are due to publish an update of these figures by the end of this year.

The White Paper 'Innovation Nation' published in March 2008 recognised the important role of IP in the UK's innovation framework and set out specific initiatives to improve awareness of IP and to facilitate IP transactions between businesses and also to improve the exploitation of IP arising from research.

The Government established the new Strategic Advisory Board on Intellectual Property Policy in June 2008 with a £500,000 research budget. It has also initiated a programme of research into economics and IP in the Intellectual Property Office. These initiatives will reinforce the economic evidence base underpinning IP policy making.

Intellectual Property: Crime

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what assessment his Department has made of the effect of intellectual property crime on the UK economy. [238361]

Mr. Lammy: There is not yet consensus among UK IP rights holders on how to best assess the extent and impact of IP crime within the UK. However, the 'Rogers Review: National enforcement priorities for local authority regulatory services', published by the Cabinet Office in March 2007, was established to collect and collate evidence in defining and prioritising regulatory service policy areas. That review estimated that theft of intellectual property cost £1.3 billion per year.

Low Carbon Vehicles Innovation Platform

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what role Ministers in his Department had in shortlisting companies bidding to provide electric and low carbon vehicles to public bodies under the Low Carbon Vehicles Innovation Platform. [234718]

Mr. Lammy: I refer my hon. Friend to the reply given by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for Transport (Jim Fitzpatrick) on 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1168W.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236898]

Mr. Simon: No complaints of racial abuse were investigated in the Department in the last 12 months. Formal complaints of racial abuse would be investigated quickly and thoroughly and, where complaints were upheld, appropriate disciplinary action would be taken. All cases are treated seriously.

The Department believes that each and every individual has the right to be treated fairly, with dignity and respect. As such, we do not tolerate unacceptable behaviour towards others. The overall aim of our harassment and bullying policies is to prevent such unacceptable behaviour occurring but, where it does occur, to ensure that appropriate and effective action is taken to deal with it and prevent it happening again. This applies to everyone in the Department. Every individual is personally responsible for their own behaviour, and every manager is responsible for enforcing the policies in accordance with the guidance and procedures provided.

Training: Interpreters

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what progress he has made towards the implementation of Lord Justice Auld's recommendation that the Government should consider central funding of further education establishments to equip them, where necessary, to provide courses for lesser known languages for the Diploma in Public Service Interpreting; and if he will make a statement. [224872]

Mr. Simon: The Learning and Skills Council (LSC) is responsible for funding further education (FE) courses in England. Public funding is prioritised towards basic literacy and numeracy, full level 2 and full level 3 qualifications as well as a range of first steps provision offering opportunities for progression below level 2. In addition, the LSC funds English for Speakers of Other Languages (ESOL) courses, often as a component of other prioritised courses. ESOL courses both promote community cohesion and equip a significant number of learners with the language skills needed for employment.

This is part of a planned and continuing strategy to provide adults with the skills they need for sustained employment and progression in learning.

In line with our response to the Leitch review of skills we are committed to increasing funding through demand-led routes to ensure that funding is responsive to learner and employer needs. While FE colleges receive funding for a full range of qualifications in line with Government priorities, it is for them to decide how this is targeted on particular courses such as those in "lesser" known languages in line with demand. In line with this the LSC does not provide central funding for specific courses.

Admiralty House

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 10 September 2008, Official Report, column 1805W, on Admiralty House, what catering services have been provided to Lord Malloch Brown's residence on a re-charge basis since he took up occupation. [230474]

Gillian Merron: None.

Afghanistan: Drugs

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has taken account of the counter-narcotics tactics used in Thailand by the government of that country in developing his counter-narcotics policy in Afghanistan. [232230]

Gillian Merron: Our counter-narcotics policy on Afghanistan aims to achieve an Afghan drugs trade divided from the insurgency and prevented from undermining security, governance and the economy, to the point where the Government of Afghanistan can take responsibility for delivery of its own counter-narcotics effort. This approach reflects some of the experience of the Government of Thailand in their own campaign against illicit narcotics production. For example we know that short-term approaches such as eradication cannot offer a solution unless they are combined with a longer term commitment to Afghan institutions, alternative livelihoods for farmers, and improved law enforcement capabilities.

Afghanistan: Politics and Government

Mr. Bone: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the political situation in Afghanistan. [234653]

Bill Rammell: Since 2001 there has been considerable political progress in Afghanistan. There is now an elected President and Parliament, and local governance structures continue to improve. With international support, Afghan led presidential, parliamentary, provincial and district council elections are due to take place in 2009 and 2010. Voter registration is on track and is now entering its second phase. These elections offer the Afghan people yet another chance to have a stake in their Government and a choice about their political future. The UK and our international partners continue to provide development assistance and work with the Afghan National Security Forces to ensure the political space exists for Afghanistan to continue to develop democratically.

Afghanistan: Prisoners

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to his Afghan counterpart on the 20 year jail sentence imposed on Afghan journalist Sayed Pervez Kambaksh. [232160]

Bill Rammell: We share your concern about the case of journalism student Sayed Perwiz Kambakhsh—whose death sentence we opposed. President Karzai has been aware of our concerns for some time and noted these at the joint press conference with my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and US Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice on 7 February 2008.

Regardless of the case in question, we oppose the death penalty in all circumstances and together with EU colleagues regularly make our views knows to the Afghan Government. For states that insist on maintaining the death penalty, the UK considers it very important that internationally recognised minimum standards are respected.

While it is positive that Kambakhsh no longer faces the death penalty, we are disappointed about the verdict reached on 21 October 2008. We have serious concerns about the fairness of this and the original trial.

The Afghan state must comply with the international human rights standards, to which it is a party—this includes the right to a fair trial. We also support the right to freedom of expression, which is protected by the Afghan Constitution—the Afghan judiciary and Government are obliged by law to respect these commitments. We are following the case closely and, in conjunction with our international partners, are raising it with the relevant Afghan authorities.

Airwave Service

Tom Brake: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what organisations for which his Department is responsible (a) use and (b) are planning to use Airwave handsets. [234701]

Gillian Merron: Foreign and Commonwealth (FCO) Services provide radio communications throughout the FCO and its overseas missions. FCO Services do not use Airwave handsets and have no plans to do so.

Algeria: Politics and Government

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received on proposals to change the Algerian constitution to allow presidents to serve for a third term. [237856]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and I have received reports on the proposed changes to the Algerian constitution from our ambassador to Algeria. I understand that on 12 November a joint session of the Parliament approved changes to the constitution removing the limits to the number of presidential terms. The changes also addressed the protection of the symbols of the revolution, the promotion of women's political rights and the replacement of the position of Head of Government by the creation of the formal role of Prime Minister.

Argentina: Foreign Relations

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with the Falkland Islands government on the Argentinian response to the new Falkland Islands constitution. [238372]

Gillian Merron: On 6 November, our embassy in Buenos Aires received an official protest from the Argentine Ministry of Foreign Affairs on the making of the Falkland Islands Constitution Order 2008. This was the latest in a series of protests that the Argentine government has made about the Falkland Islands constitutional review, either directly or indirectly, to which the British Government is responding, making clear that the principle of self-determination continues to underline our position on the sovereignty of the Falkland Islands and that in contributing to and agreeing the new constitution, the Falkland Islanders have reaffirmed their wish to maintain their status as a British overseas territory. We have consulted the Falkland Islands government about our reply.

During the drafting of the new constitution we worked openly and constructively with the Falkland Islands government.

Ballistic Missile Defence

Colin Challen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the Answer to the right hon. Member for Richmond of 4 June 2007, Official Report, column 237W, on missile defence systems, what further discussions have taken place with the US on missile defence since the developments referred to in the Answer. [232284]

Caroline Flint: The issue of ballistic missile defence (BMD) is routinely discussed both bilaterally with the US, and in various North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) forums. Since the Bucharest summit, NATO has been carrying out work looking at extending the coverage of the US BMD system to cover the whole of the NATO homeland region. It is anticipated that this work will culminate in a report being presented to the Strasbourg summit in April 2009, with a view to NATO Ministers making a political decision on the future of BMD in Europe.

Bangladesh: Overseas Residence

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he is taking to investigate reports of assaults against British nationals of Bangladeshi origin in Bangladesh. [235493]

Bill Rammell: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office cannot investigate assaults on British nationals in Bangladesh: such investigations are the responsibility of the Bangladeshi authorities. However, the UK takes any allegation of abuse seriously and we have consistently urged Bangladesh's Government, Army and law enforcement agencies to act impartially and proportionately, with respect for public safety, human rights, media freedoms and rule of law. We have called on Bangladesh's Caretaker Government (CTG) to investigate incidents thoroughly and take appropriate actions. We have co-ordinated these messages with the EU, and delivered them at highest levels.

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many investigations his Department has conducted into assaults against British nationals of Bangladeshi origin in Bangladesh in each of the last five years. [235494]

Bill Rammell: I refer the hon. Member to my previous answer (235493).

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of assaults against British nationals of Bangladeshi origin in Bangladesh in each of the last five years. [235495]

Bill Rammell: The number of assaults on British nationals in the last five years reported to the British High Commission in Bangladesh are as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2008 | 3 |
| 2007 | 1 |
| 2006 | 1 |
| 2005 | 0 |
| 2004 | 0 |

Our statistics do not differentiate by British nationals' ethnic origins.

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what advice his Department has issued to British nationals of Bangladeshi origin intending to travel to Bangladesh. [235496]

Bill Rammell: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office provides advice on travel to all countries on their website:

www.fco.gov.uk

or on 0845 850 2829 (Monday to Friday 0900 to 1800).

We do not provide advice differentiated according to ethnic origin.

Belarus: Children

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if his Department will hold discussions on the resumption of the exchange programme of Belarus children from the Chernobyl area with the Ambassador of Belarus. [231291]

Caroline Flint: Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) officials meet with the ambassador of Belarus on a regular basis to discuss a range of issues, including, as appropriate, the programme of visits by Belarus children from the Chernobyl area. Our ambassador to Belarus has been in close contact with the authorities in Minsk in recent weeks, raising our concerns about the decision to suspend these programmes. UK arrangements have worked well, with a high standard of care and safe return of the children to their guardians. We hope to find an amicable resolution of the issue to allow the resumption of these programmes.

British Council: Finance

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what training in finance and fraud detection the Country Directors of the British Council have had. [230860]

Caroline Flint: All British Council country directors receive regular, professional, in-house training on finance and business risk management. In addition, the British Council has introduced a new fraud detection component into its training for country directors.

Burma: UN Security Council

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions have been held with UN Security Council counterparts on the UN Secretary General's visit to Burma in December 2008 and his objectives for the visit, including specific benchmarks that the military regime must meet. [232117]

Bill Rammell: We have regular discussions with our Security Council partners and other influential countries on how best to support the UN Secretary General's efforts to break the current deadlock in Burma. Most recently my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed Burma with world leaders at the Asia-Europe Meeting in Beijing on 24 and 25 October. He also spoke directly to the UN Secretary General about Burma on the 23 October. Should Ban Ki Moon decide to visit Burma, he would have our full support.

The UN Security Council set clear objectives for progress in Burma in its Presidential Statement of 11 October 2007, which it reaffirmed unanimously in May this year. These demands include the early release of all political prisoners, the start of genuine and inclusive dialogue with the opposition and ethnic groups, and full co-operation with the UN.

Canada: Overseas Residence

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many UK nationals took up residence in Canada in each of the last 10 years. [231766]

Bill Rammell: According to Canadian sources, the number of UK nationals who took up residence in Canada in each of the last 10 years, was as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 22,9[illegible] |
| 1998 | 10,367 |
| 1999 | 7,045 |
| 2000 | 8,840 |
| 2001 | 11,731 |
| 2002 | 8,046 |
| 2003 | 6,797 |
| 2004 | 7,533 |
| 2005 | 7,258 |
| 2006 | 7,140 |
| 2007 | [1]8,200 |

Moreover, the following are estimates of the number of new permanent residents in Canada, in each of the last 10 years, where the UK was the country of last permanent residence.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 4,657 |
| 1998 | 3,899 |
| 1999 | 4,478 |
| 2000 | 4,649 |
| 2001 | 5,360 |

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2002 | 4,724 |
| 2003 | 5,193 |
| 2004 | 6,062 |
| 2005 | 5,864 |
| 2006 | 6,542 |
| 2007 | [1]8,100 |

[1] Approximate data and subject to change.

Capital Punishment

Mr. Carmichael: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations his Department (a) has made and (b) plans to make to other countries to seek to ensure the number of signatories to the moratorium for the death penalty increases at this year's United Nations General Assembly. [232239]

Gillian Merron: Last year's ground breaking United Nations General Assembly resolution calling for a moratorium on executions was a huge achievement. We want to secure another successful resolution on the death penalty at this year's General Assembly, and we are currently working to increase the number of signatories to the resolution by assisting the EU presidency in a lobbying campaign in New York and relevant capitals.

China: Human Rights

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether a date has been set for the next session of the UK-China human rights dialogue; and whether it will take place before the end of 2008. [235407]

Bill Rammell: A date has not yet been set for the next round of the UK-China human rights dialogue. We continue to press the Chinese to agree dates as soon as possible. The human rights dialogue is one element of our multi-layered approach to China human rights. It offers us a way to discuss our human rights concerns in detail. We continue to pursue the other elements of high-level political messaging, and project work to support practical human rights progress on the ground.

Climate Change

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what public diplomacy work on climate change is undertaken by his Department; and if he will make a statement. [225369]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office's (FCO) work on climate change is part of concerted cross-Whitehall activity to achieve Public Service Agreement (PSA) 27 on "Leading the Global Effort to avoid dangerous climate change." We work with partners across the public, private and non-governmental organisations (NGO) sectors in the UK and overseas, making extensive use of our network of posts. Our specific contribution, as identified in the PSA, is to build "the necessary social, economic and political conditions and mobilising key constituencies to influence the major emitters."

Our work is directed to mobilising a global shift to the low carbon economy and creating the right political climate for an ambitious international deal on climate change at Copenhagen at the end of 2009. To achieve this, we need to convince key decision makers and opinion formers across the world that: taking urgent action on climate change is in their national economic and security interests; it is essential if we are to achieve the millennium development goals; and globally there exist sufficient resources and the right technology to succeed.

Public diplomacy efforts at priority posts (including the US, Canada, Australia, China and India) are focused in particular on the themes of prosperity, security and equity and are targeted at a wide range of opinion formers, including government, business and civil society. We are working closely with the British Council and other partners across government as well as with key groupings such as the Global Legislators Organisation for a Balanced Environment (GLOBE). We also raised these issues at ministerial level as appropriate.

Czech Republic: Treaty of Lisbon

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his (a) Czech and (b) Austrian counterpart on ratification of the Treaty of Lisbon. [218633]

Caroline Flint: I apologise for the delay in replying.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary and I have regular contact with our EU counterparts in other member states. These discussions include a wide range of bilateral, European and international issues.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Armed Conflict

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of allegations that Rwandan forces are involved in the fighting in North Kivu, Democratic Republic of Congo; and if he will make a statement. [232094]

Gillian Merron: There have been reports of Rwandan forces in North Kivu, but we have no firm evidence to confirm these. During the recent fighting, UN observers reported that shots had been fired across the border between Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and Rwanda in both directions.

We continue to monitor events in eastern DRC closely. We encourage the governments of the two states to co-operate to resolve threats to regional security.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate has been made of the number of abductions and attacks against civilians by the Lord's Resistance Army along the Democratic Republic of Congo, South Sudan and Central African Republic borders; and if he will make a statement. [232120]

Gillian Merron: The Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) have carried out numerous attacks in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), south Sudan and the Central African Republic (CAR) in recent months. It is difficult to obtain an accurate number of all abductions and attacks which have occurred, as there are several armed groups operating in the region.

The LRA are currently more active in the DRC than they are in the rest of the region. Attacks against Congolese civilians have been taking place continually since 17 September, in at least 10 different locations north of Dungo. The DRC armed forces have commenced an operation to contain the LRA with the support of UN peace keepers.

In southern Sudan, the last reported LRA attack took place on 17 September in Sakure Payam. A number of inhabitants were abducted and at least two people were killed. South Sudan is also affected by refugees fleeing areas due to LRA attacks. Although there have been fewer attacks in south Sudan, the LRA remain a continuing source of insecurity.

The LRA are suspected to be responsible for a number of attacks in south east CAR in February and March of this year.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government has taken to encourage a peaceful resolution in Democratic Republic of Congo. [233675]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary visited the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), Rwanda and Tanzania from 1-2 November with his French counterpart, Bernard Kouchner. During meetings with President Kabila of the Democratic Republic of Congo and President Kagame of Rwanda, he stressed the need to pursue a political solution to the problems of the eastern DRC, including full implementation the Nairobi Accord.

My noble Friend, the Minister for Africa, Asia and the UN, Lord Malloch-Brown, participated in the Nairobi Summit on 7 November. We welcome the outcome of the Summit which established a follow-up mechanism to drive implementation of the Nairobi Communiqué and Goma Accord, which offer a political solution to the problems of the region. Regional leaders also endorsed former President Obasanjo as UN Special Envoy for the Great Lakes with a mandate to lead this follow-up work.

Lord Malloch-Brown will also use his visit to the DRC and Rwanda on 17-20 November to press for early progress by both governments towards a long term solution.

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of reports that the Congolese army co-operates with the FDLR; and what discussions he has had with Congolese authorities on the continued operations of the FDLR in the Democratic Republic of Congo. [235205]

Gillian Merron: We believe there has been on-going co-operation between the Congolese army and the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR) for some time. The UK and EU partners continue to raise the issue with the Congolese authorities, pressing them to end co-operation and abide by United Nation Security Council Resolution 1804 and their commitments under the Nairobi Communiqué.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Arms Trade

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations the Government have made to the Rwandan Government on the provision of arms and supplies to rebel military forces operating in the east of the Democratic Republic of Congo in the last three years; and what representations are planned. [235202]

Gillian Merron: The Minister maintains a regular and close dialogue with the Government of Rwanda on all aspects of regional security under the terms of the memorandum of Understanding signed between the UK and the Government of Rwanda in 2006. This includes the issue of the provision of arms and supplies to military forces operating in the east of the Democratic Republic of Congo. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary raised these issues when he visited Kigali on 1 November.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Human Rights

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of reports that members of the armed forces in Democratic Republic of Congo have been involved in serious human rights abuses in recent weeks; and if he will make a statement. [237247]

David Miliband: We are deeply concerned about the level of human rights abuses in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC). Major human rights abuses are committed by the state security agents as well as militia groups and other actors. We continue to lobby the DRC Government on this issue and push for improved defence, police and justice reform to ensure that the Congolese army protects the population and country rather than being a source of destabilisation and fear.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the Government supports proposals for an increase in the number of UN troops deployed in the Democratic Republic of Congo. [232240]

Gillian Merron: We fully support the UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of Congo (MONUC) efforts to reinforce its presence in and around Goma by moving troops and resources from other areas of the Democratic Republic of Congo. The head of the UN's Peace Keeping Operations (DPKO) briefed the UN Security Council on MONUC's current position on 11 November 2008. The UN Secretary General will provide the UN Security Council in his next report with a full analysis and recommendations on resources required by MONUC to inform UN Security Council discussion. We expect this report by 19 November 2008 and would support a properly evidenced request for additional capacity.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the French proposal for a European deployment of up to 1,500 troops in the Democratic Republic of the Congo to put an end to the violence there; and if he will make a statement. [233070]

David Miliband: My French colleague and I both agree that the best option is to ensure that the 17,000 troops in the UN mission to the Democratic Republic of Congo are correctly deployed and effectively mandated to provide some immediate security in the east of the country.

The EU's principal concern in the longer term is to provide support to efforts seeking a political solution, as the only effective way of ensuring an end to violence.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what shortcomings have been identified in the current troop levels and resources of the UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, with particular regard to airlift capacity. [233072]

David Miliband: The UN Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), Alan Doss, identified a number of areas where the UN mission may require additional assistance on 3 October, including additional troops and air mobility. This request was reiterated by the Secretary-General in a letter to UN Security Council members on 31 October and again in a briefing by the UN Head of Peacekeeping Operations, Alain Le Roy, on 11 November. In response to Alan Doss's briefing, the Security Council requested that the UN Secretary-General come back in his next report with a full analysis and recommendations on resources required by the UN Mission in the DRC (MONUC). We expect this report by 19 November. As my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister announced, we support the UN Secretary-General's request to the UN Security Council for extra resources.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether it is UK policy that changes are needed to the mandate of the UN mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and what changes are under discussion. [233076]

David Miliband: We believe that the mandate of the UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC) correctly focuses on the key challenges facing the country. The Mission is mandated to protect civilians, including humanitarian personnel; to assist in humanitarian access and return of internally displaced persons; to assist in the protection of human rights; to support operations to disarm enemy combatants; and to support and facilitate the disarmament, demobilisation and repatriation of Congolese and foreign combatants. The UN Security Council regularly reviews the mandate of MONUC, most recently at a meeting on 11 November. This will be discussed again in further consultations before the current mandate expires on 31 December 2008. The UK will play an active part in these discussions and will consider carefully any proposed changes.

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government plan to take at the United Nations to strengthen the UN peacekeeping force's mandate in the Democratic Republic of Congo. [235203]

Gillian Merron: We believe that the mandate of the UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC) focuses on the key challenges facing the country. The mission is mandated, inter alia; to protect civilians, including humanitarian personnel; to assist in humanitarian access and return of internally displaced persons; to assist in the protection of human rights; to support operations to disarm enemy combatants; to support and facilitate the disarmament, demobilisation and repatriation of Congolese and foreign combatants. The UN Security Council regularly reviews the mandate of MONUC and will do so again before the current mandate expires on 31 December 2008. The UK will play an active part in these discussions and will give due consideration to any proposed changes.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Politics and Government

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the involvement of (a) the Rwandan government and (b) Rwandan troops in the current crisis in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. [233069]

David Miliband: There have been reports of Rwandan forces in North Kivu. During the recent fighting, UN observers reported that shots had been fired across the border between the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) and Rwanda, in both directions.

We continue to monitor events in Eastern DRC closely, and encourage the governments of the two states to co-operate to resolve threats to regional security.

Democratic Republic of Congo: Violence

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of incidents of rape and violence against women in Democratic Republic of Congo in recent weeks; and if he will make a statement. [237314]

Gillian Merron: The UK remains very concerned by the situation in the Democratic Republic of Congo and the recent unconfirmed reports of armed forces of the Democratic Republic of Congo (FARDC) soldiers raping and killing civilians. Unfortunately there are not yet any comprehensive statistics for such incidents in 2008. With the ongoing conflict in Eastern DRC, sexual violence is used to humiliate and intimidate women and sometimes men of all ages, tearing up families and whole communities. With UK support, the UN Peacekeeping Mission in the DRC (MONUC) mandate was amended in December 2007 to include a requirement to protect civilians against sexual and gender-based violence (SGBV). The UN has appointed a Senior Adviser on Sexual Violence, who is working with international partners and the DRC government to develop a plan of action and coordinate initiatives to deal with the problem. The UK also took the lead in drafting UN Security Council Resolution 1820 which recognises SGBV as a peace and security issue.

Departmental Advertising

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which of his Department's initiatives have been advertised to the public in each of the last 10 years; and what the cost of each such campaign was. [192224]

Caroline Flint: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office's (FCO) largest expenditure on initiatives involving paid advertising to the public in the UK have been on a major travel advice campaign, and advertising for the recruitment of staff.

The FCO spent the following on the 'Know Before You Go' campaign, aimed at promoting safe and trouble-free travel to British public before they visit overseas countries:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2004-05 | 683,900 |
| 2005-06 | 940,570 |
| 2006-07 | 964,076 |
| 2007-08 | 922,222 |

The following was spent on external recruitment advertising for the FCO and FCO Services (trading fund of the FCO):

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 401,153 |
| 2004-05 | 513,392 |
| 2005-06 | 547,649 |
| 2006-07 | 460,359 |
| 2007-08 | 471,593 |

Figures stretching back 10 years are not readily available as they pre-date the introduction of our computerised accounting system, PRISM. Information on smaller initiatives that used paid advertising as a communication channel is not held centrally. The Department could obtain this information from its UK Departments and 250 overseas posts only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Aviation

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many individual domestic air flights were undertaken within Great Britain by representatives of (a) his Department and (b) its agencies in the most recent year for which figures are available; and at what cost. [215555]

Gillian Merron: In the period January to October 2008, a total of 459 individual domestic air flights were taken by representatives of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office and its agencies at a cost of £45,174.

Departmental Cars

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been in the last 12 months. [233193]

Gillian Merron: None. Government cars are not provided to special advisers.

Departmental Conditions of Employment

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 211W, on departmental conditions of employment, whether the start of the 10 to 14 day decompression break begins (a) in theatre while waiting for transportation out of theatre or (b) upon arriving at the final destination of the decompression break. [234292]

Gillian Merron: Decompression breaks start upon arriving at the final destination of the decompression break.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many external consultants are undertaking work for his Department. [233190]

Gillian Merron: Responsibility for procuring external consultants has been devolved to individual directorates, departments and overseas posts within the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO), with the provision of central advice and guidance. Details from each directorate, department and post could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

However, annual expenditure on external consultants or consultancies as a whole is published in the FCO's annual departmental reports, copies of which are available at:

http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/departmental-report/

Departmental Domestic Visits

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what visits he made to (a) Harrogate International Centre, (b) International Conference Centre, Birmingham, (c) Manchester Central, (d) Scottish Exhibitional and Conference Centre, Glasgow, (e) Edinburgh International Conference Centre, (f) Bournemouth International Conference Centre, (g) the Brighton Centre, Brighton, (h) the Riviera Centre, Torquay, (i) Queen Elizabeth Centre, London, (j) Excel Conference Centre, Docklands, London, and (k) Business Design Centre, Islington, London, in the period 1 January 2005 to 31 December 2007; and what events he attended at each. [197166]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs visited the Bournemouth International Conference Centre in September 2007 to attend the Labour Party Conference.

There are no records held for the time period in question when my right hon. Friend was Minister of State at the Department for Communities and Local Government. Information for my right hon. Friend's time as Secretary of State for the Environment, Food and Rural Affairs will be published separately as soon as possible.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many press and communications officers are employed by (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies. [230043]

David Miliband: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) currently employs 16 full-time press officers (15 plus one job-share) based in London.

A figure for the number of staff with a communications role at our overseas posts is not held centrally and would be available only at a disproportionate cost.

Wilton Park, an executive agency of the FCO, does not employ any press officers.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost of maintaining his Department's website was in 2007-08; and what that cost is expected to be in 2008-09. [233194]

Caroline Flint: The cost of maintaining our 232 departmental websites on the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO)'s previous web platform in 2007-08 was approximately £870,000. The cost of maintaining the 240 departmental websites on the FCO's new web platform in 2008-09 is expected to be £1,386,000. These figures cover hosting and support costs, but are not directly comparable because of the extensive changes in the way the web platform is managed in 2008-09, compared to 2007-08. The costs do not include staff time spent updating the website. It is not possible to calculate the individual cost of the 'parent' website:

www.fco.gov.uk

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) page hits and (b) visits his Department's website had in 2007-08. [233195]

Caroline Flint: In 2007-08, the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's web platform had 146,327,875 page views and 30,519,364 visits. These figures include page views and hits to all of our 232 departmental websites. The figures do not include views or visits to our previously independent post sites which were not part of our FCO web platform in 2007-08, but are on our platform in 2008-09.

Departmental Liability

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on what dates in each of the last five years his Department informed the House of the creation of contingent liabilities relating to his Department or its non-departmental public bodies. [232719]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office has no record of any incidences, in the past five years, where the Department has been required to inform the House of contingent liabilities. There are ongoing indemnities, in respect of British Council artwork, and these are included in the Department's main estimates and revised in the annual resource accounts.

In addition the Department has reported, in its resource accounts, contingent liabilities arising out of its normal course of business, and information is included in the notes to the resource accounts for those years, available on the Foreign and Commonwealth Office website address:

http://www.fco.gov.uk/en/about-the-fco/publications/annual-reports/resource-accounts1

Departmental Lost Property

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what (a) equipment and (b) data was lost by his Department in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [231443]

Gillian Merron: The information required is held separately by our Financial Compliance Unit, Resource Accounting Department, Information and Technology Directorate and Security and Estates Directorate, all of whom hold records relating to various losses and thefts of both personal property and official furnishings, including IT equipment losses. This information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Personal data losses are reported to the Information Commissioner. These were reported in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office 's(FCO) Departmental Report 2007-08. To date in 2008-09, the FCO has not reported any further losses.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on (i) publicity and (ii) advertising in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [238948]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office does not keep a central record of amounts spent on publicity and advertising. The information required to answer this question could be obtained only at a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Meetings

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the (a) date, (b) location and (c) purpose was of each meeting he attended with the Prime Minister in the week commencing (i) 12 November, (ii) 19 November and (iii) 26 November 2007. [179084]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary regularly meets with my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister and other Cabinet colleagues. It is standard practice not to disclose details of internal Government meetings.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent on entertainment by his Department in 2007-08; and how much of that sum was accounted for by expenditure on (a) food, (b) alcohol, (c) staff and (d) accommodation. [233189]

Gillian Merron: The total spent against the entertainment budget in financial year 2007-08 was £6,470,379.11. This expenditure was spent on entertainment of official contacts in furtherance of the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO)'s objectives. This expenditure would include the costs of food, drink and sundries when official contacts were entertained at an officer's home, the costs of employing extra domestic staff solely for a representational event, and the cost of entertaining official contacts at external venues (e.g. restaurants, hotels etc.). Additional expenditure on entertainment may have been put to other budgets, but it is not possible to identify this separately. Expenditure on entertainment is not broken down into the requested categories, and to obtain this information would require analysis of each individual invoice. This could be done only at disproportionate cost.

The FCO is committed to ensuring that all expenditure, including that on entertainment, is incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Official Visits

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent on overnight accommodation by his Department's civil servants in the last 12 months. [228770]

Gillian Merron: From 1 October 2007 to 30 September 2008 UK Civil Servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) and FCO Services, based in the United Kingdom claimed £1,443,221 for expenditure on overnight accommodation in the UK and overseas.

Expenditure on overnight accommodation by staff based overseas is processed locally. To provide this information would require a manual check of claims made in each post. This would incur a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235245]

Gillian Merron: I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 880W.

Departmental Overtime

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost of overtime payments paid to staff in his Department was in each of the last 12 months, broken down by pay grade. [221294]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) paid the following amounts in overtime to staff by grade during the period 1 July 2007 to 30 June 2008:

| CO Grade | Civil Service Grade | £ |
|---|---|---|
| A1 | AA | 107,407.70 |
| A2 | AO | 664,064.44 |
| B3 | EO | 779,004.52 |
| C4 | HEO | 1,208,965.07 |
| C5 | SEO | 763,577.70 |
| D6 | Grade 7 | 565,686.24 |
| D7 | Grade 6 | 290,835.99 |
| Cleaner | — | 36,602.50 |

Overtime is not paid to staff in the Senior Management Structure/Senior Civil Service.

Departmental Pay

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what bonuses are paid to staff in his Department for working in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [235420]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) uses non-consolidated, non-pensionable bonuses to encourage high performance. We pay annual bonuses to staff based on appraisal evidence of performance. High bonus awards are given only where performance has significantly exceeded challenging objectives and may have radically transformed delivery of policy and services.

Bonus payments for FCO staff in the delegated grades (all except senior managers) are based on performance not location. Staff in Iraq or Afghanistan are eligible for performance bonuses; but service in these theatres does not automatically earn a specific bonus.

Departmental Pensions

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many civil servants working in his Department and its agencies have pensions with a cash equivalent transfer value of over £1 million. [229552]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) publishes the cash equivalent transfer value (cetv) of the Principal Civil Service Pension Scheme pensions of FCO Ministers and of Civil Servants, who are members of the FCO board of management, in their annual resource accounts. A copy can be found online at:

http://www.fco.gov.uk/resources/en/pdf/pdf8/fco-resource-accounts-07-08.

We do not routinely calculate the cetv of the pensions of other members of staff. To carry out the individual calculations in order to determine which members of staff might have pensions with a cetv of more than £1 million would incur disproportionate cost.

EC Common Foreign and Security Policy: Somalia

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the letter sent on 30 October 2008 by the European Union to the Somali Transitional Government, making an offer of collaboration, which contains proposals on the exercise of jurisdiction against persons apprehended in the territorial waters of Somalia. [235422]

Gillian Merron: The letter was sent by the European Council Secretary General Javier Solana. We have, therefore, requested permission from the European Council Secretariat to place a copy of the letter in the Library. If that permission is forthcoming, a copy of the letter will be made available.

European Parliament Members

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the 2007 intergovernmental agreement on the number of members of the European Parliament is expected to be in force for the European Parliament elections in June 2009; and if he will make a statement. [232529]

Caroline Flint: Current UK legislation provides for the European Parliament elections to go ahead under the provisions of the existing European treaties. It is unclear, following the Irish referendum, whether or not the Lisbon Treaty will be in force ahead of the elections in June 2009. The Lisbon Treaty will be discussed at the December European Council, after which the my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister will make a statement to the House.

Bob Spink: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on proposed changes to the number of MEPs for each region in the UK. [233496]

Caroline Flint: The most recent discussions on the overall composition of the European Parliament took place at the European Council in June 2007 in the context of agreeing the mandate for the Intergovernmental Conference on the Lisbon treaty. The next steps on the Lisbon treaty will be discussed again the December European Council, after which the Prime Minister will make a statement to the House.

If the Lisbon treaty is not in force in time for the June European Parliament elections, the current treaty provisions will continue to apply. Current UK legislation provides for next year's European Parliament elections to take place under the provisions of the existing treaties.

European Union

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he is taking to fulfil the objectives of the 2001 Laeken Declaration to bring Europe closer to its peoples. [235162]

Caroline Flint: The 2001 Laeken Declaration set out the need to reform the EU's institutional structure and to reconnect the EU with its citizens. This led to the establishment of the Convention on the future of Europe and ultimately the Constitutional Treaty. Following the rejection of the Constitutional Treaty by the French and Dutch voters, the constitutional concept was abandoned.

The Lisbon Treaty, which resulted from a fresh set of negotiations, takes forward objectives of making the EU more transparent and accountable, for example by giving national Parliaments—for the first time—a direct say in EU law-making, thereby helping to deliver the objective of bringing Europe closer to its peoples.

European Union: Civil Servants

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many civil servants work in offices representing the United Kingdom at the European Union; and what the total costs were of each office in which such staff were employed in the latest year for which figures are available, broken down by (a) staff, (b) office rental and (c) other costs. [234379]

Caroline Flint: As at 7 November 2008, there were 105 UK civil servants working at the UK Permanent Representation to the EU. The total cost of the office in the financial year 2007-08 was £17,376,124. This figure is broken down by: £5,253,588 for staff; £1,024,000 for office rental and; £11,098,536 for other costs.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not have direct responsibility for any civil servants who represent Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland. However, on 7 November 2008 the FCO was aware of 19 UK civil servants at the devolved administrations' representations. We do not hold information about the costs of these offices.

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many Government officials are based at the European Union institutions and not subject to the UK domestic income tax regime. [234723]

Gillian Merron: As at 10 November 2008, there were 229 officials from the UK Government at the European Union. 105 of these were working at the UK Permanent Representation to the EU, 124 were seconded to EU institutions.

The salaries of all 229 of these officials are subject to UK domestic income tax. The secondees receive an allowance from the host institution. Those officials who have not been supported by their parent Department in moving their effects can also receive either a one-off allowance from the host institution, or receive a monthly removal allowance. These allowances are not subject to UK or Belgian income tax.

European Union: Economic Situation

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he last met the President of the European Council to discuss the economic situation in the European Union. [234860]

Caroline Flint: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has had no recent meetings with the President of the European Council specifically on this subject. My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister is the Government's main interlocutor with the President of the European Council, and has travelled to Paris four times in recent weeks to meet President Sarkozy. In addition, my right hon. Friends the Prime Minister and Foreign Secretary both attended the October European Council, where discussion focused on this area.

Exchange Rates

Mr. Boswell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he is taking to mitigate the impact of recent exchange rate changes on the overseas activities of (a) his Department and (b) the British Council. [231549]

Gillian Merron: The information is as follows:

(a) Foreign and Commonwealth Office

The sharp fall in the value of sterling between October last year when our comprehensive spending review was agreed and the start of the new financial year this April has reduced the purchasing power of local budgets for many overseas posts. In order to give posts certainty about their budgets the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) is taking the following steps to mitigate the impact of recent exchange rate changes:

Hedging

A hedging strategy is being applied whereby forward purchases of foreign exchange are being made. These forward purchases (through the Bank of England) provide certainty of the volumes of currency that will be delivered on a given date for a contracted price, thereby supporting planning and budgeting.

US Dollars and Euros account for approx 90 per cent. of our foreign exchange purchases, and to date we have forward purchased 80 per cent. of our forecast net exposure in these currencies through to October 2009. Currently this cover is being extended each month by one month, to ensure there is a minimum of 12 months rolling cover. The same technique is being applied for Japanese Yen.

Overseas Price Movement (OPM) mechanism

The full amount of extra resource required by posts to offset exchange rate movements and overseas inflation is being funded. So far this year, this amounts to around £30 million.

(b) British Council

Recent movements in exchange rates and the late removal of the OPM mechanism have resulted in an £8 million reduction in the purchasing power of the British Council's core grant for the current financial year. To minimise the impact on programmes, the British Council has centralised the impact of exchange rate fluctuations on operations, so that exchange rate losses and gains can be offset where possible. In addition, the British Council has policies in place to ensure a minimum level of cash balances are held in foreign currency bank accounts in overseas locations.

Friends of Pakistan

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how often the Friends of Pakistan group of which the UK is a member meets; what its objectives are; and if he will make a statement. [232114]

Bill Rammell: The Friends of Democratic Pakistan initiative brings together countries and multilateral organisations which are committed to Pakistan's long-term development in an effort to help the new government to tackle Pakistan's serious development, security and economic problems.

The inaugural Friends meeting agreed to work in strategic partnership with the government of Pakistan to promote: Pakistan's stability, social and economic development; a comprehensive solution to the tribal belt; better energy provision; democracy; economic reform; rule of law; good governance; and counter-extremism. The group also agreed to appoint a special representative. To date, there has been one meeting. But there are plans to hold a second meeting in Abu Dhabi in November.

Government Communications

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff in (a) his Department and (b) its agencies (i) are classified as Government communicators and (ii) have access to the Government Communication Network. [215105]

Gillian Merron: It is only possible to make a rough estimate of the number of people working in communications across the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) global network because Heads of Mission, diplomats and many of our local staff are professional communicators.

An internal FCO evaluation in 2008 estimated the number of people specifically engaged in communications around the world at around 390, using 2006-07 data.

These numbers are in addition to some 100 staff employed directly in London on communications-related activities. The responsibilities of the London team include: press office, all web-related work, internal communications, stakeholder relations, events, publications and public diplomacy (including managing the FCO relationship with the British Council, BBC World Service, Wilton Park, British Satellite News and the FCO's scholarship programmes).

The FCO's agencies, FCO Services and Wilton Park, have seven positions between them dedicated to communication work.

All civil servants who work in a communication role can access the Government Communication Network.

Gulf of Aden: Piracy

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with the government of (a) Kenya, (b) Sudan and (c) Somalia on the destination of the cargo aboard the Ukrainian freighter Faina which was seized by pirates in the Gulf of Aden in September 2008; and if he will make a statement. [232121]

Caroline Flint: Officials from the Foreign and Commonwealth Office have discussed the hijack of the Ukrainian freighter Faina and the destination of its cargo with members of the government of Kenya and of the government of southern Sudan. Officials from both governments have stated publicly that the cargo is for the government of Kenya.

We are concerned over the increase in acts of piracy and the opportunities this gives to armed groups in Somalia to finance and arm themselves. I look forward to a peaceful end to the hijack, and am looking at scope for further co-operation with the government of Kenya on bringing pirates to justice.

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the mandate will be for the EU counter-piracy naval operation in the Gulf of Aden; and if he will make a statement. [232684]

Caroline Flint: The test of the joint action is currently being agreed, but we expect the EU operation to launch in early December. The aim of the operation is to implement UN Security Council Resolutions 1814, 1816 and 1838 by improving the maritime security situation in the region within the wider efforts of the EU to promote stability in Somalia. The objectives are twofold—the protection of World Food programme shipping, a vital element of the humanitarian objective of UNSCR 1814, and the protection of vulnerable shipping in area by deterring and disrupting piratical activity in the Gulf of Aden.

The legal basis for the EU led mission will be a joint action adopted under Articles 14, 25 (third subparagraph) and 28 (paragraph 3) of the treaty on European Union, to give effect to resolutions 1814/2008, 1816/2008 and 1838/2008 of the UN Security Council.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the capacity of the government of Yemen to assist with or otherwise facilitate international counter-piracy operations in the Gulf of Aden; and if he will make a statement. [233060]

David Miliband: The Government of Yemen, despite enthusiasm among the Yemeni coastguard, currently has little capacity to assist with international counter-piracy efforts in the Gulf of Aden. However, they have made progress in providing security in the Bab-el Mandeb Strait, which is key to the safe passage of the UK's energy resources from the middle east.

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which EU member states have committed to providing naval vessels and personnel for the EU counter-piracy operation in the Gulf of Aden; and if he will make a statement. [233061]

David Miliband: The UK will be providing the operation commander and operation headquarters at the multinational headquarters Northwood.

There have been informal offers from several EU member states contributing naval resources and personnel, although details will not be confirmed until the first formal force generation conference scheduled for 17-18 November 2008.

Hong Kong Special Administrative Region: Tourism

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether the Government is taking steps to promote tourism between the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region and the United Kingdom. [231762]

Bill Rammell: The non-departmental Government body, Visit Britain, works closely with UK Trade and Investment, the British Council and the British Consulate-General in Hong Kong to promote tourism between Hong Kong and the UK. They are running two campaigns in Hong Kong, 'Classic Britain' and 'Dynamic Britain', which highlight tourism opportunities around British lifestyle elements such as shopping, eating-out, the countryside, sports, cultural events and performances. There is a high level of awareness about Britain in Hong Kong; 80 per cent. of Hong Kong visitors are repeat visitors.

Hong Kong: Overseas Residence

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many (a) British citizens and (b) British overseas citizens are registered as living in Hong Kong. [231760]

Bill Rammell: There are currently just under 900 British nationals registered with us as living in Hong Kong, although it is not compulsory for British nationals living overseas to register with the Foreign and Commonwealth Office. We estimate that approximately 250,000 British citizens live in Hong Kong, of whom 25,000 to 30,000 are expatriates. There are approximately 3.7 million British Nationals (Overseas) living in Hong Kong.

International Criminal Court: Public Appointments

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the outcome was of the election of five judges to the International Criminal Court by the UN General Assembly on 6 November 2008; what steps the Government took in (a) proposing and (b) supporting candidates for election to the Court; and if he will make a statement. [234967]

Bill Rammell: I believe my hon. Friend is referring to the election of judges to the International Court of Justice (ICJ).

On 6 November, Professor Christopher Greenwood was elected to the ICJ by the United Nations General Assembly and Security Council. French, Jordanian, Brazilian and Somali candidates were also elected.

Professor Greenwood was nominated to stand for election by the UK National Group in the Permanent Court of Arbitration, acting independently of government, and by 19 other National Groups, in accordance with article 4 of the court's statute.

The Government fully supported Professor Greenwood's candidature.

Iraq: Civil Servants

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the (a) allowance and (b) bonus entitlements of UK civil servants working in (i) Iraq and (ii) Afghanistan are. [234314]

Gillian Merron: The average level of allowances over twelve months for a member of staff working in Iraq is £79,514. The equivalent figure for Afghanistan is £61,713. These figures are an average of allowances currently received by all staff at those posts. Allowances include a hazard conditions allowance, diplomatic service compensation allowance, a transfer grant, an overseas location allowance plus allowances for a travel package, heavy baggage, unaccompanied air freight and cost of living.

Staff have no automatic entitlement to a bonus.

Iraq: Diplomatic Service

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether locally-engaged staff at the British Embassy in Baghdad are subject to UK employment laws. [233221]

Gillian Merron: Locally-engaged staff at the British embassy in Baghdad, and at all British missions worldwide, are subject to local labour laws.

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the guidelines on the procedures to follow in the case of a formal complaint by a member of the locally-engaged staff at the British Embassy in Baghdad. [233225]

Gillian Merron: I have placed a copy of the grievance procedures for locally-engaged staff at the British embassy in Baghdad in the Library of the House.

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many official complaints have been submitted to London headquarters by (a) departmental and (b) locally-engaged staff working in the British Embassy in Baghdad since 1 January 2004. [233228]

Gillian Merron: There have been no official complaints submitted to London by departmental and or locally-engaged staff working in the British embassy in Baghdad, since 1 January 2004.

Iraq: Weapons

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs with reference to the draft of the Iraq dossier by Mr. John Williams dated 9 September 2002, whether (a) Mr. Williams and (b) any other communications official contributed further drafting material. [233924]

Bill Rammell: The Iraq Dossier by Mr. John Williams was written solely by Mr. Williams.

Israel: EU External Trade

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what the Government's policy is on the labelling of produce from Israel and the Palestinian territories; and if he will make a statement; [238066]

(2) what discussions he had during his recent visit to Israel on the labelling of produce from Israel and the Palestinian territories; and if he will make a statement; [238067]

(3) what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the labelling of food and food products originating in (a) Israel, (b) Israeli settlements on the West Bank and East Jerusalem, (c) Israeli-controlled territory on the West Bank and (d) areas of the West Bank under the control of the Palestinian authority in the last three years; and if he will make a statement. [238068]

Bill Rammell: Produce should be labelled clearly; consumers have the right to know what they are buying. Labelling goods as "Produce of the West Bank" means that consumers do not know whether they are buying goods from a Palestinian producer or from an illegal Israeli settlement. The Government support consumers' right to be able to make that choice.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed the labelling of produce from Israel and the Occupied Palestinian Territories with Israeli Prime Minister Olmert and Israeli Foreign Minister Livni during his recent visit to Israel.

The UK recently circulated a non-paper on illegal Israeli settlement produce to the EU as part of our contribution of proposals to forward the peace process. The UK is working with EU colleagues to find a way to give retailers and manufacturers clearer guidance on labelling best practice, against the background of our European Commission and World Trade Organisation obligations. The aim is to enable consumers to see whether a product is from an illegal Israeli settlement.

Kosovo

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs on what basis in international law the Government recognised the independence of Kosovo. [235163]

Caroline Flint: The normal criteria that we apply for recognition as a state remain as described in the written answer dated 16 November 1989, Official Report, column 494 by then Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs, Mr. Sainsbury. In reaching our decision to recognise, which my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary announced to the House in his statement of 19 February 2008, Official Report, column 21WS, we considered that Kosovo satisfied these criteria.

Kyrgyzstan: Entry Clearances

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what (a) discussions he has held and (b) correspondence he has received relating to the failure of the Kyrgyzstan Ambassador to the UK to secure visas for musicians and performers from Kyrgyzstan to visit the UK at the Ambassador's invitation; and if he will make a statement. [235551]

Caroline Flint: We regret that the musicians and performers in question were unable to receive visas in time to attend the event organized by the Kyrgyz ambassador in London. Our Charge d'Affaires in Astana has written to the ambassador apologising for the inconvenience caused and explaining that two separate and critical IT failures were responsible for frustrating the best efforts of the entry clearance team in Almaty to issue visas in time. We remain committed to encouraging closer cultural and other links between our two countries, as underlined by the visit to the Kyrgyz Republic last month by HRH The Duke of York.

Libya

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of each of the five bilateral agreements signed with Libya on 17 November 2008. [237910]

David Miliband: The agreements with Libya on mutual legal assistance, extradition, prisoner transfer and judicial co-operation in civil and commercial matters were signed on 17 November. In accordance with the requirements of the Ponsonby Rule, they will shortly be published as Command Papers and laid before Parliament with an Explanatory Memorandum in the usual way. The agreement on the avoidance of double taxation and the prevention of fiscal evasion, which was also signed on 17 November, is not subject to the Ponsonby Rule since such agreements are appended to the Order in Council which implements the agreement in UK domestic law. Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs have arranged for a copy to be placed in the Library.

Middle East: Peace Negotiations

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the likely effects of the involvement of the Arab League in the Middle East peace process; and if he will make a statement. [R] [233926]

Bill Rammell: The Government support a comprehensive approach to the Middle East Peace Process, building on the Annapolis conference, the Quartet process, and the Arab Peace Initiative, and leading to a final settlement with two states living side by side in peace and security. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has had positive discussions on this subject with Israeli, Palestinian and other interlocutors, including with the Secretary-General of the Arab League on 3 November. We welcome the constructive role that the Arab League has played and is continuing to play in the Middle East Peace Process.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs (1) what recent steps the Government has taken to promote peace in the Middle East; [237678]

(2) what plans he has to discuss the prospects for peace in the Middle East with other governments. [237679]

Bill Rammell: During his recent visit to the middle east, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary held discussions with key Israeli and Palestinian officials on advancing the peace process. Discussion centred around the need for a comprehensive approach to the middle east peace process, and the need to build support for peace by addressing the humanitarian situation in Gaza and illegal Israeli settlement activity.

The UK continues to discuss the prospects for peace with other governments through various forums, including: monthly United Nations Security Council meetings on the situation in the middle east; with our EU partners at meetings of the General Affairs and External Relations Council, the European Council and the Political Security Committee; and through officials based in our overseas posts.

Ministerial Duties

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the official duties of the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State in his Department are; how many overseas territories he has visited since appointment; which overseas territories he plans to visit; what plans he has to visit countries in (a) the Caribbean, (b) South East Asia and (c) Central America; and what role he has in determining who lays a wreath on behalf of the overseas territories at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Sunday. [188721]

Gillian Merron: The responsibilities of the Under-Secretary of State at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) include the Overseas Territories, South America, Caribbean/Central America, Australasia and the Pacific region, consular policy, Africa, human rights, global issues and the Commonwealth in the House of Commons. Since being appointed in October 2008 I have visited Jamaica and Trinidad.

When the parliamentary question was tabled in February, the portfolio of the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State at the FCO covered the Overseas Territories, Caribbean/Central America, South East Asia, consular policy, UKTI, protocol, human resources and diversity in the FCO, as well as leading on Africa, human rights, global issues and the Commonwealth in the House of Commons.

Overseas engagements for Government Ministers are kept under constant review. However, owing to the importance of our diplomatic relations with other states, it is not practice to announce ministerial visits until they are confirmed.

The question of Overseas Territory representatives laying a wreath at the Cenotaph on Remembrance Sunday from 2009 is currently under consideration by the relevant Government Departments, including the FCO.

NATO

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has held with NATO counterparts on the possible accession of (a) Georgia and (b) Ukraine to NATO. [235169]

Caroline Flint: At the Bucharest Summit in April, NATO Heads of State and Government agreed that Georgia and Ukraine would become members of NATO. On 19 August NATO Foreign Ministers met in extraordinary session to discuss the situation in Georgia, and reaffirmed the Bucharest decision. In December, NATO Foreign Ministers will make a first assessment of Georgia and Ukraine's progress towards membership.

Oil: Armed Conflict

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on proposals for a tracking system for oil similar to the Kimberley process. [232236]

Gillian Merron: The theft of oil ('oil bunkering') from producing states deprives governments and their people of the benefit of their natural resource and can exacerbate the risk of conflict. This is particularly so in the Niger Delta: although overall volumes of stolen oil are relatively small (estimated at about 2 per cent. of total production), oil bunkering is an enabler of militant activity.

The Government are determined to explore solutions to this problem and are aware there are parallels with efforts to tackle 'blood diamonds'. The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) is investigating the development of a tracking system for identifying stolen crude oil, similar to the Kimberley Process, which would certify the origin of crude exports. There are two significant initial challenges to be overcome: establishing the scientific capability and the commercial viability of such a process.

FCO Strategic Programme Funding is enabling research into a technical solution by the University of Plymouth. This three-year project intends to establish a biometric database of Nigerian crude oils and develop a protocol to enable testing of crude oil specimens against this database. The FCO is also lobbying the international oil companies to contribute technical expertise to this research and to reduce the commercial barriers to such testing being introduced on a wide scale.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235224]

Gillian Merron: Under the Foreign and Commonwealth Office's performance improvement procedures unacceptable performance has to be addressed as soon as it occurs rather than waiting for the appraisal cycle to be completed. Annual report markings therefore only record cases of poor performance current at the end of the appraisal year.

For the appraisal period 2007-08 15 staff (0.25 per cent.) did not achieve an acceptable mark in their annual report. The FCO does not centrally hold records on the appraisal markings of locally employed staff at its posts overseas. This information could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Russia: Nuclear Weapons

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received of Russian redeployment of ballistic missiles to sites close to NATO member countries' borders; and if he will make a statement. [235709]

Caroline Flint: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for North Essex (Mr. Jenkin) today (Question 234947).

Rwanda: Armed Conflict

Lyn Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with the Rwandan Government on the activities of CNDP forces. [233318]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary met President Kagame on 1 November with his French counterpart Bernard Kouchner, during which he urged President Kagame to back efforts to find a political solution to the problems in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo.

Rwanda: Trade

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the government of Rwanda on the control of cross-border trade between Rwanda and North Kivu; and what reports he has received on whether such trade provides revenues for Laurent Nkunda's CNDP forces. [235201]

Gillian Merron: There have been on-going discussions with the governments of Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of Congo on the issue of control of cross border trade, including discussion about methods to encourage such trade out of the shadow economy and into the formal economy.

Somalia: Armed Conflict

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the impact of the continuing presence of Ethiopian troops in Somalia on the security situation in the country; and if he will make a statement. [233058]

David Miliband: Ethiopian troops have maintained a presence in Somalia since their intervention in December 2006 at the invitation of the Transitional Federal Government of Somalia. Ethiopian troops work alongside Somali and African Union Mission in Somalia (AMISOM) security forces protecting the airport, seaport, presidential palace and other key locations in the city. They are a key target for insurgents and those hostile to the Transitional Federal Government and to the presence of foreign troops in Somalia.

The international community has urged Ethiopia to withdraw its troops as soon as possible. The Ethiopian Government have confirmed their wish to do so. Ethiopian discussions with the Somalis on managing troop withdrawal have contributed to the Djibouti Agreement and the decision by the key parties to implement a cease-fire from 5 November 2008.

Somalia: Peace Negotiations

Lyn Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what support his Department is providing to peace negotiations between the transitional federal government and opposition groups in Somalia. [233315]

Gillian Merron: The peace negotiations between the Transitional Federal Government of Somalia and the main political opposition group, the Alliance for the Re-liberation of Somalia began in late May 2008 and are ongoing. The Djibouti Agreement, reached on 9 June and signed on 19 August 2008, presents the best hope for peace in Somalia for many years. On 26 October, the parties to the agreement announced plans to form a Unity Government and to implement a ceasefire from 5 November 2008.

The Government have provided political support and encouragement to the parties by engaging with key interlocutors and participants in the talks through staff at the British High Commission in Nairobi and the British Embassy in Addis Ababa. Our staff work closely with the UN Special Representative of the Secretary General, who brokered the talks, and the UN Political Office for Somalia, based in Nairobi, as well as directly with the Somalis.

During the current financial year, the Government have committed £1 million to support dialogue in Somalia, of which £500,000 has been allocated to local dialogue projects implemented by the non-governmental organisation Interpeace and £500,000 has been allocated through the UN to supporting the national level Djibouti peace process.

Somalia: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress has been made in increasing the number of African Union troops in Somalia over the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [233059]

David Miliband: Approximately 1,800 Ugandan troops formed the initial deployment of the African Union (AU) Mission in Somalia (AMISOM). In February 2008 a Burundian battalion arrived in Mogadishu, with a second battalion arriving in October 2008. The additional troops have increased the total number of AU troops to approximately 3,500.

Somalia: Politics and Government

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations he has made to the UN on the situation in Somalia. [235164]

Gillian Merron: The UK engages regularly with various UN agencies, including those concerned with human rights, humanitarian affairs, peacekeeping operations, safety and security and with the UN Development Programme, as well as other members of the UN Security Council, on Somalia. We also have close working relations with the UN Political Office for Somalia, based in Nairobi.

Most recently, my noble Friend Lord Malloch-Brown discussed Somalia with the UN Special Representative of the Secretary General for Somalia in Nairobi on 7 November.

Sri Lanka: EU External Trade

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what his policy is on the proposed extension of the European Union's Generalised System of Preference Plus agreement with Sri Lanka when it expires in December 2008; and if he will make a statement. [236546]

Mr. Thomas: I have been asked to reply.

On 18 October the European Commission initiated an investigation into Sri Lanka's effective implementation of certain human rights conventions required in order to benefit from the special incentive arrangement for good governance and sustainable development (Generalised System of Preference Plus (GSP+)).

As set out in the Generalised System of Preference (GSP) Regulation, GSP+ preferences shall continue to be granted from 1 January 2009 to any country subject to an investigation until the date of conclusion of such investigation.

In order that the GSP+ scheme continues as a credible instrument for promoting good governance we are committed to ensuring that recipient countries effectively implement the core human rights conventions.

Stem Cells: Research

Mr. Amess: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects the report of the seminar on stem cell research organised by the British Embassy in Israel on 26 and 27 March 2008 to be published; and if he will make a statement. [217910]

Bill Rammell: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) has no plans to publish this report. The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills (DIUS) take the lead on the issue. My officials have contacted DIUS to confirm whether the report will be officially published.

Sudan: Armed Conflict

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects the final report of the Ceasefire Joint Monitoring Commission into the events of May 2008 in Abyei to be published; and if he will make a statement. [235409]

Gillian Merron: The Force Commander of the UN Mission in Sudan (UNMIS) has prepared a draft Ceasefire Joint Monitoring Commission (CJMC) report into the events of May in Abyei. We understand agreement and publication of the report has been delayed by representatives on the CJMC from both sides, the National Congress Party and the Sudan Peoples' Liberation Movement.

Sudan: Arms Trade

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of the level of compliance with UN Security Council Resolution 1556 on the provision of arms to Sudan; what recent reports he has received on the maintenance of the arms embargo; and if he will make a statement. [232935]

Gillian Merron: In its latest report of 3 October 2007, the UN Panel of Experts (which was established by UN Security Council Resolution (UNSCR) 1591 to monitor UNSCR 1556 on the provision of arms to Darfur) assessed that violations of the arms embargo continued, both by the Government of Sudan and non-state armed groups, during the period of the report (29 September 2006 to 29 August 2007). The panel reported that heavy weapons (artillery pieces), small arms, ammunition and other military equipment was entering Darfur from other countries. The panel further reported that the Government of Sudan had not submitted the necessary requests for approval to the UN to enable the movement of weapons, ammunition or other military equipment into Darfur, thereby knowingly violating the provisions of the Resolution.

The UK continues to request that the UN extend its arms embargo on Darfur to all of Sudan, but not all Security Council members agree. The EU has implemented an arms embargo on the whole of Sudan via Common Position 2005/411/CFSP.

Syria

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he had during his recent visit to Syria about Syrian support for (a) Hamas and (b) Hezbollah; and if he will make a statement. [238065]

Bill Rammell: During his visit to Damascus on 17-18 November, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary raised with his interlocutors the importance of all actors in the region working for peace and stability. He stressed that those who sought to achieve political goals through the use of violence, and those who supported them in doing so, were an obstacle to peace. He specifically raised Hamas and Hezbollah in this context.

Trade Unions

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what meetings he had with trades union officials since 1 July 2007; on what dates; and with which trades unions. [179854]

Gillian Merron: Ministers meet many people as part of the process of policy development. It is not normal practice to disclose details of such meetings.

Treaty of Lisbon

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on implementation of the Lisbon Treaty. [235160]

Caroline Flint: I wrote to the Chairs of the Lords Select Committee and the European Scrutiny Committee on 30 October confirming that technical discussions on detailed Lisbon Treaty implementation issues have been suspended. Under the Slovenian presidency in the first half of 2008 a series of technical issues were identified for implementation work—as has happened on every EU amending treaty to date. The Government will continue to keep Parliament updated if and when a presidency proposes to restart any such discussions.

Turkey: Prisoners

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with the Turkish authorities on the imprisonment of Abdullah Ocalan in the last two years. [233692]

Caroline Flint: We have not had any discussions with the Turkish authorities specifically on the imprisonment of Abdullah Ocalan in the last two years.

However, we continue to encourage Turkey to make the reforms necessary to ensure the full implementation of EU human rights standards, including conditions of detention. To this end, we regularly urge Turkey to ratify the Optional Protocol to the UN Convention Against Torture (OPCAT), which sets out a system of independently monitoring prisons with the aim of preventing torture or inhuman treatment.

Moreover, the EU is providing financial support and expert advice for reforms to the prison system planned by the Turkish authorities through the Judicial Modernisation and Penal Reform programme, jointly with the Council of Europe.

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of reports of the ill-treatment of Abdullah Ocalan in Turkey. [233693]

Caroline Flint: We are aware of ongoing allegations of the ill-treatment of Abdullah Ocalan in Turkey, but have seen no conclusive evidence to substantiate them.

We note that the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment (CPT) sent a delegation to Turkey in May 2007 which assessed the conditions of detention of Mr. Ocalan. This visit was the fourth by the CPT to Imrali High-Security Closed Prison and while they noted that there remained scope for improvement, the conditions did not constitute ill-treatment.

As part of our ongoing bilateral dialogue, we continue to encourage the Turkish government to ensure that the treatment of all prisoners is in line with EU human rights standards. Standards of detention form part of the criteria examined in the EU accession process.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Overseas Investment

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department is taking to encourage greater investment in the Turks and Caicos Islands. [238368]

Gillian Merron: Responsibility for investment promotion has been devolved to the Government of the Turks and Caicos Islands, and is undertaken by TCInvest.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Overseas Residence

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of former UK residents who have taken up residence in the Turks and Caicos Islands in the last five years. [238232]

Gillian Merron: Figures provided by the Turks and Caicos Islands Immigration Board show that 28 British citizens received temporary residence permits during the period 2004-07 and a further 175 received work permits.

Information for previous years is not available.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Tourism

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many people from the Turks and Caicos Islands visited the UK in 2007. [238367]

Gillian Merron: Statistics from the Home Office show that people holding Turks and Caicos Islands passports made 110 journeys into the United Kingdom in 2007. Of these, 55 entered the United Kingdom on British citizen passports.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department plans to take to encourage tourism between the UK and the Turks and Caicos Islands. [238369]

Gillian Merron: There are no plans to encourage tourism between the UK and the Turks and Caicos Islands. Responsibility for tourism has been devolved to the Government of the Turks and Caicos Islands.

Uganda: Armed Conflict

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when he expects the final peace agreement between the Lord's Resistance Army and the Government of Uganda to be signed; and what assessment he has made of the effect of the time taken to sign the agreement on security and stability in the region, including Greater Equatoria and Southern Sudan. [235410]

Gillian Merron: The UN special envoy to northern Uganda and Southern Sudan, Joaquim Chissano and the chief mediator to the Juba Peace Process, Dr. Riek Machar, have called on the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) leader, Joseph Kony, to sign the Final Peace Agreement by the 29 November. There can be no guarantee, however, that Kony will sign.

The LRA poses an increasingly serious threat to security in the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC), southern Sudan and the Central African Republic. It has carried out numerous attacks against both civilians and military forces in recent months. The civilian attacks have resulted in more abductions. The majority of attacks have been within the DRC. However, the LRA has also been active along the border with southern Sudan, resulting in refugees fleeing into southern Sudan. The LRA attacked a village in southern Sudan in September.

United Nations Day

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps he took to mark United Nations Day on 24 October 2008. [232191]

Bill Rammell: To mark United Nations Day on 24 October 2008, my noble Friend Lord Malloch-Brown took part in a debate on the United Nations on 23 October, organised by the Global Development Forum. The Minister also issued a statement on 24 October recognising and applauding the UN's achievements.

Sir John Sawers, our Permanent Representative to the United Nations, marked UN Day by giving a keynote speech in Boston entitled "Today's United Nations—Tomorrow's Challenges" to the United Nations Association of Greater Boston.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office was also represented at senior official level at an event hosted by the United Nations Association - UK entitled "Lobby for the UN" on 24 October.

Western Sahara: Politics and Government

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what dates have been set for further UN talks intended to bring about a negotiated solution to the dispute in Western Sahara. [234952]

Bill Rammell: The United Nations Security Council Resolution 1754 adopted in April 2007 called on the parties to the dispute over Western Sahara to enter into negotiations without preconditions. The UN Secretary-General's then Personal Envoy Peter Van Walsum chaired the negotiations between the parties in June and August 2007, and in January and March of this year. No date has been set as yet for the next round of talks.

Nevertheless, UN Security Council adopted UN Security Council Resolution 1813 on 30 April called on the parties to show greater political will and to enter into more intensive and substantive negotiations towards a just, lasting and mutually acceptable political solution which will provide for the self-determination of the people of Western Sahara.

The UK has welcomed these negotiations and has encouraged the parties to maintain their commitment to the process. We hope a further round of negotiations will be held soon.

Zimbabwe: Asylum

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of Zimbabwean refugees who have fled to Botswana since March 2008; what assessment he has made of their security and safety; and if he will make a statement. [232118]

Gillian Merron: Zimbabwe's social and economic decline has forced many Zimbabweans to leave the country during the last few years. The vast majority of these migrants do so through irregular means, thus making it impossible to estimate numbers accurately. The post election violence saw a significant increase in requests for formal asylum and refugee status in neighbouring countries, especially in Botswana. We are aware that 822 Zimbabweans have been granted refugee status in Botswana, the majority of whom are accommodated at the Dukwi refugee settlement. The government of Botswana have worked very closely with United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and ensured that those received in Botswana are provided with the necessary protection for their safety and security. In response to the increased number of Zimbabweans crossing into Botswana, the UK provided funds to the UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) to assist with upgrading sanitation/hygiene facilities at the refugee centre.

Zimbabwe: Politics and Government

Mr. Henderson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps his Department plans to take alongside the UN Security Council in monitoring and working towards a resolution of the situation in Zimbabwe. [222631]

Gillian Merron: We continue to monitor the situation in Zimbabwe closely. Along with other EU member states, we have condemned Robert Mugabe's unilateral allocation of ministerial portfolios. We continue to press for the formation of a government agreed by all parties. This should reflect the will of the people of Zimbabwe as expressed in the outcome of the 29 March elections which gave Morgan Tsvangirai and the MDC a clear majority.

We will assess the new government by the way in which it brings about change and reform. If it does so, the UK and the rest of the international community stands ready to provide support. Early steps must include tough measures to stabilise the economy, unrestricted access to humanitarian aid for all who need it and the removal of oppressive legislation. In the meantime, we will continue to provide humanitarian support to address the immediate needs of the long-suffering people of Zimbabwe. The UN's humanitarian agencies continue to follow the humanitarian situation carefully.

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what estimate he has made of the number of former employees of the Southern Rhodesian Government living in the UK and not receiving pensions from the Zimbabwean Government; and if he will make a statement. [232570]

Gillian Merron: We do not maintain records of former employees of the Southern Rhodesian Government. The Overseas Service Pensioners' Association estimate there are some 350 such pensioners currently living in the UK.

Our consular officials met the Director of the Zimbabwe Pensions Service on 16 October and again reminded him of the Government of Zimbabwe's legal obligation to pay these pensions.

Figures for the total number of households in the region, and therefore the percentage eligible, are unavailable.

I am arranging for a copy of the full list of projects to be deposited in the Library of both Houses.

UK Film Council: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport how much has been spent by the UK Film Council in the East Midlands in each of the last five years. [237908]

Barbara Follett: The UK Film Council provides funding both directly, through targeted funding schemes, and indirectly through funded partners such as Regional Screen Agencies, the BFI and Skillset. The UK Film Council have informed us that the amount of funding spent over the last five years in the East Midlands is as follows:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 1,471,489 |
| 2004-05 | 1,485,255 |
| 2005-06 | 2,865,108 |
| 2006-07 | 1,757,803 |
| 2007-08 | 1,574,516 |

Visit Britain: Finance

Mr. Ellwood: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what financial contribution Visit London made to Visit Britain in each of the last five years. [236669]

Barbara Follett [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Visit Britain have advised that they do not receive any direct funding from Visit London. Visit London is financed by the London Development Agency and private business and is accountable to the Mayor of London.

Visit Britain does however engage in joint ventures with Visit London where Visit London contributes to costs. The following contributions have been made in the last five years.

| Financial year ending 31 March | Contribution (£) |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 1,242,000 |
| 2005 | 1,007,000 |
| 2006 | 1,172,000 |
| 2007 | 974,000 |
| 2008 | 800,000 |

TRANSPORT

Aviation

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what projections he has made of the change in the number of flight movements at (a) Heathrow and (b) all UK airports between 2030 and 2050. [237620]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport projected annual air traffic movements (ATM) for all UK airports to 2050, including 2030 figures, in its "UK Air Passenger Demand and $CO_2^{\circ}$ Forecasts" (2007) report, page 49. This is available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/aviation/environmentalissues/ukairdemandandco2forecasts/

The Department for Transport also stated its projected annual ATM for Heathrow to 2030 in its "Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport" consultation document, page 209. This is available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/consultations/closed/heathrowconsultation/consultationdocument/

With maximum use of its existing runways, there are projected to be 480,000 ATMs at Heathrow in 2030. This is assumed to remain constant between 2030 and 2050.

With additional capacity at Heathrow, there are projected to be 702,000 ATMs in 2030. This is assumed to remain constant between 2030 and 2050.

Aviation: Exhaust Emissions

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the changes to aviation policy which will be necessary as a result of (a) inclusion of the aviation sector in the Climate Change Bill and (b) the decision to set a target to reduce carbon dioxide emissions by 80 per cent. by 2050. [237619]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Government's policy for the sustainable, long-term development of the aviation industry was set out in the 2003 Air Transport White Paper. This included a comprehensive approach to addressing aviation's environmental impacts.

International aviation emissions are not included within the system of greenhouse gas budgets and targets provided by the Climate Change Bill, as there is no agreement as to how to allocate such emissions to individual countries; emissions from domestic aviation are included. The Bill does provide for the inclusion of international aviation emissions at a later date, which will allow the Government to maintain consistency with international practice.

As a result of Government amendments to the Bill, both the Government and the Committee on Climate Change will be required to take account of projected emissions from international aviation in setting, and advising on, carbon budgets, respectively.

In taking this approach, the Government have followed the recommendation of the shadow Committee on Climate Change in their interim advice in October this year.

Aviation: Passengers

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps he plans to take to ensure that in all cases air passengers stranded abroad as a result of airline failure are able to be repatriated; and what consideration he is giving to a statutory scheme to achieve this. [239021]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The air travel organiser's licence (ATOL) scheme run by the Civil Aviation Authority already ensures that anyone on a package holiday including a flight can finish their holiday and return home as planned in the event of their tour operator or airline becoming insolvent. This requirement comes from the EU Package Travel Directive.

As part of the Department for Transport's work to learn the lessons of XL's failure, we are examining how those not covered by the ATOL scheme got home including via other airlines, some of whom offered discount repatriation fares.

Brussels

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much his Department spent on visits by its staff to Brussels in 2007-08; and how many such visits were made by (a) air and (b) rail. [239418]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport (central) and four of its agencies (Driving Standards Agency, Government Car and Despatch Agency, Maritime and Coastguard Agency and Vehicle and Operator Services Agency) do not record details of journeys by destination, and could provide the information only at disproportionate cost Highways Agency staff made eight visits by air at a cost of £2,170, and eight visits by rail at a cost of £1,597.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency recorded nine return flights at a cost of £3,129, and no rail journeys.

Vehicle Certification Agency spent £4,507 on return travel to Brussels, but cannot differentiate between air and rail journeys, except at disproportionate cost.

Bus Services: Competition

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what strategies his Department employs to ensure competition between local bus operators to encourage better services for passengers. [238809]

Paul Clark: The Local Transport Bill contains various measures, building on those in the Transport Act 2000, to enable stronger, more effective partnership working between local authorities and bus operators to deliver services that better meet the needs of passengers. It includes a tailored competition test and enforcement regime that would apply to voluntary partnership agreements between authorities and operators, and to certain other agreements between operators. Further details are contained in the Explanatory Notes to the Bill, and the Office of Fair Trading has recently consulted on draft guidance to support these provisions in the Bill.

Bus Services: Concessions

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what representations he has received from Torbay local authority since April 2007 on funding for the national concessionary bus fares scheme. [239002]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport received representations from Torbay council last autumn when over 200 responses were received to the Department's consultation on the formula distribution for the special grant for the new England-wide concession. Also, in July 2008 a senior public transport officer of Torbay council wrote expressing his concern about the allocation of special grant funding. In September 2008 the mayor of Torbay wrote on this issue to the Department for Communities and Local Government. The correspondence was answered by officials in the Department for Transport.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether he plans to raise the age of eligibility for concessionary bus travel in line with changes to the pensionable age between 2010 and 2020. [239275]

Paul Clark: We have no current plans to do so. At present eligibility for the national concessionary bus pass is defined as 60 years old, or over, rather than linked to the actual pension age.

Buses: Accidents

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many accidents involving bus passengers were reported in each of the last five years, broken down by (a) constituency and (b) service provider; and if he will make a statement. [237848]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The number of reported personal injury accidents with at least one bus passenger casualty in each of the last five years is given in the table which has been deposited in the Libraries of the House. Information on the service provider is not collected by the Department.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237479]

Mr. Hoon: The information is set as follows.

| Christmas: | £ (inc. VAT) (a) Cards | (b) Parties | (c) Decorations |
|---|---|---|---|
| Central Department | 1,737 | 0 | 1,077 |
| Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency | 4,126 | 0 | 0 |
| Driving Standards Agency | 2,200 | 0 | 0 |
| Maritime and Coastguard Agency | 0 | 6,875 | 0 |
| Vehicle and Operator Services Agency | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency | 0 | 1,961 | 0 |
| Government Car and Despatch Agency | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Highways Agency | 0 | 0 | [1] |

[1] Christmas trees are provided at the HA as part of the internal planting contract, but the sum is small and cannot be disaggregated.

Crossrail: Finance

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether an agreement has been made with BAA on the exact amount of funding BAA will contribute to Crossrail. [237835]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport and BAA announced on 4 November that agreement had been reached about the terms on which BAA will make a contribution worth £180 million in 2007 prices. The contribution, which will be paid in two instalments, is subject to indexation and so the actual amount paid will depend on its timing (and the first payment cannot be earlier than April 2013). Certain conditions will have to be met that may affect the timing or size of the contribution: for example, the contribution is subject to progress with construction of new viaducts at Stockley to improve the capacity and reliability of rail access to the airport; and it is also subject to the regulatory approval of the CAA.

Cycling England: Finance

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what payments Cycling England has (a) made in the last 12 months and (b) is contracted to make, to public affairs consultants; and for what purposes. [238466]

Paul Clark: Blue Rubicon has been contracted through the Central Office of Information since 2005 to provide PR consultancy services to Cycling England. The agency delivers a programme of activity targeting consumers and engaging stakeholders with the aim to get more people cycling, more safely, more often.

Expenditure for the period November 2007-November 2008 has been £969,759. Spend so far this financial year is £390,766. This includes costs for running a general press office; website development and maintenance; development and promotion of Bikeability (Cycling England's flagship award scheme, teaching children to cycle safely and responsibly); event management; commissioning research into and promoting the benefits of cycling. The estimated spend for the rest of the current financial year is £341,996. The contract ends in March 2009 and is due to be retendered in January.

Cycling: Accidents

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many pedestrians have been killed in accidents involving cyclists and no other vehicles in each of the last 10 years. [237748]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The number of pedestrians killed in reported personal injury road accidents involving a pedal cycle and no other vehicle in each of the last 10 years are given in the table.

| | Number of pedestrian fatalities |
|---|---|
| 1998 | 2 |
| 1999 | 5 |
| 2000 | 1 |
| 2001 | 0 |
| 2002 | 3 |
| 2003 | 4 |
| 2004 | 1 |
| 2005 | 3 |
| 2006 | 3 |

Dartford-Thurrock Crossing: Road Traffic

Mr. Holloway: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the average delay caused by congestion at the Dartford River Crossing to users during (a) morning peak times and (b) afternoon peak times on (i) week days and (ii) weekends to users travelling from (A) junction 2 of the M25, (B) junction 3 of the M25, (C) junction 29 of the M25, (D) the A2 travelling eastbound heading on to the A282, (E) the A2 travelling westbound and then heading on to the A282, (F) the A13 travelling eastbound and then heading on to the A282 and (G) the A13 travelling westbound and then heading on to the A282. [236311]

Paul Clark: The Department has not made estimates to the level of detail requested.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237425]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport does not subsidise food or drink sold at its main London HQ buildings. The Vehicle and Operator Services Agency and the Government Car and Despatch Agency provide subsidised catering facilities. The Department's other executive agencies do not.

Departmental Civil Servants

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many civil servants have been employed by each of his Department's agencies and non-departmental bodies in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [239103]

Mr. Hoon: I refer the hon. Member to the Department for Transport Annual Report 2008, Appendix A, Table A6. Copies of which are in the Libraries of the House.

The information requested for non-departmental bodies can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many external consultants work for his Department. [237139]

Mr. Hoon: The following table shows the number of consultants working in the Department as recorded in the Department's Human Resources systems:

| Location | Consultants[1] |
|---|---|
| DfT Central | 114 |
| Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency | 0 |
| Highways Agency | 184 |
| Maritime and Coastguard Agency | 12 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency | 0 |
| Vehicle and Operator Services Agency | 25 |
| Government Car and Despatch Agency | 3 |
| Total | 338 |

[1] Notes:
The totals for the Maritime and Coastguard Agency and Vehicle and Operator Services Agency include both consultants and contractors as it is not possible to separately identify consultants.
These figures show the position at the end of September 2008 except for the Highways Agency and the Government Car and Despatch Agency where this is the position at November 2008.
The Driving Standards Agency could provide only the information requested at disproportionate cost.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on external consultancy in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [239062]

Mr. Hoon: Total expenditure by the central Department and its agencies on consultants in each financial year since it was formed in May 2002 is shown in the following table:

£ million

| | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| DfT Central | 57.2 | 58.5 | 65.2 | 64.0 | 53.6 | 51.0 |
| Highways Agency | 157.5 | 169.7 | 115.0 | 2.4 | 1.7 | 2.0 |
| Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency | 4.0 | 3.4 | 4.8 | 1.9 | 18.0 | 18.4 |
| Driving Standards Agency | 4.2 | 4.0 | 3.6 | 1.2 | 5.1 | 3.5 |
| Vehicle and Operator Services Agency | 3.3 | 3.0 | 3.4 | 1.4 | 1.0 | 3.7 |
| Maritime and Coastguard Agency | 1.2 | 0.8 | 1.2 | 1.0 | 1.3 | 1.5 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency | 0.1 | 0.1 | 0.1 | 0.1 | 0.1 | 0.1 |
| Government Car and Despatch Agency (joined DfT from 2005-06) | n/a | n/a | n/a | 0.1 | 0.1 | 0.1 |
| Total | 227.5 | 239.5 | 193.3 | 72.1 | 82.9 | 80.3 |

The Business Units within the Department currently use separate accounting systems which record expenditure differently. The totals include a mixture of committed spend (i.e. orders raised) and actual spend incurred. The Professional Services Forum definition of consultancy has been applied since 2005-06 resulting in more accurate coding of expenditure.

Expenditure figures from 2005-06 exclude Central Department and Highways Agency spend on technical transport related consultancy. Expenditure by the Highways Agency on engineering consultancy is scored as outsourced procurement of specialist services.

Expenditure by non-departmental public bodies on external consultancy can only be provided at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Contracts

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what contracts his Department has with external consultants; what the value of these contracts is in the current financial year, including VAT and disbursements; how long each contract lasts; to which of his Department's programmes or projects each contract relates; and what the forecast total expenditure under each contract is. [239023]

Mr. Hoon: The information requested can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many full-time equivalent press officers (a) work for and (b) provide assistance to his Department. [237140]

Mr. Hoon: The most recently compiled press officer numbers in the central Department and Executive Agencies are set out in the following table. All figures are average or estimated full-time equivalent (FTE) staff employed on press officer activities in 2007-08.

| Staff FTE | 2007-08 Press Officer activities |
|---|---|
| DfT Central | 13.8 |
| DSA | 2 |
| DVLA | 5 |
| GCDA | 0 |
| HA | 12.2 |
| MCA | 2 |
| VGA | 0 |
| VOSA | 2 |
| DfT Agencies | 23.2 |

The Department procures the services of the Central Office of Information to provide assistance with regional media but because of the nature of this support work it is not possible to quantify this in full-time equivalents.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the cost of maintaining his Department's website was in 2007-08; and what forecast has been made of the costs for maintaining websites within his responsibility in 2008-09. [237142]

Mr. Hoon: I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 17 November 2008, Official Report, column 31W, regarding the maintenance costs for the Departments websites.

Tables have been placed in the Libraries of the House showing forecast maintenance costs for the Department for Transport websites 2008-09.

Where annual maintenance costs are not available, this is due to a number of reasons; either the costs are part of a much larger contract and cannot be itemised; or the costs cannot be calculated without incurring disproportionate costs. Costs provided do not include staff costs.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has for each of the sites owned by his Department which are registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when he expects each site to be returned to use. [236441]

Mr. Hoon: Once sites have been declared surplus for operational purposes and placed on the register, there is a 40 working day window for public sector agencies and Departments to identify new uses for this land. If the sites can be used beneficially elsewhere in the public sector they will be sold at market value in accordance with guidance in HM Treasury's guidance and brought back into beneficial use. Ultimately local planning authorities are responsible for preparing regional strategies and local development frameworks and these take account of the suitability of particular sites in their area for the development of housing. Disposing Departments have no locus in the planning decision-making process.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) special advisers and (b) press officers have been employed by his Department in each year since 1997-98; and at what cost in each year. [239089]

Mr. Hoon: Since 2003, the Government have published on an annual basis the number of (a) special advisers in each pay band. For the most recent information, I refer the hon. Member to the statement made by my right hon. Friend, the Prime Minister on 22 July 2008, Official Report, columns 99-102WS.

I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State, my hon. Friend the Member for Poplar and Canning Town, (Jim Fitzpatrick) to the hon. Member for Yeovil (Mr. Laws) on 24 April 2008, Official Report, columns 2212-14W.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237466]

Mr. Hoon: Branding activities in the Department for Transport are not carried out by staff or units solely dedicated to this purpose.

Identifying staff time that may have been spent on brand maintenance would incur disproportionate cost.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on (i) publicity and (ii) advertising in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [238939]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport and Executive Agencies' major areas of publicity and advertising spend were in support of our marketing activities on the THINK! road safety campaign, Act on $CO_2$ campaign, Concessionary Bus Fares campaign, aviation security and the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency's continuous registration campaign. Marketing expenditure, including publicity and advertising costs, since the 2002-03 fiscal year, when the Department was formed, are outlined in the following table.

n/a = Figures not available
d/c = Figures could be provided only at disproportionate cost.
Note:
Figure from May 2002 because of accounting changes.

Following departmental reorganisations, total publicity and marketing expenditure figures for prior to 2002-03 fiscal year would involve disproportionate costs.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237499]

Mr. Hoon: Two civil servants support the special advisers. Both provide support of a non-political nature in accordance with the code of conduct for special advisers.

Individual civil servants' salary details are not disclosed in order to protect the privacy of the individuals concerned.

Departmental NDPBs

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the remit is of each non-departmental public body sponsored by his Department; and what budget each has been set for (a) 2008-09, (b) 2009-10 and (c) 2010-11. [236933]

Mr. Hoon: The Department publishes details of all its NDPBs in its Annual Report; I therefore refer the hon. Gentleman to chapter 12 of my Department's 2008 Annual Report.

In regard to the budgets for the Department's NDPBs I refer the hon. Gentleman to my answers given on the 22 October 2008, Official Report, column 417W, and on 29 October 2008, Official Report, column 1035W.

Departmental Press Releases

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many press releases have been issued by his Department in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [238992]

Mr. Hoon: Total number of national press releases issued by Department for Transport 'central' and its executive agencies is as follows. Information prior to 2003 is not held centrally and can be obtained only through disproportionate cost.

| | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | [1]2008 |

[2] This information is available only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Public Opinion

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much his Department has spent on (a) focus groups and (b) opinion polls in each year since 1997-98; how much he estimates will be spent on each category in 2008-09; and if he will make a statement. [239051]

Mr. Hoon: The information requested could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Travel

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library a copy of his Department's departmental travel plan. [237617]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport (DfT) travel plan was published on its website on 28 November 2006, and is available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/sustainable/travelplans/

This DfT-wide plan requires all DfT offices with more than 50 staff to produce their own site-specific travel plans. MCA, DVLA, VCA have already completed and published their plans and the remainder are under development. DVLA's plan is currently undergoing review.

The DfT travel plan is available in the Libraries of the House. Copies of the other three published plans have been placed in the Libraries of the House.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04,

(c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235382]

Mr. Hoon: The figures requested by the hon. Member are contained in the following table:

| Parliamentary Session | Number of written questions tabled | Number of questions not answered substantively, either wholly or partially, on the grounds of disproportionate cost |
|---|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 4,021 | 76 |
| 2003-04 | 3,338 | 65 |
| 2004-05 | 1,339 | 45 |
| 2005-06 | 6,536 | 160 |
| 2006-07 | 3,729 | 111 |
| 2007-08 (to 20 November 2008) | 4,806 | 195 |

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will instruct the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency to offer a British-made car in its prize draw encouraging use of their online facilities. [239169]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency invited all 17 manufacturers who produce cars with $CO_2$ emissions of 120 g/km or less to take part in the incentive scheme. SEAT were the only company to fully respond to the invitation. If DVLA is granted permission to run this scheme for a second year, all manufacturers who meet the criteria will again be invited to bid for the contract.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many requests the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) has received for motorists' information in each of the last 10 years; and how many such requests the DVLA has refused. [237930]

Jim Fitzpatrick: DVLA holds two separate registers of information on motorists. The vehicle register contains the particulars of vehicles and their keepers.

The driver register contains details of individuals, including name address and date of birth, along with details of their entitlement to drive, any driving convictions or endorsements, and any medical conditions affecting their driving ability.

Vehicle Inquiries

The following table shows the total number of vehicle record requests rejected along with the number of requests made. These figures include requests made by both public and private sector organisations including, local authorities and police, as well as individuals for information on their own vehicles.

| | Electronic inquiries | Manual enquiries | Rejects[1] |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1998-99 | 0 | 2,233,009 | n/a |

| 2003-04 | 16,255,864 | 2,204,109 | 43,088 |
| 2004-05 | 15,007,047 | 2,014,576 | 43,684 |
| 2005-06 | 15,225,314 | 1,853,686 | 30,865 |
| 2006-07 | 15,739,951 | 1,572,458 | 48,328 |
| 2007-08 | 18,101,330 | 1,391,424 | 46,578 |

[1] Rejects: DVLA does not hold information on the number of requests rejected prior to the 2003 - 2004 financial year.

Driver Inquiries

The following table shows the number or requests made for information held on the driver record for the last 10 years and the number of requests rejected. Statistics from the driver register do not differentiate between manual and electronic requests. They include subject access requests from individuals wanting their own information.

| | Inquiries | Rejects |
|---|---|---|
| 1997-98 | 1,481,263 | n/a |
| 1998-99 | 1,558,557 | n/a |
| 1999-2000 | 1,736,138 | n/a |
| 2000-01 | 1,701,985 | n/a |
| 2001-02 | 1,860,911 | n/a |
| 2002-03 | 1,863,913 | n/a |
| 2003-04 | 1,888,741 | n/a |
| 2004-05 | 1,930,933 | 7,984 |
| 2005-06 | 1,907,856 | 9,238 |
| 2006-07 | 1,726,207 | 11,072 |
| 2007-08 | 1,643,104 | 6,540 |

Information on the number of requests rejected is not held for the period before 2004-05.

It is not possible to provide figures on the release of information by telephone as DVLA does not differentiate between telephone enquiries requesting advice and those requesting information from the record e.g. car hire companies or employers acting with the driver's consent.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport on how many occasions in each of the last 10 years an employee of the Driving and Vehicle Licensing Agency has been issued with an (a) oral and (b) written warning for inappropriate use of access to motorists' information; and how many of these occasions has resulted in dismissal. [237824]

Jim Fitzpatrick: DVLA takes its responsibilities in relation to data security and the Data Protection Act very seriously.

The information required is only available from 2004 onwards. This is set out as follows.

| Calendar year | Dismissals |
|---|---|
| 2004 | [1] |
| 2005 | 6 |
| 2006 | [1] |
| 2007 | [1] |
| 2008 | [1] |

[1] Number of dismissals was below five and therefore cannot be disclosed.

In all cases where members of staff have made inappropriate use of motorists information DVLA has dismissed the individual concerned.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Databases

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what databases containing details of registered drivers and vehicles the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency uses in its registration and enforcement capacities; what the stated purpose of each database is; and what procedures exist to ensure that accurate details are (a) maintained on and (b) co-ordinated between the databases. [238845]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Vehicle Register holds information about vehicles and vehicle keepers for the purposes of licensing and registering vehicles, road safety and law enforcement and to support the Government's environmental policies. The accuracy of the Vehicle record is maintained through regular contact with registered vehicle keepers, including annual or bi-annual transactions for the payment of Vehicle Excise Duty.

The driver register holds details of drivers, including driving entitlement, endorsements and medical information for the purposes of licensing drivers and road safety. The accuracy of the driver record is maintained through legal obligations placed on licence-holders to inform DVLA of changes of personal details, and supported by notifications from the police, courts and fixed penalty offices.

The local office casework system is an additional database used to record vehicle excise and registration offences. Information held on this database is used to enforce and prosecute these offences.

The driver and vehicle intelligence database is a database that holds intelligence on suspected fraudulent activity involving driving licence or vehicle transactions. This information is used to aid the prevention, detection and enforcement of vehicle and driver related offences.

DVLA takes the accuracy of information held on all its databases seriously in line with data protection requirements.

It has in place an accuracy programme, involving a wide range of initiatives to build upon and further improve the accuracy of all the information held on its databases.

This initiative will include the identification of opportunities for sharing and cross checking information between DVLA's databases.

Driving Standards Agency

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the current complement of (a) managerial staff, (b) examiners and (c) other staff at the Driving Standards Agency is. [238285]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The current complement of managerial staff, examiners and other staff is shown in the table.

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Managerial staff | 761 |
| Comprised of: | |
| Administration staff of managerial grade | 373 |
| Examiner staff of managerial grade | 388 |
| Examiners | 1,623 |
| Other staff | 381 |
| Comprised of: | |
| Administration staff of non-managerial grade | 328 |
| Support staff | 53 |
| Total staff employed | 2,765 |

Staff employed in a managerial grade position may not necessarily have line manager responsibility for staff.

Examiners of managerial grade sometimes conduct driving and riding tests.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the basic salary is of the Chief Executive of the Driving Standards Agency; what incentive factors apply which allow bonuses or other increments to be paid; and if he will make a statement. [238287]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driving Standards Agency's published annual accounts for 2007-08 report the chief executive's salary, including performance pay as £105,000-£110,000.

Driving Tests

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport on what date it was decided that the Southend-on-Sea driving test centre would close; and who took that decision. [238284]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driving Standards Agency announced a proposal to co-locate Southend-on-Sea driving test centre with the multi-purpose test centre at Basildon on 13 February 2008 seeking views from key stakeholders in keeping with its code of practice by 9 May 2008. 12 weeks were allowed for responses. After careful consideration of these, the Agency's chief executive informed the Minister on 13 August 2008 of her confirmation of this decision.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of receipts from the driving test fee, after it has been increased, will be used to fund the change to the organisation of driving test centres. [238286]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driving Standards Agency estimates the expenditure for changing the organisation of driving test centres at £14.5 million. This represents 10.8 per cent. of its estimated practical test fee income from the April 2009 financial year.

First Great Western

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much public money First Great Western Trains has received in the last 12 months. [238707]

Paul Clark: Subsidy per passenger kilometre is published by the Office of Rail Regulation for all train operating companies in its National Rail Trends Yearbook, which is available at:

http://www.rail-reg.gov.uk/

The most recent figures published are for 2007-08.

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the performance of First Great Western Trains against the objectives set for the operation of the Greater Western rail franchise. [238709]

Paul Clark: Department for Transport officials meet First Great Western at least every four weeks to review overall progress of the franchise. Departmental officials also meet First Great Western at the milestone reporting sessions contractualised in the Remedial Agreement to review progress in reducing train cancellations against the provisions of that agreement. First Great Western is currently compliant with the cancellations reduction trajectory contained in the Remedial Agreement.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what his policy is on the renegotiation of the payments applicable under the franchise award to First Great Western in the light of the extra expenditure they (a) have incurred and (b) expect to incur. [239022]

Paul Clark: It is for First Great Western to bear additional expenditure it decides to incur or which is incurred in remedying breaches of the franchise agreement. The costs of the remedial plan and the associated £29 million package of passenger benefits are wholly for First Great Western to bear.

The Department for Transport bears net incremental costs associated with changes it decides to implement in the franchise or other net costs which are defined as payable by the Department for Transport under the franchise agreement. In particular, should the Department for Transport decide to fund additional rolling stock for First Great Western services under the high level output specification (HLOS) process, the Department for Transport would bear the incremental net costs associated with the procurement and operation of such additional rolling stock.

Heathrow Airport

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the Adding Capacity at Heathrow consultation document, what level of induced demand for air travel he anticipates will be generated by construction of a third runway at Heathrow. [237960]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The level of demand for each sequencing option described in the "Adding Capacity at Heathrow Airport" consultation document is given in the Department for Transport's "UK Air Passenger Demand and $CO_2$ Forecasts" (2007), table 2.13, p. 43. This is available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/aviation/environmentalissues/ukairdemandandco2forecasts/

The following table reproduces the relevant figures for the three options and the 'maximum use' Base Case used in the consultation document.

Constrained terminal passenger demand forecasts, UK, mppa (million passengers per annum)

| | | | | (Nearest 5 million) | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2010 | 2015 | 2020 | 2025 | 2030 |
| Base Case | 270 | 320 | 375 | 415 | 445 |
| Option 1 | 270 | 320 | 375 | 430 | 480 |
| Option 2 | 270 | 320 | 375 | 430 | 480 |
| Option 3 | 270 | 325 | 375 | 430 | 480 |

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he proposes to respond to the letter sent to him dated 23 October from solicitors Harrison Grant acting on behalf of the 2M group, on pollution levels around Heathrow. [237961]

Jim Fitzpatrick: A response was sent on the 14 November by the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs on behalf of both Departments.

Heathrow Airport: Carbon Emissions

Mr. Randall: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate he has made of the likely emissions of carbon dioxide which would arise from use of the proposed third runway at Heathrow Airport in terms of (a) the runway in isolation and (b) the total additional air transport movements in the UK, net of any air traffic switching to Heathrow from other airports for (i) 2020, (ii) 2030, (iii) 2040, (iv) 2050, (v) 2060, (vi) 2070 and (vii) 2080. [234151]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The "UK Air Passenger Demand and $CO_2$ Forecasts" report (2007), annex G, shows carbon dioxide emissions both at Heathrow and nationally, with and without additional capacity at Heathrow airport, for selected years. These results are extended and reported in the following table.

Additional aviation $CO_2$ emissions from a third runway at Heathrow airport, $MtCO_2$

| | Heathrow | UK |
|---|---|---|
| 2020 | 1.0 | 0.2 |
| 2030 | 8.2 | 4.7 |
| 2040 | 7.8 | 4.1 |
| 2050 | 7.4 | 4.0 |
| 2060 | 7.1 | 2.8 |
| 2070 | 6.8 | 2.0 |
| 2080 | 6.5 | 1.9 |

The Government are strongly committed to achieving reductions in carbon dioxide emissions and aims to do so in the most effective way. This is why we have led the debate within Europe to include all flights arriving at and departing from EU airports in the EU Emissions Trading Scheme from 2012 onwards. Any growth in aircraft emissions above the ETS cap will only be possible by the sector paying for commensurate carbon savings made elsewhere in the economy.

Heathrow Airport: Railway Network

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether his support for Crossrail is conditional on a third runway being constructed at Heathrow. [237766]

Paul Clark: There is no connection between the Government's firm commitment to Crossrail—as demonstrated by the funding package announced in October 2007 and the securing of Royal Assent to the Crossrail Bill—and any decision about expansion of Heathrow.

Hotels

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much his Department spent on hotel bills in 2007-08. [237138]

Mr. Hoon: The figures for hotel accommodation expenditure by Department for Transport (central) and six of its agencies are contained in the following table.

| | Hotel accommodation expenditure (£) |
|---|---|
| DfT(c) * | 597,408 |
| Highways Agency | 815,045 |
| Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency | 1,030,000 |
| Vehicle Certification Agency | 131,960 |
| Maritime and Coastguard Agency | 716,601.54 |
| Vehicle and Operator Services Agency | 468,000 |
| Driving Standards Agency | 976,000 |
| Government Car and Despatch Agency | — |

GCDA does not record accommodation expenses separately from other travel costs and could provide the information only at disproportionate cost.

The figures for HA comprise of the cost of accommodation booked through their central booking contract. Any additional costs of accommodation booked direct by travellers could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

The DSA costs were principally for conferences and meetings. The amount spent on hotels through subsistence is estimated.

The costs for VOSA and MCA are partly recovered from fees arising from performing statutory duties.

Motor Vehicles: Accidents

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) accidents, (b) injuries and (c) deaths have been caused by foreign drivers in the UK in each of the last 10 years. [237928]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested is not available.

Motor Vehicles: Licensing

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will provide incentives for people wishing to register their vehicle for statutory off-road notification status to do so at post offices. [239168]

Jim Fitzpatrick: There are no plans to introduce incentives for people to make a Statutory off Road Notification for their vehicle at the Post Office.

Motor Vehicles: Safety

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many of the children killed or seriously injured in cars in (a) 2004, (b) 2005, (c) 2006 and (d) 2007 were wearing (i) no type of restraint, (ii) an adult seat belt and (iii) an appropriate restraint. [239504]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Information on whether restraints were worn or not in reported personal injury road accidents is not collected by the Department.

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what assessment his Department has made of levels of parental awareness of legislation on child car seats; what steps he is taking to ensure that parents are aware of the requirements of legislation on child car seats; and if he will make a statement; [239529]

(2) what research his Department has commissioned on the behaviour of parents in relation to the appropriate restraint of their children in cars. [239531]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Data from October 2006 following a departmental publicity campaign showed that awareness of the legal requirements was 92 per cent. The requirements are summarised on the THINK website at www.dft.gov.uk/think and in leaflets distributed by the Department, around 700,000 of which are ordered annually. There is no specific child car seat campaign running at the moment but the topic is covered in the current THINK parents' campaign.

There is no research specifically on the behaviour of parents in relation to the use of the appropriate child restraint. However, the regular surveys for the Department to observe adult seat belt wearing also include the use of child restraints, as far as is possible from roadside observation points. Results are published—the latest survey in October 2007 (TRL leaflet 2102) is available on-line at:

www.trl.co.uk/store/report_list.asp?pid=211.

The following table summarises the observations.

Network Rail: Finance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the compatibility of the proposed reduction in funding to Network Rail in respect of its engineering possessions strategy, advocated by the Office of Rail Regulation, and his policy of driving Network Rail towards a 24 hour, seven days a week service. [235573]

Paul Clark [holding answer 13 November 2008]: We have made no alterations to the levels of funding committed for the railways in the 2007 White Paper "Delivering Sustainable Railway".

As part of the Periodic Review 2008 process, Network Rail effectively 'bid' for a certain amount of funding over and above that which was committed in the White Paper. On 30 October this year, the independent Office of Rail Regulation (ORR) published its "Determination of Network Rail's outputs and funding for 2009-14", concluding that the funding committed by the Government was sufficient to allow Network Rail to deliver the outputs we have specified.

The Office of Rail Regulation has set Network Rail targets to reduce the disruption to passengers from planned engineering works and to ensure that the level of disruption experienced by freight operators does not increase.

In addition, the Office or Rail Regulation has provided Network Rail with funding for £160 million of capital expenditure and £60 million of additional maintenance and renewal costs in Control Period 4 (2009-14) to help the company meet these targets. It has explained in its determination why it believes the amount Network Rail requested was overstated.

Newport to London Railway Line

Mr. Touhig: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the adequacy of commuter train services between Newport and London. [238708]

Paul Clark: Officials meet First Great Western at least every four weeks to review overall progress of the franchise.

Train services from Newport are included in the Department for Transport's assessment of possible additional rolling stock for First Great Western under the Department's High Level Output Specification programme.

Official Visits

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) whether he has visited (a) Sipson and (b) Harmondsworth on official business since his appointment as Secretary of State for Transport; and whether he intends to visit (i) Sipson and (ii) Harmondsworth with reference to his Department's policy on Heathrow Airport; [237958]

(2) how many visits he has made to the London Borough of (a) Hillingdon, (b) Hounslow, (c) Richmond and (d) Wandsworth on official business since his appointment. [237959]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Secretary of State for Transport has made one visit to the London borough of Hillingdon which included Sipson and Harmondsworth and one visit to Wandsworth.

Oil: Prices

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimates for the price of oil he has used in the past three years when considering wider policy issues. [237760]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department for Transport uses oil price projections from the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR), which will in future be published by the Department of Energy and Climate Change.

These projections can be found at:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/energy/environment/projections/recent/page26391.html.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library a copy of the research underpinning his assumptions on future oil prices contained in the 2003 Aviation White Paper. [237956]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The assumptions concerning future oil prices used to estimate passenger demand for the 2003 Air Transport White Paper are set out in the Air Traffic Forecasts for the United Kingdom 2000 document published by the then Department for the Environment, Transport and Regions, p. 30. This is available at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/aviation/atf/airtrafficforecastsfortheuni281

The then DTI's Energy Projections for the UK, Working Paper, March 2000 document shows the Government's oil price assumptions at the time.

Copies of both these documents are held in the Library of the House.

Operation V79

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether there have been any national programmes aimed at checking compliance with driver and vehicle requirements since Operation V79 in 2006; and what plans he has to initiate future such programmes. [237836]

Jim Fitzpatrick: In March the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) carried out the national drivers and vehicles compliance check (Operation V79) for 2008. The report of the 2008 compliance check, which shows significantly improved levels of compliance, was published on 10 November and is available on the Department for Transport website at:

http://www.dft.gov.uk/pgr/roads/vehicles/roadspolicingoperationv79/roadspolicingoperationv7908.pdf

Operation V79 is normally carried out biennially.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236906]

Mr. Hoon: During the last 12 months (for the period August 2007 to July 2008) the Department for Transport has received fewer than five official complaints of racial abuse. Therefore the details are withheld on grounds of confidentiality.

The standard of behaviour the Department expects of its staff, and how to deal with inappropriate behaviour, are set out in the staff handbook which is available to all staff.

Railways: Finance

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment his Department has made of funding methods for new trains. [237924]

Paul Clark: The financing solutions for new trains are evaluated on a case by case basis, based on value for money and appropriate transfer of risk.

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) what factors he took into account before deciding to advise local authorities seeking Government funding for major transport schemes that local contributions of (a) 25 per cent. for new light rail schemes and (b) 10 per cent. for new non-light rail schemes are required; [238314]

(2) what assessment he has made of the likely effect of the requirement for a 25 per cent. local funding contribution for new light rail schemes on the number of future proposals for new light rail schemes. [238315]

Paul Clark: Since the publication of the Transport 10 Year Plan of 2000, the Department for Transport (DFT) has set a requirement for a 25 per cent. contribution from promoters towards the costs of light rail projects. This requirement reflects the cost and complexity of light rail projects and ensures that the promoter is significantly committed to delivering a project of this scale.

We have no reason to believe that this requirement has led to promoters declining to submit proposals for light rail projects. The Department has received requests for funding from eight separate scheme promoters under these arrangements.

In 2006 the Department introduced a policy of requiring a minimum 10 per cent. local contribution to all major schemes, as part of a range of measures designed to increase the incentive upon local authorities to promote high quality schemes and to deliver them to time and budget.

The requirement for a local contribution, by limiting the DFT contribution, also ensures that more transport projects can be progressed via the Regional Funding Allocation process.

Road Traffic

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimate his Department has made of road congestion levels in (a) Leeds, (b) North Yorkshire, (c) Milton Keynes, (d) Buckinghamshire, (e) South West London, (f) Suffolk and (g) Essex. [237818]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Department monitors congestion, in the form of average person journey times per mile, on key routes during the morning peak (excluding weekends and school holidays) in the 10 largest urban areas in England. The figures for London and West Yorkshire are given in the table following.

Person journeys times and travel, London and West Yorkshire

| | Person journey time (minutes per mile) | | | Person miles |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Baseline[1] | 2006-07 | Percentage change since baseline | Percentage change since baseline |
| London | 3.65 | 3.52 | -3.5 | -2.0 |
| West Yorkshire | 3.83 | 3.91 | 2.2 | 4.9 |

[1] The baseline is a combination of 2004-05 and 2005-06 data. Note that dates shown are academic years (September to August)

Disaggregated figures for south-west London and Leeds are not available. Congestion is not currently monitored centrally in other local authorities. However, the Department's base congestion data are supplied to local authorities, to help them make their own assessments of local congestion. Similarly, congestion estimates for the Strategic Road Network in England are published by the Department, but are not available at a local level.

Road Traffic Offences: Fixed Penalties

Mr. Goodwill: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he expects to be in a position to introduce the graduated fixed penalty and deposit scheme. [238745]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Implementation of the graduated fixed penalty and deposit scheme is a key priority for the Department and we are working hard to ensure that the provisions are brought into force as soon as practicable—and this is likely to be by spring 2009.

Roads

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which Highways Agency Major Schemes projects are in (a) Options and (b) Development stages in the Highways Agency; and what budget is allocated to each of them in (i) 2008-09 and (ii) 2009-10. [239024]

Paul Clark: The following lists give the Highways Agency major schemes in Development and Options phases that had budgets set for the current financial year, 2008-09. The total control budget for 2008-09 set for schemes in Development was £117.3 million and for schemes in Options was £24.4 million.

[1] Scheme forming part of the Managed Motorway Feasibility Study.

In July 2008 nine of these schemes were identified for inclusion in the Managed Motorway feasibility study. These schemes, together with a number of new projects, were allocated a budget of £8 million for the study work, to be funded out of the existing Highways Agency budget.

Throughout the course of the year some new schemes have been introduced into the Options phase and others have moved between phases.

The major schemes programme for 2009-10, and associated scheme budgets will be decided in the new year.

Roads: Accidents

Mrs. Hodgson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many (a) men and (b) women aged between 17 and 21 years were killed in a road traffic accident in each local authority area in England in the last 10 years. [238330]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The information requested has been placed in the Libraries of the House.

Roads: Closures

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will make it his policy to reduce the levy local authorities are able to charge community groups for events which they hold which require road closures. [238407]

Paul Clark: Where a traffic authority closes a road temporarily for a special event, it has the freedom to choose whether or not it recovers its costs from the person promoting the event. If an authority opts to recover costs, the amount of the charge is also at the authority's discretion provided that, when deciding the charge, the authority has regard to the cost of anything that needs to be done in connection with the closure. We consider such decisions should continue to be made at that local level.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what checks are put in place to ensure that objections to stopping up orders are neither fictitious nor vexatious. [239527]

Paul Clark: It is a statutory requirement that the Secretary of State shall publish a notice of his intention to make an order and following which there is a period of 28 days allowed for any person to object to the making of the Order (Town and Country Planning Act 1990 S252 (1)(c) refers).

The Secretary of State must consider all objections which relate to the order matter of stopping up of the highways concerned and the provision of any new highway under the order. No checks are made about the fictitious nature of objectors, or those which might be anonymously made, although objections which are made on grounds not related to the order matter might be disregarded by the Secretary of State.

Roads: Repairs and Maintenance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what proportion of the Highways Agency's (a) administration costs and (b) staff are used on major improvements. [234906]

Paul Clark: The Highways Agency's staff costs associated with delivering major improvements are capitalised and as such accounted for as programme capital expenditure in line with HMT guidance. The amount of staff capitalised against major projects in the last financial year (2007-08) was £14.578 million which represents 11 per cent. of the Highways Agency's total staff costs.

It is not possible specifically to attribute other administrative costs (for example office accommodation) to major improvements, however as these costs tend to track staff costs it would be reasonable to assume the same percentage as above.

10 per cent. of average full-time equivalent staff employed were engaged on delivering major improvements.

Mr. Soames: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will bring forward proposals to include developer works within the scope of the Road Traffic Acts. [238574]

Paul Clark: Developers carrying out work on the public highway are already subject to a range of legal requirements. They can work on the highways only if they have a licence or permission from the local authority in accordance with the Highways Act 1980. Utility companies providing services to a new development do so as in accordance with the requirements of Part 3 of the New Roads and Street Works Act 1991 (NRSWA).

Roads: Urban Areas

Roger Berry: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the recent statement by the Disabled Persons Transport Advisory Committee on shared surface schemes; and if he will call on local authorities to stop introducing such schemes until his Department has completed its proposed research in this area. [235499]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport is aware of and appreciate the concerns of some disabled people regarding shared surfaces, but there is no conclusive evidence to suggest that such schemes are inherently less safe than conventionally kerbed environments. There is a considerable amount of anecdotal evidence that shared space (which includes shared surfaces) is a valuable technique for improving the public realm.

The Department intends to make evidence-based policy in this area. Our intention is to make shared space work for all road users, including disabled people. It is for this reason that the Department is conducting a comprehensive two-year research project into shared space aimed at informing future policy and guidance.

Rolling Stock

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when his Department expects the number of train carriages announced in the high level output specification to be (a) tendered, (b) ordered and (c) in service. [237797]

Paul Clark: Assuming that discussions with the various train operating companies progress to successful conclusions, the Department for Transport would currently expect:

(a) the tendering process for all new carriages to have begun by the end of 2009;

(b) the ordering for all new carriages to have taken place by the end of 2011; and

(c) that all new carriages would be in service by March 2014.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he expects the extra train carriages announced as part of the intercity express programme to be (a) tendered, (b) ordered and (c) in service. [237798]

Paul Clark: The information requested is as follows:

(a) Invitations to Tender were issued in November 2007, with bids returned in June 2008.

(b) It is anticipated that the contract will be awarded during 2009 for the first tranche of IEP routes and for the later tranches of routes by 2012.

(c) Subject to point (b) above, it is anticipated that the first IEP pre-series trains will begin operation in November 2013 with full deployment (across all optional routes) completed by October 2019.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) whether the capital cost of train carriages announced in the (a) high level output specification and (b) intercity express programme will be funded from the public purse; [237799]

(2) whether the capital cost of train carriages announced in the high level output specification and the intercity express programme will be funded through the assumption of contingent liability. [237800]

Paul Clark: Discussions on the provision of additional carriages required to meet the high level output specification are currently being held with train operators. Contractual arrangements for the provision of all carriages have not been finalised.

Capital costs of the Intercity Express Programme are expected to be met by private sector financiers.

Contingent liabilities may sometimes arise as a result of undertakings made in relation to new stock, but no such liabilities have currently been assumed in relation to these carriages.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many of the 1,300 new carriages referred to in the 2007 Rail White Paper have been (a) ordered and (b) delivered; and of these, how many have been allocated to specific lines. [237815]

Paul Clark: A total of 423 new train carriages have so far been ordered to meet the requirements of the high level output specification. The breakdown of these carriages between franchises is as follows:

92 x Class 377 Electric Multiple Unit (EMU) carriages for Southern/First Capital Connect;

140 x Class 350 EMU carriages for London Midland;

106 x Class 390 EMU carriages for West Coast;

69 x Class 172 Diesel Multiple Unit (DMU) carriages for London Midland; and

8 x Class 172 DMU carriages for Chiltern.

Deliveries of these new carriages are yet to commence apart from the London Midland Class 350 carriages, 40 of which are planned to be in service in December 2008.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the answer of 10 September 2008, Official Report, column 2007W, on rolling stock, which train operating companies (a) have and (b) have not ordered their share of the 1,300 new carriages referred to in the Rail White Paper; and what steps his Department is taking to ensure train operating companies procure these extra trains quickly and efficiently. [237834]

Paul Clark: The following train operating companies have already ordered new carriages:

Southern/First Capital Connect—92 carriages;

London Midland—217 carriages; and Chiltern—eight carriages.

In addition, the Department for Transport has ordered 106 carriages for use on the West Coast franchise.

The Department is currently actively engaged with a number of train operating companies, with the aim of reaching agreement that additional rolling stock is procured quickly and efficiently for the benefit of passengers.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many carriages announced in the (a) high level output statement and (b) intercity express programme his Department expects to (i) have been ordered and (ii) be in service by (A) 2010 and (B) 2012. [237644]

Paul Clark [holding answer 20 November 2008]: As regards to the high level output specification, 423 new carriages have already been ordered. Assuming that discussions with the various train operating companies progress to successful conclusions, the Department would currently expect that all new carriages would be ordered by 2012. However, it is not possible to accurately predict how many of these would have been ordered by 2010.

All of the 423 new carriages that have already been ordered are currently planned to be in service by the end of 2010. It is not possible to accurately predict how many of the remaining new carriages will be in service before the end of 2012 as this depends on the outcome of discussions between the Department and train operating companies and also the progress of the various rolling stock procurement, manufacturing and delivery processes.

In terms of the Intercity Express Programme, we expect to award a contract for the first tranche of IEP routes during 2009 and for the later tranches of routes by 2012. The first inter-city express pre-series trains will begin operation in 2013.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many of the train carriages referred to in the high level output statement have been (a) tendered for and (b) ordered. [237642]

Paul Clark [holding answer 20 November 2008]: A total of 423 train carriages have been ordered to meet the requirements of the high level output specification. The tendering process for a further 120 carriages is in progress, with tendering for the remaining carriages expected to begin in the next few months.

Speed Limits: Cameras

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many miles of public carriageways are currently being monitored by speed cameras. [238646]

Jim Fitzpatrick: This information is not held by the Department for Transport. Enforcement is a matter for individual road safety partnerships. They have flexibility to enforce in response to community concerns or at sites where there are speeding problems and a high risk that casualties will occur.

Tolls

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how many of the eight road pricing demonstration schemes will include overlapping charge classes within one charge area as outlined in the Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance; [237816]

(2) how many of the eight road pricing demonstration schemes will include difference charges for (a) vehicle class, (b) user class and (c) time class as outlined in the Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance; and how these classes have been defined for each scheme; [237817]

(3) how many bids for road pricing demonstration projects proposed to track motorists to within five seconds accuracy as outlined in the Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance; [237822]

(4) how many of the eight demonstration schemes proposed to track motorists within five seconds accuracy have been outlined in the Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance; [237825]

(5) during what times of day each of the eight road pricing demonstration projects proposes to operate charges. [237829]

Paul Clark: The Demonstrations Project is now getting under way with two schemes, in each of which the same four contractors will run a demonstration. The Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance, published as part of the ITT in March 2008, set out the full range of capabilities that might need to be explored, but the actual requirements are specified in the first service contracts now agreed with the four appointed Road User Service Providers.

Neither of the two schemes includes overlapping charge classes within one charge area.

The following table defines the time classes for the two schemes that will be demonstrated by the contractors in the first service contract. The two schemes defined for the Demonstrations Project's first service contract have the same vehicle, user and time class parameters.

Time classes are as follows:

| Time class | Description | Time period | Days valid | Time class factor |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | Off peak period | 00:00:00-06:59:59 | Weekdays | 0.5 |
| 2 | Peak period | 07:00:00-09:29:59 | Weekdays | 2.0 |
| 3 | Standard period | 09:30:00-16:29:59 | Weekdays | 1.0 |
| 4 | Peak period | 16:30:00-18:59:59 | Weekdays | 2.0 |
| 5 | Off peak period | 19:00:00-23:59:59 | Weekdays | 0.5 |
| 6 | All day | 00:00:00-23:59:59 | Weekends and bank holidays | 0.5 |

Vehicle classes are as follows:

| Demonstrations vehicle class | Vehicle description | Vehicle class factor |
|---|---|---|
| VC1 | Small passenger vehicles | 1.0 |
| VC2 | Light goods vehicles | 1.5 |
| VC3 | Heavy goods vehicles (over 12t) | 3.0 |

There is only one user class.

The factors to be applied are purely for the purposes of the demonstrations.

The compliance standard outlined in the Demonstration Scheme Template Guidance is intended to reflect the level of performance that a future 'scheme owner' might require in order to have trust in the service. To ensure any charging scheme is accurate and fair it is important that it can identify that a user has entered or exited a charging area at a precise time. The purpose of the timing capability (now revised to 10 seconds) is to ensure that the time class element within the demonstration can be fairly and accurately applied; the demonstration will therefore seek to establish if the contractors' solutions can meet this target standard.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the evidential basis is for his Department's decision to select (a) Leeds, (b) North Yorkshire, (c) Milton Keynes, (d) Buckinghamshire, (e) South West London, (f) Suffolk and (g) Essex areas for road pricing demonstration schemes. [237819]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport did not select the areas to be used for the demonstrations; they are being chosen by our contractors based on the likely whereabouts of their volunteer road users.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the estimated cost is of each road pricing demonstration project; and what proportion of this cost is to be paid by his Department in each case. [237820]

Paul Clark: The estimated cost to the Department for Transport of the two schemes in the first Road User Service Provider demonstration, covering all four contractors, is £10.0 million. The cost of any subsequent demonstrations would only become clear once their scope has been defined.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what the estimated costs are of having the systems proposed in the Road Pricing Demonstration Project externally checked; and what proportion of this cost will be paid for by his Department. [237821]

Paul Clark: The procurement process for the independent contractor to undertake third party assurance of the demonstrations has not yet started. It is therefore too early to give an estimate as to the likely cost, which would be met in full by the Department for Transport.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many road pricing demonstration projects have stipulated (a) a minimum, (b) a maximum and (c) an average charge; and what each of these charges are. [237826]

Paul Clark: The scheme rules for the first two schemes in the Demonstrations Project make no stipulation as to a minimum, maximum, or average charge.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment his Department has made of the effects of road pricing on different sections of society. [237827]

Paul Clark: The impact of any scheme would depend upon its detailed design. The "Feasibility Study of Road Pricing in the UK" published in July 2004 included a preliminary examination of the issues involved. In June 2007 the Department for Transport published an evidence assessment of the Social and Distributional Impacts of Road Pricing, picking up such evidence as is available from schemes around the world.

Transport for London publishes an annual impact assessment of the London Congestion Charge.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he expects to announce the successful bidders for the road pricing demonstration projects. [237828]

Paul Clark: On 15 September 2008 the Government confirmed the names of the companies who will run the Demonstrations Project on road pricing technology. Eight bids were received in response to the Invitation To Tender for the Road User Service Providers Framework, of which four were successful. They were Intelligent Mechatronic Systems (UK), Sanef Tolling Limited, T-Systems Ltd and Trafficmaster plc.

Each of these contractors has now been awarded a first service contract under this framework.

A further three companies—Kapsch TrafficCom Limited, Q-Free ASA and Serco—have been appointed to a separate framework for Compliance Contractors. They will explore how to develop the regime needed in order for both road users and the operators of a scheme to be confident that all the hypothetical charges are being correctly and fairly calculated.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport pursuant to the Answer of 17 September 2008, Official Report, columns 2248-9W, on roads: tolls, whether any of the road pricing demonstrations will not use satellite technology. [237833]

Paul Clark: All four solutions to be demonstrated by our contractors will use satellite technology.

Trains: ICT

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps he is taking to encourage train operating companies to make real time information relating to connecting train services available on trains; and if he will make a statement. [237710]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport is working with the industry to ensure consistent standards of passenger information. National Rail Inquiries have a lead role in providing comprehensive information including real-time train data on their website and direct to mobile phones.

We recognise the importance of the "end-to-end" journey and the need to have fast, accurate and helpful information before and during a journey. An industry-led working group set up at the Government's instigation has been meeting since July to take forward this initiative and to ensure straightforward and effective interchange.

A £1.5 billion project, due for completion in 2012, will improve rail driver to controller communications. Global System for Mobile Communications (GSM-R) will improve contact between drivers, signallers and control centres giving precise information of a train's location. This will allow passengers to receive more timely and accurate real-time information to assist with journey planning both prior to travel and on the train.

Transport: Schools

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) how much each local authority has received as part of the Walking to School initiative in each year since 2001; and if he will make a statement; [236318]

(2) what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the Walking to School initiative; and if he will make a statement; [236319]

(3) how much he expects his Department to spend on Walking to School initiatives in each of the next five years. [236320]

Paul Clark: The first year for which Walking to School Initiatives Grant was payable was 2007-08 and each local authority received the amounts set out in the Walking to School Initiatives Grant Determination 2007: No. 31/590 and Walking to School Initiatives No. 2 Grant Determination 2007: No 31/992, copies of which have been placed in the Libraries of the House. Local authorities did not receive any funding between 2001 and 2007-08.

We have not yet carried out a full evaluation of the Walking to School Initiatives Grant scheme but 72 per cent. of the schools awarded funding for 2007-08 have set up a 'walking bus' or alternative walking initiative and will continue to receive funding in 2008-09 and 2009-10.

We expect to spend £1.78 million on Walking to School Initiatives Grant funding in 2008-09 and up to £1.78 million in 2009-10, in respect of the schools that continue to qualify. Other than this, we have not yet decided what additional funding will be spent on walking to school initiatives in each of the next five years.

Transport: West Yorkshire

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what transport information projects in West Yorkshire have been undertaken under funding schemes sponsored by his Department in each year since its creation. [238536]

Paul Clark: Capital investment in local transport information projects is largely supported through the integrated transport block, which the Department for Transport allocates to support local transport plans. The funding is not ring-fenced to specific types of project, and the Department no longer monitors detailed implementation of information projects which are the responsibility of local authorities.

West Yorkshire Passenger Transport Authority have nevertheless reported the following examples of travel information schemes funded over the 2006-08 period:

Real-time passenger information text messaging;

£3.3 million funding for Disability Discrimination Act compliant rail passenger information screens;

A website for Leeds cyclists providing information, maps and an interactive discussion forum;

A Leeds travel information website providing information ranging from details of road works to CCTV images;

In Wakefield development is under way of a travel information website with details of the Street Works Register, which will include highway authority works, events, road closures, skips etc. plus Highway Agency information on the motorway network.

West Yorkshire also benefits from a number of centrally funded travel information projects, such as Transport Direct, which went live in 2004.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Alcoholic Drinks: Prices

Tim Farron: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what research has been conducted by his Department on the comparative pricing of alcoholic drinks in supermarkets and licensed premises. [236796]

Mr. Thomas: None. The prices an enterprise charges for its products is a commercial matter for the enterprise concerned. Enterprises such as restaurants, pubs and clubs selling alcohol for consumption on their premises are likely to have different cost bases and business models to off licences, shops and supermarkets that sell alcohol for home consumption. Such differences are likely to be reflected in the prices charged to customers.

Competition: Food Supply

Andrew George: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs on the Competition Commission's proposed remedies set out in Chapter 11 of its report into the grocery sector. [238500]

Mr. Thomas: There have been no such meetings. The Competition Commission recommended that DEFRA and BERR should consider the introduction of appropriate measures, including the extension of the Groceries Supply Code of Practice (GSCOP) and the role of the ombudsman or the introduction of a similar, complementary code and arrangements to cover the intermediaries and primary producers. The Government response to chapter 11 was clear in that they would want to see how any change impacts on the operation of the supply chain before considering whether any further action might be necessary.

Corruption

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what contribution his Department is making to cross-departmental anti-corruption initiatives. [235161]

Mr. Thomas: The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform provide the Secretariat to Anti-Corruption Champion, Jack Straw. The Secretariat co-ordinate cross-departmental anti-corruption work and provide the UK delegation to the OECD Bribery Working Group.

BERR provides funding support for the City of London Police's Overseas Anti-Corruption Unit. The Department is also responsible for Global Compact in the UK and has lead responsibility for the UK National Contact Point which implements and promotes the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises.

BERR also have responsibility for raising business awareness and training of Government officials here and abroad. UKTI Defence and Security Organisation continues to encourage the adoption of Common Industry Standards by defence manufacturers and aerospace companies.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237411]

Mr. McFadden: This Departments catering contract is let on a commercial basis. The kitchen area is provided at no charge under the terms of the contract.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service and Companies House and they will respond to the hon. Member directly.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236435]

Mr. McFadden: No surplus land is owned by BERR.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service and Companies House and they will respond to the hon. Member directly.

Departmental Official Visits

David Simpson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much was spent on overnight accommodation by his Department's civil servants in the last 12 months. [228788]

Mr. McFadden: £1,142,183 was spent on overnight accommodation by civil servants within this Department's areas of responsibilities in the last 12 months (October 2007-September 2008). This includes both UK and overseas accommodation.

These data are obtained from the Department's hotel booking agent and its travel agent. The figures will not include any accommodation bookings made outside of these arrangements as this information is not centrally captured.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what proportion of invoices for goods and services procured from small- and medium-sized businesses were paid within 30 days of receipt by (a) his Department and (b) the agencies for which his Department is responsible in 2007-08; and if he will make a statement. [226496]

Mr. McFadden: BERR's payment performance for 2007-08 is reported in the Department's Annual Report and Resource Accounts:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file40578.pdf

(May 2008). Our agencies have their own finance systems and BERR therefore does not have information on their performance.

BERR does not currently publish information about size of suppliers as this does not fully reflect the number and size of businesses engaged in supplying to Government. We do not discriminate by size of business because many SMEs can be found within larger supply chains.

My right hon. Friend the Prime Minister announced during Prime Minister's questions on 8 October 2008 Government are moving to make payment of invoices as soon as possible and within 10 days. In 2007-08 BERR (excluding its agencies, who report separately) paid 58 per cent. of invoices (by volume) within 10 days and the Department is working to improve this as soon as possible. We also currently encourage our leading suppliers to pass on our credit terms and will be working with them to reduce payment times along the entire supply chain.

Departmental Security

Chris Huhne: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many security passes have been reported (a) lost and (b) stolen by staff in (i) his Department and (ii) agencies sponsored by his Department in each year since 2001. [228895]

Mr. McFadden: The number of lost BERR identity passes and those of its predecessor each year since 2001 are set out in the following table. There is nothing on a pass which indicates which buildings or organisations it gives access to.

Specific guidance on safeguarding passes is issued to the individual pass holder with each pass. Lost passes are often found and returned to the Department via an anonymous PO Box number, through an arrangement we have with the Royal Mail.

Lost passes are recorded as a breach of security against the pass holder.

I have approached the chief executives of the Insolvency Service and Companies House agencies and we will place copies of their letters in the Libraries of the House.

| March to February | Passes—lost and stolen |
|---|---|
| 2001 | 98 |
| 2002 | 80 |
| 2003 | 125 |
| 2004 | 120 |
| 2005 | 101 |
| 2006 | 67 |
| 2007 | 32 |
| 2008 to date | 22 |

Fuel Poverty

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what criteria will be used to select fuel-poor areas under the Home Energy Saving Programme; and what the average size of such areas will be. [236757]

Joan Ruddock: I have been asked to reply.

The policy detail of the Community Energy Savings Programme is currently under discussion with stakeholders. The Government will undertake a formal consultation and will seek views on these issues. It would therefore be inappropriate to pre-empt the outcome of this consultation.

Grocery Trade

Andrew George: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what meetings he has had since 1 May 2008 at which the Competition Commission market investigation into the supply of groceries in the UK was discussed. [238156]

Mr. Thomas: BERR Ministers and officials frequently have meetings with a wide variety of organisations in the public and private sectors as part of the process of policy development and delivery on a range of issues. As was the case with previous Administrations, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Home Energy Saving Programme

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what arrangements are in place to fund measures to be introduced under the Home Energy Saving Programme. [236758]

Joan Ruddock: I have been asked to reply.

The increase to the Carbon Emission Reduction Target and the Community Energy Saving Programme will be funded by a proposed obligation on energy suppliers and a new obligation on electricity generators.

Further investment in Warm Front and the increase in cold weather payments are being funded by an additional £90 million of Government expenditure.

Non-domestic Rates: Empty Property

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what representations his Department has received from urban regeneration companies on the effect of changes in empty property business rates. [236520]

John Healey: I have been asked to reply.

The Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government has received one written representation, dated 10 October, from the Urban Regeneration Companies on the impact of empty property rates.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235232]

Mr. McFadden: For the reporting year 2007-08, the latest year for which figures are available, two staff in the Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report.

Post Offices

Andrew George: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what procedures his Department has put in place to enable people in a local community to apply for the opening of a new post office. [237792]

Mr. McFadden: The Government have encouraged Post Office Ltd. to talk to any local authority or community organisation who may wish to fund a local operator to provide Post Office services. Post Office Ltd. has put in place a process for responding to any serious expressions of interest in maintaining post office service provision received.

Public Houses: Closures

Dr. Kumar: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what assessment he has made of trends in the rate of closure of public houses; and if he will make a statement. [232780]

Mr. Thomas: BERR does not collate this information.

Regional Development Agencies: Finance

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much was spent on (a) training and conferences, (b) consultancy fees, (c) general expenses and (d) publications by (i) the North West Regional Development Agency, (ii) One North East, (iii) Yorkshire Forward, (iv) Advantage West Midlands, (v) the East Midlands Development Agency, (vi) the East of England Development Agency, (vii) the South West of England Development Agency, (viii) the South East of England Development Agency and (ix) the London Development Agency in each financial year since their creation; and if he will make a statement. [226755]

Mr. McFadden: The RDAs retain records of the last six years. To provide records before this period will incur disproportionate costs. The following tables show RDA figures for 2002-03 to 2007-08.

RDA expenditure on training and conferences

| RDA | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| AWM | 223 | 204 | 206 | 212 | 165 | 144 |
| EEDA | 225 | 177 | 82 | 205 | 42 | 192 |
| EMDA | 137 | 162 | 144 | 176 | 208 | 226 |
| LDA | [1]0 | [1]0 | 361 | 560 | 877 | 738 |
| NWDA | 486 | 687 | 445 | 193 | 332 | 619 |
| ONE | 176 | 208 | 396 | 543 | 458 | 417 |
| SEEDA | 421 | 533 | 295 | 299 | 404 | 503 |
| SWRDA | 146 | 106 | 115 | 219 | [2]397 | 449 |
| YF | 848 | 703 | 690 | 735 | 510 | 373 |

[1] LDA had different financial recording systems in 2002 and 2003. To provide expenditure on training and conferences would incur disproportionate cost.

[2] As part of SWRDA's Independent Performance Assessment improvement plan, which was signed off by the National Audit Office, the agency provided increased levels of training related to leadership and management for staff in 2006-07 and 2007-08.

RDA Expenditure on consultancy fees[1]

| RDA | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| AWM | 572 | 453 | 672 | 496 | 247 | 312 |
| EEDA[2] | 449 | 282 | 226 | 714 | 563 | 453 |
| EMDA | 621 | 295 | 149 | 228 | 148 | 347 |
| LDA | [3]0 | [3]0 | 335 | 479 | [4]2,062 | [4]1,529 |
| NWDA | 874 | 815 | 792 | 535 | 518 | 833 |
| ONE | 183 | 146 | 200 | 309 | 197 | 181 |
| SEEDA | 110 | 80 | 125 | 98 | 120 | 66 |
| SWRDA | 527 | 431 | 648 | 557 | 281 | 316 |
| YF | 180 | 270 | 296 | 194 | 228 | 390 |

[1] Consultancy fees have been defined as expenditure on services commissioned by the RDA to inform the management of the agency, organisational development, strategy, communicating and marketing. It excludes services for specific programme delivery.
[2] In 2007-08, the figure includes a £144,000 contribution to NWDA for the RDA Evaluation Project.
[3] LDA had different financial recording systems in 2002 and 2003. To provide expenditure on consultancy fees for these years would incur disproportionate cost.
[4] Increased consultancy fees can be explained through a need to quickly ramp up capacity alongside increased agency spending levels. This is particularly applies to the Olympic Bid, Olympic Land Assembly and on other major capital projects such as Wembley Stadium.

RDA general expenses[1]

| RDA | 2002-03 | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |

[1] General expenses include all administrative expenditure, excluding staff costs.
[2] General expenses have been calculated as LDA's policy and programme support spend less staffing costs.
[3] The methodology for measuring general expenses changed after 2003-04. The main reason for the fall in general expenses from 2003-04 levels to those of 2004-05 and onwards is that expenditure on professional fees related to delivery and developments of projects and programmes which had been included in general expenses, has since been included in expenditure on front line delivery.
[4] Due to a change in accounting policy, the 2007-08 figures for General Expenses include costs incurred by subsidiaries of YF to the value of £3,178k. In 2006-07, costs incurred by the same subsidiaries did not have to be included or combined with those of YF and as such the figures for 2006-07 appear lower than those of 2007-08. For comparison purposes, the General Expenses incurred in 2006-07 by Yorkshire Forward's subsidiaries amounted to £3,616k.

RDA Expenditure on publications[1]

[1] Publications have been defined as corporate publications. It excludes ad hoc internal publications.
[2] This figure relates to activity on the agency's land and property portfolio.
[3] Figures for 2002-03 and 2003-04 include programme costs.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the administrative budget is of each of the regional development agencies in (a) 2008-09 and (b) 2009-10. [236756]

Mr. McFadden: The following table shows the administrative budget of each regional development agency in 2008-09 and 2009-10.

Regional Development Agency National Secretariat

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the budget of the Regional Development Agency National Secretariat is for 2008-09. [236080]

Mr. McFadden: The budgeted expenditure forecast for 2008-09 is £690,000.

Grant Shapps: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much the Regional Development Agency National Secretariat has spent on (a) external public relations or marketing companies or consultants and (b) external public affairs companies or consultants in the last period for which figures are available. [236083]

Mr. McFadden: The regional development agencies national secretariat expenditure on:

(a) External public relations or marketing companies or consultants is nil.

(b) External public affairs companies or consultants is £29,307.

Trade: Turks and Caicos Islands

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the monetary value of trade between the UK and the Turks and Caicos Islands in each of the last three years. [238231]

Mr. Thomas: Data on recorded trade in goods with the Turks and Caicos Islands are shown in the following table:

£ million

| | UK exports of goods to Turks and Caicos | UK imports of goods from Turks and Caicos |
|---|---|---|
| 2005 | 3.15 | 0.03 |
| 2006 | 2.24 | 0.10 |

Fuels: Price

Norman Baker: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform on what dates since 1 May 1997 his Department has re-evaluated its oil price projections for 2020; and what the projected figure was on each date. [213489]

Malcolm Wicks [holding answer 24 June 2008]: The following table shows assumptions published by BERR for the crude oil price in dollars per barrel, listed in terms of 2007 prices for consistency. Prior to 2000 fossil fuel prices were projected on a less frequent basis so a 1995 assumption is provided.

Projections of the oil price are made for the purpose of providing assumptions to be used in modelling work within the Department, with the focus on long-term sustainable prices and a range of plausible outcomes. The price assumptions are consistent with similar forecasts made at the time. The current projections are compiled following a Call for Evidence and reflect feedback from stakeholders. BERR has committed to updating these projections roughly twice a year.

Table: Oil price projections for 2020 ($/barrel) in low, central and high scenarios. For comparison all figures have been inflated to 2007 prices using the ONS GDP deflator.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Assistant Regional Ministers

Andrew Mackinlay: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) to what office (a) staff and (b) resources assistant regional ministers are entitled; whether they will have the use of a Government car; and what estimate he has made of the annual cost to the public purse of assistant regional ministers; [231272]

(2) if he will revise the Ministerial Code to take account of the establishment of the post of assistant regional minister; if he will arrange for such assistant ministers to be replaced on select committees to which they have been appointed; and what guidance he has issued to such assistant ministers on their tabling of questions and early-day motions. [231273]

Mr. Byrne [holding answer 28 October 2008]: Parliamentary assistants to regional ministers have a key role in supporting regional ministers in their work for the Council of Regional Ministers. However, they are not members of the Government and as such receive no remuneration for the role. Nor are they allocated a Government car, office or staff. Membership of Select Committees and the tabling of parliamentary questions and early-day motions is principally a matter for the House. There are no plans to amend the Ministerial Code.

Cardiovascular Diseases: Death

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many and what proportion of all deaths in each region were from circulation diseases in the latest period for which figures are available. [238463]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Deaths were included where the underlying cause was due to drug poisoning (corresponding ICD-9 and ICD-10 codes are shown in the following table) and where a drug controlled under the Misuse of Drugs Act 1971 was mentioned on the death certificate.
[2] Figures exclude deaths of non-residents. There were 163 deaths of non-residents from drug misuse in the period 1997 to 2007.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) whether food and drink on sale to staff of the Prime Minister's Office at official premises is subsidised from public funds; [237424]

(2) whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237428]

Kevin Brennan: The Prime Minister's Office forms an integral part of the Cabinet Office.

There is no subsidy from public funds of food and drink on sale to Cabinet Office staff at official premises.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many external consultants work for the Prime Minister's Office. [236648]

Kevin Brennan: The Prime Minister's Office is an integral part of the Cabinet Office and therefore information on external consultants working for the Prime Minister's Office cannot be separated.

The information requested for the Cabinet Office is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years; [237323]

(2) how many full-time equivalent staff in the Prime Minister's Office assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237501]

Kevin Brennan: One civil servant supports the special adviser in the Department, providing administrative support of a non-political nature in accordance with the provisions of the 'Code of Conduct for Special Advisers'. Individual civil servants' salary details are not disclosed in order to protect the privacy of the individual concerned.

The position in relation to No. 10 was set out in the reply given by the then Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (Edward Miliband) to the right hon. Member for Horsham (Mr. Maude) on 17 December 2007, Official Report, columns 1082-83W.

Departmental Research

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what research reports the Cabinet Office has commissioned from external bodies in the last 24 months. [233366]

Kevin Brennan: Cabinet Office units regularly commission research reports from external bodies, relating to areas of Cabinet Office responsibility.

The Department does not hold a central record of all research reports commissioned from external bodies in the last 24 months.

Employment

Chris Grayling: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what his latest estimate is of the number of (a) UK nationals, (b) non-UK EU nationals and (c) non-EU nationals who were in (i) full-time employment and (ii) part-time employment in the UK in each year since 1995; and what the percentage rate of change was for UK nationals in each type of employment as a proportion of the UK working age population in each of those years. [236964]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking what the latest estimate is of the number of (a) UK nationals, (b) non-UK EU nationals and (c) non-EU nationals who were in (i) full-time employment and (ii) part-time employment in the UK in each year since 1995; and what the percentage rate of change was for UK nationals in each type of employment as a proportion of the UK working age population in each of those years. (236964)

The attached tables give the number of people of working age in employment for the categories requested, from July-September 1995 to July-September 2008.

The estimates are derived from the Labour Force Survey (LFS). As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

The figures in the table are derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in autumn 2007. They are not entirely consistent with the figures published in the monthly Labour Market Statistics First Release which are weighted using more up-to-date population estimates.

[7] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates, as described as follows:

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

 5 = CV ≤10 Estimates are considered reasonably precise

 10 = CV ≤20 Estimates are considered acceptable

* CV 20 Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes

It should be noted that the above estimates exclude people in most types of communal establishment (e.g. hotels, boarding houses, hostels, mobile home sites etc.)

Foreign Workers

Mr. Soames: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Hertsmere of 17 January 2008, Official Report, columns 1428-30W, on foreign workers: EU nationals, what the (a) number of people of working age in employment, (b) working age population and (c) working age population employment rate of (i) the UK, (ii) UK citizens, (iii) UK-born citizens, (iv) non-UK citizens and (v) EU A8 citizens was (A) in each year between 1997 and 2001 and (B) in each quarter of 2008 for which figures are available. [238571]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question asking pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Hertsmere of 17th January 2008, Official Report, columns 1428-30W, on foreign workers: EU nationals, what the (a) number of people of working age in employment, (b) working age population and (c) working age population employment rate of (i) the UK, (ii) UK citizens, (iii) UK born citizens, (iv) non-UK citizens and (v) EU A8 citizens was (A) in each year between 1997 and 2001 and (B) in each quarter of 2008 for which figures are available. (238571)

The attached tables give the number of people of working age for the categories requested.

The estimates are derived from the Labour Force Survey (LFS). The figures have been derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in September 2007. These population estimates were incorporated in to the LFS in May 2008; as such the estimates provided to the hon. Member for Hertsmere on 17 January 2008 have been revised. In order to ensure that the estimates are comparable, revised figures for the period 2001 to 2007 have also been provided. As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

As the figures have been derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in autumn 2007, they are not entirely consistent with the figures published in the monthly Labour Market Statistics First Release, or the migrant worker figures published every quarter, which are weighted using more up-to-date population estimates.

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster for what reasons Futurebuilders ended its contract with the charity Catz Club. [233372]

Mr. Byrne: The Futurebuilders Programme is run by Futurebuilders England Ltd. (FBE) under contract to the Cabinet Office. The termination of their relationship is subject to a confidentiality agreement between FBE and Catz Club.

Office of the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman

Stephen Williams: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many staff the Office of the Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman had in each of the last three years; and what the Office's budget was in each such year. [236445]

Mr. Byrne: The Parliamentary and Health Service Ombudsman is an independent statutory office holder. The ombudsman publishes details of staff numbers and budgets in her annual report which is laid before Parliament in accordance with Section 10(4) of the Parliamentary Commissioner Act 1967. Copies of the ombudsman's annual reports are available in the Libraries of the House.

Productivity

Chris Ruane: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the productivity level per worker was in each region in the latest period for which figures are available. [238462]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question on what productivity level per worker was in each region in the latest period for which figures are available. (238462)

The Office for National Statistics does not produce output per worker estimates at a regional level. Output per worker productivity estimates are only available at the UK level with base year 2003=100. Annual productivity statistics at Government Office Region are available for gross value added (GVA) per hour, GVA per job and GVA per head. These are produced with the base being UK=100.

Table 1 attached provides estimates of the index value with UK=100 of GVA per filled job at Government Office Region level for 2006.

Table 1

| Region | GVA per filled job |

Unemployed

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what estimate he has made of the number of people in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK who were unemployed for six months or more in each of the last five years. [237095]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question about what estimate has been made of the number of people in (a) Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK who were unemployed for six months or more in each of the last five years (237095).

The Office for National Statistics compiles employment statistics for local areas from the Annual Population Survey (APS) and its predecessor the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) following International Labour Organisation definitions.

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people aged 16+, resident in (a) the Vale of York constituency and (b) the UK who were unemployed for six months or more in each of the last five years. Estimates are provided for the 12 month period ending in February 2004 from the annual LFS, and for 12 month periods ending in March from 2005 to 2008 from the APS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

Table 1: Number of persons unemployed[1] for 6 months or more resident in (a) Vale of York and (b) UK in each of the last 5 years

| March 2005 | [2]... | 477 |
| March 2006 | [2]... | 561 |
| March 2007 | [2]... | 645 |
| March 2008[3] | [2]* | [2]*645 |

[1] Levels of unemployment are provided for persons aged 16 and over. The figures presented are weighted to population estimates published in 2007.

[2] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates. See Guide to Quality.

[3] Data not available or disclosure.

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5% we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

V

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what funding his Department has provided for the charity v in the last five years; what estimate he has made of (a) the number of volunteers created as a result of such funding and (b) the cost per volunteer created; and what assessment he has made of the effects of diversion and substitution of volunteers resulting from such funding on other charities. [236524]

Kevin Brennan: The Cabinet Office has provided £25,643,000 to v in 2006-07 and £47,175,000 in 2007-08.

(a) Up to the end of September 2008 v had created over 750,000 volunteering opportunities and approximately 251,000 had been completed by volunteers.

(b) Organisations that deliver projects under v involved, the national youth volunteering programme, were expected to apply for funding based on the following costs per volunteer:

| Type of opportunity | Scale of cost per opportunity (£) |
|---|---|
| Full-time—approximately 30 hours a week over a period of not less than 13 weeks | 3,000-5,000 |
| Part-time—a few hours per month up to two or three days per week | 500-1,500 |
| Short term—one off | 50-150 |

v aims to prioritise opportunities for a diverse range of young people including young people in or leaving care, offenders and ex-offenders and people with physical or learning disabilities. Volunteers from these groups can require more support which increases the cost per volunteer.

v is working with existing volunteer involving organisations to inspire a million more young volunteers. The volunteer opportunities that they have created will therefore improve the quantity as well as the quality of the opportunities that are being offered to young people.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Brussels

Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much her Department spent on visits by its staff to Brussels in 2007-08; and how many such visits were made by (a) air and (b) rail. [239417]

Mr. Khan: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Councillors: Isle of Wight

Mr. Andrew Turner: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much the Standards Board for England's investigation into six councillors on the Isle of Wight has cost. [237391]

John Healey: The investigation of these complex cases, which the Isle of Wight council's standards committee invited the Standards Board for England to investigate and which involve serious allegations against a number of councillors, is continuing. Hence, while the final costs have yet to be determined, the Standards Board assesses that some £35,000 in costs have been incurred to date.

Departmental Catering

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether food and drink on sale to staff of (a) her Department and (b) each of its agencies at official premises is subsidised from public funds. [237412]

Mr. Khan: The Department for Communities and Local Government does not subsidise the cost of food and drink to its staff.

Staff at the Fire Service College do receive free issue tea and coffee as part of the overall provision of refreshments to students attending courses.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much (a) her Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on external consultancy in each year since her Department's inception; and if she will make a statement. [239068]

Mr. Khan: Figures for the Department and its agencies expenditure on external consultancy have been published in our Annual Reports for the last two financial years and can be found here:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/archived/publications/corporate/annual-report07

http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/corporate/annualreport08

Figure for earlier years and the Department's wider family of non-departmental bodies could be supplied only at disproportionate cost.

The figure for professional services (excluding research) but including consultancy at the half year mark for the Department alone was £21,862,398 excluding VAT. Of this, Management and IT Consultancy was £20.2 million. Similar figures for agencies and non-departmental Government bodies could be supplied only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much her Department, its predecessor and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237436]

Mr. Khan: The information requested could be provided only at disproportionate cost by the Department.

The Fire Service College spent the following on flat screen TVs in the last three years but has not purchased any DVD players or stereo equipment:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2008 | 1,000 |
| 2007 | 9,000 |
| 2006 | 0 |

The other agencies, Ordnance Survey, Queen Elizabeth II Conference Centre and the Planning Inspectorate could supply this information only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government for which Government websites her Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [239036]

Hazel Blears: For information relating to costs and visitors relating to the Department's main website:

I refer the right hon. Member to the answers given by the hon. Member for Gloucester to the hon. Member for North-East Hertfordshire (Mr. Heald) on 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 119W.

In addition, during the period April 2007 to March 2008, the Department maintained the websites tabled as follows:

| Website | 2007-08 cost (£) | 2007-08 unique visitors |
|---|---|---|

In line with the Government's Transformational Government Strategy to reduce the number of Government websites, some sites closed during the period in question. These sites are not included in the table. Where information is not held in the format required for the period in question, it could be supplied only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Manpower

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many press officers were employed in her Department in each year since 1997-98; what the total cost was in each year; and if she will make a statement. [239115]

Mr. Khan: For press office costs, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) to the hon. Member for Falmouth and Camborne (Julia Goldsworthy) on 17 July 2008, Official Report, column 580W.

For numbers of press officers, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) on 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 14W. For our predecessor Department, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by the hon. Member for Poplar and Canning Town (Jim Fitzpatrick) to the hon. Member for Sutton Cheam (Mr. Burstow) on 20 July 2005, Official Report, column 1772W.

The hon. Member may also wish to refer to the White Book, published by COI. This is available in the Library of the House and contains a listing for members of the Department's Communications Directorate. The book is updated twice yearly.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many staff in her Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [233459]

Mr. Khan: No staff are employed full-time on branding activity.

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much (a) her Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on (i) publicity and (ii) advertising in each year since her Department's inception; and if she will make a statement. [236949]

Mr. Khan: Figures for public information campaigns in the financial year 2007-08 were published in the Department's Annual Report, which is available in the Library of the House and from the Department's website.

For figures relating to previous years, I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Maidenhead, on 27 June 2007, Official Report, column 807W.

Figures for external agencies could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many full-time equivalent staff in her Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237321]

Mr. Khan: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given by my hon. Friend the Member for Gloucester (Mr. Dhanda) on 3 December 2007, Official Report, column 874W.

Departmental Press Releases

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many press releases have been issued by her Department in each year since 1997-98; and if she will make a statement. [239064]

Mr. Khan: The Office of The Deputy Prime Minister was formed in May 2002. It issued the following number of press releases:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| May 2002 to 31 December 2002 | 162 |
| 1 January to 31 December 2003 | 283 |
| 1 January to 31 December 2004 | 332 |
| 1 January to 31 December 2005 | 287 |
| 1 January to May 2006 | 92 |

The Office of The Deputy Prime Minister was succeeded by the Department for Communities and Local Government in May 2006. It has issued the following number of press releases:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| May 2006 to 31 December 2006 | 185 |
| 1 January to 31 December 2007 | 266 |
| 1 January to 19 November 2008 | 275 |

Fire Services: Manpower

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many firefighters per 100,000 residents there were in (a) Staffordshire and (b) the West Midlands in each year since 1997. [237328]

Mr. Khan: Information on the number of firefighters per 100,000 population in Staffordshire and West Midlands fire service areas, is set out as follows.

Firefighters per 100,000 population

Annual returns to Communities and Local Government

Homelessness

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent steps the Government have taken to assist the third sector in providing services to people who are homeless. [237267]

Mr. Iain Wright [holding answer 20 November 2008]: In December 2007 we announced homelessness grant funding of at least £150 million over the next three years to support local authorities to tackle and prevent homelessness in their area. They, in turn, fund the voluntary sector. In addition, we have also allocated over £50 million of homelessness grant over three years directly to the voluntary sector. This £200 million investment is the biggest ever cash injection for homelessness services.

On 18 November we launched a new rough sleeping strategy "No One Left Out: communities ending rough sleeping" which is a 15 point action plan that sets out our vision to work with partners to end rough sleeping by 2012. This includes action to develop a community training programme for local community and faith-based groups who work with rough sleepers, to support these groups and to strengthen the skills and knowledge they need for their work. This will build on existing training resources already being delivered through the faith based and community sector.

We have also funded 258 projects through the £170 million Places of Change programme and its predecessor, which improve hostels and day centres used by rough sleepers through local authorities working in partnership with voluntary organisations.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps the Government are taking to reduce levels of street homelessness in the west midlands. [237269]

Mr. Iain Wright [holding answer 20 November 2008]: We have long recognised that the most visible form of homelessness is that of people sleeping on the streets. In 1998 the then Prime Minister set a target that by 2002 the number of rough sleepers should be reduced by at least two thirds. The target was met ahead of time and is being sustained.

Clearly there is more to be done to help those in need and to drive down rough sleeping numbers to as close to zero as possible. Therefore, on 18 November, we launched a new rough sleeping strategy "No One Left Out: communities ending rough sleeping" which is a 15 point action plan that sets out our vision to work with partners to end rough sleeping by 2012.

In addition, we have announced £200 million funding for local authorities and the voluntary sector over the next three years to help prevent homelessness and tackle rough sleeping. This is the biggest ever cash injection for homelessness services. We have also funded 258 projects through the £170 million Places of Change programme and its predecessor, with over £13 million invested in 16 projects in the west midlands.

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if she will remind local authorities of their obligations to properly consider all the circumstances when people become homeless following repossession due to mortgage arrears and that a presumption of intentional homelessness is unlawful in such circumstances. [237253]

Mr. Iain Wright: We are working closely with all English local housing authorities to assist them in providing advice and assistance to households threatened with homelessness as a result of mortgage repossession, in particular to help them prepare for implementation of the new £200 million mortgage rescue scheme announced on 2 September. This includes briefing local authorities, through a series of regional summits, on their obligations under the homelessness legislation (part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) to households who become homeless following repossession.

Housing: Low Incomes

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many social housing tenants applying for a housing transfer did so on medical grounds in each of the last five years. [237260]

Mr. Iain Wright: This information is not available in the format requested.

Housing: Planning

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mechanisms are in place to assess housing demand when considering housing targets in Planning Policy Statement 3. [238565]

Mr. Iain Wright: 'Planning Policy Statement 3; Housing' requires that strategic housing market assessments be completed to establish the housing need and demand in an area. This evidence should be used to inform housing targets set in regional spatial strategies and local development documents.

Local Government: Procurement

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what plans she has to promote the use of whole-life costing in local government procurement. [236825]

John Healey: Subject to their legal duties local authorities are responsible for taking their own procurement decisions. Existing guidance from Communities and Local Government states that for most best value contracts, awarding on the basis of 'lowest price' is unlikely to be satisfactory. The best value option will involve other factors such as whole life cost, quality and service delivery.

Local Government: Telephone Services

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which local councils operate free financial advice helplines. [237265]

Mr. Khan: The information requested is not held by Communities and Local Government.

National Clearing House Scheme

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homes in each (a) region and (b) local authority area have been brought under the National Clearing House scheme. [238704]

Mr. Iain Wright: In May, the Government announced a plan to take advantage of market opportunities to bring private sector developer stock into the affordable housing sector by providing £200 million of funding through the Housing Corporation's national Affordable Housing Programme (AHP) for the purchase of homes from house builders.

To help facilitate this, the Housing Corporation set up the National Clearing House to streamline initial assessment of national packages of at least 250 units from private sector house builders. Housing Corporation investment partners, mainly registered social landlords, wishing to buy smaller number of units from developers could bid for funding directly to the Corporation in the normal way.

A table showing the distribution of units purchased, and the grant allocated as at the beginning of November by the Corporation for the purchase, by local authority area and region has been deposited in the Library.

Non-domestic Rates: Ports

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many times the Valuation Office has increased the business rates in UK ports by (a) 50 per cent., (b) 75 per cent. and (c) 100 per cent. over the last three years; and if she will make a statement. [238153]

John Healey: Valuation officers are required to maintain accurate rating lists. When they become aware a change is needed through amendment of an existing entry or insertion of a new entry, they must make the alteration and specify the date from which the change is effective. They are not responsible for calculating actual rate liabilities or collecting amounts due, which are the responsibility of local (billing) authorities.

There are seven ports in England and Wales where proposed changes to the rating lists have been actioned and result in net increases in the aggregate rateable values for port operators and occupiers of 50 per cent. or more. Of these, one would increase by more than 75 per cent. and two by more than 100 per cent. Under rating legislation, operators and occupiers have rights of appeal against the respective valuation officers' proposals and so the final outcomes may vary.

Derek Wyatt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what change there has been in levels of business rates in the last 12 months; and what assessment she has made of the effect of that change on small and medium sized businesses based in ports. [238279]

John Healey: An assessment cannot be made of the impact on individual businesses as there are too many variables relating to business eligibility for rate relief, and any successful appeals to valuations.

North Yorkshire Fire and Rescue Service

Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what the (a) Government grant and (b) budget for North Yorkshire fire and rescue service has been in (i) cash and (ii) real terms in the last 20 years; and how much it is in 2008-09; [236562]

(2) what the percentage increase each year and cumulatively in the (a) Government grant and (b) overall budget of (i) North Yorkshire fire and rescue service and (ii) all fire and rescue services in England in (A) cash and (B) real terms was in each of the last 20 years; and what it was in 2008-09. [236563]

Mr. Khan [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The net current expenditure on fire and rescue services for North Yorkshire fire and rescue service and England in cash and real terms since the establishment of North Yorkshire fire and rescue service in April 1996 are tabled as follows.

Comparisons across years may not be valid due to changing local authority responsibilities.

Information for North Yorkshire fire and rescue service prior to 1996-97 is not available as this authority did not exist prior to April 1996.

[1] Provisional outturn
[2] Budget estimates.
Source:
Communities and Local Government Revenue Outturn (RO) and Revenue Account (RA) Budget returns and HM Treasury GDP deflators.

The current expenditure defined here is the cost of running local authority services within the financial year. This includes the costs of staffing, heating, lighting and cleaning, together with expenditure on goods and services consumed within the year. This expenditure is offset by income from sales, fees and charges and other (non-grant) income, to give net current expenditure.

The net current expenditure figures are produced on a non-Financial Reporting Standard (FRS) 17 basis.

The real terms figures at 2007-08 prices have been calculated using the latest GDP deflators.

Central Government grant is defined here as the sum of formula grant (Revenue Support Grant and redistributed non-domestic rates) and specific grants inside Aggregate External Finance (AEF), i.e. revenue grants paid for council's core services. It excludes grants outside AEF (i.e. where funding is not for authorities' core services, but is passed to a third party, for example, rent allowances and rebates), capital grants, funding for the local authorities' housing management responsibilities and those grant programmes (such as European funding) where authorities are simply one of the recipients of funding paid towards an area.

The information on central Government grant for England is not available as it is not possible to separately identify the funding for fire and rescue service. This is because the formula grant is unhypothecated.

Government grant data for North Yorkshire fire and rescue service are available from 2004-05 onwards when it became a precepting authority. Before this, it levied on the county council's budget requirement and did not receive direct grant from the Government.

Regional Planning and Development: Railways

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the cost was of the public inquiry into the Radlett rail freight proposals held in December 2007. [238722]

Mr. Iain Wright: There is no figure available which sets out the overall cost of the inquiry.

Sleeping Rough: North Yorkshire

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the number of rough sleepers there were estimated to be in each district in North Yorkshire in each of the last five years. [239436]

Mr. Iain Wright: The number of rough sleepers in North Yorkshire based on rough sleeper counts by individual local authorities for the last five years is as follows:

| | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 |

South East Plan

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government pursuant to the answer of 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 397W, on South East Plan, whether her Department circulated information about the South East Plan or the consultation on the South East Plan to (a) individual residents, (b) Guildford Borough Council, (c) Waverley Borough Council, (d) Surrey County Council, (e) local newspapers and (f) other advertising outlets. [238777]

Mr. Khan: The draft South East Plan and earlier rounds of consultation were co-ordinated by the South East regional assembly, and a pre-submission consultation statement containing details of how they consulted can be found on their website at:

http://www.southeast-ra.gov.uk/southeastplan/plan/view_plan.html

We notified all of those who took part in earlier rounds of consultation, or took part in the Examination in Public that the consultation documents were available. This involved writing to some 8,000 addresses in the south-east of England.

A press notice was issued to local news desks and placed on the Government Office website as well as the website of the regional assembly.

A news article setting out the process and consultation details was included in the Government Office for the South East partners newsletter and was distributed to approximately 1,100 regional partners and stakeholders.

Anne Milton: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government on what date the revised South East Plan will be published. [238828]

Mr. Khan: The Secretary of State expects to publish the South East's regional spatial strategy in the spring of 2009.

Travelling People

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many authorised sites for Gypsies and Travellers are provided by local authorities in (a) Essex, (b) Suffolk, (c) Norfolk, (d) Kent, (e) Hertfordshire, (f) Berkshire, (g) Cambridgeshire and (h) Greater London. [237785]

Mr. Iain Wright: The bi-annual count of Gypsy and Traveller caravans provides information on local authority Gypsy and Traveller sites. This is available on our website at:

www.communities.gov.uk.

The number of authorised local authority sites as at January 2008 was as follows:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Essex | 14 |
| Suffolk | 1 |
| Norfolk | 6 |
| Kent | 16 |
| Hertfordshire | 11 |
| Berkshire | 8 |
| Cambridgeshire | 14 |
| Greater London | 34 |

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many cases of compulsory purchase of land there have been in England in order to build publicly-owned Gypsy and Traveller sites in the last 10 years. [237786]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not held centrally. The exercise of compulsory purchase powers is a matter for individual local authorities.

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many authorised private Gypsy and Traveller sites there are in England. [237787]

Mr. Iain Wright: As at January 2008 there were 1,315 authorised private Gypsy and Traveller sites in England.

ENERGY AND CLIMATE CHANGE

Biofuels

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change (1) what recent discussions he has had with the Secretary of State for Transport on biofuels; [236404]

(2) what discussions officials in his Department have had with officials in the Department for Transport on biofuels. [236405]

Joan Ruddock: The Department is in regular contact with the Department for Transport and its agencies, at both ministerial and official levels, to discuss a range of issues, including biofuels.

British Energy: EDF

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on which occasions Ministers in his Department have met senior executives of (a) British Energy and (b) EDF since its establishment. [231795]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 364W.

British Energy: Nuclear Liabilities Fund

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change whether the Nuclear Liabilities Fund plans to sell its British Energy bonds as part of the deal announced on 24 September 2008. [234613]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: British Energy (or any new owner) has the right to require the NLF to sell its bonds should it wish to repurchase them, and in any case would be required to offer to repurchase bonds due to the change of control of the company. Any decision as to whether to dispose of the bonds following such an offer would be a commercial matter for the Nuclear Liabilities Fund, in consultation with the Secretary of State.

Carbon Emissions: Housing

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many energy efficiency measures have been installed under the (a) Carbon Emissions Reduction Target and (b) Decent Homes programme in England in each (i) Government Office region, (ii) local authority area and (iii) constituency. [234686]

Joan Ruddock: Ofgem, which administers the carbon emissions reduction target (CERT) scheme for the Government, have said that there have been 28,136,069 measures for the period covering the first two quarters of CERT. This figure is not exhaustive as suppliers only report on the major measures such as insulation and compact fluorescent lamps at this point of the programme.

Under CERT, Ofgem is only required to monitor energy suppliers' activity across Great Britain as a whole.

Decent Homes is administered by Communities and Local Government.

Carbon Emissions: Local Authorities

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will list the local authorities he expects to fall within the scope of the Carbon Reduction Commitment; and if he will make a statement. [236776]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 18 November 2008]: Local authorities, as with all other participants in the Carbon Reduction Commitment, will be included if they meet the threshold of electricity consumption of 6000 MWh measured through half hourly meters during 2008. It will be for the local authorities themselves to assess their electricity consumption to establish whether they are above the threshold. DECC does not therefore have a list of local authority or other participants at this stage, though we expect most top tier authorities will be included.

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when he expects the Carbon Reduction Commitment to apply to local authorities; what piloting of the scheme has taken place in (a) England, (b) Wales and (c) Scotland; whether permits will be allocated or auctioned; and if he will make a statement. [236777]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The Carbon Reduction Commitment will begin in April 2010. The first phase, between April 2010 and March 2013, will be an introductory phase in which an unlimited number of allowances will be sold at a fixed price. This will allow participants to gain experience of the scheme before the "capped" phases begin in April 2013. There are no pilots of the scheme in operation. Allowances will be sold at a fixed price in the first phase and auctioned in subsequent phases rather than allocated.

Carbon Sequestration

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many responses he has received to his consultation on carbon capture readiness; if he will list those responses and summarise their contents; what steps he now intends to take on the matter; and if he will make a statement. [238061]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Seventy-nine responses were received to the "Towards Carbon Capture and Storage" consultation which covered carbon capture readiness for new power stations among other topics. These responses are now being carefully analysed and considered. A list of respondents, together with a summary of their comments will be included as part of the Government's response to the consultation which will be published in due course.

Climate Change Group

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will place in the Library an organisational chart for the Climate Change Group. [236597]

Joan Ruddock: The detail of the future organisational structure of the Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC) is currently being determined, following its creation on 3 October 2008. The organisational chart will be placed in the Library in due course.

Climate Change: Local Area Agreements

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what progress has been made towards the climate change objectives included in the 2008 local area agreements. [236403]

Joan Ruddock: Progress by local authorities and their partners against climate change targets included in local area agreements for the period 2008-11, which were put in place in June 2008, will be assessed by the Audit Commission through the comprehensive area assessment process, to commence in April 2009.

Departmental Manpower

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report from the Department by which they were previously employed in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235226]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Department for Energy and Climate Change (DECC) came into existence on 3 October 2008 and the list of staff who will be moving to the new Department is still being finalised. It is therefore not currently possible to provide a definitive answer to this question.

The Departments for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) and for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA) will be replying separately to this question. Their answers will cover all staff who were in those Departments at the end of the 2007-08 reporting year (the latest year for which figures are available), including those staff who have now moved to DECC.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff has been since his Department's creation. [237463]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: One member of staff deals with branding activity which occupies less than 30 per cent. of this member of staff's time. The Department of Energy and Climate Change (DECC) was formed on 3 October 2008 and since then the cost of employing staff to do branding activity, based on average staff costs, has been approximately £3,000.

Departmental Microgeneration

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what progress has been made on the installation of microgeneration and renewable technologies on the Departmental estate. [236395]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: DECC has been working with DEFRA estates, which maintains 3-8 Whitehall Place, in considering the application of various technologies that would improve the energy efficiency of the building. DECC intends to implement the guidance provided in Good Practice Guide 286—Energy Performance in the Government's Civil Estate. As well as considering ways to improve the building's energy efficiency, we are also looking for opportunities to reduce our carbon, energy and water consumption through changes to the way in which we work. However the use of micro generation and onsite renewables at this building, with its central London location, is unlikely to be viable. 100 per cent. of the electricity supplied to 3-8 Whitehall Place is however generated from renewable sources. Electricity for other DECC locations, including Atholl House and temporary accommodation in Ergon House and 1 Victoria Street, is procured under a green tariff. In addition, DECC is considering the feasibility of the connection of 3-8 Whitehall Place to the Whitehall District Heating System.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been since the establishment of the Department. [238169]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: None.

Energy Supply: Consumers

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what guidance his Department provides to energy suppliers on provision of notice periods to allow the cancellation of business or household energy supply contracts in the event of significant price rises. [234741]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: None. It is for Ofgem to provide any guidance.

Energy Supply: Fuel Poverty

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the expenditure by the six largest energy suppliers on social tariffs for their customers in the last 12 months; how much of such expenditure has been incurred as a result of the agreement between the energy companies and the Government on social tariffs; and if he will make a statement. [234663]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 10 November 2008]: Ofgem published its first Review of Suppliers' Voluntary Initiatives to Help Vulnerable Customers on 6 August 2007, which covered the period to July 2007. Ofgem updated this report in October 2007. Both reports can be found online at:

http://www.ofgem.gov.uk/Sustainability/SocAction/Suppliers/CSR/Documents1/Review%20of%20suppliers%20voluntary%20initiatives.pdf.

http://www.ofgem.gov.uk/Sustainability/SocAction/Suppliers/CSR/Documents1/CSR_update%20open%20letter%2023507.pdf

The reports show that, at that time, the savings to customers from being on a social tariff was estimated to be just under £25 million. Annex 1 of the update shows suppliers' own estimates on their spend on social tariffs which totals just over £26 million.

Following the announcement in Budget 2008, energy suppliers agreed in April, to increase how much they are spending on social programmes. This year they will be spending collectively £100 million, rising to £125 million in 2009-10 and £150 million in 2010-11.

Expenditure on social tariffs during the first year of the voluntary agreement will be published in Ofgem's next reporting cycle in 2009. However, early indications from suppliers show that since this time last year the numbers of customer accounts on social tariffs have at least doubled.

Ofgem will shortly be publishing a report on suppliers' social programmes, including their social tariffs, for the period to the end of March 2008.

Energy: Conservation

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what strategies his Department has in place to reduce energy consumption by high street shops; what targets are in place as part of those strategies; and what progress is being made in reaching these targets. [237761]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Government have in place a variety of measures aimed at improving energy efficiency in businesses of all sizes, including retail outlets.

The Carbon Trust works with business and the public sector, helping organisations to cut their energy bills and carbon emissions. The Carbon Trust provides a number of services including energy efficiency advice and interest free energy efficiency loans for small and medium-sized enterprises. In 2007-08, the Carbon Trust helped customers implement energy and carbon saving measures resulting in some £207 million savings from their annual costs and since inception has helped deliver cost savings of nearly £1 billion. The Trust is also working with the British Retail Consortium to support its new Climate Change initiative "A Better Retailing Climate" which details the BRC's commitment to lowering emissions across the retail sector through a suite of initiatives, including reducing emissions from buildings by 15 per cent. by 2013.

The Carbon Reduction Commitment (CRC) is a new mandatory emissions trading scheme that will cover large businesses, including large retailers and will start in 2010. The CRC will have a significant impact on reducing UK carbon emissions and offers the potential to save money through energy efficiency. Analysis indicates that, by driving energy efficiency, the CRC will deliver emissions reductions cost-effectively, saving participants money, and enabling green growth—yielding a positive net present value to participants of £755 million.

Energy: Consumption

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change on what evidence and analysis the final energy consumption projection for 2020 of 1,740 TWh in the Energy White Paper was based. [236481]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The projection of final energy consumption of 1,740 TWh is based on energy projections informing the Energy White Paper in May 2007 and published as a supporting document. The figure of 1,740 TWh quoted is based on the Eurostat definition of "final energy consumption" which includes energy losses by generators and defines final energy consumption on a "net calorific" rather than a "gross calorific" basis.

The Energy White Paper projections are provided by the Department's energy model and were published alongside the Energy White Paper. The energy model is a model of the UK energy market. Energy demand is modelled based on historic relationships between energy demand and key assumptions on economic growth, population and energy prices. The projections of future consumption take account the existing policy measures. The projections based on a range of assumptions to reflect uncertainty. Details of the assumptions are included in the publication http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file39580.pdf.

I am placing a copy of the information in the Libraries of the House.

Energy: Prices

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what steps are being taken to ensure energy customers are informed of proposed price increases by energy suppliers before entering into lengthy contracts. [234740]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: In the domestic sector, longer term contracts are typically at a fixed price, which provides customers with more certainty about their future expenditure. In the business sector, contract may be on a fixed or variable basis. It is for the business customer to consider the range of offers by suppliers. Variable price contracts will change according to a range of factors including movements in wholesale prices. A supplier can therefore, only provide a prospective customer with a price at a particular time. That price may subsequently rise or fall.

Fuel Poverty

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change who he expects to conduct the street-by-street visits in fuel-poor areas under the home energy saving scheme; and what information will be (a) collected and (b) stored. [236760]

Joan Ruddock: The policy detail of the Community Energy Savings Programme is currently under discussion with stakeholders. The Government will undertake a formal consultation and will seek views on these issues. It would therefore be inappropriate to pre-empt the outcome of this consultation.

Fuel Poverty: Barnet

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will assess the effect of increasing energy prices on people living in Chipping Barnet constituency as part of his Department's work on fuel poverty. [237917]

Joan Ruddock: The most recent fuel poverty estimates are available for 2006 in the Sixth Annual Progress report on the Fuel Poverty Strategy:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/files/file48036.pdf

These show that in the UK, there were around 3.5 million households living in fuel poverty in 2006 and around 2.4 million in England. The statistical annex to this report gives indicative projections for fuel poverty in England. These show an estimated further 1.2 million households moving into fuel poverty between 2006 and 2008, largely due to fuel price increases. Projections are not made below national level.

The Government will continue to keep fuel poverty policies under constant review to ensure that the Fuel Poverty Strategy and the Government's policies, initiatives and measures are fit for purpose to respond to new challenges.

Global Threat Reduction Programme

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the progress of the Global Threat Reduction Programme towards the commitments made at the G8 Summit in Kananaskis. [236397]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Global Threat Reduction Programme (GTRP) constitutes the UK contribution to the 'Global Partnership' a 10-year, $20 billion international programme established as a G8 Initiative at the Canadian G8 Summit in Kananaskis in 2002 to prevent the proliferation of dangerous nuclear, radiological, chemical and biological materials and expertise. The Department is responsible for the nuclear and radiological elements of this international programme, MOD is responsible for the chemical and biological aspects and the policy lead for all non-proliferation work is provided by FCO.

The then Prime Minister committed the UK to contribute up to $750 million between 2002 and 2012, and over halfway through the programme, the UK has spent over £230 million (equivalent to $350 million at 2002 rates) in achieving these international threat reduction programme initiatives.

The Government publish an annual report which provides an assessment of the progress being made by the UK's portfolio of projects. Copies are available in the Libraries of the House and can be viewed online from:

http://www.berr.gov.uk/whatwedo/energy/nonproliferation/globalthreatreduction/arenglish/page40802.html

The annual report for 2008 is being prepared with expected publication in early 2009.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people have received a Warm Front scheme grant in (a) Houghton and Washington East constituency, (b) Sunderland, (c) the North East and (d) England in each year since its inception. [235903]

Joan Ruddock: The following table illustrates the number of households assisted in (a) Houghton and Washington East constituency, (b) Sunderland, (c) the North East and (d) England in each full year since the schemes inception

| | Houghton and Washington East | Sunderland (local authority) | North East England | England (all) |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 325 | 1,126 | 12,435 | 97,616 |
| 2001-02 | 647 | 3,298 | 39,061 | 307,678 |
| 2002-03 | 609 | 2,899 | 21,116 | 219,328 |
| 2003-04 | 726 | 2,523 | 20,390 | 188,974 |
| 2004-05 | 449 | 1,622 | 15,420 | 208,084 |
| 2005-06 | 372 | 1,347 | 11,418 | 173,184 |
| 2006-07 | 769 | 2,943 | 20,683 | 253,079 |
| 2007-08 | 733 | 2,478 | 18,865 | 268,900 |

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much has been paid to Eaga plc for delivery of Warm Front grants to households in each of the last five years. [235968]

Joan Ruddock: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer given to my hon. Friend for Warwick and Leamington (Mr. Plaskitt) on 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1137W.

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many Warm Front grant contracts have been awarded to installers (a) owned by and (b) connected to Eaga plc. [235995]

Joan Ruddock: Eaga, as main contractor for the Warm Front scheme, agreed with the Department at the outset of its contract in 2005 that a total of 30 per cent. of scheme capacity would be carried out by Eaga's in-house installers.

Throughout the contracted scheme period (June 2005 and October 2008) 27 per cent. of jobs allocated have gone to Eaga's in-house contractors.

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many homes in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency have received home insulation through the Warm Front scheme. [235998]

Joan Ruddock: 1,032 households received an insulation measure through the Warm Front Scheme in Bexleyheath and Crayford constituency between 1 June 2000 and 28 July 2008.

Eaga plc continue to provide regular updates of Warm Front installation figures to every MP in England delivered through individual constituency websites.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the average period under the Warm Front scheme between qualification and installation of (a) a boiler, (b) draught excluders and (c) insulation was at the latest date for which figures are available. [236511]

Joan Ruddock: Under the Warm Front scheme the average waiting time to complete heating and insulation jobs, from the identification of required works, in the current scheme year (1 April 2008 to 25 October 2008) was 63 working days and 38 working days respectively.

Timelines contracted with the Department are 120 working days for heating measures and 40 working days for insulation measures.

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change when the contract to supply Warm Front services is next due to be put out to tender. [236522]

Joan Ruddock: The current contract with Eaga plc runs until 2010 with an option to extend for a further two years. A decision on whether or not to exercise this option will be taken in due course.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what average price was quoted by Eaga contractors under the Warm Front scheme for the installation of (a) loft insulation, (b) boiler replacement, (c) draft excluders and (d) double glazing in the latest period for which figures are available. [236610]

Joan Ruddock: Prices are commercially sensitive, however all works undertaken by the warm front scheme are subject to a harmonised pricing structure. This framework mandates a regional equalisation of costs of all insulation and heating jobs undertaken through the scheme.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many and what proportion of successful applicants to the Warm Front scheme received a grant worth the full cost of the quote for works to their home in the latest period for which figures are available. [236611]

Joan Ruddock: Over the current scheme year 2008-09, 1 April to 25 October, 108,887 households have been assisted by the Warm Front scheme. 72,630 (67 per cent.) of these households had their work covered entirely by the grant allocation.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many households in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England have received Warm Front grants in each year since the establishment of the scheme. [236712]

Joan Ruddock: The following table illustrates the number of households assisted by the Warm Front scheme in (a) Crosby constituency and (b) England in each full year since the scheme's inception.

| Scheme year | Crosby constituency | England (all) |
|---|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 160 | 97,616 |
| 2001-02 | 523 | 307,678 |
| 2002-03 | 622 | 219,328 |
| 2003-04 | 553 | 188,974 |
| 2004-05 | 402 | 208,084 |
| 2005-06 | 417 | 173,184 |
| 2006-07 | 542 | 253,079 |
| 2007-08 | 493 | 268,900 |

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many applicants for a Warm Front grant aged (a) under and (b) over 60 years were informed that they (i) would and (ii) would not need to pay a contribution towards warm front funded improvements in each year since the introduction of contributions. [236741]

Joan Ruddock: The following table illustrates the number of contributions requested of Warm Front customers aged (a) under and (b) over 60 years of age since contributions were introduced to the scheme.

| | Scheme year | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 (to 25 October) |
| (a) Contributions requested of under 60s | 4,321 | 16,481 | 28,445 | 14,167 |
| (b) Contributions requested of over 60s | 6,402 | 21,959 | 38,201 | 21,356 |
| All contributions requested | 10,723 | 38,440 | 66,646 | 35,523 |
| Total households assisted | [1]14,595 | 253,079 | 268,900 | 108,887 |

[1] Households assisted in this scheme year once client contributions were introduced.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how much was paid in Warm Front grants to residents in Crosby constituency in 2007-08. [236713]

Joan Ruddock: In the period 1 April 2007 to 30 March 2008, £877,955.86 was spent on measures delivered through the Warm Front scheme to residents of Crosby constituency.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: Greater London

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people who have qualified for energy efficiency improvements under the Warm Front scheme in each London borough were waiting for those improvements to be made at the latest date for which figures are available. [236509]

Joan Ruddock: The following table illustrates the number of main measures (a heating or insulation-related job) allocated by the Warm Front scheme in its current contracted period, in each of the London boroughs, and those that have not been invoiced for, as at 16 November 2008.

| Local authority | Main measures allocated in the current contracted period, June 2005 to November 2008 | Main measures allocated but not invoiced, as at 16 November 2008 |

| Waltham Forest | 2,015 | 192 |
| Wandsworth | 714 | 110 |
| Westminster | 208 | 26 |

Notes:
1. As households can receive both heating and insulation measures, figures in this table are not comparable with the number of households awaiting measures.
2. The lack of invoice for a job is not necessarily related to whether the work has been physically carried out.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many people have (a) applied and (b) qualified for help under the Warm Front scheme in each London borough since the establishment of the scheme, broken down by age of applicant. [236510]

Joan Ruddock: A table illustrating (a) the number of households making applications to the Warm Front Scheme and (b) those eligible for assistance, broken down by London borough and age group, over the period 1 June 2000 and 16 November 2008, has been placed in the House Libraries.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: North Yorkshire

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many households in the Vale of York have received Warm Front grants in each of the last three years; and how many he estimates will have received grants before the end of March 2009. [236247]

Joan Ruddock: The following table illustrates the number of households assisted by the Warm Front scheme in the Vale of York in each of the last three years.

The number of households that will be assisted by March 2009 is entirely dependent on the number of households that apply and whether they are eligible

| Scheme year | Assisted households |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 159 |
| 2006-07 | 386 |
| 2007-08 | 447 |

Ministers: Cabinet

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change which Cabinet committees and sub-committees he attends. [227124]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I refer the hon. Member to the Prime Minister's written ministerial statement of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 8WS.

Natural Gas: Storage

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the total capacity is of proposed gas storage projects which are awaiting regulatory consent. [236399]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: Details of gas storage projects at various stages of development are given in 'Transporting Britain's Energy 2008: Development of NTS Investment Scenarios' published by National Grid in July 2008 available online at:

http://www.nationalgrid.com/uk/Gas/OperationalInfo/TBE/

Table A2 shows the status of four projects as "planning applied for", with a total storage capacity of approximately 2.2 billion cubic metres.

Nuclear Installations Inspectorate

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many staff are employed by the nuclear installations inspectorate (a) on a full-time equivalent basis and (b) on a headcount basis, broken down by grade. [236569]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

The answer to this question is provided in the following table.

The number of staff employed in the Health and Safety Executive's Nuclear Directorate at 1 October 2008

| Job band[1] | Headcount | Full-time equivalent |
|---|---|---|
| Band 1 | 28 | 27.19 |
| Band 2 | 115 | 110.09 |
| Band 3 | 62 | 61.61 |
| Band 4 | 14 | 12.83 |
| Band 5 | 30 | 27.72 |
| Band 6 | 65 | 53.78 |
| SCS[2] | 7 | 6.47 |
| Total | 321 | 299.69 |

[1] Grade
[2] Senior Civil Servants

These figures exclude nine agency administrative staff and four temporary secondees/contractors.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the total budget of the nuclear installations inspectorate (a) was in each of the past five financial years, (b) is in 2008-09 and (c) will be in each of the next five financial years. [236570]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

The answer to this question is provided in the following table.

Gross expenditure of the Health and Safety Executive's (HSE) Nuclear Directorate (ND)

| Financial year | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 19,397 |
| 2004-05 | 19,252 |
| 2005-06 | 19,881 |
| 2006-07 | 19,643 |
| 2007-08 | 24,977 |
| 2008-09 | 28,256 |

Notes:
1. These are actual gross expenditure figures of the Nuclear Directorate (ND) itself for 2003-04 to 2007-08 and forecast for 2008-09.
2. ND recovers some 97 per cent. of these nuclear installations costs (and a pro rata share of the additional associated HSE overhead and central costs) as income through charges to industry under the Nuclear Installations Act 1965 and Health and Safety (Fees) (Amendment) Regulations 2007. Since 2007-08 this has also included 100 per cent. recovery of the Office for Civil Nuclear Security costs (and a pro rata share of the additional associated HSE overhead and central costs) recovered under the Anti-terrorism, Crime and Security Act 2001, the Energy Act 2004, the extant security provisions of the Nuclear Installations Act 1965 (as amended) and, in respect of nuclear material, the Import of Goods (Control) Order 1954.
3. HSE has issued indicative ND budget allocations for 2009-10 and 2010-11 (£29,977k and £30,930k respectively) but these will shortly be revised as part of HSE's annual planning process to reflect expected activity in these years.
4. HSE will set budgets for 2011-12 and beyond upon receipt of its spending review 2010 settlement in due course.
5. The figures for 2007-08 onwards include the Office for Civil Nuclear Security and the UK Safeguards Office who joined HSE from the Department for Trade and Industry on 1 April 2007 (£2.3 million and £0.3 million respectively).
6. The figures in 2007-08 and previous to this include costs of HSE Corporate Topic Groups which ND managed on behalf of HSE.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many new staff members were recruited by the nuclear installations inspectorate following the recruitment campaign that began in December 2007. [236572]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

Since December 2007, HSE has run three nuclear recruitment campaigns. From the first two campaigns 15 nuclear inspectors have already taken up post, another two have accepted but have not yet taken up duty, and the final one is currently negotiating terms and conditions. Interviews of applicants from the most recent campaign are still underway: 25 applicants are under consideration.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what the job titles are of posts filled by the nuclear installations inspectorate following the recruitment campaign that began in December 2007. [236573]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

There are no specific job titles of posts filled by the NII all of which are classed as band 3 nuclear inspector grade.

All nuclear inspectors have been allocated across the nuclear directorate in the following disciplines:

Chemical engineering;

Civil engineering;

Fault studies;

Mechanical engineering;

Radiation protection;

Structural integrity;

Radiation waste management;

Management for safety;

Quality assurance.

Greg Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what his Department's most recent estimate is of the cost to (a) the nuclear installations inspectorate and (b) other bodies within or sponsored by his Department of the generic design assessment. [236746]

Jonathan Shaw: I have been asked to reply.

As of 14 November 2008, HSE Nuclear Directorate total estimated generic design assessment (GDA) cost is:

| Year period | Actual/forecast | Cost (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 | Actual | 2,265,561 |
| 2008-09 | Actual quarter 1 and 2 | 2,063,440 |
| 2008-09 | Forecast quarter 3 and 4 | 2,088,029 |
| 2009-10 | Forecast | 11,280,000 |
| 2010-11 | Forecast | 10,789,000 |
| 2011-12 | Forecast | 1,753,000 |
| Total | | 30,239,029 |

Actual costs are based on running costs (payroll, travel and subsistence, training, staff subs etc. for inspectors and admin staff) and a proportion of external consultancy costs (programme expenditure) relevant to generic design assessment work. The costs also include a pro rata share of HSE's corporate overhead costs.

The above costs include both safety and security of generic design assessment aspects. They do not include Environment Agency/Scottish Environment Protection Agency costs, which operate under a separate charging regime, as neither agency is sponsored by DWP.

Forecast costs based on the same premise as above but also include:

estimate costs of recently appointed project managers and technical support contractors who will be assisting Nuclear Directorate review GDA submissions.

reduction from four to two requesting parties.

Renewable Energy: Electricity Generation

Mr. Willis: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change if he will bring forward plans to support the installation of high voltage direct current cabling and infrastructure for the distribution of offshore and onshore renewable electricity generation. [236775]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The existing onshore electricity grid network is for alternating current (AC), which is the most economic for transmission over shorter distances. high voltage direct current (DC) grid is more costly but generally more economic over longer distances.

The transmission companies are funded and incentivised (including incentives to innovate technically) to deliver the most economic and efficient infrastructure reinforcements for the development of the GB grid to connect the large amount of new generation, including renewables expected to connect in the coming years. Decisions on which technology to use are therefore a matter for the transmission companies.

Renewable Energy: International Co-operation

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what assessment he has made of the content of the discussion of the development of alternative energy sources that occurred at the Jeddah Energy meeting in June 2008; how that discussion will inform the Government's stance on the development of alternative energy sources during the international summit of oil producers and consumers in London on 19 December; and if he will make a statement. [236347]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The Communiqué associated with the Energy meeting held in Jeddah in June this year, called for further action in the promotion of energy efficiency in all sectors, technology transfer and an exchange of the best practices and applications in the fields of energy resources production and consumption.

The London Energy Meeting being held on 19 December will be the next step in enhancing the dialogue between producing and consuming countries, in particular, reporting on progress of the agreed Jeddah commitments. This will include opportunities for collaboration in technology and alternative energy sources and promoting energy efficiency measures.

The UK has made progress against this agenda in a number of areas:

The recent announcement from E.ON and Masdar to invest in the 1000 megawatt (MW) London Array offshore wind farm.

The announcement this month of a new £250 million UK-Qatar Clean Technology Investment Fund will be set up to develop and deploy low emission energy and technology.

Hosting a meeting of international experts to discuss measures to put the UK at the forefront of the research, development and early commercial deployment of low emission transport. Key announcements included £100 million for research, development and demonstration of low carbon including electric vehicles.

Renewable Energy: National Grid

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the cost likely to be incurred by the National Grid in order to meet the 2020 renewables target. [236315]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: An independent study (by SKM Energy Consultants) commissioned in support of the Renewable Energy Strategy Consultation estimates that meeting the 2020 renewables target will require around £10 billion of new investment in our electricity network, by transmission companies including National Grid. This figure is based on a 35 per cent. renewable electricity scenario, with around 70-80 per cent. being the cost of connecting offshore wind farms.

The study also estimated that the cost of ancillary services needed to meet system balancing requirements under a 35 per cent. renewables scenario would be around £2.3 billion per annum.

A vision for the electricity network needed for 2020, including likely scenarios and associated investment to deliver necessary network capacity, is currently being developed by National Grid and the Scottish Transmission Companies under the auspices of the Electricity Networks Strategy Group www.ensg.gov.uk/ (a senior industry group chaired by DECC and Ofgem) and a report is expected early next year.

The regulatory framework for offshore electricity transmission is currently under development. The intention is for new investment in offshore networks to be made under a competitive tender approach.

Note:

All costs are expressed in 2008 prices and undiscounted.

River Severn: Tidal Power

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what account the Severn tidal power feasibility study has taken of the Government's carbon dioxide emission reduction targets. [237597]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The feasibility study will set the potential carbon savings of the long list of options for tidal power in the Severn estuary in the context of the UK's commitments under the forthcoming EU Renewable Energy Directive, the 2020 and 2050 targets for emissions reduction under the Climate Change Bill, and the carbon budgets to be set in the light of the advice of the Committee of Climate Change to be published soon.

Strategic Siting Assessment

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change pursuant to the answer of 3 November 2008, Official Report, column 231W, on applying the proposed strategic siting assessment criteria, how the stakeholders invited to the engagement events were chosen; and what publicity his Department's predecessor gave to public participation in each event. [234427]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: As part of the consultation on the strategic siting assessment the Department held three stakeholder events in London, Bristol and Manchester. These events were designed to inform key stakeholder groups of the consultation and to seek their views. We tried to ensure we captured a broad range of views and invited local authorities, unions, environmental groups, business representatives, companies involved in the nuclear industry, law firms and other organisations. In addition we also invited those people who had responded to previous consultations and who had asked to be kept informed of events.

Uranium: Prices

Colin Challen: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change what estimate he has made of the price of uranium during the whole lifetime of any new nuclear power station built in the UK. [237796]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: The price of uranium is subject, as with other commodities, to market variances. We have therefore not made any assumptions about the future price of uranium.

The Government's White Paper on nuclear energy, published in January 2008, acknowledged that since the price of nuclear fuel represents a much smaller part of the cost of electricity than for other technologies, even significant price increases would have only a limited effect on overall generating costs.

Warm Front Scheme

Joan Ryan: To ask the Secretary of State for Energy and Climate Change how many homes in Enfield North constituency have received home insulation through the Warm Front scheme. [235413]

Joan Ruddock: 1,076 households received an insulation measure through the Warm Front scheme between 1 June 2000 and 28 July 2008.

Eaga plc continue to provide regular updates of Warm Front installation figures to every MP in England delivered through individual constituency websites.

Written Answers to Questions

Tuesday 25 November 2008

LEADER OF THE HOUSE

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Leader of the House pursuant to the answer of 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 2529W, on departmental written questions, what the cost of preparing that answer was. [239293]

Chris Bryant: Under the guidance issued by Her Majesty's Treasury, we have estimated that the marginal cost, based on the amount of staff time spent preparing the answer, was £288.11.

Parliamentary Scrutiny: EC Law

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Leader of the House if she will bring forward plans to reform the House's scrutiny of European legislation. [238070]

Chris Bryant: No. The House agreed only recently to put its experimental structure for the scrutiny of the EU legislation on a permanent footing on 12 November.

Select Committees: Regulation

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Leader of the House if she will bring forward proposals to establish a Select Committee to (a) monitor the work of and (b) hold to account public regulators; and if she will make a statement. [237549]

Chris Bryant: Scrutiny of the work of public regulators is the responsibility of the relevant departmental Select Committees. It would be difficult in practice to carry out effective scrutiny of public regulators which was separate from the wider scrutiny functions of the departmental committees.

This aspect of their work has recently been strengthened by the establishment of pre-appointment hearings, as proposed in the 'Governance of Britain' Green Paper (Cm7342) and agreed to by the Liaison Committee in May.

A full list of the regulators who will be subject to pre-appointment hearings is set out in the First Special Report of the Liaison Committee, Session 2007-08, HC 594, pages 5 to 8.

SCOTLAND

Departmental Absenteeism

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what the rate of staff (a) absence and (b) sickness absence was in his Department in each year since 1997; what the target rates set for his Department are in each case; and if he will make a statement. [238934]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office was established on 1 July 1999.

All staff are on secondment from the Scottish Executive or the Ministry of Justice; the Office does not maintain a central record of sick absences. Such records are held by the parent Departments who publish their sick absence statistics.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been in the last 12 months. [238176]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office have not incurred any costs for special advisers using Government cars.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland what bonuses were paid by his Department in 2007-08; to which members of staff; and for what purposes. [239656]

Ann McKechin: Staff in the Scotland Office are seconded from the Scottish Executive (SE) and the Ministry of Justice (MoJ) who each have bonus schemes, part of which relate to annual performance appraisal. The Scotland Office does not hold information on bonus payments under the annual performance appraisal systems. Under the Special Bonus Scheme of the SE and the Reward and Recognition Scheme of the MoJ, the Office may also directly authorise bonus payments for special effort, achievement and commitment; the following table shows the number and cost of such non-pensionable bonuses:

| | Total number of bonuses | Total cost of bonuses (£) |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 6 | £2,150 |

Members of the Senior Civil Service in the Scotland Office are also seconded from the Scottish Executive and the Ministry of Justice, their bonuses are assessed under a framework set by the Cabinet Office. The Office does not hold central information on such bonuses.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland whether his Department uses the Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages. [238324]

Ann McKechin: The Royal Mail carried most of the letters and parcels sent by the Scotland Office in each of the last three years.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland whether there has been any nugatory cost to his Department relating to tendered procurement where the tender process has been cancelled prior to the award of the contract in the last three years. [239654]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office have incurred no costs relating to tendered procurement where the tender process has been cancelled prior to the award of the contract in the last three years.

Public Opinion

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how much his Department has spent on (a) focus groups and (b) opinion polls in each year since 1997-98; how much he estimates will be spent on each category in 2008-09; and if he will make a statement. [239048]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office was established in its present form on 1 July 1999. The Scotland Office incurred no costs on focus groups and opinion polls between 1999-2000 and 2007-08. The Office's estimated spend in 2008-09 on focus groups, to solicit views of voters to the Gould recommendations, is expected to be £24,500; no costs are anticipated on opinion polls.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Scotland how many of his Department's staff who left under (a) an involuntary and (b) a voluntary exit scheme in each year since 2005-06 received a severance package of (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000; and if he will make a statement. [239153]

Ann McKechin: The Scotland Office does not operate staff exit schemes. All staff in the Scotland Office are on secondment from the Scottish Executive or the Ministry of Justice; who remain their employers. It is these Departments who would operate any such exit schemes.

HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMISSION

Disabled

Simon Hughes: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission how many and what proportion of staff of the House were recorded as being disabled at 1 January 2008. [238570]

Nick Harvey: 76 staff have declared that they have a disability. This represents 3.85 per cent. of the House's employees. I will write to my hon. Friend with further information.

Electoral Administration Act 2006

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the hon. Member for North Devon, representing the House of Commons Commission pursuant to the answer of 18 February 2008, Official Report, column 191W, on the Electoral Administration Act 2006, what the status is of the discussions between the House authorities and the Electoral Commission on ending dual reporting. [239693]

Nick Harvey: Discussions are continuing. It is not yet known when they will reach a conclusion.

OLYMPICS

Olympic Games 2012: Transport

Hugh Robertson: To ask the Minister for the Olympics whether any plans have been made to accommodate extra caravaners near to London 2012 Olympics during the games. [239233]

NORTHERN IRELAND

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how much his Department and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237443]

Mr. Woodward: The following table shows expenditure by the Northern Ireland Office, including its agencies but excluding Executive NDPBs, on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in the last three years.

| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |

| DVD Players | Nil | 959 | 487 |
| Stereo Equipment | 82 | 273 | Nil |

Northern Ireland Prison Service

Details requested could be provided only by this agency at disproportionate cost.

Youth Justice Agency

[1]The figure of £11,531 in 2005-06 includes £8,308 which relates to the purchase of electrical equipment by the Youth Justice Agency. A breakdown of this figure - which may include expenditure in the above three categories—could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

All expenditure has to be incurred in accordance with the principles of Managing Public Money and the Treasury handbook on Regularity and Propriety.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237502]

Mr. Woodward: One civil servant supports the special advisers within my private office, providing administrative support of a non-political nature in accordance with the "Code of Conduct for Special Advisers".

It would be inappropriate to disclose individual civil servants' salary details.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Northern Ireland (1) how many staff in his Department left under (a) involuntary and (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in each year since 2005-06; how many of them in each case were paid (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000 in the year before they left; and how much (A) was spent in each of those years and (B) is planned to be spent on such schemes in (1) 2008-09 and (2) 2009-10 by (Y) his Department and its predecessor (Z) each of his Department's agencies; [237345]

(2) how many of his Department's staff who left under (a) an involuntary and (b) a voluntary exit scheme in each year since 2005-06 received a severance package of (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000; and if he will make a statement. [239152]

Mr. Woodward: No staff have left the Department on an involuntary basis in the last three years. Currently there are no plans for involuntary exit schemes in the next two years.

The following table shows the number of staff who voluntarily left the Northern Ireland Office under early retirement or early severance schemes in each year.

| | Up to £25,000 | £25,001 to £50,000 | £50,001 to £75,000 | £75,001 to £100,000 | Over £100,000 | Total |

| 2006-07 | 9 | 2 | 2 | — | — | 13 |
| 2007-08 | 6 | 3 | 1 | — | — | 10 |

Compensation for early departure is paid from the Civil Service Compensation Scheme. The Northern Ireland Office meets the cost of early departures, and this includes the cost of lump sum severance payments and the additional costs of benefits beyond the normal Principal Civil Service Pension Scheme (PCSPS) benefits in respect of employees who retire early.

The following table shows expenditure on early departures in each year since 2005-06.

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 433,713.75 |
| 2006-07 | 288,954.88 |
| 2007-08 | 224,593.17 |

CHURCH COMMISSIONERS

Churches

Mr. Hunt: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many churches the Commissioners were responsible for in each year since 1997. [238025]

Sir Stuart Bell: The Church Commissioners are not responsible for churches. Their legal obligations relate to the management of historic assets to meet their pension commitments and provide other financial support for the Church, and the administration of the legal framework for pastoral reorganisation and helping dioceses settle the future of closed church buildings.

Churches: Change of Use

Mr. Hunt: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many churches were transferred into usage as (a) restaurants, (b) bars and (c) gymnasia in each of the last five years. [238020]

Sir Stuart Bell: In the last five years the Commissioners have transferred one church into restaurant use by Deed of Variation. This was in 2004. No church buildings have been transferred into use as bars or gymnasia in the last five years.

Churches: Sales

Mr. Hunt: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many church buildings were sold in each year since 1997; and what the annual total value of sales was in each year. [238023]

Sir Stuart Bell: The Commissioners cannot provide a total annual value of such sales because some disposals are dealt with by the diocese in order to fund the cost of a new place of worship.

However, the number of church buildings sold in each full year since 1997 are as follows:

| Year | Number of church buildings sold |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 17 |
| 1998 | 11 |
| 1999 | 12 |
| 2000 | 9 |
| 2001 | 6 |
| 2002 | 9 |
| 2003 | 17 |
| 2004 | 15 |
| 2005 | 10 |
| 2006 | 11 |
| 2007 | 11 |

Redundant Churches

Mr. Hunt: To ask the hon. Member for Middlesbrough, representing the Church Commissioners how many churches were made redundant in each year since 1997. [238024]

Sir Stuart Bell: The number of churches closed for regular worship in each full year since 1997 are as follows:

| | Number of churches closed for regular worship |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 24 |
| 1998 | 24 |
| 1999 | 21 |
| 2000 | 8 |
| 2001 | 20 |
| 2002 | 26 |
| 2003 | 30 |
| 2004 | 30 |
| 2005 | 16 |
| 2006 | 23 |
| 2007 | 31 |
| Total | 253 |

ENVIRONMENT, FOOD AND RURAL AFFAIRS

Climate Change

Gregory Barker: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what research his Department has conducted into the potential acceleration of Greenland ice cap melt in light of the accelerated rate of Arctic summer ice melt of 2007 and 2008. [225100]

Joan Ruddock: I have been asked to reply.

My Department funds research on melting of the Arctic sea ice and Greenland ice sheet through the Integrated Climate Programme, which is undertaken by the Met Office Hadley Centre (MOHC). This programme is jointly funded with the MOD. We also liaise with other research groups in the UK on these topics.

With regard to the implications of sea ice melt for the Greenland ice sheet, a MOHC study has examined the impacts of long-term deglaciation of the Greenland ice sheet using a greenhouse gas concentration scenario where the Arctic becomes free of sea ice during the summer. This experiment incorporated a model of sea ice so that interactions between sea ice and Greenland land ice melt were included.

The results showed a maximum contribution from the melting Greenland ice sheet to sea level rise of 5 mm per year, which is within the uncertainty range already considered in projections of sea level rise around the UK coastline. However processes involving rapid movement of ice within the ice sheets are not included in this, or other current ice sheet models, as the dynamics are still poorly understood. Further work is needed to improve these models and thus estimates of sea level rise.

The UK also monitors changes in the Greenland ice sheet directly. Observational measurements of the rate of change of its volume have been carried out by UK research groups over the last 15 years, using satellite radar remote sensing. Recently scientists at the British Antarctic Survey (BAS), part of the Natural Environment Research Council, have developed a new, more accurate technique for determining ice cap changes, using satellite laser technology. Significant research on the fundamental physics of glaciers and ice sheets is being carried out by BAS and other UK research groups, often in Antarctica.

Departmental Contracts

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what the cost was of the contract awarded by his Department to IBM for the disposal of all redundant electrical and electronic equipment in each of the last five years. [239226]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Prior to 2004, DEFRA awarded the contract for the disposal of redundant IT hardware, software and fax machines to Northern Realisation Ltd. This contract was at zero cost to the Department.

In September 2004, this contract was novated to IBM. The current contract for the disposal of equipment continues to run at zero cost to both DEFRA and IBM.

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237476]

Huw Irranca-Davies: Three members of staff undertake some work on branding as part of their wider responsibilities. It is not possible to calculate accurately what the cost of the branding activity might have been in 2007-08.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237317]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In 2006 and 2007, the number of full-time staff assisting the advisers was four (one higher executive officer, one executive officer and two administrative officers). Since the end of August 2007, this number has reduced to three (one HEO, and two EOs). This figure has further reduced since September 2008, and currently stands at one HEO and one EO. Civil servants only provide administrative support of a non-political nature in accordance with the "Code of Conduct for Special Advisers".

Individual civil servants' salary details are not disclosed in order to protect the privacy of the individual concerned.

Departmental Public Expenditure

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (1) how much of the £50 million originally left unallocated in his Department's budget for 2007-08 has now been allocated; and for what purposes; [239222]

(2) for what purpose £50 million was left unallocated in his departmental budget for 2007-08. [239224]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Department had no unallocated budgets in 2007-08.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how many Questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235395]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The total number of questions in each of the parliamentary Sessions is as follows:

(a) 5,444
(b) 5,229
(c) 1,885
(d) 6,915
(e) 4,692
(f) 6,012 (to date)

The Department strives to answer all questions in full rather than use a disproportionate cost answer. However there have been occasions when it has not been possible to do so. Separate records of the number of questions not answered on the grounds of disproportionate cost are not kept.

Genetically Modified Organisms: Imports

Mr. Paice: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs for what varieties of GM crops approval for import into the EU has been recommended by EU scientists but not yet agreed by the European Council or Commission. [236559]

Huw Irranca-Davies [holding answer 17 November 2008]: Listed as follows are the GM crop lines which are awaiting possible approval for EU import and for which the European Food Safety Authority has published a favourable overall opinion. MON863xMON810 maize, MON863xNK603 maize and T45 oilseed rape already have EU import approval but further applications have been made to extend the scope of the permitted uses. Of the other products listed, the only one for which approval is being sought for cultivation in the EU is the EH-92-527 Amylopectin Potato.

MON863xMON810 maize
LLRICE62
MON863xNK603 maize
MON863xMON810xNK603 maize
EH92-527 Amylopectin potato
MON89788 soybean
T45 oilseed rape

Details of all applications currently being assessed by the European Food Safety Authority (EFSA) are available on the EFSA website at:

www.efsa.europa.eu/EFSA/ScientificPanels/efsa_locale-1178620753812_GMO.htm

Livestock: Transport

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department has spent on (a) enforcement and (b) inspection of the six-day rule. [237192]

Jane Kennedy [holding answer 18 November 2008]: It is not possible to separate the costs of enforcing and inspecting the six-day rule from the range of measures designed to limit the spread of livestock disease.

Plain English

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much has been spent by his Department on Plain English Campaign training courses for its staff in each year since 2005. [230608]

Huw Irranca-Davies: The Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs does not hold information centrally on the amount of training undertaken on the Plain English Campaign.

To collect this information would incur disproportionate costs to the Department.

Soil: Research

Tim Farron: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs how much his Department has allocated to (a) research and (b) training on soil and water management in each of the last five years. [231405]

Huw Irranca-Davies: DEFRA has spent approximately £5 million per annum over the last five years on research on the risks and threats to soil and water and how we can ensure that these resources are protected for the benefit of this generation and future generations.

The Department also funds the Catchment Sensitive Farming Programme through which farmers are given guidance on soil and water management. In addition, Natural England and the Environment Agency provide some guidance and training to farmers.

Budget allocations for spending relating to water management are decided by each individual sponsor and the Environment Agency. Capturing information relating specifically to water management would involve a disproportionate cost to the Department.

Tuna: Conservation

Bill Wiggin: To ask the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tuna in protecting tuna stocks; and if he will make a statement. [235562]

Huw Irranca-Davies: In 2007 the International Commission for the Conservation of Atlantic Tunas (ICCAT) was the subject of an independent review that it commissioned itself. While the findings of this report were, in certain areas, critical of ICCAT, many of the recommendations were positive and constructive. At the 2008 annual meeting of ICCAT UK will work closely with the EU and other contracting parties to adopt measures that will increase the effectiveness and credibility of ICCAT as one of the main Regional Fisheries Management Organisations (RFMOS).

DEFENCE

Afghanistan: Peacekeeping Operations

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what recent assessment he has made of (a) the security situation and (b) the threat posed by the Taliban in Helmand province; and if he will make a statement. [234318]

Mr. Hutton: Helmand province continues to present significant security challenges due to the insurgents' use of intimidation and violence against the local population and their increasingly unconventional tactics such as the use of improvised explosive devices, suicide bombers and opportunistic attacks.

These attacks continue to cause concern and demonstrate the Taliban's ability to strike in an indiscriminate fashion. But this does not amount to the Taliban posing a realistic strategic threat to the democratically elected Afghan government.

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many military personnel are (a) embedded with Pakistani military units and (b) based in Pakistan to co-ordinate military operations in support of UK military operations in Regional Command South. [236450]

Mr. Hutton: There are currently no UK military personnel embedded with Pakistani combat units, though one is attached to a training unit. As part of normal military relations, UK non-embedded military staff based at the British high commission in Islamabad provide a liaison and co-ordination function between the Pakistani military and UK and NATO operations in Afghanistan.

Armed Conflict: Children

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what factors were considered by the Government in responding to the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child regarding the optional protocol of the Child in relation to armed conflict; and whether the Army Terms of Service (Amendment etc.) Regulations 2008 were taken into account. [238827]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The UK submitted its first report on the Optional Protocol on the Involvement of Children in Armed Conflict in June 2007 and was examined by the UN Committee on the Rights of the Child on this report in September 2008.

In producing the UK report and preparing for the examination, the Ministry of Defence considered the need to demonstrate how our legislation, policies and practices were compliant with the requirements of the optional protocol. The main areas considered were: the recruitment of under-18s into the armed forces and the safeguards in place to ensure recruitment is totally voluntary; the measures taken to ensure that those personnel under the age of 18 are not deployed on operations; the treatment of child soldiers encountered on operations; the training provision for service personnel on the provisions of the optional protocol; and the treatment and care of service personnel under the age of 18.

The Army Terms of Service (Amendment etc.) Regulations 2008 came into effect on 6 August 2008, and were taken into account during the process of preparing for the examination. The regulations brought the minimum commitment period for under-18 soldiers back into line with the provisions that existed prior to 1 January 2008, i.e. that they should serve for a minimum of four years from their 18th birthday. The Ministry of Defence provided information concerning these changes to the Committee, both in the written response to the list of issues and during the hearing itself.

The Ministry of Defence believes all our policies are robust and fully compliant with national and international law, including our obligations under the optional protocol.

The Committee issued its concluding observations on 3 October 2008, in which they made a number of recommendations which require detailed consideration by the UK. The Ministry of Defence is currently engaging with other relevant Government Departments to determine how best to take this work forward.

Armoured Fighting Vehicles

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many unarmoured Jackals there are in service. [238664]

Mr. Quentin Davies: There are 13 unarmoured Jackals in service within the UK training fleet, 12 of which are currently undergoing an improvement programme to fit armour. This will be completed by the end of the year. The remaining unarmoured Jackal is used for maintenance training. There are no unarmoured Jackals deployed on operations.

Defence Evaluation and Research Agency: Property

Mr. Gerald Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what price was realised from the sale of the Pystock site in Hampshire following the privatisation of the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency; and what covenants were placed on the sale. [238841]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The price received by QinetiQ, the successor to the Defence Evaluation and Research Agency (DERA), from the sale of the Pystock site is a matter for the company. Some details can be found in QinetiQ's published accounts for 2006.

In addition to covenants relating to clawback there were also covenants in the title documentation relating to the protection of certain strategic assets.

The Ministry of Defence did not publish a break down of the individual site values contained in the bulk transfer of property to QinetiQ plc as part of the privatisation of DERA. As made clear at the time the valuations are considered commercially confidential.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how much (a) his Department and (b) each of its agencies and non-departmental public bodies spent on external consultancy in each year since 1997-98; and if he will make a statement. [239058]

Mr. Kevan Jones: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 418W, to the hon. Member for North Devon (Nick Harvey).

Departmental Marketing

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many staff in his Department are responsible for branding activity; and what the cost of employing such staff was in 2007-08. [237456]

Mr. Kevan Jones: In the financial year 2007-08 seven members of staff had some responsibility for brand management issues as part of their wider duties in the central MOD Media and Communication organisation.

The total cost of these seven staff was £395,000 based on average capitation rates. Only a small proportion of this cost is attributable to brand management activities. It is not possible to say how much as the time spent varies from week to week.

Some Defence agencies, top level budget areas, trading funds, joint headquarters, single service commands and some military units also have individuals whose responsibilities include brand management. Details of this are not held centrally and could be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence whether his Department uses the Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages. [238119]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The MOD primarily uses the services of Royal Mail Group companies for sending its external post, parcels and packages.

Ex-servicemen

Dr. Fox: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the (a) required and (b) actual number of (i) first line and (ii) second line staff for resettlement support is. [237807]

Mr. Kevan Jones: The information requested is provided in the table:

| | 1st Line | | 2nd Line | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Required | Actual | Required | Actual |
| RN | 129 | 124 | 21 | 18 |
| Army[1] | — | — | 26 | 26 |
| RAF | 42 | 39 | 11 | 11 |

[1] Information relating to the Army 1st Line resettlement support staffing is being collated and I will write to the hon. Member when this work is complete.

Ex-servicemen: Official Cars

Mr. Flello: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what provision his Department makes for the use of official cars by retired senior military officers; what the cost of such provision was in each of the last five years; and whether the arrangements for such provision have changed in the last 10 years. [238492]

Mr. Kevan Jones: Within the UK, cars are provided by the MOD White Fleet contract which is a lease/hire agreement for the provision of non-operational vehicles. These cars are provided only for official departmental business. Retired senior military officers would therefore be eligible to use a car if they were on formal departmental business. This includes retired officers, who are employed by the MOD, such as recruiting and liaison staff attending ceremonial functions or official functions; and those employed as lecturers and part time teachers travelling to teach service personnel.

Detailed records of any such use are not held centrally. The White Fleet contract has been in place since 2001, and since then the arrangements have not changed.

Iceland: European Fighter Aircraft

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Typhoon aircraft are to be deployed to Iceland on NATO Quick Reaction Alert duty; on what date; and for how long. [238049]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The peacetime airborne surveillance and interception capability in Iceland is a NATO task. The deployment of four Typhoons was scheduled to take place in December. Following discussions within NATO the deployment will not now take place.

Iraq: Military Aircraft

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many Harrier aircraft were deployed in support of Operation Telic; and for what period. [238821]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth [holding answer 24 November 2008]: Up to 21 Harrier aircraft were deployed in support of Operation Telic between February and May 2003.

In my answer to the hon. Member for North-East Milton Keynes (Mr. Lancaster) on 17 November 2008, Official Report, column 135W, I incorrectly stated that the Harrier force has never been deployed on Operation Telic.

My answer should have read that the Harrier force has not been deployed continuously on operations since the start of Operation Telic.

Iraq: Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what steps he has taken to regulate the operation of private military and security companies working in Iraq. [233433]

Bill Rammell: I have been asked to reply.

We currently have no legislation dealing directly with the overseas operations of UK-based private military and security companies (PMSCs). Options for regulation were considered in a Green Paper published in 2002 entitled 'Private Military Companies: Options for Regulation.' A follow-up review in 2005 explored a number of options for ways in which the industry could be regulated, including self-regulation, licensing of individual contracts and licensing of companies from a register of Government-approved companies. This review highlighted the complexity of the issues, especially the definition of what activities should be regulated and how any regulations would be enforced—all of which continue to be the subject of ministerial and official consultation. The Government have undertaken to keep Parliament fully informed of their proposals in this area. If it is agreed that some form of regulation is appropriate, the Government will put the proposals to public consultation.

However, apart from the national law of the countries in which they are operating, PMSCs are also subject to certain UK legislation. For example, there is legislation penalising grave breaches of the Geneva conventions, as well as torture, genocide, war crimes and crimes against humanity, which applies to acts committed by United Kingdom nationals overseas. We have also considered international regulation based on common international values and norms. We have supported the Swiss Initiative to promote respect for international humanitarian law and human rights law on the part of PMSCs operating in situations of armed conflict or post-conflict.

Joint Strike Fighter Aircraft

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what progress has been made on the Joint Strike Fighter project; and if he will make a statement. [239453]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Joint Strike Fighter programme remains on schedule with the first development conventional take off and landing (CTOL- AA-1) and the first development short take off and vertical landing (STOVL - BF-1) variants completing in excess of 83 test flights to date. AA-1 also achieved its first supersonic flight on 14 November 2008.

Navy: Piracy

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what instructions have been issued to UK naval forces in respect of the terms of engagement to employ when encountering vessels engaged in acts of piracy. [238857]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: I refer my hon. Friend to the answer I gave on 19 November 2008, Official Report, column 503W, to the hon. Member for North Essex (Mr. Jenkin).

Nimrod Aircraft

Mr. Hancock: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what options for replacement of the Nimrod R 1 capability are under consideration. [238050]

Mr. Quentin Davies: I refer the hon. Member to the answer my right hon. Friend the Minister for International Defence and Security gave in another place on 13 October 2008, Official Report, House of Lords, column WA28, to the noble Lord, Lord Lee of Trafford.

Peacekeeping Operations

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how many service personnel have been (a) killed and (b) injured while in Snatch Land Rovers in (i) Iraq and (ii) Afghanistan in (A) 2006, (B) 2007 and (C) the first six months of 2008. [238329]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: The Ministry of Defence is currently reviewing its policy on the release of data on fatal incidents on operations. I will write to the hon. Member once the review has been completed.

I am withholding data on injuries caused to UK service personnel in particular vehicle types as its disclosure would, or would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of our armed forces.

RAF Lyneham

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence what the likely time gap will be between the final removal of the Hercules fleet from RAF Lyneham and the arrival of the Joint Helicopter Command contingent upon any relevant decision arising from project Belvedere. [238042]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Programme Belvedere is considering a number of airfields as potential bases for the future Joint Helicopter Command Battlefield Helicopter force, including RAF Lyneham. No decisions have yet been made.

Somalia: Piracy

Dr. Murrison: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence with reference to the EU Operation Atalanta, what assets will be committed by each nation state; what rules of engagement will apply; what command and control arrangements are in place; and if he will make a statement. [239191]

Mr. Bob Ainsworth: Force generation for the EU Operation Atalanta continues and a formal force generation conference took place on 17 November 2008. The UK will be providing a frigate for the first period of the operation as well as the operation commander and the operation headquarters at Northwood. The nature and scale of contributions from other countries is still under discussion prior to formal launch of the operation.

While appropriate rules of engagement will be in place for the operation, details for rules of engagement are withheld as disclosure would be likely to prejudice the capability, effectiveness or security of the armed forces involved.

Under the authority of the EU Council of Ministers, the EU member states collectively in the Political and Security Committee (PSC) will exercise political control and strategic direction of the operation. The Council has appointed Rear Admiral Phil Jones as the EU operation commander reporting to the Political and Security Committee, to be based in the multinational operation headquarters at Northwood. Nominations have been received from Greece, Spain and the Netherlands for the position of force commander and the PSC has agreed that the force commander will be appointed on a rotational basis.

Warrior Armoured Vehicle

Patrick Mercer: To ask the Secretary of State for Defence how the Government plan to improve (a) the protection afforded by and (b) the survivability of the Warrior armoured fighting vehicle. [238211]

Mr. Quentin Davies: The Department has already taken steps to improve the protection and survivability of the Warrior fleet in Afghanistan and Iraq through the Urgent Operational Requirements process. We intend to improve further Warrior's protection and survivability through the Warrior Capability Sustainment Programme, which is in the early stages of its Acquisition Cycle.

WOMEN AND EQUALITY

Equality and Human Rights Commission

3. Philip Davies: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what pay gaps there are in respect of gender, race and disability among employees of the Equality and Human Rights Commission. [238584]

Maria Eagle: The full-time equivalent earnings indicate that:

The gender pay for women is 3.68 per cent.

The ethnic minority pay gap is 7.07 per cent.

The disability pay gap is 6.75 per cent.

The Commission inherited staff from three different organisations with very different pay and grading structures. They recognised that this led to differences, and have agreed a new pay and grading structure to ensure everyone at the Commission received equal pay for work of equal value, regardless of their background. The Commission is actively seeking to address the remaining gap.

Domestic Violence

6. Mrs. Moon: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what recent steps the Government have taken to support women who are subject to domestic violence. [238587]

Maria Eagle: Independent domestic violence advisers provide invaluable support to victims of domestic violence. Evidence shows that incidents of victimisation decrease and victims are less likely to withdraw from cases. This financial year we have provided £340,000 for adviser services supporting victims in Specialist Domestic Violence Courts in Wales and £150,000 for Multi-Agency Risk Assessment Conferences in Wales.

Mrs. May: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what steps the Government have taken to meet their objective, as stated in the Government Equalities Office document Tackling Violence Against Women, that all police and Crown Prosecution Service prosecutors will have received training about domestic violence by the end of 2008. [236457]

Maria Eagle: Forty-two out of 43 Crown Prosecution Service areas completed their domestic violence training by April 2008. The remaining area negotiated an extension until November 2008 and they are on target to complete training by the end of November.

The Government do not hold information on the provision of training in domestic abuse for police officers. The responsibility for domestic abuse training is devolved to individual police forces. The Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO) has issued guidance on the investigation of domestic abuse cases and the ACPO lead for domestic abuse has been engaging with the National Policing Improvement Agency (NPIA) regarding a refresh of current modular training.

NPIA have carried out a consultation period, which is to be extended to encompass the voluntary sector. Key areas for refresh will be around honour based violence, stalking and harassment, risk identification, assessment and management and the Domestic Violence Crime and Victims Act (2004) (non-molestation and civil and criminal law interface). Training is still being undertaken within individual police forces to the current modular system.

Violence Against Women

7. James Duddridge: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what steps the Government are taking to reduce levels of violence against women. [238588]

Maria Eagle: We want to see continued progress in reducing levels of violence against women.

That is why we have made it a priority action, in public service agreement 23 "Making Communities Safer", to 'reduce the most serious violence, including tackling serious sexual offences and domestic violence'.

But we are not complacent about the scale of the problem which is why my department is working closely with Home Office on the forthcoming consultation on violence against women and women's safety which will ask people about what more we should be doing to tackle these crimes.

Disabled Civil Servants

8. Simon Hughes: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what discussions she has had with ministerial colleagues on measures to increase the proportion of people with disabilities employed as civil servants. [238589]

Maria Eagle: I attend the Cabinet Committee on the Life Chances for Disabled People and will raise this issue at its next meeting. The proportion of civil servants declaring a disability has more than doubled from 3.1 per cent. in 2001 to 6.7 per cent. in 2007.

Television Licence Fee

10. Mr. Chope: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality if she will hold discussions with ministerial colleagues on the reasons for the over-representation of women among those brought before the courts for evading payments for television licence fees. [238591]

Maria Eagle: I will do so. I understand that when TV Licensing Enquiry Officers visit premises using television without a valid licence, whichever responsible adult opens the door will have a prosecution statement taken from them. TV Licensing offers people many opportunities to pay their licence and prosecution is always a last resort.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many external consultants work for the Government Equalities Office. [237573]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office currently employs two consultants. They provide advice on research into equalities issues, help the development of GEO's research strategy, and run research seminars. Costs incurred to date since the consultancy contracts were let in May 2008 and October 2008 are £19,847.

Departmental Early Retirement

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many employees in the Government Equalities Office have taken early retirement since its inception; and at what total cost. [238959]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007. Since then, no employees have taken early retirement.

Departmental Internet

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what the cost of maintaining the Government Equalities Office website for 2007-08 was; and what the forecast costs of maintaining it in 2008-09 are. [237570]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office website www.equalities.gov.uk was launched on 10 January 2008. The cost of maintaining this site since 10 January 2008 was £891.83. The forecast cost of maintaining the site in 2008-09 is £2,350.00.

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many (a) page hits and (b) visitors the Government Equalities Office website received in 2007-08. [237571]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities website www.equalities.gov.uk was launched on 10 January 2008. From 10 January 2008 to date, the site has received a total of 542,788 page hits and a total of 22,928 unique visitors.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in the Government Equalities Office has been in the last 12 months. [238179]

Maria Eagle: Since the Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007, there has been no provision of Government cars for special advisers.

Departmental Official Hospitality

Mr. Heald: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how much was spent on entertainment by the Government Equalities Office in Eland House in 2007-08; and how much of that was accounted for by (a) food and (b) alcohol. [237563]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office moved to Eland House in February 2008. Since this move there has been no expenditure on entertainment.

Departmental Press Releases

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many press releases have been issued by the Government Equalities Office in each year since its inception; and if she will make a statement. [238980]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007. Since then, 91 press releases have been released.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how many questions for written answer were tabled to her and her predecessors as Minister for Women in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235379]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007. Before this, parliamentary questions relating to the GEO's antecedent body, the Women's Equality Unit, were handled by a number of Government Departments. For that reason, information on questions answered by these Departments before October 2007 is not collated centrally and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

During the current parliamentary session to date, the Government Equalities Office has answered 260 written questions. The vast majority of these have been answered substantively but detailed information on disproportionate cost replies is not collated separately and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Public Opinion

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Minister for Women and Equality how much the Government Equalities Office has spent on (a) focus groups and (b) opinion polls in each year since its inception; how much she estimates will be spent on each category in 2008-09; and if she will make a statement. [239039]

Maria Eagle: The Government Equalities Office was established on 12 October 2007. There was no expenditure on focus groups or opinion polls in 2007-08. The Government Equalities Office has not spent any money on focus groups in 2008-09. Expenditure on opinion polls has amounted to £30,332, as follows:

| Company | Title | Amount (£) |
|---|---|---|
| MORI Ltd | Attitudes to Prostitution (1) | 9,546.88 |
| MORI Ltd | Attitudes to Prostitution (2) | 8,342.50 |
| YouGov plc | Women in Business | 12,443.25 |
| Total | | 30,332.63 |

TRANSPORT

Rail Fares

7. Malcolm Bruce: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the effects of the new fare structure for railways introduced by the Association of Train Operating Companies. [238598]

Paul Clark: The new, simplified fares structure was introduced by train operators in full in September this year. It has made fares easier for passengers to understand and has been welcomed by passenger organisations.

Motorcycle Driving Test

8. Mr. Heathcoat-Amory: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport when he plans to introduce the new motorcycle driving test; and if he will make a statement. [238599]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We plan to allow candidates and trainers to book the new practical motorcycle test from 30 March 2009 and conduct the test from 27 April 2009. We are going to consult on a modular testing arrangement and a statement will follow shortly.

Fatal Road Accidents: Illegal Drugs

9. Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what proportion of fatal road accidents were caused or contributed to by drivers under the influence of illegal drugs in the latest period for which figures are available. [238600]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Impairment by drugs was recorded as a contributory factor by the police in 64 fatal crashes in Great Britain in 2007—that is 2.5 per cent. of all fatal crashes where contributory factors were reported. It is not possible to distinguish whether illegal or medicinal drugs were involved.

DVLA

10. Sir Nicholas Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment he has made of customer satisfaction levels with the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency. [238601]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) commissioned a telephone survey of 1,000 private motorists in July-August 2008. The survey assessed motorist satisfaction with DVLA core business transactions, and provided an overall weighted satisfaction score of 92.32 per cent. compared to 89.82 per cent. in 2007-08.

Commercial customer satisfaction has been assessed by means of measures taken in DVLA-led surveys in autumn 2008, namely DVLA Commercial Customer Survey and DVLA Fleets Survey.

Young Person's Railcard

11. John Mann: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent representations he has received on the future of the 16-25 railcard. [238602]

Paul Clark: The Government have not had any representations on the future of the 16-25 railcard.

Air Travel: Emissions

12. John Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what steps his Department has considered to reduce the level of greenhouse gas emissions from air travel; and if he will make a statement. [238603]

Jim Fitzpatrick: We have a comprehensive approach to aviation's climate change impacts. This includes pressing internationally for global action; bringing aviation into the EU emissions trading scheme from 2012; supporting improvements in technology, encouraging operational procedures, and air traffic management; and other economic instruments.

Rail Network

13. Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the adequacy of the capacity of the rail network; and if he will make a statement. [238604]

Paul Clark: The Rail White Paper set out the Government's commitment to increase rail capacity across by 2014, backed by investment of £10 billion. This includes the procurement of an additional 1,300 carriages for operation across the network. 423 vehicles have already been ordered and yesterday we announced proposals to procure a further 200 which will benefit passengers in the Thames Valley, around Bristol and on longer distance regional services in central northern England.

Concessionary Bus Fares

14. Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what his most recent assessment is of the adequacy of his Department's funding of the national concessionary bus fares scheme. [238605]

Paul Clark: The Government remain confident that there is sufficient funding in total to meet the cost of the statutory minimum bus concession. We are also confident that the extra funding provided this year £212 million, to meet the additional costs of the move to England-wide free off-peak bus travel is sufficient. A formula was used to distribute this year's additional funding taking account of factors such as local population, tourist numbers and current bus use. The Department for Transport will continue to monitor the impact of the new concession.

16. Mr. Jack: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent discussions his Department has had with the Local Government Association on the operation of the national concessionary bus fares scheme. [238607]

Paul Clark: Officials in the Department for Transport have had regular meetings with the Local Government Association (LGA) regarding concessionary travel. The LGA and representatives from other tiers of local government are present at regular meetings of the Department's Concessionary Fares Working Groups.

Rail Services: Halifax-London

15. Mrs. Riordan: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent progress has been made on the provision of a direct rail link between Halifax and London. [238606]

Paul Clark: Network Rail is due to present a further assessment of timetable options for the east coast main line to the Office of Rail Regulation on or before 19 December. The Office of Rail Regulation expects to publish its decision regarding which train operators will be granted new access rights during January 2009.

Renewable Transport Fuel Obligation

17. Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether he plans to modify the renewable transport fuel obligation; and if he will make a statement. [238608]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Yes. The Gallagher Review on the indirect effects of biofuel production recommended that the rate of increase in the renewable transport fuel obligation should be slowed. Our consultation issued on 15 October proposes this, together with changes to introduce new eligible fuels and to rectify a discrepancy in the definition of how the obligation is calculated.

High Speed Rail Line

18. Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if his Department will take steps to build a high speed rail line north from London. [238610]

Paul Clark: The Government are looking at the need for additional transport capacity as part of the new approach to planning set out in the October 2007 document "Towards a Sustainable Transport System". While Network Rail is reviewing the case for new lines as one option, enhancement of the capability of the existing network is equally important, as shown by the £8.8 billion investment in upgrading the west-coast main line, which has significantly reduced travel times.

Regional Airports

19. Hugh Bayley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what his policy is for regional airports in the north of England; and if he will make a statement. [238611]

Jim Fitzpatrick: Regional airports, including those in the north of England, generate regional growth and investment, and we support their development provided environmental considerations are addressed. "The Future of Air Transport" White Paper invited airports to publish master plans outlining their future development proposals, and many have now done so.

Aviation: Surcharges

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what discussions he has had with representatives of airline companies on fuel surcharges imposed prior to the recent fall in oil prices. [236782]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Secretary of State for Transport meets UK airlines on regular basis. The issue of high oil prices has been raised frequently over the past 18 months as a significant concern for the aviation industry.

Channel Tunnel

Dr. Stoate: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment his Department has made of current spare passenger capacity on (a) the High Speed 1 rail link and (b) the Channel Tunnel. [236244]

Paul Clark: There is currently significant spare capacity on High Speed 1. Much of this will be utilised when domestic high-speed services commence in December 2009. And, potentially, the opening up of the international passenger rail market from 2010 will see further increases in the use of the railway in the future.

Although the Department for Transport has made no formal assessment of the current spare capacity in the channel tunnel, it is my understanding that a significant level of capacity remains available for international services. The allocation of paths through the channel tunnel, and the precise number that have been unused, are matters for Eurotunnel.

Concessions: Gloucestershire

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent discussions he has had with (a) Gloucestershire County Council, (b) Tewkesbury Borough Council and (c) Cheltenham Borough Council on their funding of free off-peak travel for elderly and disabled people; and if he will make a statement. [239194]

Paul Clark: No recent discussions have taken place with any of these three councils. The Department for Transport is always willing to discuss the concerns of local authorities, whether on concessionary travel or any other transport issue.

The Government remain confident that there is sufficient funding in total to meet the cost of the statutory minimum bus concession. We are also confident that the extra funding provided this year, £212 million, to meet the additional costs of the move to England-wide free off-peak bus travel is sufficient in aggregate. A formula was used to distribute this year's additional funding taking account of factors such as local population, tourist numbers and current bus use. The Department for Transport will continue to monitor the impact of the new concession.

Cycling

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much funding his Department has allocated to promote (a) cycling and (b) walking in 2008-09; and what percentage of his Department's total budget for that year that figure represents. [238288]

Paul Clark [holding answer 24 November 2008]: The Department for Transport's investment in cycling and walking is primarily via local authorities. The Department is supporting local authorities (excluding London) via local transport plan funding with £577 million in 2008-09.

The TfL block grant is £2.528 billion. Local authorities determine their own spending priorities and it is for them to decide how much to allocate to cycling and walking.

The Department also funds a range of initiatives, often via non-governmental partners, to promote sustainable travel, including cycling and walking.

In 2008-09 these initiatives include:

| Initiative | £ million |
|---|---|
| Cycling | |
| Support for Cycling England programmes | 20 |
| Transport Direct cycle route mapping | 0.4 |
| Walking | |
| Walk to School initiatives | 1.8 |
| Wider sustainable travel, including year five of a five year programme of funding for three sustainable travel towns and the sustainable travel to school project | 5.4 |

The Department's overall DEL budget for 2008-09 at the main estimates is £13,649.7 million. As we do not monitor the expenditure by local authorities on cycling and walking, any percentage figure would be misleading.

Cycling: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many cycle routes have been established in the east midlands since 1998. [238075]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport does not collect this information centrally.

Departmental Early Retirement

Mr. Jeremy Browne: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many employees in his Department took early retirement in each of the last five financial years; and at what total cost. [238971]

Mr. Hoon: I refer the hon. Member to our previous answer of 17 July 2008, Official Report, column 611W.

Previous years and expenditure can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much was spent on employing press and communications officers in (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies in each of the last three years. [239673]

Mr. Hoon: Communications activities across the Department for Transport are not exclusively carried out by staff or units solely dedicated to this purpose. Staff costs are therefore not readily available for communications activities alone and could be provided only at disproportionate cost. Estimates of the pay cost of press officer activities have previously been compiled and are set out as follows for the years 2005-06 to 2007-08 as follows:

| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | £ million 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|
| DfT(C) | 0.77 | 0.88 | 0.84 |
| DSA | 0.06 | 0.06 | 0.06 |
| DVLA | 0.19 | 0.19 | 0.14 |
| GCDA | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| HA | 0.27 | 0.30 | 0.36 |
| MCA | 0.15 | 0.15 | 0.15 |
| VCA | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| VOSA | 0.04 | 0.04 | 0.04 |

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236427]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport and its Executive agencies currently have 234 surplus land parcels, 229 of which are owned by the Highways Agency and five by the Driving Standards Agency, when last valued these sites had an estimated global value of £13.7 million (net book value). Information on site size is not currently available for the majority of the sites, although the majority are very small with 30 per cent. valued less than £1,000.

This above excludes surplus land held by the British Railways Board (Residuary) (a public corporation) which is in the process of being disposed of.

Departmental Manpower

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of DfT(C)'s staff recorded as being (a) from an ethnic minority and (b) white were given the highest marking in the annual appraisal round in each year since DfT(C)'s formation. [239133]

Mr. Hoon: The central Department recorded the following proportion of staff who received the highest marking in their annual appraisal in each year since formation:

| | Ethnic minority | Percentage White |
|---|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 20.2 | 30.0 |
| 2006-07 | 19.9 | 30.0 |
| 2005-06 | 10.0 | 27.0 |
| 2004-05 | 20.0 | 27.0 |
| 2003-04 | 14.4 | 29.6 |
| 2002-03 | 14.3 | 26.6 |

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether his Department has a formal policy on steps to be taken when a race impact assessment demonstrates that there has been an adverse impact on a racial group arising from a departmental policy. [239134]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport acts in accordance with the Equality and Human Rights Commission (formerly the Commission for Racial Equality) guidance for public authorities on carrying out race impact assessments. In line with the guidance the Department for Transport would decide whether the proposals were relevant to race equality and then take a proportionate response by as necessary:

considering alterations to the policy that would mitigate the adverse impact or eliminate unlawful discrimination while still delivering the policy intention; and considering alternative policies that might better achieve the promotion of race equality.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what bonuses were paid by his Department in 2007-08; to which members of staff; and for what purposes. [239670]

Mr. Hoon: I refer the right hon. and learned Member to the answer of 2 July 2008, Official Report, columns 919-20W.

Departmental Publications

Mr. Baron: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what effect publication of the Highway Code has on his Department's finances. [239329]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Highway Code is self-funding with publication costs met from the income from sales.

Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Industrial Relations

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport on what basis the Chief Executive of the Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency ordered the confiscation of union material from a union official who was visiting the Shared Service Centre on 11 June 2008; and what happened to the confiscated material. [239486]

Jim Fitzpatrick: On 11 June a trade union official from PCS attended DVLA's Shared Service Centre by invitation to view the premises and gain a better understanding of Shared Service processes. At the conclusion of the meeting he started to distribute leaflets to staff and was asked to stop. DVLA do not allow the distribution of leaflets on DVLA property without permission. Permission was not sought on this occasion. The trade union official subsequently offered to hand the leaflets over to a manager, who disposed of them.

DVLA has no objection to distribution of trade union material when permission is sought and provides notice boards for the display of such information.

Driving and Vehicle Licensing Agency: Data Protection

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will place in the Library a copy of the guidance issued to Driving and Vehicle Licensing Agency staff for use when approached by third parties for motorists' information. [237823]

Jim Fitzpatrick: The Driver and Vehicle Licensing Agency (DVLA) staffs are issued with guidance to enable them to make appropriate decisions as to whether disclosure of information in a particular circumstance is lawful. However, I have not placed a copy of this guidance in the House Library as it would be a helpful tool for those wishing to access DVLA data unlawfully to circumvent the procedures in place and obtain data inappropriately. I believe the interests of the public are better served by not putting this information into the public domain. However, detailed information on the disclosure of DVLA data is available from www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Driving Standards Agency

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many times the Driving Standards Agency has issued more than one copy of the 'Are You Ready?' DVD to an individual learner driver since 1 January 2008; for what reasons; and if he will make a statement. [239008]

Jim Fitzpatrick [holding answer 24 November 2008]: The Driving Standards Agency estimates that between 1 January 2008 and 20 November 2008, 60,000 learner drivers have received more than one copy of the 'Are You Ready?' DVD owing to a technical error.

A further 20,000 customers were sent an additional copy at their request because of the loss of the original, or an undelivered appointment letter.

Heathrow Airport: Railway Network

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport if he will publish an estimate of the costs of the Airtrack proposal to improve rail links at Heathrow. [237767]

Paul Clark: The Airtrack proposal is being promoted by BAA. Accordingly the estimation and publication of costs is a matter for BAA.

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether it is proposed to meet any costs of funding the Airtrack proposal to improve rail links to Heathrow from public funds. [237768]

Paul Clark: Under the Airtrack train service proposal, links would be provided between existing rail stations as well as new links to Heathrow airport Terminal 5. To the extent that the Airtrack proposal may offer wider benefits to rail passengers a contribution to the scheme from public funds may be appropriate.

Inland Waterways

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of the potential for inland waterways to carry commercial transport. [239364]

Jim Fitzpatrick: In July this year, the Department for Transport published a report identifying the existing inland waterways in Great Britain that may realistically be considered for freight transport either in their current condition or with minor infrastructure improvements. That report, with the accompanying map showing the waterways concerned, is freely available on the Department's website.

Intercity Express Programme

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport for what reasons his Department has changed the process by which the Intercity Express Programme is financed; and if he will make a statement. [238551]

Paul Clark: There has been no change to the Department for Transport's process for funding the Intercity Express Programme. The Department expects the private sector to provide the necessary finance, as set out in the Intercity Express Programme Invitation to Tender.

M3

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what estimates (a) his Department and (b) the Highways Agency have made of the effect on M3 traffic flows of the three proposed new distribution centres at Andover, Pyestock and Newbury. [239178]

Paul Clark: Neither the Department for Transport nor the Highways Agency has estimated the effect on M3 traffic flows of these three proposed new distribution centres.

The impacts of the proposed distribution centres at Andover and Newbury have not been explicitly assessed by the Highways Agency because of their distance from the M3. The application for Pyestock (Hartland Park) is for reuse of an existing site so the net impact has been reviewed by the Highways Agency and is limited to the equivalent legal reuse.

Motor Vehicles: Safety

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment his Department has made of the effect of wearing an appropriate restraint on the survival rate of children involved in car accidents. [239539]

Jim Fitzpatrick: A European expert group on child safety, co-sponsored by the Department for Transport, published an analysis of UK casualty data to 2006. This showed that the use of a child restraint, when compared with no restraint, reduced the proportion of moderate child injuries in a frontal impact from approximately 30 per cent. to 10 per cent. and minor injuries from 55 per cent. to 40 per cent.

However, the Department for Transport has made no recent assessment of the effect of wearing an appropriate restraint on the survival rate of children involved in car accidents.

National Business Travel Network

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many businesses have signed up to the National Business Travel Network; how much has been spent on the network since its launch, broken down by different projects; and how much he plans to spend on the network over the next two years. [237616]

Paul Clark: One hundred and twelve businesses have joined the National Business Travel Network since its launch in February 2007.

Planned spend to March 2009 is £750,000. This includes:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| Research and publications | 153,000 |
| Events | 107,000 |
| Website/database | 40,000 |
| Fees, set up costs, salaries, accommodation etc. | 450,000 |

We are currently reviewing how best to reduce car journeys generated by business travel to give more options to employees and businesses.

Network Rail: Disabled

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport which construction projects Network Rail has completed in fulfilment of its obligations under the Disability Discrimination Act 1995 in each of the last three years for which figures are available; and what has been the cost of each such project. [239227]

Paul Clark: This is an operational matter for Network Rail, who have a duty under part 3 of the Disability Discrimination Act to make adjustments to the way their services are provided. This may be done by altering physical features at stations, taking steps to avoid physical obstacle or providing the service by other means.

Network Rail are also constructing obstacle free, accessible routes at priority stations as part of the Government's Access for All programme. To date, 145 stations have been identified to receive enhancements and work has reached practical completion at 15 sites since March 2006, with a total investment of approximately £29.6 million.

Network Rail: Finance

Mr. Brady: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport whether it is Network Rail's policy to allocate a budget for each construction project in advance of (a) procurement and (b) commencement of work. [239228]

Paul Clark: This is an operational matter for Network Rail as the owner and operator of the national rail network and such information would be available from the Network Rail's Chief Executive at:

Iain Coucher
Chief Executive Network Rail Kings Place
90 York Way
London, N1 9AG.

Railways: Construction

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport (1) pursuant to the answer of 8 October 2008, Official Report, column 648W, on railways: construction, when the recent work he refers to in his answer was carried out for his Department; [237831]

(2) who carried out the work referred to; and if he will place a copy of this work in the Library. [237832]

Paul Clark: The work referred to in my previous answer on 8 October 2008, Official Report, column 648W, was carried out by Booz Allen Hamilton and Department for Transport officials as part of the policy development leading to the Rail White Paper (July 2007).

Railways: Fares

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent representations he has received from train operating companies on rail fare increases. [238135]

Paul Clark: The Government have not had representations from the train operating companies regarding rail fares increases, beyond their required statement of compliance in respect of regulated fares.

Unregulated fares are solely a matter for train operators, but increases are kept under review by Government.

Railways: Overcrowding

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what assessment he has made of overcrowding on East Midlands Trains services during peak times on train services from Warrington station; and what steps are being taken to address the issue. [239236]

Paul Clark: East Midlands Trains regularly evaluates levels of overcrowding to formulate plans to improve capacity. The refurbishment programme for Class 158 vehicles commenced this summer and will provide a 13 per cent. increase in seating capacity.

Railways: Scotland

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many members of his Department's staff are working on a possible high speed rail line from London to Scotland. [237830]

Paul Clark: I refer the hon. Member to the answers on 16 October 2008, Official Report, column 1372W, and 28 October, Official Report, column 835W.

Railways: South-West

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has to promote high speed rail links to the south-west. [239555]

Paul Clark: The Government's immediate priority are increasing capacity on the existing rail network and £10 billion will be invested from 2009 to 2014 on measures to bring this about.

In March 2008, the Secretary of State for Transport invited Network Rail to examine options for supporting further growth in the longer term, which might include new lines. Network Rail's new lines study is due to be completed in summer 2009.

On 29 October 2008, it was announced that the Minister of State for Transport (Lord Adonis) will chair a National Networks Strategy Group, with senior partners from Network Rail, the Highways Agency, Treasury and other Government Departments as necessary. The focus of the group is to make best use of the existing key networks and to investigate longer term solutions to future challenges on these networks including new rail lines.

Roads: Repairs and Maintenance

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what projects are included in the Highways Agency's category of other programmes; and from which budget the costs of each such project are met. [234907]

Paul Clark: The Highways Agency has a major projects category of construction schemes which individually are greater than £5 million. There are some 4,400 other non major projects, a summary of these showing the number of projects by budget line is as follows:

| Budget line | Capital | Resource | Number Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| Traffic Management | 74 | 290 | 364 |
| Technology Improvements | 184 | 101 | 285 |
| Maintaining the Network | 81 | 1,705 | 1,786 |
| Smaller Local Schemes and R&D | 662 | 1,332 | 1,994 |
| Total | 1,001 | 3,428 | 4,429 |

A detailed list of projects by description will be placed in the Libraries of the House early in the new year.

Roads: Tolls

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what plans he has to introduce road tolls in Wiltshire; and which roads will be affected by such tolls. [239556]

Paul Clark: The Department for Transport has no plans to introduce road tolls in Wiltshire.

Rolling Stock

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport of the 1,300 new carriages referred to in the 2007 Rail White Paper, how many will be allocated (a) to First Transpennine and (b) to First Capital Connect; and whether they will be in addition to the new Thameslink carriages. [237769]

Paul Clark: The HLOS Rolling Stock Plan published on 30 July 2008 shows 42 additional vehicles allocated to the First Transpennine Express franchise and 85 additional vehicles allocated to the First Capital Connect franchise. These carriages are not part of those being procured for the Thameslink upgrade.

Stephen Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what detailed specifications his Department has made for the procurement of new trains since 2000. [237841]

Paul Clark [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The Strategic Rail Authority was initially involved, alongside HBSC Rail, in procuring the new trains for the fast domestic services into St. Pancras which are being built by Hitachi. This is because there was no train operator in place at the time.

The Department for Transport, with the involvement of industry stakeholders, has developed the output specification for the Inter City Express programme and the new trains for Thameslink.

Shared Service Centre: Finance

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what percentage of bills the Shared Service Centre has paid within 10 days or less in the last 12 months. [239331]

Mr. Hoon: The Department for Transport Shared Service Centre has paid an average of 32 per cent. of invoices within 10-days in the period November 2007 to October 2008.

Transport: Concessions

Mr. Laurence Robertson: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport what recent assessment he has made of the adequacy of the proportion of central Government funding for the concessionary fares scheme; and if he will make a statement. [239193]

Paul Clark: The Government remain confident that there is sufficient funding in total to meet the cost of the statutory minimum bus concession. We are also confident that the extra funding provided this year, £212 million, to meet the additional costs of the move to England-wide free off-peak bus travel is sufficient. A formula was used to distribute this year's additional funding taking account of factors such as local population, tourist numbers and current bus use. The Department for Transport will continue to monitor the impact of the new concession.

Written Questions: Government Responses

John McDonnell: To ask the Secretary of State for Transport how many holding answers his Department has given in response to written parliamentary questions in the last 12 months; and of those how many have been followed with substantive responses. [239132]

Mr. Hoon: In the 12 months to 20 November 2008 the Department for Transport had been asked 1,028 named day written questions. Of these 430 received holding replies and 21 questions awaited final answer.

PRIME MINISTER

Departmental Manpower

David Simpson: To ask the Prime Minister how many staff in his Office did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235214]

The Prime Minister: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him by my hon. Friend the Member for West Bromwich, East (Mr. Watson), Parliamentary and Secretary to the Cabinet Office.

FOREIGN AND COMMONWEALTH OFFICE

Africa

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which organisations were represented at the meetings he attended during his recent visits to the Democratic Republic of Congo and Rwanda. [235180]

Gillian Merron: During his recent visit to the Democratic Republic of Congo with my right hon. Friend the French Foreign Minister, Bernard Kouchner, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary met President Kabila in Kinshasa. In Goma, he visited a camp for internally displaced persons where he met representatives from a range of humanitarian organisations, and had meetings with Alan Doss, the UN Secretary General's Special Representative and other members of the UN mission to the Democratic Republic of Congo, local government authorities and the EU Special Representative's team.

In Kigali, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary met President Kagame, the Belgian Foreign Minister and members of the Office of Tony Blair Rwanda Team, as well as staff from our embassy and the Department for International Development office.

Alexis Sinduhije

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the Government of Burundi on the imprisonment of Alexis Sinduhje of the Movement for Security and Democracy. [236177]

Gillian Merron: Following the recent detention of 37 members of the Movement for Security and Democracy (MSD) and its Chairperson Alexis Sinduhije, the UK issued a statement on 7 November expressing its concerns about the ability of Burundians to exercise their civil and political rights.

A number of incidents involving the media, civil society and political parties have called into question the independence of the judiciary from interference and the credibility of rule of law. No one should be above the law, and those who commit offences should have the right to a free, fair and transparent trial. The UK believes adherence to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights which Burundi has ratified, the Burundian constitution and dialogue will help create the necessary conditions for the reconstruction, stability and development of Burundi.

Algeria: Religious Freedom

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to the Algerian Government on the implementation of the spirit and letter of Article 36 of the Algerian Constitution on freedom of speech and expression of religion. [236661]

Bill Rammell: I am due to visit Algeria on 24-25 November to participate in the third round of bilateral political dialogue with my Algerian counterparts. During these discussions, I hope to discuss the issue of freedom of religion and belief.

Our ambassador to Algeria also raised this issue with the Algerian Ministry of Foreign Affairs on 23 July 2008.

The right to freedom of religion and belief in Algeria was raised on 14 April during Algeria's examination under the UN Human Rights Council's Universal Periodic Review, which the UK participated in. Additionally, the EU-Algeria Association agreement, which came into force in September 2005, restates that the principles and fundamental human rights set out in the universal declaration of human rights is an essential part of the agreement and must be followed by both signatories. The EU will continue to raise questions of human rights in Algeria.

We continue to monitor the enforcement of religious laws in Algeria, raising individual cases when it is appropriate.

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to his Algerian counterpart on compliance with the commitment by the Algerian Government to adhere to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, with particular reference to Article 18. [236665]

Bill Rammell: I am due to visit Algeria on 24-25 November to participate in the third round of bilateral political dialogue. During discussions, I hope to raise the issue of freedom of religion and belief. Our ambassador to Algeria raised this issue with the Algerian Ministry of Foreign Affairs on 23 July 2008.

During the last review of Algeria at the UN Human Rights Committee under the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, in response to questions on this issue, the Algerians said that it was necessary to keep certain laws in place in order to maintain order and prevent proselytisation.

The right to freedom of religion and belief in Algeria was raised on 14 April during Algeria's examination under the UN Human Rights Council's Universal Periodic Review, which the UK participated in. We were disappointed that Algeria did not accept the recommendation made, relating to its decree on freedom of religion.

We continue to monitor the enforcement of religious laws in Algeria, raising individual cases when it is appropriate.

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make representations to his Algerian counterpart on (a) the imprisonment of Algerian nationals who have expressed their minority religious views through written and audio materials and (b) the closure of 26 Protestant churches in the last 12 months. [236666]

Bill Rammell: I am due to visit Algeria on 24-25 November to participate in the third round of bilateral political dialogue. During discussions, I hope to raise this issue with my Algerian interlocutors. Our ambassador to Algeria raised this issue with the Algerian Ministry of Foreign Affairs on 23 July 2008.

We continue to monitor the enforcement of religious laws in Algeria, raising individual cases when it is appropriate.

Mark Pritchard: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will meet the Algerian Ambassador to discuss the effects of Ordinance 06-03 on religious freedom in Algeria. [236753]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary does not intend to meet the Algerian ambassador to discuss this issue.

However, I am due to visit Algeria on 24-25 November to participate in the third round of bilateral political dialogue. During discussions, I hope to raise this issue with my Algerian interlocutors.

Our ambassador to Algeria raised this issue with the Algerian Ministry of Foreign Affairs on 23 July 2008.

Arms Trade: Treaties

Mr. Moore: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions (a) he and (b) his officials had with their US counterparts in advance of the recent United Nations vote on a multilateral Arms Trade Treaty; and if he will make a statement. [233945]

Bill Rammell: We maintain regular and close contact with the US Government on the proposed Arms Trade Treaty (ATT) alongside a wide range of other subjects. My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary discussed the proposed ATT with Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice when they met in New York in September this year and wrote to her on 7 October.

Senior officials have maintained a dialogue with their US counterparts up to and during the UN First Committee meetings last month at which the vote on our resolution to continue work on an ATT was adopted with 147 member states voting in favour—a substantial majority.

Although the US decided to vote against this resolution we are confident that they remain committed to working with the UK towards higher standards of arms export controls. We will maintain our dialogue with them to ensure their views, along with the views of all other UN members, are reflected fully in a strong ATT that will help put an end to the irresponsible trade in conventional arms.

Australia: Foreign Relations

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will make plans to visit Australia to discuss UK-Australia relations. [235984]

Bill Rammell: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary does not currently have plans to visit Australia. He maintains a regular and productive dialogue with his Australian counterpart on a range of key bilateral and multilateral issues. They have regular conversations over the telephone and have met on several occasions this year, including during Stephen Smith's visit to London in June.

The most recent visit to Australia by a Foreign Office Minister was in May by my hon. Friend the Member for Sheffield, Heeley (Meg Munn), the then Parliamentary Under Secretary of State, when she discussed UK-Australia relations with a range of Australian Ministers, including their Deputy Prime Minister.

British Council: Finance

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent assessment he has made of the efficiency of the financial controls on the British Council; and if he will make a statement. [230859]

Caroline Flint: The British Council has a strong culture of financial control with well established fraud management policies and procedures. These are regularly reviewed by the organisation's dedicated internal audit function and annually reviewed by the National Audit Office. If fraud is discovered, it is the British Council's normal practice to immediately review existing controls and reflect lessons learnt in operating practices where necessary. In addition, the British Council is implementing a new global finance and business system which will further strengthen the financial control environment through better segregation of duties, more automated financial controls and greater visibility centrally of the effective operation of financial controls.

Although the Foreign and Commonwealth Office cannot guarantee that frauds will not take place at the Council, we are satisfied that the Council has put in place cost-effective procedures that give reasonable assurance that they will not be defrauded.

Colombia: Armed Forces

Colin Burgon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many members of the Colombian security forces received training funded, in whole or in part, by the UK in each of the last five years. [235942]

Gillian Merron: UK Government records show that the following number of Colombian Security personnel received direct UK training in the following fiscal years:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 21 |
| 2004-05 | 56 |
| 2005-06 | 58 |
| 2006-07 | 66 |
| 2007-08 | 393 |

This UK bilateral training is focused on human rights and humanitarian demining. As much of this engagement is training the trainers, further personnel will have benefited. Furthermore, the UK is also supporting projects being implemented by a number of United Nations agencies to train thousands more men and women in human rights.

Some Colombian military personnel have also received training in the field of counter narcotics. We do not disclose the nature of this engagement, as to do so would endanger the security of the UK and Colombian personnel involved, and undermine the effectiveness of that work.

Colin Burgon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs which personnel of the 2nd Division of the Colombian Army commanded by Brigadier General Cortes Franco received training funded, in whole or in part, by the UK in the last five years. [235943]

Gillian Merron: The UK does not provide training to whole units such as the 2nd Division of the Colombian Army. It is not possible to identify individuals trained by the UK, or by UN programmes part-funded by the UK, who have gone on to serve in particular division of the Colombian armed forces.

We do not disclose the names or other details of people we have trained as to do so would endanger the security of the UK and Colombian personnel involved.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many members of the Colombian armed forces received training from the British Army in each year since 2000. [235990]

Gillian Merron: UK Government records show that the following number of Colombian Security personnel received direct UK training in the following fiscal years:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 2000-01 | 12 |
| 2001-02 | 1 |
| 2002-03 | 1 |
| 2003-04 | 21 |
| 2004-05 | 56 |
| 2005-06 | 58 |
| 2006-07 | 66 |
| 2007-08 | 393 |

This UK bilateral training is focused on human rights and humanitarian demining. As much of this engagement is training the trainers, further personnel will have benefited. Furthermore, the UK is also supporting projects being implemented by a number of United Nations agencies to train thousands more men and women in human rights.

Some Colombian military personnel have also received training in the field of counter narcotics. We do not disclose the nature of this engagement, as to do so would endanger the security of the UK and Colombian personnel involved, and undermine the effectiveness of that work.

Mrs. Moon: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 777W, on Colombia: armed forces, what training his Department has provided to individual soldiers attached to the 15th Mobile Brigade. [235991]

Gillian Merron: Officials from this Department are not involved in the training of any members of the Colombian armed forces.

The Foreign and Commonwealth Office, alongside the Ministry of Defence and Department for International Development, supports humanitarian demining and human rights training, either directly or through partners including the United Nations, to personnel drawn from across the Colombian armed forces and police. As well as bilateral projects, we have projects running through several UN agencies including the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, the UN High Commissioner for Refugees, and the UN Office of Drugs and Crime, that will provide training to more than two thousand serving men and women.

Ms Katy Clark: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the dismissal of Colombian Major José Simon Baquero Ramos and the allegations that men under his command committed extra-judicial executions of Columbian civilians; and if he will make a statement. [237048]

Gillian Merron: We have received no specific reports concerning any of the individuals dismissed following the recent allegations of extra-judicial killings and criminal conspiracy, including Major José Simon Baquero Ramos. In my public statement on 30 October I welcomed the robust action taken by the Government to dismiss the 27 Colombian army officials, and its assurances that all those responsible for these and other extra-judicial killings will stand trial in front of civilian courts.

Colombia: Human Rights

Lyn Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent reports he has received on the Colombian army's alleged involvement in extra-judicial killings of civilians; and if he will make a statement. [233346]

Gillian Merron: We are aware of abuses recently attributed to the Colombian armed forces, and of the decision taken by the Colombian Government to dismiss a number of its senior officers as a result of these and other reported crimes. I issued the following public statement on the issue on 30 October:

> "The Colombian Government's decision to dismiss a number of army officers as a result of recent extra-judicial killings and cases of criminal conspiracy is important. It is vital, not least for Colombia's international reputation, that the Government and Courts continue to show a determination to deal with human rights abuses committed by members of the armed forces, and that those convicted by the civilian justice system are punished appropriately."

Colombia: Intelligence Services

Anne Moffat: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 27 October 2008, Official Report, column 629W, on Colombia: security services, what categories of information are held in his Department's records of Colombian security force personnel who have received UK training in Colombia; and who is responsible for monitoring the human rights conduct of such personnel. [233651]

Gillian Merron: The British embassy in Bogota keeps a record of Colombian security force personnel who receive UK training, whether in counter-narcotics, human rights or humanitarian demining, in case information emerged to suggest that they subsequently become involved in human rights abuses. None has to date. Disclosing the details of the record held by the embassy could endanger the lives of those involved.

All UK-funded projects in Colombia are rigorously evaluated before funding is agreed; and carefully monitored while under way in terms of use of funds, achievement of objectives and outputs. We closely supervise the use of UK resources to ensure the highest operational, ethical and human rights standards are maintained by those with whom we work.

The monitoring of the human rights or other performance of individual Colombian military personnel is the responsibility of the Colombian armed forces. The Colombian Government's decision to dismiss a number of army officers as a result of recent extra-judicial killings and cases of criminal conspiracy was important. We welcome that those responsible for these crimes will stand trial. It is vital that the Colombian authorities continue to show determination to punish those responsible for abuses, as I reiterated to the Colombian Vice-President on 19 November.

Democratic Republic of the Congo: Armed Conflict

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government has taken to monitor the current situation in Democratic Republic of the Congo. [233674]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary visited Kinshasa, Goma and Kigali on 1-2 November. He saw conditions in the region at first-hand and urged both President Kabila of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) and President Kagame of Rwanda to work for a political solution to the current crisis in eastern DRC, including full implementation of the Nairobi Accord. Our embassy and the Department for International Development office in Kinshasa maintain close contact with the DRC Government, the UN operation, international partners and humanitarian agencies.

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the Government have taken to protect British citizens and aid workers in Democratic Republic of the Congo. [233676]

Gillian Merron: We have no exact figures for the numbers of British citizens in eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), though we believe the numbers to be small. Foreign and Commonwealth Office Travel Advice advises against all travel to eastern and north eastern DRC including North Kivu. Those British nationals in the effected areas are likely to be working with international aid agencies and UN agencies. These organisations have their own security systems in place for the evacuation of staff and take advice from the UN mission in the DRC locally. Our embassy in Kinshasa is able to provide limited consular assistance to British nationals in need of emergency assistance. We have a diplomat based in Goma, who as part of their role is to offer consular advice and assistance.

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of reports by UN officials of the involvement of Angolan troops in the east of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. [235359]

Gillian Merron: We have received no confirmed reports from any source, including the UN, of formed units of Angolan troops operating in the eastern Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC). The UN Peacekeeping Force's (MONUC) official spokesman has denied rumours that there are Angolan troops in eastern DRC. The Angolan ambassador to DRC has also denied that there are Angolan troops present in the country.

Democratic Republic of the Congo: United Nations

Lyn Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent consideration his Department has given to the provision of additional resources to the UN mission to the Democratic Republic of the Congo; and if he will make a statement. [233316]

Gillian Merron: UN Mission in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (MONUC) forces on the ground are best placed to deal with the current situation: I fully support their efforts to do so, and commend them for the work they have done. It is not clear that a rapid deployment of forces from the EU or elsewhere at this time could produce a significant increase in the capability that already exists in the region. Discussions with EU partners have revealed a broad consensus in line with this assessment.

The UK currently has five personnel within MONUC, occupying key staff appointments in Kinshasa and Goma. We will consider requests for additional support from the UN but large scale deployments are highly unlikely in view of our operational commitments elsewhere.

Lyn Brown: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the provision of additional resources to United Nations Mission to the Democratic Republic of the Congo. [233317]

Gillian Merron: During the EU's General Affairs and External Relations Council meeting on 10 November, EU Foreign Ministers agreed that at present the best option would be to ensure that the UN Mission to the Democratic Republic of Congo's (MONUC) 17,000 troops are correctly deployed and effectively mandated to provide immediate security in the east of the country. The Council issued conclusions which reiterated its support for MONUC in these difficult circumstances and asked that everything be done to allow it to fulfil its role completely. The Council also underlined the importance of the forthcoming debates on renewal of MONUC's mandate and on strengthening its capacity and called for the strengthening of co-operation between the EU, its member states and MONUC.

Democratic Republic of the Congo: Violence

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress has been made towards the development of a country-wide plan of action and strategy to combat gender violence in Democratic Republic of the Congo; and what assistance the UK has given towards this task. [232113]

Gillian Merron: The UN Senior Adviser on Sexual Violence has been working on a global strategy for tackling the issue in Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), in consultation with partners. The UK has been taking an active interest in the project. In particular, we have been contributing to the impunity action plan for sexual crimes in DRC, which is a component of the wider UN strategy.

Addressing sexual violence requires a multi-dimensional approach and the UK Government are tackling the problem through a range of programmes. As part of our Security Sector Accountability Programme (£80 million over five years), we are providing accommodation for integrated brigades, human rights training within the military and have supported the reform of the army chain of payments. The programme includes a strong police reform component focussing on improving command and control procedures and supporting special units within the police to deal with sexual violence. We fund medical and psychosocial care for victims through our contribution to the UN Humanitarian Pooled Fund (£35 million). With EU partners we are supporting a justice rehabilitation programme in Eastern DRC, Restoration of the Judicial System in Eastern Congo (REJUSCO), which includes a component providing legal support and accompaniment for victims through the criminal process. The issue of sexual violence is raised on a regular basis by Her Majesty's ambassador and others to senior members of the Government to generate political will to tackle the issue.

Departmental Buildings

Mr. Maude: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what refurbishments to his Department's buildings have been carried out in the last 24 months; and at what cost. [233414]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) carried out the following refurbishments to its buildings in the UK in the last 24 months:

refurbishment to areas of sub-ground (including the Consular Crisis Centre), ground, third and fourth floors of King Charles St, London, at a cost of £14,004,000; refurbishment to areas of the second, third and fourth floors and East cupola of the Old Admiralty Building, London, at a cost of £1,425,000; refurbishment to areas of the second floor of Lancaster House, London, at a cost of £45,000; refurbishment of new offices in the Legalisation Office, Milton Keynes at a cost of £519,000; refurbishment of lecture theatre and reception at Hanslope Park, Milton Keynes at a cost of £510,000.

Information relating to refurbishments made to the FCO's overseas estate is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Electronic Equipment

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much his Department and its agencies have spent on (a) flat screen televisions, (b) DVD players and (c) stereo equipment in each of the last three years. [237431]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) does not keep the required information centrally and to provide it would incur a disproportionate cost.

All FCO expenditure is incurred in accordance with the principles set out in the HM Treasury publications 'Managing Public Money' and 'Regularity, Propriety and Value for Money'.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how much was spent on salaries for press and communications officers in (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies in each of the last three years. [231337]

Gillian Merron: The following tables show the number of UK civil servants serving as either press or communications officers at the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) in London or at UK Diplomatic Missions overseas at the beginning of each financial year since 2005 and their combined base salaries.

| Section | Number of Staff | £ Combined Annual Salary |
|---|---|---|
| 1 April 2008 | | |
| Communications | 15 | 306,084.00 |
| Press | 44 | 1,388,374.00 |
| Total | 59 | 1,694,458.00 |
| 1 April 2007 | | |
| Communications | 36 | 757,906.00 |
| Press | 49 | 1,810,721.00 |
| Total | 85 | 2,568,627.00 |

Diego Garcia: Rendition

Mr. Tyrie: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the statement of 21 February 2008, Official Report, columns 457-58, on terrorist suspects (renditions), whether the information received from the US administration on rendition flights through Diego Garcia has been passed to the police. [232517]

Bill Rammell: This information has not been passed to the police.

Diego Garcia: USA

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs when the US lease on the use of part of Diego Garcia for a military base is due for renewal; and what his policy is on whether the lease should be renewed. [235120]

Gillian Merron: The use of the British Indian Ocean Territory is regulated by a series of bilateral agreements (Exchange of Notes) between the UK and the US. The 1966 Exchange of Notes provides that the islands of the British Indian Ocean Territory, including Diego Garcia, shall be available for defence purposes of both countries for an initial period of 50 years (until 2016) and continuing thereafter for a further period of 20 years unless terminated by either government not more than two years before the end of the initial period.

There have been no discussions with the US about the possibility of terminating the agreement. The UK and US consult closely and regularly on their mutual defence needs, including in the annual bilateral official talks on the British Indian Ocean Territory last held in London 18-19 September 2008. To date neither the UK nor the US has raised the possibility of terminating the agreement.

Ilois: Resettlement

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the cost has been to his Department of contesting legal action brought by Chagos islanders seeking to return to the Chagos Islands in each year since 1999-2000. [235122]

Gillian Merron: There have been three separate legal cases concerning the British India Ocean Territory (BIOT). My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs has paid the following sums in respect of legal fees incurred in defending those cases.

R (Bancoult) v. Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs and another: £175,268.44—legal fees; £280,000—applicant's legal fees paid by the Secretary of State following judgment in favour of the applicant.

Chagos Islanders v. (1) the Attorney-General (2) Her Majesty's BIOT Commissioner: £752,362.78—legal fees.

R (Bancoult) v. Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs: the award costs for this case are currently being considered by the Law Lords.

India: Christianity

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what representations he has made to the government of India on action against the perpetrators of recent violence against Christian churches and people in Orissa state. [235404]

Bill Rammell: On 1 October my noble Friend Lord Malloch-Brown raised the matter with the Indian High Commissioner in London. On 17 October, he also discussed our concerns with Anand Sharma, Indian Minister of External Affairs, and Mohammed Quereshi, Chairman of the Minorities Commission in New Delhi.

We understand that the Indian Central Government served an advisory notice to the Orissa State Government on 13 October, urging them to take firm and effective steps to deal with the outbreaks of communal violence and to bring the perpetrators to justice. Our high commission in New Delhi is monitoring the situation closely.

Iran: Nuclear Power

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of Iran's compliance with the August 2007 workplan agreed with the International Atomic Energy Agency; and if he will make a statement. [236385]

Bill Rammell: The International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) Director General has reported four times since August 2007 on the "Workplan" on implementation of Iran's Comprehensive Safeguards Agreement. He has acknowledged some progress, but, in his report of 15 September 2008, Dr. El Baradei said that the IAEA had regrettably "not been able to make any substantive progress on the alleged studies and other associated key remaining issues which remain of serious concern".

We agree with Dr. El Baradei and continue to assess that Iran remains in breach of international obligations. We reiterate our call for Iran to answer the IAEA's questions, and to rebuild international confidence in its intentions.

Iraq: Christianity

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment has been made of the (a) motivation and (b) identity of the perpetrators of the recent violence towards Christians in Iraq; and what representations he has made to the government of Iraq in this respect. [236352]

Bill Rammell: All communities in Iraq, including Christians, have suffered from terrorism, sectarian violence and criminality. We condemn all such violence, regardless of who it is directed against.

We have raised our concerns about the recent violence towards Christians with the Iraqi Government, including the Human Rights Ministry. We welcome the action it has taken to address the security situation in Mosul, where most of this violence has occurred. We are encouraged by United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) reports that Christian families are now returning to their homes.

The Iraqi Government have established a high level investigatory committee to look into the violence in Mosul. We will discuss the findings with the Iraqis when the report is completed.

Iraq: Diplomatic Service

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what rights to (a) appeal and (b) notification of reasons locally-engaged staff contracted to work in the British embassy in Baghdad have in cases of dismissal. [233226]

Gillian Merron: Conduct and discipline issues are covered in local staff terms and conditions. In Baghdad the issue is dealt with in Paragraph 28 and Annex A of the Terms and Conditions of Service in compliance with local law, which state:

Stage 4 - Dismissal

If conduct, attendance or performance is still unsatisfactory and the employee still fails to reach the prescribed standards, dismissal will normally result. The decision will take into account the employee's previous record and any other factors that may be relevant. The employee will be provided, as soon as reasonably practicable, with written reasons for dismissal, the date on which employment will terminate and the rights of appeal. The employee or a representative for them may appeal by putting arguments against dismissal in writing, and those arguments will be considered by Post Management. The employee may contact Local Staff Management Unit (HRD-LSPS) in the Foreign and Commonwealth Office, but should be aware that there is no formal appeal channel to London. The employee should feel able to involve the local staff association, and no staff association representative will be penalised in any way for becoming involved. If the employee is unsatisfied with the outcome of this process or of any appeal, then they may have recourse to the local courts (subject to the possible application of local Iraqi laws, including Coalition Provisional Authority Orders in this regard).

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs to what codes of practice on employment and terms and conditions locally-engaged staff contracted to work in the British Embassy in Baghdad are subject to. [233227]

Gillian Merron: Terms and conditions of employment for locally engaged staff at the British embassy in Baghdad are based on local law. There is a Foreign and Commonwealth Office checklist of issues, such as conduct and discipline, grievances, hours of work, pay, performance standard and tax, which are included in all local staff terms and conditions worldwide, and adapted to comply with local law. Some of the locally contracted staff working at the British embassy Baghdad are employees of private companies such as KBR, Control Risks and GardaWorld, and their terms and conditions are set by their parent companies.

Iraq: Human Rights

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent representations he has received on the treatment of the Assyrian community in Iraq. [236461]

Bill Rammell: Officials in our posts in Erbil and Baghdad, as well as in London, regularly meet representatives of the Assyrian community in Iraq, including the Assyrian representative in the Iraqi Parliament. We last met Assyrian representatives in Erbil on 11 November.

Like all communities in Iraq, the Assyrians have suffered from violence, extremism and criminality. We continue to press the Government of Iraq to ensure that they take action to protect all communities as enshrined in the Iraqi constitution, and to take tough action against those responsible for criminal acts.

Kosovo: Politics and Government

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what recent discussions he has had with his Serbian counterpart on the deployment of the European Union's EULEX mission in Kosovo; and if he will make a statement. [236390]

David Miliband: The EU Rule of Law Mission (EULEX) was one of the issues I discussed with Serbia's President Boris Tadic and Foreign Minister Vuk Jeremic during my visit to Serbia on 4-5 November, and with Foreign Minister Jeremic when he visited London on 11 November.

I indicated that a signal from Serbia that it supported EULEX's mission would help create a positive atmosphere for EULEX deployment across Kosovo. We expect Serbia, as an aspiring member of the European Union, to understand the importance of support for this important European Security Defence Policy mission.

Libya

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the terms of the prisoner transfer agreement signed with Libya on 17 November 2008 are; when it is expected to come into force; and if he will make a statement. [237911]

Mr. Straw: I have been asked to reply.

The prisoner transfer agreement between the United Kingdom and Libya was signed on 17 November 2008. It is subject to ratification by both the United Kingdom and Libya and will not enter into force until both states have completed their relevant constitutional procedures. In accordance with the requirements of the Ponsonby Rule, the agreement will be published as a Command Paper and laid before Parliament with an Explanatory Memorandum in the usual way.

Madagascar

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has discussed with his Madagascan counterpart the possibility of Madagascar joining the Commonwealth of Nations. [233972]

Gillian Merron: No such discussions have taken place. However, President Ravalomanana has indicated to our ambassador his desire to discuss Commonwealth membership, noting strong British involvement in Madagascar before it was colonised by the French.

Middle East: Peace Negotiations

Mr. Kilfoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what support his Department has given to peace discussions between the Syrian and Israeli governments. [235987]

Bill Rammell: We have consistently expressed our political support for the Turkish government's efforts in holding indirect peace talks between Syria and Israel. Over the past fortnight, my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has met his Turkish, Israeli and Syrian counterparts and reiterated our support.

Montserrat: Foreign Relations

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what meetings he has had with representatives of the Montserrat Government in the last six months. [236115]

Gillian Merron: As Minister for Overseas Territories, I met overseas territories heads of delegations, including the Chief Minister of Montserrat, hon. Lowell Lewis, during the 10th meeting of the Overseas Territories Consultative Council on 28-29 October.

My hon. Friend the Under Secretary of State for Department of International Development, and I also held bilateral discussions with Chief Minister hon. Lowell Lewis and Minister hon. Reuben Meade on Thursday 30 October.

Montserrat: Tourism

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many tourists from the UK visited Montserrat in the last year for which figures are available. [236107]

Gillian Merron: Tourist statistics are collated by the government of Montserrat. We understand that from 1 January 2007 to 31 December 2007, 1,899 British citizens visited Montserrat. For the current calendar year up to 12 November 2008, 1,643 British citizens have visited Montserrat. These figures refer to people who have visited Montserrat on a UK passport, and whose normal place of residence is the UK.

Nuclear Fuels

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what steps the UK has taken in the last 12 months to conclude an international agreement on a mechanism for reliable access to nuclear fuel under the auspices of the International Atomic Energy Agency. [236391]

David Miliband: The UK, Germany and the Netherlands co-hosted an international conference on 17-18 April to bring together supplier and customer states to discuss this issue. The UK will host a further conference next year. The UK is currently working with the presidency of the EU to agree the conditions for an EU contribution to a nuclear fuel bank administered by the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA). Steps are also being taken to finalise the UK's Enrichment Bond proposal and we expect to take this to the IAEA early next year.

Peace Negotiations: Women

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many women (a) are on and (b) the UK nominated to be on the UN Peacebuilding Commission. [234742]

Bill Rammell: The UN Peacebuilding Commission's (PBC) membership is a collection of UN member states, not individuals. Selection of those member states is made on the grounds of post-conflict experience, equitable geographic representation and gathering expertise from among key troop and police contributing countries and donors. As such, member states do not nominate individual candidates to be on the PBC, although they do provide representatives to speak for them in meetings. Representatives therefore could be of either gender and attendance may differ from meeting to meeting.

Jo Swinson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what the budget is for the UK National Action Plan to implement UN Security Council Resolution 1325; whether he plans to increase it; and if he will make a statement. [234743]

Bill Rammell: There is no specific budget for the UK National Action Plan to implement UN Security Council Resolution 1325 as the issues are largely mainstreamed into our work on conflict. However, through the tri-departmental (Foreign and Commonwealth Office, Department for International Development and Ministry of Defence) Conflict Prevention Pool the UK provides direct funding support to a range of projects aimed at tackling gender-based violence and building capacity for female participation in conflict resolution. We will continue to identify projects that promote the recommendations of UN Security Council Resolution 1325 and ensure that all HMG funded projects take into account gender issues. UK training to troop contributing countries prior to deployment in UN missions includes guidance on the protection of women and children.

In the last three years we have given the UN Development Fund for Women (UNIFEM) around £9 million in core funding, including £3.4 million for its project on "Women's engagement in Peacebuilding and Preventing Sexual Violence in Conflict Project". Other projects include funding research into the problem of violence against women in Afghanistan, and £2 million of funding for Pakistan's Gender Justice and Protection Fund which supports national approaches to combat violence against women. In South Africa we provide support to NGOs aimed at empowering women, men and youth to demand and protect women's rights, reducing the vulnerability of women and girls to gender based violence and HTV/AIDs.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many staff in his Department left under (a) involuntary and (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in each year since 2005-06; how many of them in each case were paid (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000 in the year before they left; and how much (A) was spent in each of those years and (B) is planned to be spent on such schemes in (1) 2008-09 and (2) 2009-10 by (Y) his Department and (Z) each of his Department's agencies. [237353]

Gillian Merron: No UK civil servants employed by the Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) left the Department involuntarily having received notice of compulsory redundancy in the period since 2005.

The following table shows the number of staff who left the FCO voluntarily under early retirement or early severance schemes in each year since 2005 grouped according to their annual salary at the time of their departure:

| | Up to £25,000 | £25,001 to £50,000 | £50,001 to £75,000 | £75,001 to £100,000 | Over £100,000 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | — | — | — | — | — | — |
| 2006-07 | — | — | — | — | — | — |
| 2007-08 | 3 | 49 | 36 | 9 | 6 | 103 |
| 2008-09 (provisional) | 17 | 39 | 13 | 7 | 3 | 79 |

Compensation for early departure is paid in strict accordance with the standard Civil Service Compensation Scheme. The FCO meets the cost of early departures. This includes the cost of lump sum severance payments and the additional costs of benefits beyond the normal Principal Civil Service Pension Scheme (PCSPS) benefits in respect of employees who retire early.

The following table shows the total cost to the FCO of early departures by staff in each year since 2005.

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 18,158,162.00 |
| 2006-07 | 11,269,250.00 |
| 2007-08 | 18,918,138.00 |
| 2008-09 (provisional) | 9,372,159.00 |

FCO Services began operating as a Trading Fund in April 2008. The following table shows expenditure on early departures by FCO Services in each year since 2007-08 (the first year for which separate figures are available):

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2007-08 | 1,628,536.00 |
| 2008-09 | 0 |

It is our policy to do all we can to avoid compulsory redundancies. Since 2004 we have carried out a number of restructuring exercises to realise efficiency savings. This early retirement programme enabled us to reduce the size of the Senior Management Structure (SMS) in the FCO by 20 per cent. by 31 March 2008.

Figures given for 2008-09 are provisional estimates. The FCO has no plans for wide-scale restructuring exercises in 2009-10, but will be ready to offer departure on early retirement terms to a limited number of staff who meet strict criteria, if work force planning requirements make it necessary.

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs how many of his Department's staff who left under (a) an involuntary and (b) a voluntary exit scheme in each year since 2005-06 received a severance package of (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000; and if he will make a statement. [239163]

Gillian Merron: The following table shows the number of staff who voluntarily left the Foreign and Commonwealth Office under early retirement or early severance schemes in each year, grouped by the level of total cost to the Department of funding each retirement package:

| | Up to £25,000 | £25,001 to £50,000 | £50,001 to £75,000 | £75,001 to £100,000 | Over £100,000 | Number of staff Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 20 | 38 | 22 | 22 | 70 | 172 |
| 2006-07 | 2 | 17 | 8 | 12 | 35 | 74 |
| 2007-08 | 11 | 12 | 5 | 10 | 65 | 103 |
| 2008-09[1] | 10 | 16 | 10 | 7 | 36 | 79 |

[1] Provisional

All payments to staff leaving on early exit schemes are calculated and paid in strict accordance with the terms of the standard Civil Service Compensation Schemes. The total costs shown in the table include compensation payments up to pension age (60), early payment of pension sums, some of which would have been payable to these staff whenever they retired, and administrative costs.

The figure given for 2008-09 is a provisional estimate.

All early retirements for which we have paid compensation during this period have been voluntary.

Russia: BBC External Services

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what changes to the BBC World Service's Russian Service there have been in the last 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [238250]

David Miliband: In October the BBC World Service announced changes to the BBC Russia Service in the face of a decline in short wave audiences and the loss of all its FM agreements over the past few years. There is an overall refocusing of the BBC's radio programming, stronger news coverage and an increased online offering. It is for the BBC to decide how best to use its resources to maximise impact.

BBC Russia will now offer a more focused peak-time news service on radio, both on medium wave and short wave. Their new strategy is to offer a fresher, more relevant service for audiences and to ensure that resources are focused where they will have the most impact.

The BBC will also increase its online presence. The BBC's online plans include:

(a) launching a new online rolling news service;

(b) increasing the number of high quality video reports;

(c) strengthening resources for BBCRussian.com during the morning peak periods;

(d) increasing the resources for interactivity;

(e) boosting the Learn English part of BBCRussian.com.

Russia: EU External Relations

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what progress has been made in the EU-Russia talks on a partnership and co-operation agreement with respect to the territorial integrity of Russia's neighbouring states; and if he will make a statement. [236783]

Caroline Flint: We welcome the resumption of negotiations on the new EU-Russia Partnership and Cooperation Agreement. This will ensure that we can engage Russia on all the issues that are important to us including regional security and stability, trade, climate and energy security. We are clear however that this does not mean a return to business as usual in the EU's relationship with Russia. We will continue to demand full Russian compliance with the ceasefire agreements. And as the EU presidency statement following the November General Affairs and External Relations Council made clear, we will remain vigilant, in particular on common neighbourhood issues that are covered by the Union's negotiating mandate. This includes the conflicts in Georgia and Moldova.

Russia: Foreign Relations

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs if he will place in the Library a copy of the EU review of relations with Russia. [236381]

David Miliband: A copy of the review has been placed in the Library of both Houses.

Russia: Georgia

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment the Government has made of the situation of ethnic Georgians displaced from their homes in Abkhazia and South Ossetia since 7 August 2008; what representations the Government has made concerning their situation to the Russian Government; and if he will make a statement. [233102]

David Miliband: The UK Government are concerned about refugees and internally displaced persons (IDPs) following the conflict in Georgia this August.

The UN High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) has assessed that refugees suffer from food insecurity, deplorable living conditions, lack of access to social services and low school attendance rates for children. While improved law enforcement has provided better security, feuds between families remain an issue for refugees and locals. The UNHCR Global Needs Assessment has identified outstanding challenges including: expanding access to national health, education and social protection programmes; enhancing livelihood opportunities for refugee and host communities; improving awareness among refugees of civil obligations and rights, and procedures to pursue naturalisation.

Since the crisis broke in August the UK has provided £4 million of humanitarian aid through UNHCR, International Red Cross, United Nations Office for the Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs and the Hazardous Areas Life-Support Organisation (HALO).

Together with our EU partners we continue to urge the Russian Government and the de facto authority in Abkhazia and South Ossetia to participate in the Geneva talks to find a peaceful lasting settlement, including enabling IDPs to return to their homes.

Russia: Missiles

Mr. Jenkin: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment he has made of Russia's planned deployment of Iskander missiles to the Kaliningrad region; what discussions he has had on the matter with (a) the Polish government and (b) his other NATO counterparts; what assessment he has made of President Medvedev's threat electronically to jam US anti-ballistic missile systems; and if he will make a statement. [234947]

Caroline Flint: Deployment of these missiles would be unfortunate and unnecessary. The US has made clear many times, the planned Ballistic Missile Defence (BMD) system is not intended for, or capable of, countering Russian strategic nuclear forces, but is designed to counter limited ballistic missile threats from states of concern.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has had no discussions with the Polish government, or the governments of other North Atlantic Treaty Organisation nations, on this specific issue, although the issue of BMD is routinely discussed in a number of forums.

Mr. MacShane: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with (a) NATO and (b) EU partners on the Russian declaration on installing short-range offensive Iskander missiles close to the borders of Lithuania, Poland and Germany; and if he will make a statement. [236781]

Caroline Flint: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for North Essex (Mr. Jenkin) (question 234947).

Rwanda: Armed Conflict

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his counterparts in Rwanda and the Democratic Republic of the Congo on the recent fighting in the region. [233182]

Gillian Merron: My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary visited the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), Rwanda and Tanzania on 1-2 November with his French counterpart, Bernard Kouchner. During the visit, he urged President Kabila of the DRC and President Kagame of Rwanda to pursue a political solution to the problems of the eastern DRC, including by fully implementing the Nairobi Accord.

We will continue to work with the DRC and Rwandan Governments, as well as others including the UN, the African Union and the EU, to seek a long-term solution. Meanwhile, we urge that the current ceasefire is maintained and humanitarian access is allowed to help those most affected by recent fighting.

Somalia: Armed Conflict

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what reports he has received on the seizure of the port of Merka in Somalia by Islamist militants; and if he will make a statement. [236376]

Gillian Merron: A Shabaab insurgent group entered the port city of Merka on 11 November 2008. Government forces appear to have avoided a battle by withdrawing prior to their arrival. Merka is now reported to be the closest city to Mogadishu controlled by insurgents.

Somalia: Piracy

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment has been made of reports that pirates operating in the Gulf of Aden are from insurgent groups linked to al-Qaeda; and if he will make a statement. [236350]

Bill Rammell: Piracy has a long history in the region, and while it is possible this is linked to terrorism and insurgent groups, the best evidence is that these activities are largely unconnected. The relevant UK Departments are in regular contact on this issue.

Sudan: War Crimes

Mr. Keith Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions he has had with his (a) US and (b) French counterparts on the warrant issued by the Chief Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court for the arrest of President al-Bashir of Sudan; and what the outcome was. [235411]

Gillian Merron: On 14 July 2008 the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court (ICC) submitted an application to the Pre-Trial Chamber of the ICC to issue a warrant for the arrest of President Bashir of Sudan. The Pre-Trial Chamber has not yet ruled on this application.

My right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary has regular discussions with his French and US counterparts, including on the subject of Sudan. We also have extensive discussions at official level. We have agreed with the US, France and other international partners on the need to continue pressing the government of Sudan to engage with the ICC and to commit to a genuine peace process for Darfur and have made this clear to the government of Sudan.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Foreign Relations

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs whether he has met officials from the Turks and Caicos Islands since Hurricane Ike in September 2008. [238366]

Gillian Merron: As Minister for the Overseas Territories, I met delegations from the Overseas Territories, including the Premier of the Turks and Caicos Islands, Dr. Michael Misick, and his officials, during the tenth meeting of the Overseas Territories Consultative Council on 28-29 October.

The Under Secretary of State for the Department for International Development and I held a bilateral discussion with the Premier, the Finance Minister and Ministry of Finance officials on 30 October.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Hurricanes

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what assessment his Department has made of the socio-economic impact assessment prepared by the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean in respect of the damage caused to the Turks and Caicos Islands by Hurricane Ike. [236773]

Gillian Merron: The Foreign and Commonwealth Office, jointly with the Department for International Development, has considered the draft assessment prepared by the UN Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. We have provided our comments to the Turks and Caicos Islands Financial Secretary for inclusion in its final report.

Turks and Caicos Islands: Overseas Aid

Mr. Hoyle: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs what discussions have taken place with the Turks and Caicos Islands authorities on post-hurricane financial assistance; and when a decision will be made about such assistance. [235716]

Gillian Merron: The current status of discussions within the Turks and Caicos Islands (TCI) is a matter for the government of the TCI. However, I discussed post-hurricane financial assistance with the Premier of the TCI when I met with him on 30 October. I understand that they are discussing post-hurricane financial assistance with a number of international organisations, governments and private contributors.

Western Sahara: Politics and Government

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 22 October 2008, Official Report, column 239W, on the Western Sahara, what his policy is on whether the resolution of humanitarian and human rights questions should await the conclusion of a political settlement. [236662]

Bill Rammell: The UK remains committed to a resolution to the Western Sahara dispute that will achieve a just, lasting and mutually acceptable political solution, providing self-determination to the people of Western Sahara. A successful political solution between the parties lies in building trust and confidence, encouraging the parties to greater realism and compromise as outlined by UN Security Council Resolution 1813 adopted on 30 April 2008. Improvements in the human rights and humanitarian consequences of the dispute are a key part of building that mutual confidence.

On 22 April my hon. Friend and predecessor the hon. Member for Pontypridd (Dr. Howells), while visiting Morocco, called for greater transparency by all the parties, including on human rights, to help build mutual confidence. This call was echoed by my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary when he met Mr. Taieb Fassi Fihri, the Foreign Minister of Morocco, in Marseille on 3 November. The UK Government continue to provide, through the European Union, significant humanitarian assistance to the people in the camps in Tindouf. Since 1993, the European Commission Humanitarian Aid department (ECHO) has provided €133 million in humanitarian aid.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 22 October 2008, Official Report, column 239W, on the Western Sahara, what his policy is on the appointment of human rights monitors in the Western Sahara. [236663]

Bill Rammell: The UK is concerned that the conflict in the Western Sahara remains unresolved and we are keen to see a resolution to the issue of the Western Sahara that will provide for a just, lasting and mutually acceptable political solution offering self-determination of the people of the Western Sahara. To this end, we support the efforts of the UN Secretary-General and the negotiations between the parties under his auspices.

The UK also continues to support the UN Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO). MINURSO's mandate does not include human rights monitoring. However, success in the negotiations depends upon building greater confidence between the parties. In this respect, the UK remains open to supporting UN human rights monitoring in the Western Sahara if it can be shown to enhance the mutual confidence of the parties.

Mr. Drew: To ask the Secretary of State for Foreign and Commonwealth Affairs pursuant to the Answer of 6 October 2008, Official Report, column 239W, on the Western Sahara, whether the Government categorises the Western Sahara as a non-self-governing territory. [236664]

Bill Rammell: The UK regards the sovereignty and hence the status of Western Sahara as undetermined pending UN efforts to find a solution. Western Sahara is on the UN's list of non-self-governing territories.

HEALTH

Alzheimer's Disease: Drugs

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of providing drugs for the treatment of Alzheimer's disease in each of the last five years. [237901]

Phil Hope: The condition for which a medicine is prescribed is not recorded centrally.

The information requested in respect of medicines for the treatment of dementia (as listed in section 4.11 of the British National Formulary (BNF) and which includes Alzheimer's disease) is shown in the following table. Some prescribing of these medicines will be for reasons other than dementia and there may be some prescribing from other areas of the BNF for the treatment of dementia which is not included.

Section 4.11 of the British National Formulary

Breast Cancer: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many cases of breast cancer were (a) diagnosed and (b) successfully treated in the East Midlands in each of the last 10 years. [237899]

Kevin Brennan: I have been asked to reply.

The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent Parliamentary Question asking how many cases of breast cancer were (a) diagnosed and (b) successfully treated in the East Midlands in each of the last 10 years. [237899]

Table 1 gives the numbers of (a) newly diagnosed cases of breast cancer (incidence) by sex for each year from 1997 to 2006 (the latest data available) for the East Midlands government office region.

It cannot be stated definitively whether a patient with breast cancer has been (b) 'successfully treated'.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) regularly publishes one- and five-year survival rates for patients resident in government office regions and strategic health authorities. Table 2 gives the five-year relative survival rate for women diagnosed with breast cancer between 1994 and 1999 in the East Midlands government office region.

Table 3 shows the predicted long-term relative survival rates for women diagnosed with breast cancer in 2001-2003 (the most recent period for which data are available) in the East Midlands government office region.

ONS does not produce survival rates for men diagnosed with breast cancer. Male breast cancer accounts for less than one per cent of all breast cancer cases.

Table 1: Numbers of newly diagnosed cases of breast cancers[1] registered in the east midlands government office region: by sex, 1997 to 2006

| | Males | Females |

Carers

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) full-time and (b) part-time carers there are. [238373]

Phil Hope: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave the hon. Member for Hemel Hempstead (Mike Penning) and the hon. Member for Bexleyheath and Crayford (Mr. Evennett) on 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1190W.

Dental Services: Derbyshire

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many NHS dental practices are operating in Derbyshire; [237895]

(2) how many dentists on NHS contracts were registered in Derbyshire in each year since 2005. [237896]

Ann Keen: Under the new dental contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006, NHS Business Services Authority Dental Services Division can only provide validated information on the number of NHS dental practices at disproportionate cost.

The numbers of national health service dentists, as at 31 March, 1997 to 2006 are available in Annex E of the NHS Dental Activity and Workforce Report England: 31 March 2006. Information is available by strategic health authority (SHA) and by primary care trust (PCT).

This measure counted the number of NHS dentists recorded on PCT lists as at 31 March each year. This information is based on the old contractual arrangements, which were in place up to and including 31 March 2006.

This report, published on 23 August 2006, has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the website of the Information Centre for health and social care at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dwfactivity

The numbers of dentists with NHS activity during the years ending 31 March, 2007 and 2008 are available in Table G1 of Annex 3 of the NHS Dental Statistics for England: 2007-08 report. Information is provided by SHA and by PCT. This information is based on the new dental contractual arrangements, introduced on 1 April 2006.

Following a recent consultation exercise, this measure is based on a revised methodology and therefore supersedes previously published workforce figures relating to the new dental contractual arrangements. It is not comparable to the information collected under the old contractual arrangements. This revised methodology counted the number of dental performers with NHS activity recorded via FP17 claim forms in each year ending 31 March. This report, published on 21 August 2008, has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the website of the Information Centre for health and social care at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dental0708

Further work is planned over the next few months to determine whether the new definition used under the new dental contractual arrangements can be applied to the years under the old contractual arrangements to produce a consistent time series.

Both sets of published figures relate to headcounts and do not differentiate between full-time and part-time dentists, nor do they account for the fact that some dentists may do more NHS work than others.

Dental Services: Finance

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) how many units of dental activity (UDAs) issued for NHS treatment have been clawed back by each primary care trust (PCT) since April 2006; how many additional UDAs have been commissioned in the same period by each PCT; and if he will make a statement; [237649]

(2) how many primary care trusts have clawed back attributed funding under the 2006 dental contract; and how many units of dental activity this equated to in (a) 2006-07 and (b) 2007-08. [237650]

Ann Keen: This information is not collected centrally. Providers of dental services contract with primary care trusts (PCTs) to deliver an agreed annual level of service measured in units of dental activity. Remuneration is in 12 equal instalments. Where a contractor delivers less than 96 per cent. of the annual level of service agreed it is the responsibility of PCTs to decide how this should be handled within the regulations governing dental contracts.

Departmental Coordination

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the dates were of all meetings held between Ministers at his Department and Ministers at HM Treasury in the last six months; and which Ministers were present at each meeting. [235725]

Mr. Bradshaw: Ministers of this Department do have meetings with Ministers at HM Treasury. However, it is not the Government's practice to provide details of all such meetings.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237315]

Mr. Bradshaw: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave the hon. Member for Fareham (Mr. Hoban) on 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 1205W, which reflects the position on support provided for special advisers in each of the last three years.

Departmental Public Relations

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost was of (a) entertainment, (b) advertising and promotion and (c) public relations consultancy to his Department in 2007-08. [228150]

Mr. Bradshaw: Entertainment has been assumed to mean entertaining journalists. There have been two journalists receptions held in the last 12 months, one held on 24 July 2007, another at Christmas held on 17 December 2007.

These were held in Richmond House and the only costs incurred were the catering, £831.85 for the event on 24 July 2007 and £1,079.30 for the event on 17 December 2007.

The following table outlines the cost of departmental spending on publicity and advertising during 2007-08.

Departmental spending on publicity and advertising 2007-08

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| Tobacco control | 19.0 |
| Tobacco legislation | 8.7 |
| Sexual health (including the Department's contribution to joint campaign with Department for Children, Schools and Families) | 6.9 |
| Drugs prevention (the Department's contribution to joint campaign with Home Office and Department for Children, Schools and Families) | 2.0 |
| Alcohol (the Department's contribution to joint campaign with Home Office) | 1.3 |
| Hepatitis C | 2.1 |
| Flu immunisation | 1.4 |
| Social work/care | 3.1 |
| Keep warm, keep well (the Department's contribution to cross-government campaign) | 0.5 |
| Maternal and infant nutrition | 1.2 |
| Respiratory and hand hygiene | 0.8 |
| NHS Direct | 1.0 |
| Antibiotics | 0.6 |
| 5 A Day | 1.3 |
| NHS Injury Benefits Scheme | 0.4 |
| Total | 50.3 |

During 2007-08, the cost of public relations consultancy to the Department was £5,341,505.

Diabetes

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many (a) adults and (b) children have been (i) diagnosed with and (ii) treated for diabetes in each of the last five years. [237900]

Ann Keen: The Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) records the number of people recorded on general practice diabetes registers in England. As the care of children with diabetes is generally under the control of specialists, the register excludes those patients age 16 and under.

The following table shows the number of people recorded on diabetes registers from 2004-05 to 2007-08. This means that they have received a diagnosis of diabetes, and can therefore be offered the appropriate treatment and support.

Quality and Outcomes Framework (QOF) diabetes register counts[1]

| | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Number of patients on diabetes registers | 1,766,391 | 1,890,663 | 1,961,976 | 2,088,335 |

[1] Figures are available only from 2004-05 onwards

Exact figures for the number of children diagnosed with and treated for diabetes in the last five years are not available.

Diabetes: Pupils

Helen Southworth: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what discussions he has had with Ministerial colleagues in the Department for Children, Schools and Families on the provision of training for school staff in supporting schoolchildren with diabetes; and if he will make a statement. [239235]

Ann Keen: The Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families and the Secretary of State for Health meet regularly to discuss matters of interest to the two Departments. This has included the child health strategy, due later this year, which will cover a range of issues including the care of children with long-term health conditions, such as diabetes.

Health Professions: Prosthetics

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether there are any restrictions on prosthetics practitioners from other EU member states practising in the United Kingdom. [239454]

Ann Keen: Prosthetics practitioners from other EU member states wishing to establish themselves in the United Kingdom are required to register with the Health Professions Council. The Health Professions Council will assess on a case by case basis those prosthetics practitioners who wish to practise in the United Kingdom on a temporary or occasional basis in particular to its duration, frequency, regularity and continuity.

Health Services: Technology

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what provision has been made to assess advanced telehealth technology within the Whole Systems Demonstrator Programme trials. [237554]

Ann Keen: The Whole System Demonstrator programme aims to provide robust evidence on the impact of telehealth and telecare interventions. A selection of the countries leading academic organisations have been commissioned to lead what we believe to be the largest ever randomised control trial of these technologies. The evaluation will determine the extent to which the use of telehealth and telecare:

promotes individuals long term well-being and independence;

improves individuals and their carer's quality of life;

improves the working lives of staff;

is more cost effective; and is more clinically effective.

The programme will also build an evidence base for future care and technology models.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what steps his Department has taken to develop and support the UK telehealth sector. [237556]

Ann Keen: The Whole System Demonstrator programme aims to evaluate telehealth and telecare and has established a randomised control trial in three sites with the aim to have 6,000 participants. This is believed to be the largest randomised control trial of telecare and telehealth anywhere in the world which will be on a scale significantly greater than anything undertaken in England.

The Department has worked closely with the Technology Strategy Board to create the Assisted Living Innovation Platform (ALIP). ALIP promotes, supports and invests in technology research, development and commercialisation. Several UK telehealth and telecare companies are already engaged in the first wave of projects supported by the platform.

Similarly the Department worked with the NHS Purchasing and Supply Agency to develop the first ever National Framework Agreement for the procurement of telecare and telehealth.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much the Whole Systems Demonstrator Programme has cost, broken down by budget heading, and including the amount paid to external consultants and companies to monitor and oversee the programme. [237557]

Ann Keen: The total predicted value of the programme is £31.3 million. To date approximately £16.6 million has been deployed. £13.5 million of this has been issued directly to the sites. The remainder has been used to fund the WSD Action Network, Evaluation Support, Project Management Support and Connecting for Health integration activity.

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what use his Department plans to make of telehealth technology in providing health checkups to all people over the age of 40 years. [237558]

Ann Keen: There are currently no plans to mandate the use of telehealth technology to support the provision of checkups for all people over the age of 40. Telehealth investment decisions will be made locally by commissioners.

Health: Screening

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health (1) what estimate he has made of the cost of providing free health check-ups to all people over the age of 40 years; [237559]

(2) what resources his Department plans to make available to provide free health check-ups to all people over the age of 40 years. [237560]

Ann Keen: The free check-ups for those aged over 40, to which the hon. Member refers to, is the vascular checks programme. This will put in place an integrated, systematic population-wide vascular risk assessment and management programme for those between the ages of 40 and 74. The programme will assess people's risk of coronary heart disease, stroke, diabetes and kidney disease. Each person will be given individually tailored advice and support to help them reduce or manage that risk.

The total annual cost at full implementation (including interventions to manage the risk of vascular disease) has been estimated to be in the region of £332 million in the Department's economic modelling. The costs associated with the vascular checks programme are set out in the impact assessment which has been placed in the Library.

Healthcare for London

Mr. Lansley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 15 October 2008, Official Report, column 1359W, on Healthcare for London, if he will place in the Library copies of the (a) agenda, (b) minutes and (c) papers discussed at each meeting listed in the Answer. [229974]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Department does not routinely release briefing produced for Ministers.

Hearing Aid Council

Mr. Scott: To ask the Secretary of State for Health for what reason the Hearing Aid Council is to cease operation on 31 March 2010 rather than 31 March 2009; and what estimate he has made of the cost of a further year of operation. [235792]

Phil Hope: The Health and Social Care Act 2008, which enables the abolition of the Hearing Aid Council and the transfer of responsibility for the regulation of hearing aid dispensers to the Health Professions Council, received Royal Assent on 28 July 2008.

Since the Act received Royal Assent, a working group has been set up comprising the Department of Health, the Department for Business Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, the Hearing Aid Council and the Health Professions Council. It is working towards the required secondary legislation to allow the closure of the Hearing Aid Council and the transfer of its register. It is not possible to complete the Parliamentary process by March 2009, and therefore it has been agreed by the working group to work towards March 2010 as the date of the transfer of the register of dispensers.

While operational costs are a matter for my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, I can confirm that the Hearing Aid Council is a non-departmental public body. They do not receive any Government funding and recover their costs from the individual dispensers and their employers via an annual fee.

Home Energy Efficiency Scheme: Hampshire

Sandra Gidley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people in (a) Southampton, (b) Test Valley Borough and (c) the non-metropolitan county of Hampshire have been required to make a payment additional their Warm Front grant in order to complete the work assessed to be necessary. [231305]

Joan Ruddock: I have been asked to reply.

The following table illustrates the number of households in (a) Southampton, (b) Test Valley borough and (c) the non-metropolitan county of Hampshire who have contributed to the costs of assistance through the warm front scheme since 2005.

| | Scheme year | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 | 2008-09 (to 28 October) |
| (a) Southampton | 44 | 79 | 248 | 143 |
| (b) Test Valley Borough | 14 | 23 | 49 | 34 |
| (c) Non-metropolitan county of Hampshire (excluding Portsmouth and Southampton) | 184 | 388 | 922 | 595 |

Hospitals: Crimes of Violence

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many attacks by (a) patients and (b) relatives visiting patients there were on hospital staff in each primary care trust in each year since 2001. [237239]

Ann Keen: Since 2004-05, the numbers of physical assaults against staff reported by health bodies have been collected annually by the national health service Security Management Service. Information is not available on the perpetrators of reported assaults. The number of assaults reported in 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07 have already been placed in the Library. The number of assaults reported in 2007-08 has been placed in the Library.

Medical Records: Lost Property

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many reports he has received of case notes for patients being lost in the post in each of the last 10 years. [234360]

Mr. Bradshaw: Each national health service body is responsible for the data in its possession and for complying with data protection legislation and the Department has not in the past routinely collected information about incidents of loss of patient data. Strategic health authorities have now been asked to regularly publish details of data losses on their websites and to inform the Department when significant incidents have occurred but 2008-09 will be the first full year of reporting. None of the incidents reported to the Department to date have involved the loss of case notes in the post.

Mental Health Act 2007

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health whether he plans to bring forward proposals to amend the Mental Health Act 2007 to include mental capacity as a condition of compulsory treatment in light of the NHS constitution. [239576]

Phil Hope: The Government have no plans to amend the Mental Health Act 2007 (or the Mental Health Act 1983) to make compulsory treatment under that legislation conditional on a person either having, or lacking, capacity to consent.

Methicillin Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus: Staffordshire

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many patients contracted MRSA in hospitals in South Staffordshire NHS Trust in each of the last five years. [237332]

Ann Keen: The information is not available in the requested format.

The best data for this period are from the mandatory surveillance system for meticillin resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) blood stream infections. Mandatory surveillance data began in April 2001 and results are available by acute hospital trusts. The latest annual data for MRSA, to financial year 2007-08, are available on the Health Protection Agency's website at:

http://www.hpa.org.uk/web/HPAweb&Page&HPAweb AutoListName/Page/1191942126541

A copy has been placed in the Library.

Neurology: Drugs

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what surveys his Department has (a) undertaken and (b) commissioned on the effectiveness of treatment of neurological illnesses. [238365]

Phil Hope: We are not aware of the Department having undertaken or commissioned surveys on the effectiveness of treatment of neurological illnesses.

The Health Technology Assessment programme, part of the National Institute for Health Research, produces independent research information about the effectiveness, costs and broader impact of health care treatments and tests for those who plan, provide or receive care in the national health service. These, and other existing research results, are used by the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence to develop their technology appraisals which provide recommendations for health professionals on the use of new and existing medicines and treatments for neurological conditions.

NHS: Dental Services

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Health on average how many units of dental activity per head of population were funded by the NHS in each local authority area in England in each of the last five years. [239327]

Ann Keen: Information is not available in the format requested.

Information on the number of units of dental activity (UDAs) is only available under the new dental contractual arrangements, which were introduced on 1 April 2006. The numbers of UDAs delivered in England in the financial years 2006-07 and 2007-08 are available in Table B3 of Annex 3 of the "NHS Dental Statistics for England: 2007-08" report. Information is provided by strategic health authority and by primary care trust. Information is not available by local authority.

This report has already been placed in the Library and is also available on the NHS Information Centre website at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/dental0708

NHS: Discharges

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of the Community Care (Delayed Discharges etc.) Act 2003 in reducing instances of delayed discharge from hospital. [239534]

Phil Hope: Councils and their national health service partners have made significant progress in reducing delays in hospital discharge. Between September 2001 and June 2008, the number of people over the age of 75 delayed in hospital reduced from 5,673 to 1,602, a reduction of 72 per cent., and total delays for the same period were reduced from 7,065 to 2,180, a reduction of 69 per cent.

NHS: ICT

Peter Bottomley: To ask the Secretary of State for Health pursuant to the Answer of 12 November 2008, Official Report, column 1200W, on NHS: information and communications technology, (1) at what level of the NHS comprehensive information about the financial and resource impact resulting from implementation of the Cerner system is held; and if he will ensure that information is (a) provided to him and (b) published; [236768]

(2) if he will estimate the cost to the public purse of the NHS hospital trusts involved providing to him the information on the financial and resource impact resulting from implementation of the NHS IT Cerner system requested in the Question. [236769]

Mr. Bradshaw: Detailed information about local financial and resource impacts of operational business, including the implementation of the Cerner system, is held locally by the national health service organisations involved. Details of summary level expenditure by NHS trusts on information technology (IT) is requested annually by survey and the results are routinely published. However, the survey and the report does not differentiate between different elements of IT expenditure, for example on hardware, software or Cerner related costs.

To ensure local accountability is observed and to minimise the cost and the burden of central reporting, such reporting is kept to the minimum. On that basis, I do not believe that any useful purpose would be served by attempting to cost the collation of information unless this were required for essential policy or operational purposes.

NHS: Mental Health Services

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how much income NHS mental health trusts have generated from private patients, broken down by trust, in each of the last three years. [237203]

Phil Hope: [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The following national health service trusts provide mental health services and reported private patient and/or overseas patient income in the last three years.

[1] East Kent NHS and Social Care Partnership Trust dissolved on 31 March 2006 and the services were absorbed by Kent and Medway NHS and Social Care Partnership Trust.
[2] Kent and Medway NHS and Social Care Partnership Trust was established on 1 April 2006, therefore no data are available for this organisation for 2005-06.
[3] Newcastle, North Tyneside and Northumberland Mental Health NHS Trust dissolved on 31 March 2006 and the services were absorbed by Northumberland, Tyne and Wear NHS Trust.
[4] Northgate and Prudhoe NHS Trust dissolved on 31 March 2006 and the services were absorbed by Northumberland, Tyne and Wear NHS Trust.
[5] Northumberland, Tyne and Wear NHS Trust was established on 1 April 2006, therefore no data are available for this organisation for 2005-06.
[6] South London and Maudsley NHS Trust gained Foundation Trust status on 1 November 2006 therefore the 2006-07 figure represents only the period to 31 October 2006.
[7] West Sussex Health and Social Care NHS Trust dissolved on 31 March 2006 and the services were absorbed by Sussex Partnership NHS Trust, which had no private patient income in 2006-07 or 2007-08.

Notes:
1. Only national health service trusts reporting relevant income have been included in the table.
2. Some of these trusts provide services other than mental health care and the Department is unable to separate income for mental health care from other income, therefore some of the figures in the table may include income from private patients that are not mental health patients.
3. The data are from national health service trust audited summarisation schedules. Data on foundation trusts are not included as the Department does not collect information from foundation trusts. Where an NHS Trust gains foundation trust status during any financial year, the audited summarisation schedules report information only for the part of the year the organisation operated as an NHS trust.

NHS: Public Participation

Mr. Meale: To ask the Secretary of State for Health if he will establish a national representative body through which local involvement networks members may enable patients and the public to engage and influence health and social care policy. [237864]

Ann Keen: The Government recognise the importance of providing opportunities for all members of society to be engaged in, and have their say on, national policy. There is a number of ways in which patients, carers, service users and the public can influence health and social care policy at a national level, including through the Department's strong tradition of working in partnership with third sector organisations.

Through the new Third Sector Investment programme, specifically the Strategic Partnership programme, the Department aims to invest in an appropriate number of strategic partners from the third sector. Partners will work collaboratively together and with the Department to advise and inform the Department about key issues in the health and social care field affecting the third sector organisations and the people on behalf of whom they advocate and to whom they deliver services. The programme also aims to develop the capability and capacity in the third sector to fully engage with the wider health and social care reform agenda.

The Department is investing up to £1.65 million to support the development of user-led organisations in every local authority area .

The Department has also supported the establishment of National Voices which offers the opportunity to engage the multiple voices of service users and carers in the development of health and social care policy, particularly those from harder to hear communities, through their representative organisations.

It is for local involvement networks (LINks) to determine the need for a national representative organisation for LINks.

NHS: Publications

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what the cost to his Department was of the Healthcare Commission's Annual Health Check report for 2007-08. [228991]

Mr. Bradshaw: The independent health care regulator, the Healthcare Commission, is responsible for assessing the performance of NHS Trusts. The results of its Annual Health Check for 2007-08 were published in October. The Health Check is the culmination of various streams of work, which take place throughout the year. The cost of the Annual Health Check, in relation to the NHS is £11.6 million.

This includes:

Management of the Annual Health Check programme;

Assessment of core standards; and Targets and annual ratings.

This figure includes £3,384,000 specifically targeted at engagement with patients, public and clinicians to feed their views into the process.

Detailed information on the Commission's expenditure on its main business areas is given in its accounts which are published as part of its annual report. The annual report for 2007-08 was published on 8 July.

NHS: Reorganisation

Mr. Stephen O'Brien: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what meetings his Department has had with (a) patient groups, (b) professional groups and (c) the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence on the Quality and Outcomes Framework following the publication of NHS Next Stage Review: Our vision for primary and community care. [231964]

Mr. Bradshaw: My officials have met with representatives from the National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence and the Royal College of General Practitioners to discuss proposals for a new process for the Quality and Outcomes Framework and discussions have also taken place with the BMA. We launched a public consultation on the proposed new process for developing and reviewing clinical indicators in the Quality and Outcomes Framework to be led by NICE on 30 October 2008. The Department is holding five national stakeholder events with patient and professional groups, NHS commissioners and other stakeholders in order to consult them on how the new process should work.

Ophthalmology: Tamworth

Mr. Jenkins: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many opticians there are per 1,000 people in Tamworth borough. [237333]

Ann Keen: This information is not available in the format requested.

The Information Centre for health and social care published the numbers of general ophthalmic services ophthalmic practitioners per 100,000 population, as at 31 December 2007, in the General Ophthalmic Services: Workforce Statistics for England and Wales: 31 December 2007 report. This report was published on 20 November 2008 and has been placed in the Library. It is also available on the website of the Information Centre for health and social care at:

www.ic.nhs.uk/pubs/genophworkfstats07

Information is available by primary care trust and by strategic health authority, and can be found in Table B2 of the annexe of the report, a copy of which has been placed in the Library.

Patient Choice Schemes

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health what proportion of all (a) inpatient and (b) outpatient appointments were made using NHS Direct's national Choose and Book appointments line in each of the last three years. [236953]

Mr. Bradshaw: The Choose and Book Appointment Line primarily books first consultant out-patient appointments. In a very small number of cases, other services available on Choose and Book might be booked by the Appointments Line, which do not differentiate these cases. Information on the proportion of bookings made by Choose and Book Appointment Line for first consultant outpatients in the past 36 months is in the following table.

Norman Lamb: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many complaints about the Choose and Book appointments line have been received in each of the last 36 months; and if he will make a statement. [236956]

Mr. Bradshaw: Where a complaint is raised with NHS Direct regarding the Choose and Book Appointments Line, NHS Direct manages these in line with the NHS (Complaints) Regulations 2004, and the Department's Implementation Guidance for the NHS (Complaints) Regulations 2004 and Good Practice Toolkit for Local Resolution.

Social Services: Vocational Guidance

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many copies of the employers' (a) resource pack and (b) booklets relating to (i) social care and (ii) social work have been downloaded from his Department's social care and social work careers information website in each quarter since it was established. [238425]

Phil Hope: The social work and social care website, at: www.socialworkandcare.co.uk provides information to prospective candidates for social care jobs, or for those considering a career in social work. The website provides information on what working in social care involves, the qualifications and experience that new entrants require and other guidance for people considering making an application. It also has resources to assist employers run their own recruitment campaign.

Figures regarding the number of resources downloaded from the site are only available from March 2008. Prior to this, the coding to allow unique identification of materials being downloaded was not in place.

The figures from March 2008 are in the following table.

| | Number of resources downloaded |
|---|---|
| 1 March to 31 May 2008 | |
| Employers resource pack | 206 |
| Social care booklet | 945 |
| Social work booklet | 904 |

| Employers resource pack | 377 |
| Social care booklet | 2,188 |
| Social work booklet | 2,492 |

The booklets are also available to order by phone.

Strokes

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Health how many people had strokes in (a) England and (b) the East Midlands in each of the last five years. [237897]

Ann Keen: Hospital Episode Statistics (HES) from 2006-07 suggest there were around 96,000 and 8,000 emergency admissions with a primary or secondary diagnosis of stroke in England and the East Midlands Strategic Health Authority respectively. However, this figure under-represents the true incidence of stroke for two reasons. Firstly, HES data only include those who were admitted to hospital with a diagnosis of stroke but not all stroke patients currently attend hospital. Secondly, the count of admissions does not represent the total number of patients as a person may be admitted more than once in the year. HES data cannot answer the question in the form requested. Academic estimates suggest there are around 110,000 strokes in England per annum.

Tables showing HES statistics for stroke admissions in England have been placed in the Library.

HOME DEPARTMENT

Animal Experiments

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what factors underlie the increases in the number of procedures conducted under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986 in each of the last six years; and if she will take steps to reduce the number of procedures in future years. [238907]

Meg Hillier [holding answer 24 November 2008]: Many factors influence trends in the use of animals under the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986, including the economic climate, global trends in scientific endeavour and strategic decisions by funding bodies. The increase in the use of genetically altered strains seen over recent years has also had an impact as advances in genetics open up new and promising avenues of medical research.

The licensing system under the 1986 Act is demand-led and we have no control over the number of project licence applications we receive. The Act limits such animal use to where there is a clear benefit to people, animals or the environment when there is no means of obtaining these benefits without animal use, or at a lesser animal welfare cost. All scientists and researchers undertaking animal research in the UK are required to take into account the '3Rs' (measures to replace, reduce, and refine animal use) when devising their programmes of research proposals.

In 2004, the Government established the National Centre for the 3Rs to provide a focal point and resources for such activities. The NC3Rs drives advances in the 3Rs by taking a robust scientific approach, and bringing together expertise from a diverse range of areas, including academia, industry, Government and regulatory bodies.

Antisocial Behaviour Orders: Derbyshire

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many anti-social behaviour orders have been imposed in (a) Derbyshire and (b) Bolsover constituency since their introduction. [238085]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information on the number of antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) issued is not available at parliamentary constituency area level.

ASBOs became available in April 1999. Between 1 April 1999 and 31 December 2006 (latest available) 176 ASBOs were issued in the Derbyshire criminal justice system (CJS) area.

Antisocial Behaviour Orders: Hertfordshire

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many breaches of antisocial behaviour orders in (a) Hemel Hempstead, (b) Hertfordshire and (c) the UK have resulted in a criminal conviction in each year since the inception of such orders. [238234]

Mr. Alan Campbell: ASBOs became available in April 1999. ASBO breach data are available for ASBOs issued between 1 June 2000 and 31 December 2006 (latest available) and are not compiled below criminal justice system (CJS) area level.

Information collected centrally on the number of breaches of antisocial behaviour orders (ASBOs) only counts those instances where the breach of the ASBO was proven in a court in England and Wales. The available information is shown in the following table.

Number of occasions in the Hertfordshire criminal justice system area[1] and England and Wales in each year between 1 June 2000 and 31 December 2006 where persons were proven in court to have breached their ASBO

| Area | 2000-02[2] | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Hertfordshire | 9 | 16 | 53 | 75 | 100 |
| England and Wales | 777 | 1,409 | 3,997 | 7,248 | 7,755 |

[1] ASBOs may be issued in one area and breached in another. Breaches are counted in this table by area of breach.
[2] From 1 June 2000.
Note:
Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Anti-social Behaviour: Fixed Penalties

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many offenders have been (a) cautioned and (b) issued with penalty notices for disorder in (i) the Devon and Cornwall Police Force area and (ii) England in each year for which figures are available. [236866]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Data provided by the Ministry of Justice showing the number of offenders cautioned as well as offenders issued with a penalty notice for disorder (PND) in the Devon and Cornwall police force area and England, from 2004 to 2006 are in the following table. Data for 2007 are due to be published in late November 2008.

Number of offenders cautioned[1,2] and issued with a penalty notice for disorder (PND), in the Devon and Cornwall police force area and England, 2004 to 2006[3]

| | Devon and Cornwall | | England | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Cautioned | Given a PND | Cautioned | Given a PND |
| 2004 | 6,951 | 1,889 | 241,873 | 61,260 |
| 2005 | 7,175 | 5,134 | 283,566 | 138,262 |
| 2006 | 8,905 | 7,022 | 331,518 | 186,240 |

[1] The cautions statistics relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offences for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been cautioned for two or more offences at the same time the principal offence is the more serious offence.
[2] From 1 June 2000 the Crime and Disorder Act 1998 came into force nationally and removed the use of cautions for persons under 18 and replaced them with reprimands and final warnings. These figures have been included in the totals.
[3] Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when those data are used.

Anti-social Behaviour: Hertfordshire

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much funding her Department has allocated to tackle anti-social behaviour in (a) Hemel Hempstead, (b) Hertfordshire and (c) the UK in each year since the inception of intervention programmes. [238235]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Since 2003-04, the Home Office has made £34.4 million available in each year specifically and solely to tackle antisocial behaviour in England and Wales. This includes funding for the Respect programme, which is now the responsibility of the Department for Children, Schools and Families, and a grant for antisocial behaviour co-ordinators.

As with all other Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnerships (CDRPs), Dacorum, which includes Hemel Hempstead, was allocated £25,000 a year from 2003-04 as a contribution towards funding an ASB co-ordinator post. In 2005-06, in England the antisocial co-ordinators grant was pooled within the safer and stronger communities fund. This pooled budget supports the delivery of outcomes and indicators relating to antisocial behaviour in local area agreements (LAAs).

Respect programmes in Hertfordshire also have an impact on antisocial behaviour. These programmes were designed to kick start a change in the way the area worked to tackle antisocial behaviour. There are many funding streams that impact on antisocial behaviour. A more detailed account can be found in the report by the National Audit Office 'Tackling Anti-Social Behaviour' (HC99 2006-07, December 2006). Other Home Office-led activities also act to tackle antisocial behaviour, for example the introduction of community support officers, but a monetary value cannot be assigned to that contribution.

Assaults on Police

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) assaults on police officers were recorded and (b) prosecutions for such assaults there were (i) in each London borough and (ii) in England in each of the last five years. [235296]

Mr. Coaker: The available information is given in the following tables. Figures for the number of assaults without injury on a constable are taken from the police recorded crime statistics collected by the Home Office and relate to offences recorded by the police. These figures are on a financial year basis. Assaults without injury are categories which apply specifically to the recorded crime data. If an assault on a police officer results in injury then the offence will be recorded under the appropriate wounding classification (i.e. more or less serious wounding).

Prosecutions data come from the Office for Criminal Justice Reform and relate to defendants. These figures are on a calendar year basis. The data refer to prosecutions for assault on a constable which may include cases where an officer receives an injury (unlike the recorded crime data). Because of this and the fact that one dataset looks at offences and the other at defendants, the figures in the two tables are not directly comparable.

Prosecutions data are not available for London boroughs but figures for England are given in Table 3.

Asylum: Work Permits

Sir Peter Soulsby: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many work permit applications were made by asylum seekers whose asylum decisions had been delayed for more than one year in the last year; and how many such applications were (a) accepted and (b) refused. [221653]

Mr. Woolas: The requested information on the number of work permit applications made by asylum seekers whose asylum decisions had been delayed for more than one year, and those accepted and refused, is not collated and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Borders: Personal Records

Damian Green: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much her Department had spent on consultancy services for the e-borders project by 30 June 2008. [210907]

Mr. Woolas: The total expenditure on consultancy services and legal support by the e-Borders Programme, from 2004 until 30 June 2008, was £43.5 million.

Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department if she will estimate the number of (a) ex-offenders living in the principal seaside towns, (b) ex-offenders per 10,000 population in such towns and (c) ex-offenders per 10,000 population nationally. [220675]

Mr. Hanson: I have been asked to reply.

Prisons record the address to which discharged prisoners state they will be going, but are not able to confirm whether ex-offenders actually go to this address or whether they remain there.

Individual probation areas maintain records of offenders who are serving community punishments or who are under supervision following release from prison on licence, but do not generally keep records of ex-offenders.

Those records that they do maintain are on an area basis rather than a specific town.

We therefore have no basis on which to estimate the number of ex-offenders living in specific locations.

Community Relations

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what her Department's responsibilities for preventing violent extremism are. [218428]

Mr. Coaker: The Office for Security and Counter Terrorism (OSCT) in the Home Office is responsible for co-ordinating activity to deliver the Government counter terrorist strategy (CONTEST), which in this context will also include the Prevent agenda. It will increasingly become the central co-ordinating point for guidance and support on a number of key issues to all practitioners engaged with the agenda. Key to our work is supporting the police and police authorities in fulfilling their roles across the Prevent agenda.

Community Relations: Leicestershire

Keith Vaz: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how much funding will be given to community groups and organisations in Leicestershire from the funds allocated by her Department for tackling radicalisation in communities; what the procedure is for deciding (a) which organisations receive such funding and (b) how much they receive; and what public consultation will take place as part of that process; [218181]

(2) what mechanisms will be used to monitor the effectiveness of funding allocated to prevent the radicalisation of communities in Leicestershire; who will undertake that monitoring; who will be consulted as part of the monitoring process; what information will be published as a result of that monitoring; and when that information will be published." [218149]

Mr. Coaker: The Home Office regularly carries out cross government consultation with all of its key stakeholders including Ministry of Justice, Communities and Local Government, the Department for Children Schools and Families, the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills along with Government offices among others to identify organisations with experience in dealing with vulnerable individuals. All approved projects are scrutinised by governance boards, which feed into the NSID(E) board chaired by the Prime Minister.

The Home Office is currently funding one project for community groups and organisations in Leicestershire for tackling radicalisation in communities. Build is a community group in Leicester that supports Muslims to obtain an accredited mentoring certificate so that they can engage in outreach to other young Muslims who are risk of criminality, drug abuse and radicalisation. As well as befriending their subjects, the mentors refer them to associated education and employment programmes in order to improve their social skills, their resistance to radicalisation and their relationships with families and with the wider community.

Build is linked to Forward Thinking, which is active in community counter radicalisation work. The project is being funded with £77,490 over three years.

The project is evaluated through internal and external monitoring using forms and reports with separate reports from service users, volunteers, parents and other organisations. Focus groups for young people, parents and community members to discuss and feedback the activities are also carried out. Separately the Home Office will carry out their own internal monitoring on a regular basis to ensure the project meets the criteria laid down.

Finally, Build is expected to publish a report at the end of the project which will summarise their activities and achievements.

Crime: Intellectual Property

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of the proportion of commercial crime which is committed in the workplace in relation to intellectual property offences. [238356]

Mr. Alan Campbell: I have made no assessment of the proportion of commercial crime which is committed in the workplace in relation to intellectual property offences. The UK Intellectual Property Office (which takes the lead on the National IP Crime Strategy) publishes an annual Intellectual Property Crime Report. The 2007 report notes that the true measure of the level of IP crime in the UK is unknown but the report sets out available evidence from a number of sectors.

Crime: Newcastle

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the evidential basis is for the Prime Minister's Statement on 18 June 2008, Official Report, column 944, that CCTV has reduced crime in Central Newcastle by 60 per cent. [221501]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 22 July 2008]: CCTV has consistently proven to reduce crime as evidenced in case studies such as the one reported in the NIJ Journal Issue No. 249 CCTV: 'Constant Cameras Track Violators', 2003.

Criminal Records Bureau: International Cooperation

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) from which countries the Criminal Records Bureau receives information regarding offences committed overseas; and how frequently such information is updated in each case; [233787]

(2) how many overseas nationals working in the UK have committed an offence overseas which if they had committed it in the UK would bar them from working with children or vulnerable adults. [233858]

Meg Hillier: There are two types of checks conducted by the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB), standard and enhanced disclosures, both of which require a detailed search for any convictions contained on the Police National Computer (PNC).

Criminal Convictions on the Police National Computer will include convictions of UK nationals in the European Union (EU) sent to the UK Central Authority for the Exchange of Criminal Records (UKCA-ECR) as well as convictions of UK nationals sent via Interpol channels to the Serious and Organised Crime Agency. In addition the UKCA-ECR can request previous conviction history regarding EU nationals being proceeded against in a UK court of law. When there is previous conviction history, this information is input onto the PNC and is available for the CRB to access as part of their normal checking procedures.

Information about the number of overseas nationals working in the UK that may have committed an offence overseas which, had this been committed in the UK, would have prevented them from working with children and vulnerable adults, is not available centrally. However, conviction information coming to light through the procedures described above will be disclosed to employers should a CRB check be requested. The CRB also provides an overseas information service to all its customers via its website at: www.crb.gsi.gov.uk.

Criminal Records Bureau: Standards

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 10 November 2008, Official Report, columns 791-2W, on the Criminal Records Bureau: standards, how many Criminal Records Bureau disclosures involved (a) a not-guilty verdict following a court appearance, (b) a charge being issued without subsequent prosecution, (c) an arrest without charges pressed and (d) questioning without arrest in each year since 2003-04; and how many of these were disputed. [237104]

Meg Hillier: The information requested is not recorded by the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) and therefore is not available.

Demonstrations: Parliament Square

Dr. Julian Lewis: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what consultation she has undertaken with (a) Mr. Speaker and (b) the House authorities on use of loudhailers in Parliament Square, pursuant to Mr. Speaker's Statement of 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 729; [238291]

(2) if she will bring forward proposals to give powers to the police to confiscate amplification equipment when it is being used in (a) Parliament Square and (b) other public places without permission to (i) abuse and (ii) otherwise harass people going about their lawful occasions; and if she will make a statement; [238198]

(3) what steps she plans to take to give local authorities the power to prevent (a) unauthorised and (b) harassing or abusive broadcasting of protest messages in public places; and what assessment she has made of the potential for use of injunctions in such circumstances; [238199]

(4) what effect the proposed repeal of the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005 will have on the law relating to (a) unregulated and (b) unlimited use of (i) loudhailers and (ii) other amplification equipment by protestors in Parliament Square. [238292]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 24 November 2008]: The Government's draft Constitutional Renewal Bill included proposals to repeal sections 132-138 of the Serious Organised Crime and Police Act 2005 which set out a framework for managing demonstrations in a designated area around Parliament. The Joint Committee on the draft Constitutional Renewal Bill published its report in July 2008 including recommendations on dealing with noise and the use of loudspeakers. The Government will be responding to the Joint Committee's report imminently, addressing those recommendations in the wider context of existing legislation to address harassment and local byelaws.

Home Office officials met with the House authorities on 15 October 2008 to help inform the Government's response to the Joint Committee's report.

Departmental Pay

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how much was claimed in reimbursable expenses by press officers in her Department and its agencies in each of the last three financial years. [221177]

Mr. Woolas: The following are the total reimbursable expenses claimed by press officers employed by the Home Office and agencies for each of the last three financial years:

| | £ |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 64,979.37 |
| 2006-07 | 56,953.85 |
| 2007-08 | 50,368.59 |

All expenses claimed were checked and authorised for payment in accordance with the Civil Service Management Code section 8.

Departmental Procurement

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the Answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 259W, on Departmental procurement, what payments her Department made to Jeeves Jewellers in 2007-08; on what dates; and for what purpose in each case. [233441]

Jacqui Smith: Pursuant to the answer of 21 October 2008, Official Report, column 259W, on departmental procurement, based on the purchase order data held in the Home Department's financial database, the details of the payments made to Jeeves Jewellers, who provide warrant cards, in 2007-08 are as follows:

| | Description of purchase | Value (£) |
|---|---|---|
| March 2007 | Purchase of ID card holders | 3,845.19 |
| May 2007 | Purchase of warrant card holders | 394.50 |

Departmental Sick Leave

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average duration of single periods of sick leave taken by staff in (a) her Department, (b) its agencies and (c) the non-departmental bodies for which it has responsibility was in each of the last five years; and if she will make a statement. [216108]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows United Kingdom Border Agency's (UKBA) work days lost (WDL) for the last three years:

UKBA's data prior to 2005 are unavailable due to data migration to a new management system and will incur disproportionate cost to extract.

HO HQ, IPS and CRB data are unavailable and would incur disproportionate cost to manually check each record. However, the Home Office is currently undergoing a HR change programme, one area of which is looking at HR data, measures, and reporting. PQs such as this which are currently a disproportionate cost to answer will be fed into the change programme activity with a view to improving the position in the future.

The HO does not report on non-departmental public bodies data.

Mr. Hayes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many days of sick leave were taken by her Department's employees in each year since 1997. [216697]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the number of sick days taken by staff in the Home Office and its agencies between 2002-03 and 2007-08:

Number of sick days taken by staff in the Home Office and its agencies from 2002-03 to 2007-08

n/a = Not available.

[1] HO HQ and UKBA's data prior to 2005 are unavailable due to data migration to a new information management system and will incur disproportionate cost to extract.

[2] CRB data prior to 2004 are unavailable and checking each HR record manually would incur a disproportionate cost. The Home Office is currently undergoing an HR Change Programme, one area of which focuses on HR data, measures, and reporting. PQs such as this which are currently a disproportionate cost to answer will be fed into the Change Programme activity with a view to improving the position in the future.

In 2005-06 and 2006-07 the Home Office HQ included the following departments; Communities Group, National Offender Management Service (NOMS) and Office for Criminal Justice Reform (OCJR) which have now all transferred out. Please note that NOMS and OCJR left in May 2007 to join the new Ministry of Justice, and therefore have been included for year 2005-06 and 2006-07. Communities Group transferred to Department for Communities and Local Government in May 2006.

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what percentage of staff in her Department have had more than two periods of sickness absence of less than five days in each of the last three years. [218721]

Mr. Woolas: The following table shows the numbers and percentages of Home Office staff taking more than two periods of sick leave of less than five days over the last three years.

Note: In 2005-06 and 2006-07 the HO HQ included the following departments; Communities Group, National Offender Management Service (NOMS) and Office for Criminal Justice Reform (OCJR). NOMS and OCJR left in May 2007 to join the new Ministry of Justice, and Communities Group transferred to the Department for Communities and Local Government in May 2006.

This table shows the numbers and percentages of Home Office staff taking more than two periods of sick leave of less than five days over the last three years.

Deportation

Anne Main: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many people were recommended for deportation from England and Wales in each of the last three years, broken down by county; [238873]

(2) how many people were recommended for deportation from England and Wales on more than one occasion in each of the last three years, broken down by county. [238874]

Bridget Prentice: I have been asked to reply. The following table shows the number of recommendations for deportation orders issued by judges in the Crown Court in England and Wales in each of the last three financial years.

Figures are broken down according to the county in which the relevant Crown Court centre is located. This may differ from the county of residence of the defendant and other key parties involved in the court case. Some counties do not have a Crown Court centre located within their boundaries; these are not shown in the table.

During this period there were 28 occasions where a defendant was the subject of a recommendation for a deportation order having already been the subject of a previous such recommendation at some point since April 2000 (the earliest point at which data are available). There were six such occurrences in 2005-06, seven in 2006-07 and 15 in 2007-08. However, these data are not broken down to county level.

These figures only show judicial recommendations for deportation made during criminal proceedings in the Crown Court. More general immigration statistics can be found on the Home Office website:

Drugs: Crime

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many crack house closures there were in (a) Hemel Hempstead and (b) Hertfordshire in the last three years. [238100]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The Anti-Social Behaviour Act 2003 introduced the provision for police to serve a closure notice on any premises that is believed by the police to be used for the production, supply or use of Class A drugs, and which is causing serious nuisance or disorder.

The Home Office collects data on the number of closure orders issued through the CDRP Survey, and police forces supply these data on a voluntary basis. Latest available data from this survey are consolidated to cover the period from October 2003 to September 2007 and show that in the Hertfordshire police force area 14 such orders have been served.

It is not possible to further break down data to constituency level (i.e. Hemel Hempstead) as this level of detail is not held centrally.

Entry Clearances: Biometrics

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment her Department has made of (a) the likely period of time it will take a police constable to check a person's biometric visa against the Border and Immigration Agency's database and (b) the technology requirements needed by police forces to check the identity of a person with a biometric visa. [192453]

Mr. Coaker: There is currently no facility for police officers to check the holder of a biometric visa (Identity card) against the United Kingdom Border Agency database. An assessment of the technology requirements to develop such a capability has not taken place.

Entry Clearances: Telephone Services

Mike Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the average response time to a call to the MP hotline dealing with visa cases was in the last 12 months. [237630]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 20 November 2008]: The vast majority of calls on the MPs hotline to our Visa Services Directorate in the last 12 months have been answered either immediately or within 24 hours. Unfortunately, some delays did occur in October due to a shortage of staff.

Mike Gapes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what percentage of calls to the MP hotline dealing with visa cases (a) were answered by a person and (b) went to a voice message answering machine in the last 12 months. [237631]

Mr. Woolas [holding answer 20 November 2008]: Records held by Visa Services Directorate's of calls to the MPs hotline do not show whether the calls were answered immediately or after receipt of a voicemail message. However, the directorate has advised that the majority of calls are answered immediately. If the MPs hotline is engaged, calls are diverted to a voicemail facility and messages are answered within 24 hours.

Football: Arrests

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when statistics on football-related arrests and banning orders for 2007-08 will be published. [234307]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 10 November 2008]: These statistics will be published on 25 November 2008.

Genetics: Databases

Jenny Willott: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many and what proportion of recorded crimes were detected using DNA from the National DNA database in each month since it became operational; and if she will make a statement. [190281]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The number and proportion of recorded crimes detected in which a DNA match was available is shown in table 1. Data on the number of crimes detected with a DNA match are not collected on a monthly basis; and the figures are therefore presented by year. The figures provided are for the years 2002-03 to 2007-08, as the recorded crime figures before and after 2002-03 are not directly comparable.

The figures for the number of crimes detected in which a DNA match was available only include crimes detected in which a DNA match was reported by the National DNA Database (NDNAD). They do not include DNA matches which arise through case work in serious crime, which usually involve comparing DNA profiles in a forensic laboratory; this data is not collected centrally. It is also important to note that the detections are achieved through integrated criminal investigation, not through DNA alone.

The presentation of crimes detected with DNA as a proportion of total recorded crime undervalues the relative contribution of DNA to the crime detection rate. It should be noted that the majority of recorded crimes do not have a crime scene (for example, minor assault, drugs offences, theft, fraud etc.) and do not have a crime scene examination. In 2007-08, just over 854,000 crimes had a crime scene examination (17 per cent. of recorded crimes). In those crimes which have a crime scene examination, some do not yield any forensic material (DNA or fingerprints). In 2007-08, potential DNA material was collected at 102,400 crimes; and of these, 41,800 crimes yielded DNA crime scene samples of sufficient quantity and quality for profiling and loading to the NDNAD. Of the 41,800 crimes in which a crime scene sample profile was loaded, a match was generated in 37,375 crimes (this represents 89 per cent. of crimes where DNA material was loaded to the NDNAD).

The proportion of 'crimes detected in which a DNA match was available', of those, 'crimes where potential DNA material was collected' is shown in table 2.

[1] Additional detections may result from the original crime with the DNA match due to the identification of further offences through forensic linkage or through admission by the offender.
[2] The National Crime Recording Standard was introduced in 2002-03 and figures before and after that date are not directly comparable.

Paul Holmes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) how many people there are on the national DNA database, broken down by (a) local authority area, (b) ethnicity and (c) sex; [235500]

(2) how many people have asked to have their profile removed from the national DNA database; and how many requests have been refused. [235501]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information held on the National DNA Database (NDNAD) is available on the basis of the police force which added the DNA profile, not the local authority area. For a breakdown of the NDNAD by police force and ethnicity, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for Hornsey and Wood Green(Lynne Featherstone) on 27 October 2008, Official Report, columns 677-9W.

A breakdown of the NDNAD by sex, as at 30 September 2008, is given in the table. 'Unassigned' means that the police officer who took the sample did not record the individual's sex. The number of profiles is not the same as the number of individuals. This is because a number of subject profiles on the NDNAD are replicates, that is, a profile for a person has been loaded to the NDNAD on more than one occasion. This may arise for a number of reasons, such as a person giving a different name on different occasions they are arrested, or because of the upgrading of profiles. It is estimated that 13.3 per cent. of the subject profiles held on the NDNAD are replicates.

In relation to the number of people who have requested the removal of their record from the NDNAD, I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to the hon. Member for Pendle (Mr. Prentice) on 2 July 2008, Official Report, columns 909-10W.

| Sex | Subject Profiles | Estimated Individuals |
|---|---|---|
| Male | 3,941,233 | 3,417,049 |
| Female | 1,029,873 | 892,900 |
| Unassigned | 38,841 | 33,675 |
| Total | 5,009,947 | 4,343,624 |

Andrew Stunell: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many people resident in (a) Greater Manchester, (b) Cumbria, (c) Cheshire, (d) Lancashire and (e) Merseyside have their profile stored on the national DNA database, broken down by ethnicity. [236751]

Mr. Alan Campbell: Information held on the national DNA database (NDNAD) is recorded on the basis of the police force which took the DNA sample. Thus figures for any particular police force include residents from outside the force area arrested and sampled by the police force, and exclude residents in the force area who were arrested and sampled by police forces elsewhere.

The number of profiles is not the same as the number of individuals. This is because a number of subject profiles on the NDNAD are replicates, that is a profile for a person has been loaded to the NDNAD on more than one occasion. This may arise for a number of reasons, such as a person giving a different name on different occasions they are arrested, or because of upgrading of profiles. It is estimated that 13.3 per cent. of the subject profiles held on the entire NDNAD are replicates. However, this rate may vary between police forces, so figures for the number of individuals are not given for particular police forces.

Ethnicity is recorded on the basis of the judgment of the police officer taking the sample as to which of six broad ethnic appearance categories the person belongs to. 'Unknown' means that no ethnic appearance information was recorded by the officer taking the sample.

Hizb ut-Tahrir

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent assessment she has made of the threat posed to UK security by Hizb ut-Tahrir. [219351]

Jacqui Smith: Although I am unable to comment on intelligence matters, I can confirm that Hizb ut-Tahrir, along with other organisations which cause us concern, is kept under continuous review. As and when new material comes to light it is considered and the organisation reassessed as part of that process.

Human Trafficking

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what steps her Department has taken in support of the United Nations Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking; what steps have been taken in the UK as a result of the UK high level delegation's participation in the Vienna Forum on the Global Initiative held on 12 to 15 February 2008; and if she will make a statement. [219357]

Jacqui Smith: Human trafficking is largely a cross border crime and the UK recognises the need for effective international collaboration to tackling this horrendous problem. The UK Government have supported UN.GIFT from the outset. The formal launch took place in London on 26 March 2007 at which my hon. Friend the Minister for Security, Counter-Terrorism and Policing spoke on behalf of the Government. The UN Global Initiative to Fight Human Trafficking provides an important forum to discuss and facilitate global action against trafficking.

The Vienna Forum, at which my hon. Friend the Minister of State for Policing, Crime and Security also spoke, delivering a keynote speech, provided an excellent opportunity to outline the UK's approach to tackling human trafficking and to develop new relationships and enhance existing ones with international partners.

Recommendations from the Vienna Forum discussions are reflected in the UK Action Plan on Human Trafficking and are being taken forward as part of our on-going work. Examples include, further demonstrating our existing commitment to adopting a victim-centred, human rights approach to preventing and combating human trafficking by ratifying the Council of Europe Convention, which we are on-track to do by the end of the year; conducting research and analysis into the nature and extent of trafficking through the Police and the UK Human Trafficking Centre; on-going co-operation at operational level at home and abroad between key agencies like SOCA and its counterparts and at home between SOCA, the UKHTC, police, Government departments and NGOs especially in terms of investigations and victim identification; and continuation of the 'Blue Blindfold' awareness campaign led by the UK Human Trafficking centre.

Human Trafficking: Romania

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what discussions she has had with (a) other EU member states and (b) EU institutions on the trafficking of Roma children from other EU member states to the UK. [234430]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 10 November 2008]: We are very concerned about the trafficking of Roma children from certain EU member states by organised criminal networks for the purpose of criminal exploitation.

In addition to targeted operations led by the Metropolitan Police Service to bring the traffickers to justice, officials are working with the Romanian embassy in London to agree a protocol for the safe return of trafficked children where it is in their best interests.

On 1 September 2008, the Metropolitan Police Service signed an agreement with Romania, setting up a Joint Investigation Team (JIT) on Human Trafficking. This is the first such JIT on human trafficking in Europe.

No direct discussions have been held with EU institutions on this issue.

Mr. Clappison: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the extent of trafficking of Roma children from other EU member states to the UK; and if she will make a statement. [234431]

Mr. Alan Campbell [holding answer 10 November 2008]: Earlier this year, the Metropolitan Police Service estimated that more than 200 Roma children were being exploited in London and other locations in the UK by Romanian organised crime gangs. The Romanian police have identified 1,300 children whom they believe have been trafficked from Romania to western Europe for criminal exploitation.

Identity Cards

Lynne Jones: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer of 26 June 2008, Official Report, column 44W, on identity cards, where a single transaction creates an audit trail relating to more than one of the three biometric, biographical and administrative databases, whether the multiple audit trails will be brought together to create a fourth separate audit trail record to show what checks have taken place against a single transaction. [220294]

Meg Hillier: The Identity and Passport Service is currently in the process of procuring the different systems that will enable the establishment of the national identity register. This process will involve the creation of varying systems design from participating bidders on the basis of outcome-based requirements. They can propose a number of different technical solutions to deliver such requirements. As a result, the detailed manner in which the relevant systems will work together in order to combine, when necessary, information from different audit records on each system has not been finalised.

Identity Cards: Contracts

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the expected delivery dates are for IT contracts in relation to the identity card scheme, including those that have been awarded and those that are yet to be awarded. [224718]

Jacqui Smith: The following table sets out the expected award dates for the IT enabled services contracts that have either been awarded or being procured. In the case of the 'Application and Enrolment' and 'National Biometric Identity Service', services will begin with transition of existing contracts before future capabilities to support the passport or identity card process commence.

| Contract | Award |
|---|---|
| Early releases (awarded to Thales) | August 2008 |
| Application and Enrolment | Second quarter 2009 |
| National Biometric Identity Service | Second quarter 2009 |

Immigrants: English Language

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether her Department had discussions with the Department for Children, Schools and Families or the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority on ETS before the decision to approve ETS's Test of English as a Foreign Language for use within the United Kingdom immigration system. [220791]

Mr. Woolas: The selection of organisations to provide independent assessment of an applicant's English Language skills for Immigration purposes has no impact on, or relevance to, either the Department for Children, Schools and Families or the Qualifications and Curriculum Authority.

Consequently it was not considered necessary to consult either department before the decision was taken to approve ETS's Test of English as a Foreign Language for use within the United Kingdom immigration system.

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department (1) what references her Department obtained in order to verify the record of ETS's past performance in delivering the Test of English as a Foreign Language before the decision to approve ETS's Test of English as a Foreign Language for use within the United Kingdom immigration system; [220793]

(2) what assessment was made of ETS's previous record of delivery of the Test of English as a Foreign Language before the decision to approve ETS's Test of English as a Foreign Language for use within the United Kingdom immigration system. [220794]

Mr. Woolas: The UK Border Agency under took an assessment exercise to ensure that all the tests included on the list of approved English Language tests for tier 1 satisfied our required standards of assessment and test security. In support of their application, ETS provided information on:

- Award security features
- Test methodologies
- Test security
- Test verification procedures
- How ETS mapped their test to the Common European Framework Reference for Languages: Learning, Training, assessment (CEFR)
- How ETS train their test markers and how marking standards are set
- The bona fides of their organisation

The results of ETS's English language tests are recognised by employers and institutions the world wide. However, the actual procurement of testing services is between ETS and the individual applicant taking their test.

Immigration: Biometrics

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department whether foreign nationals who are issued with biometric immigration documents before the National Identity Register has been established will have their details entered on the Register when it has been set up. [237726]

Jacqui Smith [holding answer 20 November 2008]: Foreign nationals who are subject to immigration control and apply for biometric immigration documents before the national identity register is established will not have to enter their biometric details onto the register. However, once biometric immigration documents are designated under the Identity Cards Act 2006, foreign nationals applying for a designated biometric immigration document will be required to provide their details for the register.

Immigration: Fees and Charges

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the fees are for applications made in person at public inquiry offices for (a) indefinite leave to remain and (b) leave to remain. [219428]

Jacqui Smith: The level of fees for immigration applications is publicly available; they are published on the UKBA website at the following link:

http://www.ind.homeoffice.gov.uk/ukresidency/cost/

A copy of the web page is available in the Library.

Members: Correspondence

Mr. Spellar: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she will reply to the letter of 11 April from the hon. Member for Warley on Mr. Runjit Singh. [213600]

Mr. Woolas: My predecessor wrote to the hon. Member on 18 June 2008.

Ann Winterton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to reply to the letters of 1 August, 18 August and 17 October 2008 from the hon. Member for Congleton on behalf of her constituent Mr. J Burt. [236242]

Mr. Coaker: We have had to consult on this and I shall reply to the hon. Member shortly.

National Anti-Fraud Network

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what role local authorities will have in the National Anti-Fraud Network. [236495]

Mr. McNulty: I have been asked to reply.

The National Anti-Fraud Network (NAFN) is funded by subscriptions from local authorities and exists to provide them with data, intelligence and best practice services. As of March 2008, 370 local authorities subscribed to this service.

National Policing Information Agency: Correspondence

Mr. Chope: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when the National Policing Information Agency plans to respond to the letter of 1 September 2008 from Lingotran Ltd of Christchurch. [237185]

Mr. Coaker [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The National Policing Improvement Agency responded to the letter from Lingotran Ltd of Christchurch on 21 November 2008.

Offences Against Children

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many reports of child abuse were made to the police in the year ending March (a) 2004, (b) 2005, (c) 2006, (d) 2007 and (e) 2008. [237701]

Mr. Alan Campbell: The recorded crime statistics are based on legal definitions and the available statistics relate to offences recorded by the police. Statistics for the relevant recorded offences where the victim can be identified as a child are given in table 1.

Data for table 2 have been extracted from the Homicide Index and give the number of offences recorded as homicide where the age of the victim is under 16 and the apparent circumstances of killing is child/sexual abuse.

[1] The Sexual Offences Act 2003 introduced in May 2004 altered the definition and coverage of sexual offences.

[2] A small number of offences continue to be recorded relating to offences repealed by the Sexual Offences Act 2003; while these may continue to be legitimately recorded for offences committed prior to May 2004 it is also possible that some may have been recorded in these old categories in error, so recent changes based on small numbers should be interpreted with caution.

Offensive Weapons: Young People

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of recent trends in levels of teenage knife crime. [217323]

Jacqui Smith: The number of 13 to 19 year-old victims of homicide involving a sharp instrument rose from 26 in 2000-01 to 27 in 2006-07 indicating overall a slight increase.

Surveys indicate that young people may carry knives out of fear of mugging, or being bullied, or to gain respect and status within a group or gang.

In 2006 we decided to improve data collection to get a clearer picture of the scale of knife crime. These figures were published on 17 July show that there were 22,151 offences of serious violence involving knives (ie attempted murder, wounding with intent to commit GBH, wounding or inflicting GBH (ie without intent), or robbery) in 2007-08. This was the first year that these figures were available and will in future provide information on trends for these offences. These figures are not broken down by age group.

We take knife crime extremely seriously and have announced a programme of action, based on the successful Tackling Gangs Action Programme model, to combat this issue. The action includes increased enforcement activity including the use of search equipment, prevention through educational initiatives such as Be Safe, development of the knife referral project to ensure that young people who are convicted of carrying knives but who do not receive a custodial sentence are required to attend a weapons awareness programme. We have also launched a £3 million three-year publicity campaign designed by young people focusing on the risks and consequences of knife carrying. This is being delivered via a social networking site, radio advertisements, posters and viral video clips.

Police: Bexley

Mr. Evennett: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) police officers, (b) police constables, (c) police sergeants and (d) police community support officers were working in the London Borough of Bexley in (i) 2007 and (ii) 2008 to date. [238136]

Mr. Coaker: Police personnel statistics are not collected by borough. Data are collected by basic command unit (BCU), although they are not collected by rank at this level. However, Bexley is a BCU within the Metropolitan Police.

BCU figures are published annually as a supplementary table to the Police Service Strength Statistical Bulletin. The current publication can be found at:

http://www.homeoffice.gov.uk/rds/policeorg1.html

and previous years' publication can be found in the House of Commons Library.

There were 371 full-time equivalent police officers in the BCU of Bexley as at 31 March 2007, and 361 such officers as at 31 March 2008.

There were 87 full-time equivalent police community support officers in the BCU of Bexley as at 31 March 2007, and 106 such officers as at 31 March 2008.

Police: Driving Offences

Mr. Leech: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police drivers have been prosecuted or disciplined for driving offences committed while at work in each of the last five years. [238847]

Mr. Coaker: Information is not collected centrally on the occupation of offenders unless specific to the offence legislation.

Police: Gwent

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what assessment she has made of the effect on the delivery of policing in Gwent of the proposed changes to the level of police grant for the forthcoming financial year. [229961]

Mr. Coaker: The Government announced last year provisional funding totals for the three year period 2008-09 to 2010-11. The stability of funding provided by a three year settlement enables police authorities to develop medium term financial strategies and control their spending. We will finalise grant allocation for 2009-10 shortly.

Gwent police authority received £80.6 million in general grant for 2008-09, an increase of 2.5 per cent. (£2.0 million) over 2007-08. This is in line with the minimum increase guaranteed for all police authorities in England and Wales. Gwent benefits from this decision. If the needs based police funding formula had been strictly applied it would have received £2.3 million less.

Between 2006-07 and 2007-08, the Gwent police force area experienced a nine per cent. fall in overall crime, a 20 per cent. fall in theft of a motor vehicle, and violence against the person had fallen by 13 per cent. during the same period.

Police: Pensions

Paul Rowen: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what the projected savings are of the 2006 Police Pension Scheme changes in relation to public sector pensions for the police. [230355]

Mr. Coaker: I refer the hon. Member to the reply I gave to him on 28 October 2008, Official Report, column 824W.

Police: Resignations

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers resigned from police forces in England and Wales in each of the last three years. [224470]

Police: Retirement

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many police officers in Derbyshire (a) retired and (b) took early retirement on health grounds in each of the last five years; and if she will make a statement. [238084]

Mr. Coaker: The numbers of police officer medical retirements have been published each year by Her Majesty's Inspectorate of Constabulary (HMIC) in their annual report. HMIC have advised that these data will no longer be published in their annual report and that the data for 2004-05 would be the last series of data to be published.

I have been advised by Derbyshire police of the data in the table subsequent to 2004-05.

Secure Accommodation

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what recent discussions she has had with youth and social service practitioners on alternatives to long-term secure accommodation for young people vulnerable to sexual exploitation; and if she will make a statement. [237280]

Beverley Hughes: I have been asked to reply.

My officials have discussed the use of secure accommodation with stakeholders in the course of developing guidance aimed at safeguarding children and young people from sexual exploitation. Respondents to the recent consultation exercise on the draft guidance have also expressed views about this.

In some cases, it may be necessary to secure the safety of a child or young person who is being sexually exploited by removing them to a safe place. In general, they will need good quality placements with experience of building trusting relationships and skills at containing young people. These placements do not have to be secure. Placing a child or young person in secure accommodation should be considered only in extreme circumstances, when it is necessary to secure their safety from perpetrators.

Telecommunications: Databases

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 616W, on telecommunications: database, whether one of the proposed options to be included in the consultation paper will be giving local authorities access to the database of communications. [235864]

Mr. Coaker: The forthcoming consultation will set out a range of options to ensure that communications data is available in the future. Local authorities can currently access subscriber and service use data and there are no plans to change the type of data that they can access.

UK Border Agency: Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) times disciplinary proceedings were brought and (b) officials were disciplined by the UK Border Agency and its predecessor bodies in each of the last three years. [221863]

Mr. Woolas: This information could be subject to change and numbers can go up as well as down depending on a number of factors, for example successful appeals will result in records being removed.

The table provides data for the last three financial years. The figures for the number of disciplinary proceedings brought against staff encompass attendance management, discipline and performance management as a total figure.

It should also be noted that with regard to Attendance Management and Performance Management, an individual may have several separate entries under these procedures as there may have been more than one occasion where an individual was absent which required action under the policy or had performance related issues that also required action under the relevant policy.

| Financial year | Number of disciplinary proceedings (inclusive of attendance/performance management and discipline) | Number of staff |
|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 489 | 436 |
| 2006-07 | 966 | 848 |
| 2007-08 | 1,783 | 1,548 |

Vetting

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many (a) Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) checks and (b) enhanced CRB checks were carried out in each of the last five years. [236577]

Meg Hillier: I refer the hon. Member to my written answer of 16 October 2008, Official Report, column 1446W.

Vetting: Greater London

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department what estimate she has made of (a) the average length of time taken by the police in each London borough to provide information in support of applications for Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) clearance and (b) the average length of time for the completion of CRB clearance once police have been asked to provide this information in the last 12 months, broken down by London borough. [235873]

Meg Hillier: Data concerning the average time taken by the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) to complete a disclosure by police force area and the average length of time for the completion of CRB clearance once police have been asked to provide this information are not collated by the bureau.

The CRB operates to a set of published service standards (PSS) which include to issue 90 per cent. of standard disclosures within 10 days and 90 per cent. of enhanced disclosures within 28 days. The CRB has met the PSS set in October 2008.

The CRB has been supporting those forces that have encountered problems in meeting their targets by a range of measures including the provision of additional resources, monitoring performance, providing demand forecasting data and assistance in introducing new IT initiatives.

A revised service level agreement came into effect in April 2006 between the CRB and the 43 police forces of England and Wales. This agreement, which was agreed by the Association of Chief Police Officers (ACPO), places an additional focus on delivery and the responsibilities of chief officers and ACPO to ensure that the obligations within the service level agreement are met. Monthly performance figures for each of the police forces for their part of the disclosure service are now published on the CRB website at www.crb.gsi.gov.uk.

Vetting: Young People

Mr. Ruffley: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department how many under 18-year-olds have had Criminal Records Bureau checks in 2008-09 to date. [234651]

Meg Hillier: During the financial year 2008-09 to date the Criminal Records Bureau (CRB) has issued 80,806 disclosures to applicants under the age of 18 years.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for the Home Department when she plans to answer question 21456, tabled on 24 June 2008, on the prosecution of US personnel. [228294]

Mr. Alan Campbell: I replied to the hon. Gentleman on 10 November 2008, Official Report, column 783W.

COMMUNITIES AND LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Compulsory Purchase: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many compulsory purchase orders have been issued in each of the principal seaside towns in England in each of the last 10 years. [239393]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Council Housing

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) council houses, (b) housing association properties, (c) homeless families placed in temporary accommodation and (d) families on the housing waiting list there are in each local authority in England. [239014]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information on the number of social dwellings owned by local authorities is published on the Communities and Local Government website in Table 116 at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/140882.xls

Copies of this table have been deposited in the Library of the House.

Information on the number of social dwellings owned by registered social landlords (RSLs) is published on the Communities and Local Government website in Table 115 at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/140879.xls

Copies of this table have been deposited in the Library of the House.

Information about English local authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (Part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected include the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as eligible for assistance, unintentionally homeless and in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). If a settled home is not immediately available, the authority must secure temporary accommodation until a settled home becomes available.

Information on the numbers of households with dependant children (including expectant mothers with no other dependant children) in temporary accommodation is reported quarterly by local authorities as at the last day of each quarter. The most recent figures reported by local authorities were for 30 June 2008 and are provided in a table, which has been placed in the Library.

Information about social housing waiting lists is collected in respect of households rather than families. Where local authorities and registered social landlords operate a common register, households registered with the RSL will be included in the data.

However, registered social landlords are independent bodies and can keep their own waiting lists. Information on the number of households on local authorities' waiting lists is published on the Communities and Local Government website in Table 600 at:

http://www.communities.gov.uk/documents/housing/xls/144458.xls

Copies of this table have been deposited in the Library of the House.

Local authorities in England report the number of households on their housing waiting list as at 1 April in their annual Housing Strategy Statistical Appendix returns. The size of the waiting list is not an indicator of absolute need; it is only useful as a broad indicator of housing demand in an area. Not everyone on the waiting list is necessarily in urgent housing need. The waiting list includes those who consider social housing as their preferred or one of a number of housing options, and those who decide to get onto the waiting list ladder before they need or want to move house.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much surplus land (a) her Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is; [236432]

(2) what plans she has for each of the sites owned by her Department and registered on the Register of Surplus Public Sector Land; what construction projects are planned for each site; and when she expects each site to be returned to use. [236443]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Department for Communities and Local Government does not hold any surplus land. English Partnerships, the national regeneration agency, is an executive non-departmental public body for which my Department has responsibility. A core part of English Partnerships' work involves making the best use of the available land supply by identifying surplus previously-developed land which can be brought back into effective re-use for development, particularly housing development. My Department has similar responsibilities for the Fire Service College, which is also an executive agency and has responsibility for the delivery of training in support of fire-fighters and public safety.

English Partnerships and the Fire Service College hold land in the context of and incidental to their core businesses. To date, land that has been identified as surplus by English Partnerships and the Fire Service College totals about 17 sites covering over 250ha. The total estimated value of the sites is about £7 million.

The Register of Surplus Public Sector Land is managed by English Partnerships on behalf of my Department and HM Treasury. The Treasury publication 'Managing Public Money' requires all central government bodies and their agencies to place details of their surplus sites on the Register. The Register provides a single reference point for all participating public sector bodies on the available national supply of surplus land and helps to ensure that wider Government objectives, including housing needs and regional economic and housing strategies, are factored into land disposal decisions. English Partnerships publishes a quarterly return of surplus sites available on the Register via its website at http://www.englishpartnerships.co.uk/rspsl.htm.

The most current information is on the September 2008 issue of the Register.

Local planning authorities are responsible for preparing their development plan documents as part of their local development framework. While a public sector body selling land may discuss potential future uses with the local planning authority and seek planning permission, it is the market that will finally determine when individual sites come back into effective use and the exact form of the development, taking account of the local planning needs and requirement.

Disabled Facilities Grants

Mr. Sanderc: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what mechanisms her Department has in place to increase funding to local authorities when there is increased demand for disabled facilities grants. [236406]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Government regard the Disabled Facilities Grant programme as a very important means to help disabled and older people continue to live as independently as possible in their own homes. That is why we have more than doubled the Government funds available for the programme from £57 million in 1997 to £146 million in 2008 with an increase of £10 million in each of the subsequent years making the budget £166 million by 2010. This represents a significant investment in this important programme.

Eco-towns

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) what the central budget for the eco-town programme is; [236506]

(2) how much has been spent to date by her Department and its agencies in relation to the eco-town programme, broken down by main budget heading. [236512]

Mr. Iain Wright: The eco-towns policy was announced in the Housing Green Paper in July 2007 and it has been developed alongside our housing policies. The costs for developing the policy form part of the Department's running costs and are set out in the Departmental Annual Report, Community, opportunity, prosperity. Future allocations to support infrastructure and local authority expenditure in relation to any of the sites will be drawn from the growth funding made available in CSR07. However the bulk of investment needed to create an eco-town will come from the private sector.

In managing the programme we are drawing on policy expertise in terms of housing, planning and sustainable communities from the Department and its agencies. However certain aspects of the programme in relation to the assessment process have required us to seek specific technical expertise, for example on the sustainability appraisal. The costs related to this technical consultancy, along with those for marketing and consultation are set out in the following table.

| | Funding |
|---|---|
| Sustainability Appraisal | £80,000 (contract value – this work is not complete) |
| Financial assessment | £720,000 (contract value – this work is not complete) |
| Challenge Panel | [1]5,500 |
| TSUPB, work on practical guidance and best practice advice to local authorities and other stakeholders, including running the Eco-towns Expert Group, running events with stakeholders and producing worksheets | £225,000 (2007-08) £199,300 committed funding for 2008-09 |
| Local authority assessments – the Department has agreed to contribute to local authority costs in supporting the assessment process. Final figures for each authority have yet to be agreed. | Final cost to be agreed |
| Communications – this includes spending on market research, regional media, design work, and digital media | £385,200 |

1 The Challenge Panel members were entitled to claim the Government rate of £350 per day when working for the Panel.

Note:
All figures for expenditure have been rounded to the nearest hundred.
However, please note that a large proportion of the overall figure represents contract value, not all of which has been realised (work is still to be completed).

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the budget is for the eco-town programme; and how much has been spent, broken down by type of category of expenditure. [230884]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Member to the answer that I gave him on 25 November 2008, Official Report, Column (PQs 230306 and 230312.

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how much has been spent on consultants' fees for work on eco-towns in the last 12 months. [235811]

Mr. Iain Wright: Over the last 12 months the Department has spent approximately £670,000 on consultancy fees in relation to the eco-towns programme. This has been to support our assessment of the eco-town locations and schemes, including publication of the Sustainability Appraisal on 4 November 2008. This work will also assist local authorities considering planning applications for schemes in those locations announced in the final shortlist of locations with potential to be an eco-town next year, following the second stage consultation.

Green Belt

Grant Shapps: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many gross hectares of Green Belt land, excluding additions to the Green Belt, have been developed in each year since 1996 for which figures are available, broken down by region. [236102]

Mr. Iain Wright: Decisions about the use of land which is designated as green belt, or whether land should be designated as green belt, must be taken in accordance with the policy in Planning Policy Guidance Note 2 on green belts. This policy has performed an important role in preventing urban sprawl and protecting the countryside for 50 years. There is a presumption against inappropriate development in green belt but the policy allows for some development there, such as to support agriculture or forestry or as limited infill in existing villages. Development that is inappropriate may be permitted only where the benefits clearly outweigh any harm to the green belt and where very special circumstances are also demonstrated. The Government remain committed to current green belt policy and have no intention of making changes to it.

Detailed information of the designated 1996 green belt boundary is not centrally held. Information on designated green belt boundaries is held for only 1997 and 2007. Land use change statistics on the green belt are now based on the 2007 designated boundary, but as the question specifically excludes additions to the green belt since 1996, in this case the 1997 designated boundary has been used.

Estimates for land changing to developed use within the designated 1997 green belt are provided for 1996 to 2003 as this is the most up to date information on changes to the 1997 green belt available. All the estimates in the attached table reflect development each year within land designated as green belt in 1997 irrespective of whether or not the land was actually designated as green belt at the time of change.

The total for the area of green belt in England was 1,649,600 hectares in 1997. The total area of the green belt in 2007 shows a net national increase of over 33,000 hectares since 1997.

Homelessness

Harry Cohen: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many homeless households were accepted as (a) eligible for housing, (b) unintentionally homeless and (c) in priority need by local authorities in each year since 1997. [234931]

Mr. Iain Wright: Information about English local housing authorities' actions under the homelessness legislation (Part 7 of the Housing Act 1996) is collected quarterly at local authority level. Data collected includes the number of households accepted by local housing authorities as (a) eligible for assistance, (b) unintentionally homeless and (c) in priority need, and therefore owed a main homelessness duty (to secure that suitable accommodation is available). These households are known as 'accepted' households.

Data on accepted households are provided in our quarterly Statistical Release on Statutory Homelessness, which is published on our website and placed in the Library each quarter.

http://www.communities.gov.uk/housing/housingresearch/housingstatistics/housingstatisticsby/homelessnessstatistics/publicationshomelessness/

Acceptances by local authority are published in each quarter's Statistical Release, in the Supplementary Tables. In addition, a table showing these data since 1997-98 has been placed in the Library.

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what estimate she has made of the number of people who were rough sleeping in each (a) region and (b) local authority area on the latest date for which figures are available, broken down by (i) age group, (ii) gender and (iii) ethnic background. [238705]

Mr. Iain Wright: The 2008 estimate of the number of rough sleepers in England showed 483 people sleeping rough on any single night—a 74 per cent. reduction on the 1998 baseline. The estimate is based on the results of local authority street counts in those areas where a known, or suspected, rough sleeping problem has been identified.

Number of rough sleepers in each region/local authority based on rough sleeper counts are in the following tables.

We do not hold national data on the proportion of rough sleepers who are male or female, their age group or ethnic background. However, there is specific data for London provided under the Combined Homelessness and Information Network (CHAIN) recording system. In 2007-08, for those rough sleepers in London contacted by services, CHAIN records show around 87 per cent. of rough sleepers to be male and 13 per cent. to be female. ### Housing Associations

Tony Baldry: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether housing associations are public bodies for the purposes of EU procurement legislation. [239210]

Mr. Iain Wright: Yes.

Housing: Low Incomes

Andrew George: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the merits of increasing the (a) proportion and (b) number of social and intermediate market housing units in the annual house building targets in each region in the light of recent changes in the housing market. [235975]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave him on 20 November 2008, Official Report, column 766W.

Housing: Standards

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many council and housing association homes met the Decent Homes standard in (a) 1997 and (b) 2007. [236709]

Mr. Iain Wright: Estimates from 1996 to 2006 and including 1997 are provided in the following table from the English House Condition Survey. There was no survey in 1997 and therefore figures are interpolated from within the overall time series, but this can be provided only for the social rented sector as a whole. The most recent EHCS data available is 2006.

All estimates are based on the original definition of the decent homes standard which incorporates the Fitness Standard as one of the four criteria a home must meet if it is to be considered decent. This definition was updated in 2006 to replace the Fitness Standard with Housing Health and Safety Rating System. However there are no estimates available for years earlier than 2006 based on the updated definition and estimates based on the updated definition are not comparable with those for previous years.

English House Condition Survey.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department and its predecessors have made of trends in standards of accommodation in (a) houses in multiple occupation and (b) the private rented sector in the last 10 years. [238424]

Mr. Iain Wright: Following research undertaken by the Building Research Establishment (BRE), the Department published "Evaluating the Impact of Houses in Multiple Occupation and Selective Licensing: The baseline before licensing in April 2006" in August 2007. The BRE is currently carrying out a review of the HMO licensing regime which will look at the practical implications, effectiveness and the impact of HMO legislation since implementation. The final report is due to be published in spring 2009.

The English House Condition Survey collects information on housing conditions and includes the private rented sector.

Since 1996, there has been substantial improvement in the number of non-decent homes in the private rented sector, from 62 per cent. in 1996 to 40 per cent. in 2006, based on the Fitness Standard which was the original definition of the decent homes standard.

The Standard Assessment Procedure (SAP) rating is based on energy costs for space and water heating, ventilation and lighting per square metre of floor area within each home, representing a measure of its energy efficiency. Since 1996, there private rented sector has become more energy efficient and the average SAP has increased from 38 in 1996 to 47 in 2006.

Housing: Thames Gateway

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many of the new homes to be built as part of the Thames Gateway project she expects to be affordable homes; and what assessment she has made of the effect of the current economic climate on that estimate. [235805]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Thames Gateway needs a mix of housing to be successful—from affordable starter homes and family units to aspirational homes—across the full range of tenures. The Government's aspiration is therefore for 160,000 additional new homes of all tenures from 2001 to 2016.

When the Thames Gateway Delivery Plan was published in November 2007, the Housing Corporation estimated that over the period 2008-11 it would invest in between 11,500 and 14,300 affordable homes in the Thames Gateway. Overall, delivery of social rented homes through the Housing Corporation are on trajectory for 2008-09. However, it remains too early, given global financial turbulence and subsequent market conditions, to predict outputs in later years with certainty.

Listed Buildings

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of the provisions of section 54A of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1991. [238016]

Mr. Iain Wright: I believe the hon. Member may be referring to section 54A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990, which was repealed and replaced by section 38(6) of the Planning and Compulsory Purchase Act 2004. This requires determinations under the planning Acts to be made in accordance with the development plan unless material considerations indicate otherwise. The effect of proposed development on a listed building, conservation area or other heritage asset could constitute a material consideration. The provision ensures that heritage assets are given due consideration when planning applications are being determined.

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what recent representations her Department has received relating to section 66(1) of the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) Act 1991. [238017]

Mr. Iain Wright: Section 66(1) requires decision makers, when considering planning applications which would affect a listed building or its setting, to have special regard to the desirability of preserving the building or its setting or any features of special architectural or historic interest it possesses. The Secretary of State has not received any representations about this specific provision and its operations, although it is common for people to make representations about specific listed buildings in relation to individual planning cases.

Local Authorities: Conservation

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what proportion of local authorities employed a conservation officer in each of the last five years. [238147]

Mr. Iain Wright: This information is not collected by the Department, as staffing issues in local authorities are a matter for the organisations themselves, taking into account their local circumstances. In 2006, a survey by the Institute of Historic Building Conservation showed there were 757 full-time equivalent buildings conservation staff. English Heritage are carrying out a survey to be completed by the end of this year, which will cover all historic environment professionals (conservation officers and archaeologists) working in local government.

Multiple Occupation

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what representations she has received from (a) voluntary organisations and (b) local authorities on amending housing regulations for houses in multiple occupation. [238091]

Mr. Iain Wright: The building research establishment is currently carrying out a review of the HMO licensing regime across all local authorities in England which will look at the practical implications, effectiveness and the impact of HMO legislation since implementation. As part of the review they have consulted a range of key stakeholders including local authorities, private landlords and tenant representatives. The final report is due to be published in spring 2009.

Multiple Occupation: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department has made of the effects of mandatory licensing of houses in multiple occupation in seaside towns; what estimate she has made of the take up rate; and if she will make a statement. [238419]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Building Research Establishment is currently carrying out a review of the HMO licensing regime across all local authorities in England which will look at the practical implications, effectiveness and the impact of HMO legislation since implementation. The final report is due to be published in spring 2009.

Information requested on the take up rate of mandatory HMO licensing in seaside towns is not available centrally.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what research her Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on relationships between houses in multiple occupation and levels of transient and vulnerable people living in the principal English seaside towns; and if she will make a statement. [238420]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Building Research Establishment is currently carrying out a review of the HMO licensing regime across all local authority areas which will look at the practical implications, effectiveness and the impact of HMO legislation since implementation. Where appropriate, this will include impacts on areas with high levels of transient and vulnerable households. The final report is due to be published in spring 2009.

The Department's report 'England's Seaside Towns—A Benchmarking Study', published in November 2008, includes findings on migrant workers (who form part of transient populations) and certain vulnerable households (such as disabled people and the elderly) in England's 37 principal seaside resorts, though recent data were not available on their housing tenure in these places.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what controls are available to local authorities to manage houses in multiple occupation in the principal English seaside towns; what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of the use of such controls; and if she will make a statement. [238423]

Mr. Iain Wright: All houses in multiple occupation (HMOs) in England that are of three or more storeys housing five or more persons forming more than one household are now subject to mandatory HMO licensing. Local authorities also have the discretion to introduce additional HMO licensing schemes to cover smaller HMOs where they have identified problems such as poor management standards and property condition.

All HMOs, regardless of whether they are licensable, are subject to management regulations. The regulations impose duties on the manager of the property to ensure that minimum safety requirements are met, the HMO and facilities within it are maintained and in reasonably good order and that fire precautionary equipment are properly maintained.

The building research establishment is currently carrying out a review of the HMO licensing regime across all local authorities in England which will look at the practical implications, effectiveness and the impact of HMO legislation since implementation. The final report is due to be published in spring 2009.

Non-domestic Rates

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many people have been prosecuted successfully for non-payment of business rates in each of the last 12 months. [239213]

John Healey: The Department does not collect such statistics.

Non-domestic Rates: Ports

Norman Baker: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what consultation was undertaken with businesses based in ports before the decision was taken to make retrospective demands for business rates on UK port occupiers. [238312]

John Healey: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave to the hon. Member for Canterbury (Mr. Brazier) on 16 October 2008, Official Report, column 1410W.

Planning

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of Planning Policy Guidance 15 and 16. [238014]

Mr. Iain Wright: Planning Policy Guidance Notes 15 and 16 set out Government policy on, respectively, Planning and the Historic Environment, and Archaeology and Planning. They explain and provide guidance on the robust regime for protecting listed buildings, conservation areas and other heritage assets that is enshrined in legislation, and are valued by stakeholders as key heritage protection documents. We recognise the need to keep these documents up to date, and are currently revising them in consultation with officials in English Heritage and the Department for Culture, Media and Sport.

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the effectiveness of the Good Practice Guide on Planning for Tourism. [238015]

Mr. Iain Wright: We have made no assessment of the effectiveness of our Good Practice Guidance on Planning for Tourism. However, the Department for Culture Media and Sport has been engaging proactively with local authorities and business since the publication of the guide in May 2006 to ensure its effective implementation.

Regeneration: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress her Department has made with HM Treasury on the national regeneration framework in seaside towns. [238310]

John Healey: The wide economic and social variations between individual seaside towns underline the need for local regeneration solutions that are integrated within wider sub-regional and regional strategies—an approach set out in the Government's Regeneration Framework consultation document issued in July 2008. These variations are highlighted in the Department's recent report, 'England's Seaside Towns—A Benchmarking Study,' published in November.

During the consultation period on the framework, which closed at the end of October, my officials met with many stakeholders including those with interests in seaside towns. We are currently considering responses to the consultation document with the aim of publishing a final framework early in 2009. The framework is being taken forward in close co-operation with Treasury officials and other Government Departments.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what steps her Department has taken to improve its arrangements for co-ordination of policy with other Government departments on coastal towns since the publication of the Communities and Local Government Committee's Second Report of Session 2006-07, Coastal Towns, HC 351. [238655]

John Healey: My Department established a cross-departmental working group on coastal towns in February 2008, comprising officials from eight Departments (BERR, CLG, DCMS, DfT, DIUS, DOH, DEFRA, and DWP), the Government Offices for the Regions and key government agencies—the Environment Agency, Commission for Rural Communities and Commission for Architecture and the Built Environment.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government if her Department will bring forward proposals to establish a permanent network to facilitate the spread of best practice in coastal town regeneration. [238659]

John Healey: The Coastal Towns Network, which is led by the South East England Development Agency (SEEDA) and includes central Government Departments, local authorities, regional development agencies (RDAs) and national coastal town networks, provides a forum for facilitating the dissemination of best practice in coastal town regeneration.

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment she has made of the work of each regional improvement and efficiency partnership in respect of the principal seaside towns in England which lie in their areas. [238917]

John Healey: Information of the work of each Regional Improvement and Efficiency Partnership (RIEPs) in respect of the principal seaside towns is not held centrally. However, we are continually monitoring the progress of the RIEPs and a full assessment of RIEP progress will be available when the annual end of year report is produced next year.

Regional Planning and Development

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government with reference to the Answer of 25 June 2007, Official Report, column 175W, on planning, when her Department plans to publish a summary of responses to its consultation on the Town and Country (General Permitted Development) Order 1995. [239406]

Mr. Iain Wright: We aim to publish the summary of responses in January.

Rented Housing: Private Sector

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many properties in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) England are privately rented; [239682]

(2) how many private landlords there are in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) England; [239683]

(3) how many people have been registered as private tenants in (a) Jarrow constituency, (b) South Tyneside, (c) the North East and (d) England in each year since 1997. [239684]

Mr. Iain Wright: Annual estimates of the stock of privately rented properties in the North East and in England are set out in table 1. Annual estimates for South Tyneside and Jarrow are not available.

Table 1: Estimated stock of privately rented properties 1997-2006

Based on the recent report "The Private Rented Sector: its contribution and potential", published by the Centre for Housing Policy, University of York, the number of private landlords in England in 2006, excluding resident landlords, is estimated to have been about 1.2 million. Reliable estimates of the number of private landlords are not available at below national level.

The question asks for the number of registered private tenants. However, private tenants are not required to register, so the figures in table 2 are survey-based estimates of the number of households in the private rented sector for the North East and for England, 1997 to 2007. Estimates are only available at regional and national level.

Table 2: Estimated number of households in the private rented sector 1997-2007

The most recent estimate of the number of households in the private rented sector in South Tyneside, from the 2001 Census, was 3,259. The comparable Census 2001 figures for South Tyneside, North East and England were as follows:

Table 3: Number of households in the private rented sector, estimated from the 2001 Census

| | Number |
|---|---|
| South Tyneside | 3,259 |
| North East Region | 76,987 |
| England | 2,037,470 |

The estimates for North-East Region and England in table 3 are more reliable than those in table 2 because they are derived from a census as opposed to a sample survey.

Estimates of the number of private renters in the Jarrow constituency based on the 2001 Census are not available.

Mr. Hepburn: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government when she intends to publish her response to the findings of the Rugg Report on the private rented sector; and if she will make a statement. [239686]

Mr. Iain Wright: We will be responding to the Julie Rugg and David Rhodes review of the private rented sector within our forthcoming housing reform Green Paper. Ministers are currently considering the full range of evidence and policy issues for the Green Paper in its entirety and as such no decision has been made on timing for its publication. At the same time, we are discussing initial views on Rugg/Rhodes's interesting and helpful review with key stakeholders. Those discussions will inform our initial response to the review.

Repossession Orders: Telephone Helplines

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government which telephone advice lines are funded from the public purse to provide advice to those facing repossessions; how much funding the Government have provided to financial advice lines in each of the last five years; and how many incoming calls have been (a) received and (b) answered by each of those advice lines in each of the last 12 months. [236536]

Mr. Iain Wright: National Debtline (NDL) is a free, confidential and independent national telephone helpline for people with debt problems in England, Scotland and Wales. NDL also offer expert advice on the full range of debt related problems for example rent arrears, mortgage/repossession etc. The service can be accessed via the telephone, email and written inquiries. Government part funds the National Debtline (NDL) with industry through contributions by BERR, MoJ and the Scottish Executive.

In the past five years BERR have paid £1 million to NDL in each of the past five years (2003-04 onwards); MoJ have paid £500,000 in 05-06, £800,000 in 06-07 and £1 million in 2007-08.

Community Legal Advice (CLA) is the telephone helpline of the Legal Services Commission (LSC), a non -departmental public body sponsored by the Ministry of Justice. In addition to the telephone service, the LSC also funds 88 Housing Possession Court Duty Schemes in 113 courts throughout England and Wales to provide on-the-day emergency advice and advocacy to anyone facing possession proceedings. These figures include those schemes that will start from next week, following a recent tender process. The schemes allow anyone in danger of eviction or having their property repossessed to get free legal advice and representation on the day of their hearing, regardless of their financial circumstances.

Community Legal Advice is funded by Mo J. Details of funding is set out in the following table.

In addition, the PBR announced further measures to help householders facing financial difficulties, including £5.85 million additional investment to March 2011 in telephone advice and £10 million to March 2010 invested in Citizens Advice Bureaux to expand face-to-face debt advice capacity.

Government have also allocated £200 million to local authorities and voluntary organisations over the next three years to tackle and prevent homelessness in their area. Many local authorities will use some of this money to fund advice agencies or Citizen Advice Bureaux to provide an advisory service. We also provide £2.5 million funding to the National Homelessness Advice Service (NHAS) which is a partnership between Shelter and the Citizens Advice Bureaux ((CABx) providing high quality advice on homelessness prevention through the network of participating CABx and other voluntary agencies across England.

Records of numbers of calls received and answered by these services are not held centrally.

Revenue Support Grant

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what account her Department takes of levels of (a) elderly and (b) transient populations of seaside towns when deciding upon the formula for the revenue support grant. [238295]

John Healey: Formula Grant is made up from Revenue Support Grant, redistributed Business Rates and principal formula Police Grant and distributed to local authorities in England. The distribution of Formula Grant takes into account the relative need to provide services in an area and the relative ability of an area to raise council tax locally, relative to all other authorities providing the same service. It also contains a central allocation and a floor damping mechanism.

There are relative needs formulae (RNF) for each of the main service areas that are provided by authorities—children's services, adults' personal social services, highways maintenance, police, fire and rescue, environmental, protective and cultural services, and capital finance. Except for highways maintenance and capital finance, the resident population (measured by the Office for National Statistics's sub-national population projections) are the main driver of the formula. In all formulae, there are additional elements to take into account additional factors related to need.

There are two RNFs within Adults' personal social services to reflect services for Younger Adults and Older People. The main factor in the Older People's Personal Social Services is the population of people aged 65 and over who are residents in households or are local authority supported residents in permanent care homes. Additional factors to reflect age, deprivation, low income and sparsity are also included in the RNF.

There is no explicit measure of transient population within the formula grant distribution system.

Second Homes

Matthew Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many and what percentage of homes in each county in England are registered as second homes. [239013]

Shared Ownership Schemes

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many (a) people and (b) key workers have purchased a property through each of the HomeBuy and shared ownership schemes in each region of the country in each year since the schemes were introduced. [234157]

Mr. Iain Wright: The following tables 1, 2 and 3 set out the homes provided through the Housing Corporation's Affordable Housing Programme, including through the Starter Home Initiative, from 1999-2000 to 2007-08 by region and by shared ownership and HomeBuy scheme.

Tables 4 and 5 show how many of the homes in tables 1, 2 and 3 were provided specifically for key workers through these schemes, although some key workers may have benefited from the general shared ownership and HomeBuy products.

Figures have been provided from 1999-2000 as this was the start of the first open market Homebuy scheme. Social HomeBuy was introduced in 2006-07.

Shelter: Eco-Towns

Peter Luff: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how much financial support her Department provided to Shelter for the production of documents concerning eco-towns; and if she will make a statement; [232764]

(2) what support, other than financial, her Department provided to Shelter for the production of documents concerning eco-towns; what information her Department provided to Shelter for the production of the documents; how many members of her Department were involved in the production of the documents; and if she will make a statement; [232765]

(3) who initiated the project for Shelter to produce a range of documents relating to each proposed eco-town with funding from her Department; when the project was initiated; and if she will make a statement. [232766]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Shelter publications do not promote eco-town locations, but provide information about the housing situation in and around the potential eco-town locations, so that people are able to make an informed input to decisions about whether an eco-town should go ahead. Any views expressed in the document are those of the authors and not the Department.

Shelter put their proposal to the Department about producing publications to provide factual information to local people about the housing situation in and around potential eco-town locations on 29 May 2008. The Department agreed to provide funding to Shelter to assist them with this initiative on 5 June 2008. The Department has committed £166,000 + VAT to this project.

Support was also provided from a number of officials from the Department to give advice on statistics and sources for statistical information related to housing and to cross-check the factual accuracy of the publications.

Sleeping Rough

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what progress is being made on the street needs audit of rough sleeper counts. [239437]

Mr. Iain Wright: Under the new rough sleeping strategy 'No One Left Out' we intend to develop a 'Street Needs Audit' in 2009 to supplement rough sleeper counts to ensure that counts are not just an opportunity to identify need but more importantly to do something about it.

The Street Needs Audit will gather more information about people found on counts, including whether there is an active action plan in place for the person and the lead agency that is taking responsibility.

We will consult on these changes.

Tenants Rights: Duchy of Cornwall

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government whether residents in domestic properties owned by the Duchy of Cornwall have (a) rights of leasehold extension or enfranchisement and (b) a right to buy their properties. [239029]

Mr. Iain Wright: The Duchy of Cornwall has voluntarily undertaken to give its tenants rights equivalent to those under the Leasehold Reform Act 1967 and the Leasehold Reform, Housing and Urban Development Act 1993 subject to certain exceptions. The exceptions include properties that are in, or intimately connected with, the curtilage of Historic Royal Parks and Palaces or where properties or the areas in which they are situated have a long historic or particular association with the Crown, and those where there are particular security considerations.

The right to buy available to social tenants under the Housing Act 1985 does not extend to tenants of the Duchy of Cornwall.

Travelling People

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the average cost to a local authority was of providing (a) an authorised site and (b) an authorised pitch for Gypsies and Travellers in each of the last three years. [237752]

Mr. Iain Wright: Based on the value of successful bids for Gypsy and Traveller Site Grant, the average cost of providing a pitch on a new local authority site was £57,154 in 2005-06, £93,692 in 2006-07, and £81,615 in 2007-08. This cost will be affected by the location of the site—often sites are on brownfield land which requires remediation, or are some distance from essential utilities—and whether land needs to be purchased. The cost of a new site will also vary according to the number of pitches it provides.

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many Gypsies and Travellers there were in England in (a) 1988, (b) 1998 and (c) 2008. [237788]

Mr. Iain Wright: We do not collect information on the number of Gypsies and Travellers in England. The bi-annual count of Gypsy and Traveller caravans provides information on the number of Gypsy and Traveller caravans in England. Copies are available in the Libraries of both Houses and on the Communities and Local Government website at www.communities.gov.uk.

The number of caravans counted was as follows:

| | Number of caravans |
|---|---|
| January 1988 | 10,816 |
| January 1998 | 13,064 |
| January 2008 | 17,898 |

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what the occupancy rate was for publicly-owned authorised sites for Gypsies and Travellers in (a) Essex, (b) Suffolk, (c) Norfolk, (d) Kent, (e) Hertfordshire, (f) Berkshire, (g) Cambridgeshire and (h) Greater London in each of the last three years. [237789]

Mr. Iain Wright: The occupancy rate recorded for residential pitches on authorised local authority sites was as follows:

| | January 2008 | January 2007 | Percentage January 2006 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Essex | 96.5 | 98.7 | 99.1 |
| Suffolk | 92.2 | 100 | 92.9 |
| Norfolk | 91.3 | 100 | 93 |
| Kent | 98.6 | 99.1 | 97.3 |
| Hertfordshire | 95.6 | 94.8 | 96.4 |
| Berkshire | 96.7 | 97.5 | 96.6 |
| Cambridgeshire | 100 | 100 | 100 |
| Greater London | 98 | 97.9 | 95 |

Travelling People: Caravan Sites

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government (1) how many compulsory purchase orders to acquire land for the purpose of building Gypsy and Traveller sites have been rejected by her Department in the last 10 years; [239407]

(2) how many times her Department has rejected the recommendation of planning inspectors on compulsory purchase orders to acquire land for Gypsy and Traveller sites in the last 10 years; [239409]

(3) how many times planning inspectors have recommended against proceeding with a compulsory purchase order to acquire land for Gypsy and Traveller sites in the last 10 years. [239410]

Mr. Iain Wright: The information requested is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Mrs. Laing: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government how many compulsory purchase orders to acquire land for Gypsy and Traveller sites have been made in the last 10 years. [239408]

Mr. Iain Wright: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave her on 24 November 2008, Official Report, PQ 237786.

Travelling People: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government what assessment her Department has made of the needs of transient populations in seaside towns. [238422]

John Healey: The Department's report "England's Seaside Towns—A Benchmarking Study" published in early November contains findings on migrant workers, who form part of transient populations, in England's 37 principal seaside resorts. The report identifies that most of the districts including seaside towns, have attracted fewer migrant workers, in relation to their population, than the English average. The report can be found at:

JUSTICE

Approved Premises

Paddy Tipping: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what percentage of the Probation Services budget was spent on staffing in approved premises in the latest period for which figures are available. [239127]

Mr. Hanson: The total budget for approved premises in 2008-09 is £58.4 million, made up of £51.1 million for probation-run premises and £7.3 million for voluntary-run premises. This amounts to 6.3 per cent. of the total probation service budget. Staffing patterns and the associated costs differ from area to area; it would not be possible to determine the exact proportion for each area without incurring disproportionate cost.

Approved Premises: Coastal Areas

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many bail hostels there are in each of the principal seaside towns in England. [238311]

Mr. Hanson: The Bail Accommodation and Support Service provided by ClearSprings Ltd, under contract to the National Offender Management Service (NOMS), to which I take this question to refer, does not provide hostels. It provides people on bail and on Home Detention Curfew with private, rented accommodation in small houses and flats with up to five people sharing. The numbers of houses currently provided in coastal towns in England and Wales, are shown in the following table:

| | Number |
|---|---|
| Blyth | 1 |
| Bournemouth | 2 |
| Cardiff | 3 |
| Grimsby | 1 |
| Hull | 1 |
| Liverpool | 4 |
| Plymouth | 2 |
| Portsmouth | 3 |
| Southampton | 2 |
| Sunderland | 2 |
| Swansea | 2 |
| Weston-super-Mare | 1 |

Coldingley Prison: Employment

Mr. Oaten: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what arrangements HM Prison Service staff make for the payment of tax and national insurance of prisoners participating in the Barbed project at HM Prison Coldingley. [239455]

Mr. Hanson: The Barbed project at Coldingley has now ended. But as a matter of general principle prisoners working inside prisons are at all times under prison rules and cannot be treated as employees. Therefore there is no requirement for Prison Service staff to arrange for tax and national insurance to be deducted.

CORE Electoral Database

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether the CORE electoral database specification may be used for the introduction of individual electoral registration. [238810]

Mr. Wills: I refer the hon. Member to my answer to him on 6 May 2008, Official Report, column 786W.

Any work that is carried out in respect of individual registration will be done on its own merits, and is not reliant on the progress of the CORE project.

A final decision as to the scope and specification of the CORE project will be made once an analysis of both the business and user requirements has been made. However, in accordance with good practice on the management of projects, any database that is developed will be, as far as is possible, capable of adapting to future requirements that may be anticipated.

Coroners Court: Stoke-on-Trent

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what funding his Department has allocated to the construction of a new coroners' court in Stoke-on-Trent; and if he will make a statement. [239508]

Bridget Prentice: The funding and operation of the coroners service including the provision of courtroom accommodation is the responsibility of individual local authorities, in this case Stoke-on-Trent city council.

Cost Effectiveness

Mr. Gerrard: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assumptions his Department has made of the availability of increased funding for his Department in its financial plan for the Comprehensive Spending Review. [232967]

Maria Eagle: Departmental budgets were set out in the comprehensive spending review (CSR) in October last year. Further information about the Ministry of Justice's financial and value for money plans can be found in the departmental annual report and the forthcoming autumn performance report. In addition to the CSR settlement, a total of £500 million resource and £500 million capital has also been provided over the CSR period to enhance prison capacity, as my right hon. Friend the Secretary of State and Lord Chancellor (Jack Straw) announced on 5 December 2007.

Crime: Drugs

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people were convicted of drugs offences in the East Midlands in each of the last six years. [239083]

Maria Eagle: The number of persons found guilty at all courts for drug offences in the East Midlands region, 2001 to 2006 can be viewed in the table.

These data are on the principal offence basis. The figures given in the table on court proceedings relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offence for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been found guilty of two or more offences, the offence selected is the one for which the heaviest penalty is imposed. Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

Court proceedings data for 2007 will be available at the end of November 2008.

Department for Constitutional Affairs Cemetery and Burials Advisory Group

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice if he will place in the Library copies of the minutes of the meetings of the Department for Constitutional Affairs Cemetery and Burials Advisory Group; and whether the Advisory Group continues to operate in his Department. [230698]

Bridget Prentice: The Burial and Cemeteries Advisory Group, chaired by the Ministry of Justice, was established in 2001 and met most recently on 31 October 2008. Approved copies of the minutes of the meetings are available on request from the Department. I am arranging for copies to be placed in the Library.

Departmental ICT

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what provision will be made for IT expenditure in his Department's financial plan for the 2008-11 Comprehensive Spending Review; and what steps he will take to ensure that such expenditure (a) is necessary and (b) offers good value for money. [231765]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice's financial plan includes provision for IT expenditure of £557 million for 2008-09. This includes the cost of running the live operational services across the Ministry as well as the costs of new IT developments.

Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. These will be subject to a further budget review in December 2008, as part of the Ministry's wider review of all areas of expenditure. Strong governance arrangements are in place within the budget setting process and thereafter, to ensure that expenditure is necessary and offers value for money.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice which postal service provider carried most of the (a) letters and (b) parcels sent by his Department and its predecessor in each of the last three years. [230320]

Mr. Wills: In the past three years, the postal service provider who carried the majority of letters sent by the Ministry of Justice, and formerly the Department for Constitutional Affairs, was the Royal Mail. The postal service provider who carried the majority of parcels sent by the Department was Document Exchange.

Departmental Television

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether the television licence fee in his official ministerial residence is paid for from public funds. [235297]

Mr. Straw: I have no official ministerial residence and therefore no television licence fee is paid for it.

Driving Offences

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) pursuant to the answer of 17 October 2008, Official Report, column 1505W, on justice: driving offences, on how many occasions an individual has been sentenced with a custodial sentence and a driving ban at the same hearing in (a) each of the last 10 years and (b) 2008 to date; [231764]

(2) on how many occasions an individual has been sentenced with a custodial sentence and a driving ban to run concurrently in (a) each of the last 10 years and (b) 2008 to date. [237765]

Maria Eagle: The requested information for years from 1997 to 2006 (latest available) on the number of offences for which persons received both a custodial sentence and a disqualification in each of the last 10 years is contained in the following table. Data for 2007 will become available once 'Criminal Statistics, England and Wales, 2007' has been published on 27 November while data for 2008 will become available a year later.

Number of driving offences attracting a custodial sentence and a disqualification, all courts, England and Wales, 1997 to 2006[1]

| | Number |
|---|---|
| 1997 | 18,436 |
| 1998 | 18,729 |
| 1999 | 18,915 |
| 2000 | 17,924 |
| 2001 | 18,676 |
| 2002 | 19,379 |
| 2003 | 20,181 |
| 2004 | 19,284 |
| 2005 | 16,862 |
| 2006 | 13,868 |

[1] The figures in the table represent a count of offences for which persons received both a custodial sentence and a disqualification.

These figures have been drawn from administrative data systems. Although care is taken when processing and analysing the returns, the detail collected is subject to the inaccuracies inherent in any large scale recording system.

A driving ban starts immediately it is imposed and will, therefore, always run concurrently with a custodial sentence. The Sentencing Guidelines Council guideline on causing death by driving offences says that "When ordering disqualification from driving, the duration of the order should allow for the length of any custodial period in order to ensure that the disqualification has the desired impact".

Driving Offences: Cameras

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice for what percentage of all motoring convictions in England and Wales in each year since 1997 speed cameras have provided evidence. [237933]

Maria Eagle: Available information taken from the Court Proceedings Database, from 1997 to 2006 (latest available) on all motoring and speed limit convictions is provided in the table below. Data for 2007 should be available at the end of November this year.

Volumes of convictions for camera detected speed limit offences cannot be accurately established because in many cases the method of detection is not clear from the court data. We do not know exactly in how many cases it was in fact a camera or a visual detection by a police officer.

[2] It is known that for some police force areas, the reporting of court proceedings in particular those relating to summary motoring offences, may be less than complete.
[3] Volumes of convictions for camera detected speed limit offences cannot be accurately established because in many cases the method of detection is not identified in the court data. We do not know exactly in how many cases it was in fact a camera or a visual detection by a police officer.

Every effort is made to ensure that the figures presented are accurate and complete. However, it is important to note that these data have been extracted from large administrative data systems generated by the courts and police forces. As a consequence, care should be taken to ensure data collection processes and their inevitable limitations are taken into account when these data are used.

Driving Offences: Mobile Phones

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many drivers (a) in total and (b) under the age of 25 years were (i) prosecuted and (ii) given a fixed penalty notice for using a mobile telephone whilst driving in each region of England and Wales in each year since 2003. [237931]

Maria Eagle: Available information on prosecutions within the period 1 December 2003 to end 2006 (latest available) taken from the Court Proceedings Database held by my Department, is provided in table A as follows. Data for 2007 should be available at the end of November this year.

Information provided by the Home Office on fixed penalties issued to drivers of all ages from December 2003 to 2006 (latest available) is provided in table B as follows. Data on the number of drivers aged under 25 years issued with fixed penalties are not available as information on the age of recipients of fixed penalties is not reported to the Home Department.

Electoral Administration in the UK

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether his Department plans to issue a formal response to the Electoral Commission's August 2008 document, Electoral Administration in the UK; and if he will make a statement on its recommendations for regional electoral management boards in England. [238688]

Mr. Wills: We welcome the Electoral Commission's report on 'Electoral Administration in the UK' and are currently considering what form our response should take.

Electoral Register

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether his Department has established a timetable for the introduction of individual electoral registration in Great Britain; and if he will bring forward legislative proposals to introduce one. [238806]

Mr. Wills: The Government agree with the principle of individual electoral registration. Work on how and when individual voter registration could be implemented continues.

In preparing for a move away from the current system of household based registration we need to take steps to ensure that this does not result in disenfranchisement of eligible voters.

Freedom of Information

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether a fees limit applies to requests for information under (a) the Freedom of Information Act and (b) the Environmental Information Regulations. [238814]

Mr. Wills: Under section 16 of the Freedom of Information Act, public authorities have a duty to provide advice and assistance, so far as it would be reasonable to expect the authority to do so, to people who have made or who propose to make requests for information. The Freedom of Information and Data Protection (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations 2004 set out the rules and procedures for charging a fee to respond to a request for information.

The legislation makes no provision for public authorities to charge for providing advice and assistance.

There is no fees limit for requests for information under the environmental information regulations. The regulations stipulate only that a public authority may charge what is, in its view, a reasonable amount (regulation 8 (3)). DEFRA is the Department responsible for these regulations and publishes guidance, including advice on costs and charging, on its website at:

http://www.defra.gov.uk/corporate/opengov/eir/guidance/eir-feeguidance.htm

I am making a copy available to the hon. Member.

Magistrates Courts

Chris Huhne: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many magistrates' courts there were in each of the last 11 years. [239243]

Bridget Prentice: Up until the 1 April 2005 magistrates courts were the responsibility of locally managed Magistrates Courts Committees who were statutorily independent. They were not required by statute to inform the Department of the number of magistrates courts or closures that were not subject to an appeal under section 56(3) of the Justices Peace Act 1997 (now repealed). The following table shows the number of magistrates courts at year end since 2005:

| Year end | Number of magistrates courts |
|---|---|
| 2005 | 365 |
| 2006 | 363 |
| 2007 | 359 |
| At 25 November 2008 | 358 |

National Offender Management Service: Finance

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his estimate is of the change to the budget of the National Offender Management Service Legacy Programme under the Ministry of Justice Financial Plan for the Comprehensive Spending Review for 2008-11. [235913]

Maria Eagle: Under the agreement reached in the last comprehensive spending review the Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

Alongside the work to determine what savings can be achieved by introducing new HQ structures and new ways of working in prisons and probation, the National Offender Management Service will be implementing into prisons a number of projects that have been under development for some time. It is anticipated that these legacy programmes will contribute £22 million savings in 2009-10 and a further £17 million in 2010-11.

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his estimate is of the change to his Department's budget as a result of Prison Service de-layering under his Department's Financial Plan for the Comprehensive Spending Review for 2008 to 2011. [236246]

Maria Eagle: Discussions are currently taking place with all National Offender Management Service trade unions on broad proposals for pay and workforce reform. The financial impact of the overall programme will not be fully known until those negotiations have concluded. However, the Government have already announced that they are willing to invest an extra £50 million in pay for prison staff in 2008-09 to support the implementation of an agreement that would deliver long-term improvements in the efficiency and effectiveness of public sector prisons.

Non-Molestation Orders

Mr. Dodds: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what assessment he has made of the operation of non-molestation orders; [236856]

(2) how many non-molestation orders have been made in each year since their introduction; [236857]

(3) whether he plans to review the way non-molestation orders are processed through the courts; [236858]

(4) whether he plans to review the operation of ex parte applications for non-molestation orders. [236859]

Bridget Prentice: In August 2008 the Ministry published research on the early findings of the impact of the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004. Key findings were:

there had been a positive impact since common assault became an arrestable offence (as are all criminal offences now)—strengthening and clarifying police powers and the positive arrest policy. Early findings indicated an increased use of common assault provisions; the impact of making breach of non-molestation orders a criminal offence was less clear-cut among professionals. Victims and advocates generally welcomed the measure, in the hope that better enforcement and heavier sanctions would result; and it was not possible to conclude that the drop in family court injunctions was wholly as a result of implementation of section 1 of the Act.

Given the relatively short time since the change in the law on 1 July 2007, it is not possible to conclude that the drop in family court injunction applications and orders is a direct result of the change in legislation, or whether it represents a consolidation of previous trends as the number of family court injunction orders (non-molestation and occupation orders) has fallen gradually. It is apparent that there are variations between geographical areas and changes in volumes of non-molestation and occupation orders being made.

The number of applications to the county courts for domestic violence remedies decreased by 7 per cent. in 2007 compared with 2006. Compared with 2003 they have fallen by 19 per cent[1].

The number of non-molestation orders, in full calendar years, made in the County and High Courts since implementation (in October 1997) of the Family Law Act 1996 are as follows:

| | Total |
|---|---|
| Manual data collection | |
| 1998 | 18,614 |
| 1999 | 17,877 |
| 2000 | 18,017 |
| 2001 | 20,789 |
| FamilyMan data collection | |
| 2002 | 24,999 |
| 2003 | 25,428 |
| 2004 | 23,741 |
| 2005 | 22,843 |

| | Total |
|---|---|
| 2006 | 22,038 |
| 2007 | 19,917 |

Note:
Figures for 2002 to 2007 are not comparable to figures for 1998 to 2001 as they are based on different methods of data collection.
Source:
1998 to 2001: Manual returns by county courts. Published in individual editions of Judicial Statistics 1998 to 2001. 2002 to 2007: HMCS FamilyMan system. Published in Judicial and Court Statistics 2006 and 2007.

In the year the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act was passed (2004), the criminal courts dealt with 34,839 cases involving domestic violence[2]. By 2007, this figure rose to 63,819. More victims are choosing to report incidents to the police to take the criminal court route.

Furthermore, the charge to conviction rate in the final quarter of 2007-08 was to 70.7 per cent., exceeding the CPS's April 2008 target of 70 per cent. This is a significant improvement against the background of the 59.7 per cent. conviction rate four years ago. The national average for all domestic violence prosecutions was 72 per cent. in July-September 2008, meeting the 2008-09 target ahead of time.

The key message is that both family and criminal court jurisdictions helped 22,975 more victims in 2007 than in 2004.

The Ministry will continue to monitor the levels of applications and orders for non-molestation orders and is working with the judiciary and stakeholders to improve the family and criminal justice systems response to victims of domestic violence.

While there are no specific plans to review the way non-molestation orders or ex parte applications are processed through the courts, a new Allocation and Transfer of Proceedings Order will come into effect on 25 November 2008. The objective is to ensure that proceedings are heard at the appropriate level of court and that the capacity of magistrates courts is properly utilised. This may mean that more cases under the Family Law Act 1996 will be dealt in the Family Proceedings Courts, as opposed to the county courts.

Offences Against Children: Convictions

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many convictions for child abuse offences were made in the year ending March (a) 2004, (b) 2005, (c) 2006, (d) 2007 and (e) 2008. [237700]

Maria Eagle: The number of defendants convicted at all courts for offences relating to child abuse in England and Wales, 2004 to 2006 can be viewed in the following table.

Child abuse can be covered by a number of offences, including section 5 of the Domestic Violence, Crime and Victims Act 2004 which came into force on 21 March 2005.

These data are on the principal offence basis. The figures given in the table on court proceedings relate to persons for whom these offences were the principal offence for which they were dealt with. When a defendant has been found guilty of two or more offences, the offence selected is the one for which the heaviest penalty is imposed. Where the same disposal is imposed for two or more offences, the offence selected is the offence for which the statutory maximum penalty is the most severe.

Court proceedings data for 2007 will be available at the end of November 2008, and data for 2008 will be available in the autumn of 2009.

Penalty Notices: Drugs

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many penalty notices for disorder have been issued to those with (a) drug and (b) alcohol-related problems since their inception. [234875]

Maria Eagle: PNDs can be issued for alcohol-related offences such as being drunk and disorderly. Data showing the number of PNDs issued for such offences to persons aged 16 and over, in England and Wales, 2004 to 2006, are shown in the following table. PNDs cannot be issued for drug-related offences, so no data exist. The PND scheme was rolled-out to all 43 forces in 2004.

Peterborough Prison

Mr. Stewart Jackson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what proportion of prisoners held at HMP Peterborough are (a) British citizens, (b) EEA citizens and (c) non-EEA citizens; and if he will make a statement. [237950]

Mr. Hanson: Information on the citizenship of individual prisoners is not available, and may not be the same as their nationality.

As at 30 September 2008, 81 per cent. of the prisoners at HMP Peterborough were UK nationals, 6 per cent. were EEA nationals and 10 per cent. were non-EEA nationals. There were a further 3 per cent. whose nationality was not yet recorded. Although nationality may not yet be recorded in certain instances, this is not indicative of where nationality is unknown. Relevant checks with other Government Departments will be conducted as appropriate in order to ascertain further details.

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Powers of Entry: Debt Collection

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 10 March 2008, Official Report, columns 157-58W, on powers of entry: debt collection, what the latest timetable is for (a) further consultation and (b) the implementation of new powers for bailiffs; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the completed scoping exercise. [238696]

Bridget Prentice: Following Royal Assent in July 2007, a scoping exercise which involved a series of meetings with stakeholders to discuss implementation was undertaken. The options for implementing the enforcement provisions within the Act are, at present, being considered and an announcement will be made in the next few months. A statement will be placed in the Library.

Prisoners: Employment

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made of the effects of the Prison Service's ruling that prison inmates may not be employed by outside employers on the situation of prisoners in open prisons who are employed by outside employers while subject to Prison Rules. [239430]

Mr. Hanson: Prisoners who are employed in partnership with private industry or any other third party to carry out work while in prison are not directly employed by the organisations involved. This enables the governor to rightly retain primacy on prison control and prisoner management issues.

Prisoners, who are released on temporary licence to work outside the prison, are also subject to prison rules. The policy remains appropriate.

Prisoners: Females

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) in which prisons were women from Wales held on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004; [237693]

(2) how many women whose homes were in Wales were held in prison on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004. [237694]

Mr. Hanson: The table shows the total number of women prisoners with a home address in Wales held in prison, and the establishments at which they were held for September 2005-08. Information is not available for 1 April each year or for September 2004.

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many women were held in prison in England and Wales on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004. [237695]

Mr. Hanson: The following table gives the number of women prisoners held in all prison establishments in England and Wales as at 31 March each year from 2004 to 2008.

| 2004 | 4,632 |
| 2005 | 4,383 |

Prisoners: Pay

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice whether the Prison Service plans to review its practice of paying prisoners in cash. [237587]

Mr. Hanson: Prisoners are not permitted to hold cash in their possession while in custody. There are no plans to review the policy.

Prisoners: Transport

Mr. Garnier: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) how many times taxis have been used to transport prisoners and young offenders to and from each (a) prison and (b) young offenders institution in each of the last five years; [238452]

(2) what the cost of using taxis to transport prisoners and young offenders to and from each (a) prison and (b) young offender institution was in each of the last five years. [238453]

Mr. Hanson: I refer to my answer of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 754W.

Taxis are rarely used for transporting prisoners to and from court or for inter-prison transfers. On occasions they may be used for emergency transport, including hospital admission where an ambulance is not appropriate.

A risk assessment is conducted to ensure that the use of a taxi is appropriate.

The number of occasions taxis are used, and the cost, is not recorded centrally and could be provided by contacting each prison only at a disproportionate cost.

Prisons: Drugs

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what assessment he has made of the use of mobile telephones to bring drugs into prisons. [238045]

Mr. Hanson: David Blakey CBE QPM DL, a former inspector of constabulary and chief constable of West Mercia was commissioned to review the measures in place to disrupt the supply of drugs into prison. His report was published in July 2008 and the Government are working to implement his recommendations.

Prisons deploy a robust and comprehensive range of security measures to reduce drug supply, including:

passive search dogs, which are available in all prisons, to detect visitors carrying drugs and active search dogs, used to search goods and vehicles. There are 440 search dogs in total;

local searching strategies which comply with the National Security Framework; strict measures to tackle visitors who smuggle or attempt to smuggle drugs, including—on suspicion of smuggling—'closed' visits (i.e. through a glass screen) or visit bans, and arrest and prosecution where there is sufficient evidence; the criminal process is invoked against visitors and prisoners alike wherever sufficient evidence exists of an attempt to supply. A range of internal sanctions exists for prisoners caught using drugs; visitor biometric systems in 34 prisons;

CCTV surveillance in most social visits areas and low-level furniture in social visits areas in all category C prisons and above, to make it more difficult to pass drugs; intelligence systems, including targeted monitoring of telephone traffic through the PIN-phone system; close working with the police to target serious criminals outside prison who are increasingly involved in supply. Each prison has access to a police liaison officer;

Supply Reduction Good Practice Guide used by all prisons to improve performance. Regular review of the poorer performing prisons by the Director of Operations; deployment of technology and strategies to detect and disrupt mobile phones, and analysis of recovered handsets and SIM cards (we believe that the most common criminal use of mobile phones is to arrange the supply of illicit drugs);

a Corruption Prevention Unit, and disciplinary sanctions for positive MDT tests.

Prisons: Elderly

Ms Keeble: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many of those detained in HM prisons were (a) men aged over 65 years and (b) women aged over 60 at the latest date for which figures are available. [239443]

Mr. Hanson: At 30 June 2007, there were 1,978 male and 49 female sentenced prisoners aged 60 and over who were detained in prison establishments in England and Wales. Information is only published for the 60 and over category, as opposed to 65 and over.

These figures are taken from table 7.3 in the Offender Management Caseload Statistics 2007, a copy of which can be found in the House of Commons Library and which can be found at this website:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/prisonandprobation.htm

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Prisons: Employment

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what recent assessment has been made by the Prison Service of the merits of prisoners being constructively employed; [237753]

(2) what plans he has to ensure that prisoners who are serving long sentences are able to engage in productive work; and if he will make a statement. [237755]

Mr. Hanson: The Prison Service understands the benefits in providing productive employment in prisons for prisoners and there is a constant process of developing and improving work for prisoners.

Significant numbers of prisoners are meaningfully employed on a daily basis in a range of activities. This includes essential work producing a variety of goods for internal consumption and providing in-house services such as catering, cleaning and laundries. This activity not only provides constructive employment but also reduces the cost of imprisonment and has an element of restitution. Prisoner employment in prison also acts as an aid to good order and control and aids resettlement through skills and qualifications.

In addition there are a number of employer partnerships with the private sector that not only provide real employment and training but also the possibility of employment on release. The Prison Service is keen to grow these initiatives so that increasing number of prisoners and society can benefit. In addition to those working in individual prisons and probation areas there is also an existing Corporate Alliance with employers from the private, public and third sectors which informs strategy and delivery.

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what research his Department has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on links between the nature of work undertaken by prisoners and (i) employment of prisoners after release and (ii) re-offending rates. [239192]

Mr. Hanson: The Ministry of Justice has commissioned the 'Surveying Prisoner Crime Reduction Survey' which will examine the nature of prisoners' work and training in prison and the associations of this with the take up of employment after release and the nature of such employment. When these data are linked with re-offending data from the Police National Computer it will be possible to examine the statistical associations between prison work/training and re-offending. The post-release employment data will be available in the summer of 2009 while the re-offending data will be available in 2010.

In respect of previous findings, a review by the then Department for Education and Skills[1] concluded that prison-based employment interventions were effective in helping offenders gain and retain employment.

There is recognition of the role of employment agencies and employers in helping to secure employment for ex-prisoners in England and Wales. The emerging evidence on basic skills training in prison suggests that these courses can improve prisoners' skills[2].

In terms of international evidence, a United States study examined evaluations of programmes that attempt to augment the educational, vocational, and job skills of adult offenders in both prison and community settings and found that on average, these programmes do reduce re-offending[3]. Another study evaluated the impact of prison work and vocational and apprenticeship training on post-prison rates of employment and offending among a study group and a comparison sample matched on a range of factors predictive of participation in the scheme and other demographic and background variables. The study group was 35 per cent. less likely to breach the terms of their supervision or be re-arrested during the first 12 months following release. The study group was also 14 per cent. more likely to be employed[4].

Prisons: Per Capita Costs

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his latest assessment is of the cost of keeping an adult male in prison for 10 years. [237754]

Mr. Hanson: The overall average resource cost per prisoner in England and Wales in 2007-08 was £39,000 (rounded to nearest £500); for 10 years this would equate to £390,000. A separate figure for adults is not available. This excludes prisoners held in police and court cells under Operation Safeguard. The figure includes some estimation and is given to the nearest £500. Expenditure met by other Government Departments (eg for health and education) is not included. The prisoner escort service is included.

Prisons: Transport for London

Mr. Heath: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many prisoners in England and Wales are undertaking work for Transport for London. [237588]

Mr. Malik: There are currently no prisoners in England and Wales undertaking work for Transport for London.

Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. As is the case across Government, the National Probation Service will need to make efficiency savings, in this case around 2.5 per cent. next financial year.

The National Offender Management Service is working to determine how the saving can be achieved in ways that protect front line services. The aim is to remove overhead and administration and drive improvement in underperforming or expensive services.

Ultimately, the size and scope of any staffing reductions will rest with the 42 areas and trusts who manage probation business at the local level.

Probation: Norfolk

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what the (a) flat cash grant allocation and (b) forecast shortfall is for the Norfolk Probation Area in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12; [237774]

(2) what estimated share of Probation Service national savings the Norfolk probation area is expected to achieve in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [237775]

(3) what estimate he has made of the number of staff employed by his Department who will leave through (a) natural wastage, (b) retirement and (c) redundancy in the Norfolk probation area during (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12. [237776]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. As is the case across Government, the National Probation Service will need to make efficiency savings, in this case around 2.5 per cent. next financial year.

The National Offender Management Service is working to determine how the saving can be achieved in ways that protect front line services. The aim is to remove overhead and administration and drive improvement in underperforming or expensive services.

Ultimately, the size and scope of any staffing reductions will rest with the 42 areas and trusts who manage probation business at the local level.

Probation: North Wales

Mr. Llwyd: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what the flat cash grant allocation is for the North Wales Probation Area for (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [238446]

(2) what estimate he has made of the number of probation service staff expected to leave the Dyfed Powys Probation Area as a result of (a) natural wastage, (b) retirement and (c) redundancy in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12; [238447]

(3) what the flat cash grant allocation for the Dyfed Powys Probation Area is for (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [238448]

(4) what estimate he has made of the number of Probation Service staff expected to leave the North Wales Probation Area as a result of (a) natural wastage, (b) retirement and (c) redundancy in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12. [238468]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

Probation: South Wales

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what estimate he has made of the number of Probation Service staff expected to leave the South Wales Probation Area as a result of (a) natural wastage, (b) retirement and (c) redundancy in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12; [238483]

(2) what estimate he has made of the share of National Probation Service savings which will be achieved by South Wales probation area in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [238498]

(3) what the flat cash grant allocation for the South Wales probation area is for (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12. [238499]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. As is the case across Government, the National Probation Service will need to make efficiency savings, in this case around 2.5 per cent. next financial year.

Probation: Thames Valley

Mrs. Gillan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice (1) what the (a) flat cash allocation and (b) forecast shortfall is for the Thames Valley probation area in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12; [237772]

(2) what estimated share of Probation Service national savings the Thames Valley probation area is expected to achieve in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [237773]

(3) what estimate he has made of the number of people employed by his Department who will leave the Thames Valley probation area in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12 through (i) retirement, (ii) redundancy and (iii) natural wastage; [237777]

(5) what estimate he has made of the number of Probation Service staff expected to leave the Wales Probation areas as a result of (a) retirement, (b) redundancy and (c) natural wastage in (i) 2009-10, (ii) 2010-11 and (iii) 2011-12; [238469]

(6) what the flat cash allocation is for each of the Wales Probation Areas in (a) 2009-10, (b) 2010-11 and (c) 2011-12; [238470]

Maria Eagle: The Ministry of Justice is seeking efficiency savings over the next three years as set out in the Department's annual report for 2007-08.

Funding plans for 2009-10 and 2010-11 have not yet been agreed. As is the case across Government, the National Probation Service will need to make efficiency savings, in this case around 2.5 per cent. next financial year.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many staff in his Department left under (a) involuntary and (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in each year since 2005-06; how many of them in each case were paid (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000 in the year before they left; and how much (A) was spent in each of those years and (B) is planned to be spent on such schemes in (1) 2008-09 and (2) 2009-10 by (Y) his Department and its predecessor (Z) each of his Department's agencies; [237347]

(2) how many of his Department's staff who left under (a) an involuntary and (b) a voluntary exit scheme in each year since 2005-06 received a severance package of (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000; and if he will make a statement. [239150]

Maria Eagle: There have been no compulsory redundancies since the creation of the MoJ in May 2007. Data on the number and costs for voluntary staff exits are not held centrally in the format requested and can be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Looking forward, it has been clear since the publication of MoJ's CSR07 settlement that the Department and its constituent bodies would have to reduce previously planned budgets. The MoJ will be taking all necessary steps to reduce overheads, remove duplication and increase efficiencies in order to prioritise front line services.

The efficiency savings plan for MoJ for 2008-09 is underway. We are developing over the next few months the performance and efficiency plan for MoJ and its constituent bodies to cover 2009-10 and 2010-11. When that plan is agreed for 2009-10 and 2010-11, we will be in a position to inform Parliament of the impact on MoJ.

Repossession Orders: Mortgages

Mrs. Villiers: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what his most recent estimate is of the number of home repossessions in Chipping Barnet constituency in the latest period for which figures are available. [237918]

Bridget Prentice: There were 184 mortgage possession orders made and 325 landlord possession orders made at Barnet county court in the third quarter of 2008.

The civil procedure rules state that all claims for the repossession of land must be commenced in the district in which the land is situated. However, county courts jurisdictions are not coterminous with borough or constituency boundaries. Therefore the above figures are likely to count possession orders relating to properties in a number of other constituencies besides Chipping Barnet.

These figures do not indicate how many homes have actually been repossessed. Repossessions can occur without a court order being made while not all court orders result in repossession. Figures showing the number of repossessions of mortgaged homes are published separately by the Council of Mortgage Lenders and the Financial Services Authority. However, these are not available at regional or constituency level.

Secure Training Centres

Ms Keeble: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many people have been detained in secure training centres in the last 12 months. [239441]

Mr. Hanson: Between 1 November 2007 and 31 October 2008, in 318 cases where a young person was remanded to the care of a local authority with a secure requirement, he or she was accommodated (with the Secretary of State's consent, under section 23 (7A) of the Children and Young Persons Act 1969) in a secure training centre. During the same period, in 671 cases where a young person received a custodial sentence, he or she was accommodated in a secure training centre. These figures, which have been supplied by the Youth Justice Board, count separately any instance where a young person was accommodated in a secure training centre on more than one occasion.

Sentencing

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average length of (a) custodial sentence handed down by magistrates' courts and (b) sentence served in prison is by persons sentenced by magistrates' courts in each of the last three years. [238264]

Maria Eagle: The average custodial sentence length handed down by magistrates courts has been three months in each of the last three years (2004-06) for which annually published statistics are available. Data for 2007 will become available once "Sentencing Statistics, England and Wales, 2007" has been published on 27 November.

All offenders sentenced to less than 12 months are released automatically half way through their sentence. They may also be eligible for earlier release on end of custody licence or home detention curfew. In addition, foreign national prisoners who are to be deported at the end of sentence may be liable for earlier removal under the Early Removal Scheme.

Adults are not subject to supervision following release, but young offenders are subject to a minimum of three months supervision. All are 'at risk' until the very end of their sentence; that is, if they commit a further imprisonable offence before the end of their original sentence, the court dealing with the new offence may add all or part of the outstanding sentence to any new sentence it imposes.

The following table shows the proportion of sentence served in custody by prisoners discharged from sentences of six months or less. The average sentence length for young offenders is longer than for adult offenders, reflecting the fact that DTO sentences (which apply to juveniles) have a minimum sentence length of four months. The figures include those sentenced in the Crown Court; it is not possible to separately provide the information for those sentenced by magistrates courts. This information was published in tables 9.1 and 9.2 of Offender Management Caseload Statistics 2007, a copy of which is available via the Library of the House, and on the Ministry of Justice website at http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/prisonandprobation.htm.

Average time served in prison by prisoners discharged from sentences of six months or less on completion of sentence or on licence[1,2]

| | Adults | | | Young offenders | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 |
| Number of discharges[3,4] | 36,600 | 34,100 | 32,500 | 7,800 | 7,500 | 7,800 |
| Average sentence length in months[5] | 3 | 3 | 3 | 4 | 4 | 4 |
| Average time served including remand in months[5] | 2 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 2 | 2 |
| Percentage of time served including remand[5] | 47 | 48 | 48 | 52 | 53 | 53 |

[1] Methodology has been revised. Totals may not match previously published data.
[2] On discharge: the sentence may change after reception if there are further charges or an appeal.
[3] Excludes discharges following recall after release on licence, non-criminals, persons committed to custody for non-payment of a fine, persons reclassified as adult prisoners and deported prisoners.
[4] Rounded to the nearest 100. Due to rounding sub totals may not match grand totals.
[5] Rounded to nearest whole number.

Mr. Burrowes: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what the average age of persons sentenced to custodial sentences was in each of the last 10 years. [238861]

Maria Eagle: All adult offenders where the age has not been reported to the Ministry of Justice are assumed to be age 25. This will create a bias in the calculation of average age and therefore we do not produce figures on this basis.

Unpaid Fines: Sentencing

Julie Morgan: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice how many of the prison population in England and Wales were in prison for non-payment of fines on 1 April (a) 2008, (b) 2007, (c) 2006, (d) 2005 and (e) 2004. [237689]

Mr. Hanson: The following table gives the number of fine defaulters held in all prison establishments in England and Wales at 31 March in each year from 2004 to 2008.

| | All fine defaulters |
|---|---|
| 2004 | 75 |
| 2005 | 52 |
| 2006 | 102 |
| 2007 | 83 |
| 2008 | 68 |

This information is available at the Ministry of Justice website at the following address:

http://www.justice.gov.uk/publications/statistics.htm

These figures have been drawn from administrative IT systems, which, as with any large scale recording system, are subject to possible errors with data entry and processing.

Valuation Office: Land Registry

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 10 September 2008, Official Report, column 1985W, on Valuation Office: Land Registry, when the agency became a registered user of the Land Registry Direct Service. [238699]

Mr. Wills: The Valuation Office Agency have set up a number of accounts with Land Registry Direct for their different offices across England and Wales. Their first account was set up in February 2007.

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice pursuant to the answer of 10 September 2008, Official Report, column 1985W, on Valuation Office: Land Registry, what (a) property information and (b) individual property attributes the Valuation Office Agency has access to as a consequence of its membership of the Land Registry Direct Service. [238700]

Mr. Wills: The Valuation Office Agency will be able to obtain the same information as any other users of Land Registry's services, whether they are in the public or private sector. As users of Land Registry Direct, the Valuation Office Agency will have access to our register. The Land Register has been available for public inspection since December 1990 and official copies of registers, title plans and deeds and most documents referred to on the register can be obtained by post or electronically. The information included on a register is:

title number of property or land;
the tenure (freehold or leasehold);
the price paid (where available);
the name of the registered proprietor(s);
lease details (deed date, term, rent);
property address, including town name;
property description (detached, flat etc.); and local authority name.

There are over 21 million titles registered with Land Registry covering England and Wales.

Youth Offending Teams: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Justice what national performance targets have been set for youth offending teams; and what the performance of Torbay youth offending team was against those targets in 2007-08. [237937]

Mr. Hanson: I refer the hon. Member to my answer of 20 October 2008, Official Report, column 53W, which shows the national performance targets and Torbay youth offending team's performance for 2007-08. It also shows the national performance targets and Torbay youth offending team's performance in 2003-04, 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07.

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Afghanistan: Asylum

Mr. Gray: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what discussions he has had with the Government of Pakistan on the Afghan refugees now living in Pakistan; and if he will make a statement. [237284]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The UK Government have regular discussions with the Government of Pakistan on the issue of Afghan refugees. The Department for International Development (DFID) is involved in this process.

Afghanistan: Overseas Aid

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development (1) how the continuing effectiveness of development projects completed in (a) Afghanistan and (b) Iraq in each of the last five years is assessed; [237274]

(2) how many development projects completed in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan in each of the last five years are still operational. [237275]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The need to ensure our projects deliver lasting benefits is central to the design of all projects, including in Iraq and Afghanistan. Particular attention is given in project design to ensure that our partner organisations (in particular governments) have the resources (money and capacities) to continue to provide the benefits the project was designed to deliver. Project implementation progress is closely monitored through formal annual reviews—and once complete, a thorough Project Completion Report (PCR) is undertaken to assess future impact and lessons learned. Thereafter, ongoing operation of completed individual projects lies with the recipient partner. To the extent of our knowledge, all the completed projects in both Iraq and Afghanistan are still delivering the expected benefits.

In addition, DFID's Evaluation Department manage a series of independent country evaluations which build on all PCRs and further reviews to provide further assessment of the impact of programmes. These evaluations are mandatory for all countries where DFID has major involvement and are timed to fit into the country planning cycle so that lessons learned are incorporated into future interventions. An evaluation of the Afghanistan country programme is currently ongoing.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what restrictions staff of his Department deployed under Foreign and Commonwealth Office deployment rules in Afghanistan have had placed upon them. [237277]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Department for International Development (DFID) does not comment on specific issues of staff security overseas.

Afghanistan: Reconstruction

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what stabilisation advisers' posts there are in Afghanistan; and to whom the post holders are responsible. [237278]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: There are currently seven Stabilisation Officer posts in Helmand: two in Musa Qala; two in Sangin; one in Gereshk, and; two in Garmsir. All Stabilisation Officers report within the reporting structure of the Helmand Civil Military Mission—to the Deputy Head (Delivery). In addition, a Stabilisation Adviser in Kandahar provides advice to the International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) Regional Command (South).

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisers

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development how many full-time equivalent staff in his Department assist special advisers; and what the cost of employing such staff was in each of the last three years. [237504]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: One civil servant supports the special advisers in my office, providing administrative support of a non-political nature in accordance with the "Code of Conduct for Special Advisers".

Individual civil servants' salary details are not disclosed in order to protect the privacy of the individual concerned. Costs will be accounted for in the Department's annual resource accounts.

Human Rights: Women

John Bercow: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what progress has been made in implementing the UK's National Action Plan on UN Security Council Resolution 1325. [231786]

Bill Rammell: I have been asked to reply.

The UK National Action Plan is a policy framework against which the UK monitors progress on the implementation of UN Security Council Resolution 1325. Detailed updates on progress against the plan are published periodically on the Foreign and Commonwealth Office website at http://www.fco.gov.uk/resources/en/pdf/unscr-1325-uk-action-plan.

Recent progress includes the adoption of UN Security Council Resolution 1820 in June this year, focussing on longer-term measures to tackle sexual violence in conflict, and a Security Council Open Debate on 'Women, Peace and Security' which reiterated the need to strengthen the participation of women in conflict prevention, conflict resolution and peacebuilding. The UK played a major role in this debate and drafted a presidential statement that was adopted by the Council on 29 October. This called on the Secretary-General to appoint more women to senior operational UN positions and to provide the Security Council with a report and recommendations on this issue. By working closely with the UN's Department of Peacekeeping Operations (DPKO), the UK is also making good progress on its aim to ensure that planning for Peace Support Operations includes gender components, and that they recruit more female military and police personnel.

Redundancy

Justine Greening: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development (1) how many staff in his Department left under (a) involuntary and (b) voluntary staff exit schemes in each year since 2005-06; how many of them in each case were paid (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000 in the year before they left; and how much (A) was spent in each of those years and (B) is planned to be spent on such schemes in (1) 2008-09 and (2) 2009-10 by his Department; [237346]

(2) how many of his Department's staff who left under (a) an involuntary and (b) a voluntary exit scheme in each year since 2005-06 received a severance package of (i) up to £25,000, (ii) £25,001 to £50,000, (iii) £50,001 to £75,000, (iv) £75,001 to £100,000 and (v) over £100,000; and if he will make a statement. [237350]

Mr. Ivan Lewis: DFID had no compulsory redundancies in 2005-06 or since.

The following table shows the number of staff whose voluntary departure was approved by DFID under early retirement or early severance schemes in each year:

| | Up to £25,000 | £25,001 to £50,000 | £50,001 to £75,000 | £75,001 to £100,000 | Over £100,000 | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 38 | 9 | 9 | 2 | 0 | 58 |
| 2006-07 | 19 | 14 | 3 | 0 | 0 | 36 |
| 2007-08 | 35 | 26 | 12 | 3 | 0 | 76 |

[1] One member of staff was on a career break, so no salary was paid to the year before departure

[2] Three staff were on career breaks, so no salary was paid to them in the year before departure

Compensation for early departure is paid from the Civil Service Compensation Scheme. DFID meets the cost of early departures, including the cost of lump sum severance payments and the additional cost of any benefits beyond the normal Civil Service Pension Scheme benefits in respect of those employees who retire early.

The following table shows the total cost of early departure made by DFID in each year since 2005-06, which in some cases is spread over a number of years until the individual attains pension age but is recorded against the year in which departure was first agreed. It would incur disproportionate cost to provide the costs incurred in each year for each departure.

| | £000 |
|---|---|
| 2005-06 | 2,630 |
| 2006-07 | 3,220 |
| 2007-08 | 7,300 |

To date, four early departure provisions have been made in 2008-09 at a total cost of £256,950. There are no current plans for any further early departures in 2008-09 or 2009-10.

Stabilisation Unit

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the Stabilisation Unit's performance against its aim of improving its understanding of the tasks involved in a stabilisation effort in (a) Afghanistan and (b) Iraq. [237271]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Stabilisation Unit seeks continually to learn lessons from the UK's experience in Afghanistan and Iraq, as well as from other partners and theatres. Its understanding of stabilisation is summarised in two documents. In June 2008, the Stabilisation Unit produced its "Stabilisation Task Matrix", which describes a menu of tasks which might be required to achieve stability and suggests who would need to take lead responsibility (the military, the police or civilians) for each task in "non-permissive" and "permissive" environments. The primary purpose of the Matrix is to enable the UK to further develop its capability to meet future challenges. The Matrix will be reviewed by spring 2009. Later this month, the Stabilisation Unit will also publish the "UK Approach to Stabilisation", which will describe emerging UK experience and best practice.

Both documents will be available on the Stabilisation Unit's web-site:

www.stabilisationunit.gov.uk.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the Stabilisation Unit's performance against its aim of improving capacity to finance stabilisation activities to achieve desired effects in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [237272]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The UK Government have increased the funding available for stabilisation activities, and have put in place a better mechanism for managing these funds.

In April 2008, the UK Government established the Stabilisation Aid Fund (SAF) as a shared budget to support stabilisation activities. The SAF has improved the effectiveness of UK stabilisation operations by requiring and enabling a more integrated approach to their development, management and delivery.

I refer the hon. Member to my answer given on 5 March 2008, Official Report, column 2578W, to the hon. Member for Newark (Patrick Mercer), regarding the role of the Stabilisation Unit in respect of the Stabilisation Aid Fund.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what assessment he has made of the Stabilisation Unit's performance against its aim of getting SMARTer at delivering key enablers in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [237273]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The UK Government have made significant progress in the past year, to ensure that key enablers (transport, accommodation, communications, and close protection) are in place in Afghanistan and Iraq.

In Afghanistan, the UK Government have leased a Beechcraft to provide a 'shuttle run' between Kabul and Lashkar Gah and to increase our reach elsewhere in the country. We expect to increase this capability in this next year. Access to rotary assets has improved but remains perhaps the greatest constraint on civilian movement. There are now sufficient vehicles in theatre (or on order) to meet the requirement. The construction of permanent office and personal accommodation for civilian teams in Sangin, Musa Qala, Gereshk and Garmsir has enabled the UK Government to dramatically improve their engagement with communities to deliver the UK strategy in Helmand.

A visit by FCO Operations Group to Afghanistan this month will assess future requirements, across platform and transport.

Our engagement in Iraq is more established, and we have the assets in place to fulfil our mission.

The Stabilisation Unit maintains a rapidly-deployable expeditionary capability including armoured vehicles, deployable accommodation, and communications. We will be reviewing this capability early next year to identify any possible enhancements required.

Mr. Lancaster: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development by what means the Stabilisation Unit develops and maintains operating capacity in support of stabilisation operations in (a) Iraq and (b) Afghanistan. [237276]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The Stabilisation Unit primarily delivers through the civilian experts it deploys. It is taking a number of steps to improve its ability to provide high quality experts on as sustainable basis, to Afghanistan, Iraq and other theatres. There are two principal initiatives.

First, in August it started a nine month process to improve the quality of its database of civilian experts by turning it from a list of 900 people where most experts have only been subject to a basic paper sift to one where all experts will have been assessed face-to-face against professional and behavioural requirements. This greater understanding will enable the Unit to improve its ability to respond to demands for experts.

Second, civilian experts need to be properly prepared to work and live in what can be professionally challenging and austere conditions. The unit is improving its existing training prior to their deployment. By December the unit will complete the design of a more extensive structured, tailored development programme for deploying experts to Afghanistan with implementation on a pilot basis starting in January 2009.

Zimbabwe: International Assistance

Mr. Hague: To ask the Secretary of State for International Development what steps his Department proposes should be taken to address the shortfalls in funding for the World Food Programme's operations in Zimbabwe; and what assessment has been made of the effects of those shortfalls on the provision of humanitarian aid in the country. [237246]

Mr. Douglas Alexander: The UK Government have contributed £9 million to the World Food Programme (WFP) appeal for Zimbabwe this year, making it the second largest donor to this appeal so far. We are encouraging other donors who have not yet done so to make a contribution. We are also working with WFP on the ground to review ways of ensuring that the current supply of food aid is used to maximum effect. Donor contributions so far have ensured that WFP operations are fully funded until January 2009.

A national nutritional survey, conducted by the UN, is almost complete. As soon as the data are available, we will be able to assess with more confidence the effects of current food shortages and the case for a further contribution. We will also be weighing the need for further food aid against other life-saving humanitarian priorities.

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the budget was for the recent repairs to 11 Downing Street; whether planning permission was required; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the schedule of the works (a) undertaken to date and (b) planned. [233393]

Angela Eagle: The Treasury pays a contribution to the Cabinet Office for the rent and service charge of the space used by HM Treasury and by the Chancellor of the Exchequer within the Downing Street estate. [233907]

Ian Pearson: On 16 July 2008, the OFT published the results of its market study into personal current accounts, which considered customers who exceeded arranged overdraft limits and had insufficient funds to meet cheque and direct debit payments. The OFT's report is available at:

http://www.oft.gov.uk/advice_and_resources/resource_base/marketstudies/current/personal/pca/

[235859]

Mr. Timms: The guidance provided to Valuation Office Agency Staff known as 'MAT2 Case Worker Application—User Guide' will be placed in the Library. Any commercially sensitive or confidential information has been redacted.

Mr. Evans: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much his Department spent on advertising in each of the last five years. [227604]

Mr. Prisk: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how much (a) his Department and (b) its executive agencies spent on (i) recruitment consultants and (ii) external recruitment advertising to recruit staff in each of the last five financial years; which recruitment consultants were employed for those purposes in each of those years; and if he will make a statement. Information on recruitment consultants used in the last five years could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Angela Eagle: It does.

Departmental Retirement

Mr. Marsden: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many employees of his Department have been asked to retire on reaching 65 in each year since 2000. [218405]

Angela Eagle: The mandatory retirement age in the Treasury is 65. Before the change in legislation in October 2006 the mandatory retirement age was 60. No employees of HM Treasury have been asked to retire on reaching 65 in any year since 2000.

Departmental Surveillance

James Duddridge: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many applications (a) his Department and (b) its agencies have made under the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 to (i) undertake directed surveillance, (ii) use covert human intelligence sources, (iii) acquire communications data and (iv) undertake intrusive surveillance in the last 24 months. [221998]

Angela Eagle: Figures on public authority use of covert techniques controlled by the Regulation of Investigatory Powers Act 2000 ('RIPA') are published annually by the Interception of Communications Commissioner, the Chief Surveillance Commissioner and the Intelligence Services Commissioner who each have particular inspection and oversight responsibilities under RIPA. The latest reports were laid before Parliament and copies placed in the House Library on 22 July. The figures provided in the reports are not broken down by individual public authority use of specific covert technique as, depending on the particular technique and authority using it, this could either reveal sensitivities or be misleading. The question of further disclosure for any particular public authority is a matter for the relevant Commissioner.

Economic and Monetary Union

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer when he next plans to assess the UK's progress in meeting the five economic tests in joining the euro. [238332]

Ian Pearson: The Chancellor announced in Budget 2008 that

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what recent discussions he has held with his counterparts in the eurozone on membership of the single currency. [239557]

Ian Pearson: Treasury Ministers discuss a wide range of issues with their counterparts in other countries, including the eurozone. The Government's policy on membership of the single currency in unchanged. It remains as set out by the Chancellor in his statement to the House of Commons in October 1997, and again in the Chancellor's statement on the five tests assessment in June 2003.

Economic Situation: Hungary

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he made of the effect of the financial crisis in Hungary and Belarus on the UK economy. [238331]

Energy: Prices

Jim Cousins: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he will publish an index of domestic energy prices (a) in total and (b) separately for (i) gas and (ii) electricity for each year since 1998. [234196]

Energy prices are included in the Consumer Prices Index (CPI) and are collected each month by the Office for National Statistics (ONS). The above indices are published monthly, and attached is a spreadsheet containing the annual data for each since 1998.

(2) pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Tunbridge Wells of 30 April 2008, column 476W, on the Financial Services Compensation Scheme: Lansons Public Affairs, if he will place in the Library a copy of the reply from the Chairman. [237723]

Ian Pearson [holding answer 20 November 2008]: Treasury Ministers were not a party to the correspondence and are therefore not in a position to deposit the letter concerned in the Library.

Financial Services Compensation Scheme

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what assessment he has made of the effect of the financial services compensation scheme levies on the building society sector. [236158]

Ian Pearson: The rules under which the Financial Services Compensation Scheme (FSCS) raises levies from financial services firms are set by the Financial Services Authority (FSA) as set out in the FSA Handbook on its website. The accounts of the scheme and information about levies are set out in the FSCS's annual report and on its website.

Building societies are members of the FSCS and their depositors benefit from the cover provided by the FSCS in the same way as bank depositors.

Housing: Valuation

Grant Shapps: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Bromley and Chislehurst of 6 November 2008, Official Report, column 682W, on housing: valuation, if he will place in the Library a list of locality reference numbers for valuation areas in England outside London ranked in order of value significance by valuation area. [236037]

Mr. Timms: This information is not readily available and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Income Tax: Tax Rates and Bands

Jo Swinson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many people have been in the (a) lowest and (b) highest income tax band in each of the last 10 years. [239262]

Mr. Timms: Information on the number of taxpayers by marginal rate of income tax for the period 1990-91 to 2008-09 can be found in Table 2.1 "Number of individual income taxpayers" on the HM Revenue and Customs website at:

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/stats/income_tax/incnsu.htm

Inflation

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what steps the Government has taken to address the problems associated with rising inflation. [221328]

Angela Eagle: In common with experience across the world, UK inflation increased during 2008 as the surge in global commodity prices fed through to retail prices of food, petrol and diesel, and household energy bills. In the UK, CPI inflation increased from 2.2 per cent. in December 2007 to a peak of 5.2 per cent. by September 2008 before falling back to 4.5 per cent. in October.

With global commodity prices having fallen sharply since the summer, petrol and diesel prices have already declined by 12 per cent. and food price inflation appears to have passed its peak. In line with external forecasts, CPI inflation is expected to fall sharply over the coming year.

The Government have shown its continued determination to help families and businesses affected by higher global prices, with targeted support when people need it most.

Kaupthing Singer and Friedland: Isle of Man

Mr. Binley: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what his policy is on guaranteeing investments in Kaupthing, Singer and Friedland held in the Isle of Man by individuals who are treated as corporate clients. [230980]

Ian Pearson: [holding answer 27 October 2008]: I refer the hon. Gentleman to the answer I gave the hon. Member for New Forest, West (Mr. Swayne) on 5 November 2008, Official Report, column 539W.

Northern Rock

Adam Price: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what consideration he has given to designating Northern Rock a public authority for the purposes of the Welsh Language Act 1993. [234326]

Ian Pearson: There has been no such consideration. As the Chief Secretary to the Treasury explained to the House on 21 February 2008, Official Report, columns 634-37, Northern Rock is not performing a function of public administration. During its period of temporary public ownership Northern Rock is being managed at arm's length from the Government on commercial principles.

Pensioners: Income

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what the income decile boundaries are (a) excluding state pension and benefits and (b) including state pension and benefits for people (i) between 60 and 65, (ii) between 65 and 70, (iii) between 70 and 75, (iv) between 75 and 80 and (v) over 80 years. [211774]

Ms Rosie Winterton: I have been asked to reply.

This information is given in the following tables.

The Households Below Average Income publication uses equivalised household disposable incomes before and after housing costs as a proxy for material living standards. Both before and after housing cost incomes are net of income tax, national insurance contributions, council tax/domestic rates, pension contributions, maintenance/child support payments and parental contributions to students.

Negative before housing costs incomes are possible if a loss is made from self-employment, however any such incomes are set to zero as part of the Households Below Average Income methodology. This means that all before housing costs income are zero or greater. After housing cost incomes can be negative if housing costs exceed the before housing cost incomes. All incomes excluding benefit income can be negative, as no further adjustment beyond removing benefit income is made.

Benefits (particularly state pension, pension credit and disability benefits) are key elements of pensioner incomes. Incomes excluding such benefits are based mainly on earnings, investment income, self-employed earnings, private pension and other miscellaneous sources, will frequently be very small or negative, and will therefore not reflect the standard of living for a household.

Distributions by equivalised income decile below are based on a three-year average to help take account of small sample sizes in certain deciles and statistical variation across the years. Decile boundaries are presented in 2006-07 prices.

Notes:

1. These statistics are based on Households Below Average Income data.
2. The reference period for household below average income figures is single financial years. Distributions by equivalised income decile are based on a three-year average to help take account of small sample sizes in certain deciles and statistical variation across the years. Decile boundaries are presented in 2006-07 prices.
3. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication "Households Below Average Income" (HBAI) series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted (or 'equivalised') for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.
4. The figures are based on OECD equivalisation factors.
5. Figures have been presented on both a before housing cost and after housing cost basis. For before housing cost, housing costs (such as rent, water rates, mortgage interest payments, structural insurance payments and ground rent and service charges) are not deducted from income, while for after housing cost they are.
6. This response includes incomes for the lowest deciles of the population. These figures are not National Statistics and caution must be applied because those people stating the lowest incomes in the FRS may not actually have the lowest living standards.
7. Weekly incomes have been rounded to the nearest whole pound.
8. Small changes should be treated with caution as these will be affected by sampling error and variability in non-response.

Private Equity: Taxation

Paul Farrelly: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what taxation is applied by HM Revenue and Customs to profits on carried interests of individuals working in the private equity industry. [238567]

Mr. Timms: There is no specific tax treatment that applies to individuals working in private equity firms. The tax treatment of carried interest is prescribed by legislation on employment-related securities and applies to all individuals in receipt of these, not just to individuals working in the private equity industry.

Public Expenditure

Mr. Drew: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what evaluation he has made of the effect on local economies of increases in public spending. [238480]

Angela Eagle: HM Treasury has not undertaken work to evaluate the effects of public spending at a local level. This is because total public spending data are not disaggregated to a local level.

Racial Harassment

David Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many complaints of racial abuse relating to staff for which his Department is responsible have been (a) investigated and (b) upheld in the last 12 months. [236907]

Angela Eagle: The procedures for investigating complaints of racial abuse have been initiated less than five times in the last 12 months. I am not able to give the precise numbers on the grounds of confidentiality.

Revenue and Customs: Manpower

Mr. Laws: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many (a) Civil Service staff and (b) senior Civil Service staff were employed by HM Revenue and Customs when it was formed in 2005. [238725]

Mr. Timms: The first staff in post figures for the merged Department were produced on 30 April 2005. HMRC was formed on 18 April 2005.

The total civil service staff in post for HM Revenue and Customs (including the senior civil service at that point was 104,696 headcount (97,046 full-time equivalent.)

The number of senior civil service staff in post at that point was 407 headcount (401 FTE.)

Mr. Laws: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer how many (a) Civil Service staff and (b) senior Civil Service staff were employed by HM Revenue and Customs on 31st October 2008. [238726]

Mr. Timms: At 31 October 2008 the HM Revenue and Customs staff in post figures were:

Civil service staff (including the SCS) numbered 88,295 headcount (81,055 full-time equivalent); and Senior civil staff numbered 413 headcount.

Tax Avoidance

Paul Farrelly: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what estimate he has made of the cost to the public purse of (a) tax avoidance schemes and (b) tax avoided by individuals (i) artificially converting income into capital gains and (ii) taking bonuses not in cash but in instruments subject to capital gains tax when sold over the period 1997-98 to 2007-08. [238566]

Mr. Timms: The only estimates the Government have made of the cost to the public purse of direct tax avoidance schemes during the period since 1997-98 are contained in a paper published in March 2008 that set out analysis from 2005 that attempted to derive broad-brush estimates of the direct tax gap at the start of the current decade. The HMRC paper 'Measuring the "tax gap"—an update'

http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/research/measuring-tax-gap.pdf

summarises that analysis.

Tax Avoidance: Research

Paul Farrelly: To ask the Chancellor of the Exchequer what research his Department has commissioned since 1997-98 on the potential cost to the public purse of (a) tax avoidance schemes and (b) tax avoided by individuals (i) artificially converting income into capital gains and (ii) taking bonuses not in cash but in instruments subject to capital gains tax; what the conclusions were of such research; and if he will make a statement. [238756]

Mr. Timms: Neither HM Treasury nor HMRC have commissioned any such research.

Video Games

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Culture, Media and Sport what recent (a) discussions he has had with and (b) representations he has received from representatives of the computer gaming industry on (i) skills shortages and (ii) levels of taxation in the industry. [238266]

Barbara Follett: My predecessor and I have received a number of representations from, and held regular meetings with, representatives of the computer gaming industry about a range of issues, including skills requirements and taxation issues. For example, discussions were held in July and November with the Entertainment and Leisure Software Publishers Association (ELSPA) and the right hon. Member for Barking (Margaret Hodge) addressed these issues at a Westminster Media Forum event in July.

DUCHY OF LANCASTER

Census

Mr. Gordon Prentice: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the cost of the 2001 census was; and what estimate he has made of the cost of the forthcoming census. [236309]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated 6 November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what the cost of the 2001 Census was; and what estimate has been made of the cost of the forthcoming Census. (236309)

The published figure of £207 million for the 2001 Census covered the base cost. When certain support activities funded by ONS including funding for the dissemination of outputs, initial local authority follow-up studies and the ongoing census support such as customer services are added, the overall cost of the 2001 Census in England and Wales equates to £214 million.

On the basis of present planning assumptions, the estimates of the cost of the 2011 Census in England and Wales over the period 2005-2016 is £482 million. Provision for the later years from 2012/13 will be subject to future spending reviews and will cover the final stages of data and output processing, dissemination and a number of subsequent output services and releases.

In order to compare these figures, inflation, population growth and technical innovations must be taken into account. Innovations for the 2011 Census include online completion of questionnaires and the tracking of each questionnaire from printing to processing through a robust form tracking system. We are also carrying out significant address register development and address checking work for the 2011 Census.

The Censuses in Northern Ireland and Scotland are devolved matters.

Christmas

Mr. Philip Hammond: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much (a) his Department and (b) its agency have spent on Christmas (a) cards, (b) parties and (c) decorations in the last 12 months. [237493]

Kevin Brennan: I refer the hon. Member to the answer given to him and to the hon. Member for West Chelmsford (Mr. Burns) by my hon. Friend the then Parliamentary Secretary for the Cabinet Office (Gillian Merron) on 24 January 2008, Official Report, column 2176W.

Mr. Roger Williams: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what estimate he has made of the proportion of (a) lamb, (b) beef, (c) chicken, (d) pork, (e) turkey, (f) other meats, (g) vegetables and (h) fruit to be served by his Department at Christmas functions which will be sourced from British producers. [239544]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested is not collected.

The Government will shortly be publishing a report on the proportion of domestically produced food used by Government Departments and also supplied to hospitals and prisons under contracts negotiated by NHS Supply Chain and National Offender Management Service (previously HM Prison Service) between 1 April 2007 and 31 March 2008.

This report will be available on the PSFPI website at

Letter from Karen Dunnell, November 2008:

'As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question about how many people were (a) employed (i) full-time (ii) part time and (b) unemployed in (A) City of York constituency, (B) City of York local authority area, (C) Yorkshire and The Humber and (D) the United Kingdom (1) at the latest date for which figures are available and (2) at the same date in each of the previous 10 years.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles employment statistics for local areas from the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) and the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people aged 16 and over who were in full-time and part-time employment, and those people who were unemployed, in the City of York Parliamentary Constituency, York Unitary Authority, Yorkshire and The Humber and the UK. Estimates are provided for the 12 months ending in February from 1998 to 2004 from the annual LFS, and for the 12 months ending in March from 2005 to 2008, from the APS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

The information requested is shown in the attached table. The estimates are derived from the Labour Force Survey. As with any sample survey, estimates from the LFS are subject to a margin of uncertainty.

The figures in the table are derived from the LFS microdata which are weighted using the official population estimates published in autumn 2007. They are not entirely consistent with the figures published in the monthly Labour Market Statistics First Release, or the migrant worker figures published every quarter, which are weighted using more up-to-date population estimates.

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles employment statistics for local areas from the annual labour Force Survey (LFS) and the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions. National estimates are compiled from the Labour Force Survey (LFS).

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people in employment aged 16 and over by gender, resident in the Hemel Hempstead constituency. As estimates are not available for May of each year for small geographies, estimates are provided for the 12 months ending in February from 1998 to 2004 from the annual LFS, and for the 12 months ending in March from 2005 to 2008, from the APS.

Table 2, attached, shows the number of people in employment aged 16 and over by gender, resident in the UK. Estimates are provided for the April to June period of each year from the LFS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question requesting how many (a) men and (b) women were in work in (i) the City of York constituency, (ii) the City of York local authority area and (iii) Yorkshire and The Humber in May of each year since 1997. (237047)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles employment statistics for local areas from the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) and the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Table 1, attached, shows the number of people in employment aged 16 and over by gender, resident in the City of York constituency, the City of York Unitary Authority and Yorkshire and The Humber. Estimates are provided for the 12 months ending in February from 1998 to 2004 from the annual LFS, and for the 12 months ending in March from 2005 to 2008, from the APS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

[1] Levels of employment are provided for persons aged 16 and over. The figures presented are weighted to population estimates published in 2007.

[2] Coefficients of Variation have been calculated for the latest period as an indication of the quality of the estimates. See Guide to Quality following.

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5 per cent. we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* 0 = CV< 5 Estimates are considered precise

 5 = CV < 10 Estimates are considered reasonably precise

 10 = CV < 20 Estimates are considered acceptable

* CV 20 Estimates are considered too unreliable for practical purposes

Futurebuilders England: Catz Club

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will place in the Library a copy of the contract between Futurebuilders and Catz Club, redacting commercially sensitive information. [238781]

Mr. Byrne: The Futurebuilders Fund is managed by Futurebuilders England Ltd (FBE) under contract to the Cabinet Office. All Futurebuilders investments are made by FBE; neither ministers nor officials play any part in investment decisions. The Cabinet Office does not hold copies of the contracts between FBE and the Futurebuilders investees.

Futurebuilders England: Grants

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster if he will place in the Library a copy of a table listing each grant given by Futurebuilders to individual voluntary groups and organisations since its establishment. [238782]

Mr. Byrne: I have placed in the Library a table listing each grant given by Futurebuilders to individual voluntary groups and organisations.

Hotels

Mr. Heald: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how much was spent on hotel bills by the Prime Minister's Office in 2007-08. [236647]

Kevin Brennan: The Prime Minister's Office is an integral part of the Cabinet Office.

The information requested for the Cabinet Office is not readily available and could be obtained only at disproportionate cost.

Housing: Owner Occupation

Joan Ryan: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many homeowners there were in Enfield North constituency in each year since 1997. [235446]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question, asking how many homeowners there were in Enfield North in each year since 1997. (235446)

The requested information is not available for all years requested. The tables below have been taken from two different sources.

For 2001, the figures in the table below have been extracted from 2001 Census Key Statistics table KS 18—Tenure.

| | All households including rented | Households: Owner occupied: Owns outright | Households: Owner occupied: Owns with a mortgage or loan | Owner occupied: Part rent, part mortgage |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Enfield North | 38,264 | 10,074 | 16,271 | 307 |

Some figures are also available from the Annual Population Survey but as Parliamentary Constituency is a low level geography, the figures are subject to significant sampling error. Nevertheless the latest figures are:

| Enfield North | All Households including rented | Households: Owned outright | Being bought with mortgage or loan | Part rent, part mortgage |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 2007 | 44,942 | 9,594 | 17,440 | [1] |

Life Expectancy: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the life expectancy is of (a) men and (b) women in (i) the East Midlands and (ii) the South East; and what it was in (A) 1997 and (B) 2001. [238628]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking what the life expectancy is of (a) men and (b) women in (i) the East Midlands and (ii) the South East; and what it was in (A) 1997 and (B) 2001. (238628)

Life expectancy figures are calculated as three year rolling averages. The table below provides the period life expectancy at birth for (a) men and (b) women in (i) the East Midlands and (ii) the South East government office regions for 1996-98, 2000-02 and 2005-07 (the latest figures available).

Table 1: Period life expectancy at birth[1], East Midlands and South East Government office regions[2], 1996-98, 2000-02 and 2005-07[3]

Years of life

| | 1996-98 | | 2000-02 | | 2005-07 | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Males | Females | Males | Females | Males | Females |
| East Midlands | 75 | 80 | 76 | 81 | 78 | 82 |
| South East | 76 | 81 | 77 | 82 | 79 | 83 |

[1] Period life expectancy at birth is an estimate of the average number of years a newborn baby would survive if he or she experienced the area's age-specific mortality rates for that time period throughout his or her life. The figure reflects mortality among those living in the area in each time period, rather than mortality among those born in each area. It is not therefore the number of years a baby born in the area in each time period could actually expect to live, both because the death rates of the area are likely to change in the future and because many of those born in the area will live elsewhere for at least some part of their lives.

[2] Using Government office region boundaries as of 2006 for all the years shown.

[3] Three-year rolling averages, based on deaths registered in each year and mid-year population estimates.

National Economic Council

Mr. Hands: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster (1) how many times the National Economic Council has met; [237632]

(2) which members of the National Economic Council have been absent from each meeting of the Council. [237634]

Mr. Byrne: On the 3 October 2008, the Prime Minister announced the formation of the National Economic Council, a full Cabinet Committee which would meet regularly to discuss the co-ordination of economic policy across Government.

Details of the Committee's membership and Terms of Reference can be viewed at:

http://www.cabinetoffice.gov.uk/secretariats/committees/nec.aspx

and are available in the Library of the House.

Information relating to the proceedings of Cabinet Committees, including who attends, when and how often and for how long they meet, is generally not disclosed as to do so could harm the frankness and candour of internal discussion.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235231]

Mr. Watson: The Cabinet Office takes staff performance seriously and has tools in place to ensure that staff operate at their full potential.

Political Office: Furniture

Mr. Maude: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Shipley of 8 October 2008, Official Report, column 618W, on political office: furniture, whether the (a) capital and (b) running costs of the Downing Street Political Office (i) desks, (ii) telephones and (iii) computers are met from the 10 Downing Street budget. [233395]

Kevin Brennan: I refer the right hon. Member to the answer given to him on 20 November 2008, Official Report, column 662W, by my right hon. Friend the Prime Minister.

Prostate Cancer

Mr. Vara: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many cases of prostate cancer have been diagnosed in England and Wales in each of the last 10 years, broken down by (a) primary care trust and (b) strategic health authority area. [235704]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

[1] Prostate cancer is coded to C61 In the International Classification of Diseases, Tenth Revision (ICD-10).
[2] Based on NHS boundaries for strategic health areas as of July 2006.
[3] Based on NHS boundaries for primary care organisations as of October 2006.
[4] Each primary care organisation (PCO) in England is listed under the strategic health authority (SHA) to which it reports. The 152 primary care organisations include 148 primary care trusts (PCTs), and four care organisations (CO's). PCOs are not all coterminous with SHAs— see Annex C footnotes at http://www.statistics.gov.uk/geography/health_areas.asp
[5] Figures for the local health boards, which came into force in April 2003, are given for Wales.
Note:
The numbers of cases for the strategic health authorities (SHAs) have been grouped together at the top of the table because the total number of cases for each SHA is not always the same as the total number of cases for the primary care organisations (PCOs) reporting to each SHA. This is because PCOs boundaries are not an coterminous with SHAs boundaries as detailed in

Table 1: Number of deaths where suicide was the underlying cause of death[1], persons aged 16 years and under, England and Wales, 2003 to 2007[2]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your recent question asking how many and what percentage of teenagers became pregnant in each of the (a) wards and (b) lower layer super output areas in each of the principal seaside towns for the last year for which figures are available. (238660)

Figures on teenage conceptions are not routinely published by (a) wards and (b) lower layer super output areas due to concerns in maintaining confidentiality of individuals.

ONS however routinely publishes teenage conceptions by local authorities in England and Wales and the latest figures for 2006 are provided in the table.

Available figures are estimates of the number of conceptions that resulted in a live birth, stillbirth or legal termination.

A copy of the table has been placed in the Library of the House.

John Battle: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster what the unemployment rate for (a) women and (b) men of working age has been in Leeds West constituency in each year since 1997. [238776]

Kevin Brennan: The information requested falls within the responsibility of the UK Statistics Authority. I have asked the Authority to reply.

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician, I have been asked to reply to your Parliamentary Question requesting what the unemployment rate for (a) women and (b) men of working age has been in the Leeds West Constituency in each year since 1997. (238776)

The Office for National Statistics (ONS) compiles unemployment statistics for local areas from the annual Labour Force Survey (LFS) and the Annual Population Survey (APS) following International Labour Organisation (ILO) definitions.

Table 1, attached, shows the unemployment rate and number of males and females who were of working age resident in the Leeds West Constituency who were unemployed for the 12 months ending in February from 1998 to 2004 from the annual LFS, and for the 12 months ending in March from 2005 to 2008, from the APS.

As these estimates are for a subset of the population in small geographical areas, they are based on small sample sizes, and are therefore subject to large margins of uncertainty.

Guide to Quality:

The Coefficient of Variation (CV) indicates the quality of an estimate, the smaller the CV value the higher the quality. The true value is likely to lie within +/- twice the CV—for example, for an estimate of 200 with a CV of 5% we would expect the population total to be within the range 180-220.

Key Coefficient of Variation (CV) (%) Statistical Robustness

* 0 = CV< 5 Estimates are considered precise

 10 = CV < 20 Estimates are considered acceptable

Young People

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster how many 18-year-olds there were in each year since 2005; and what estimate the Office for National Statistics has made of the number of 18-year-olds there will be in each year to 2015. [238880]

Letter from Karen Dunnell, dated November 2008:

As National Statistician I have been asked to reply to your question regarding how many 18-year-olds there were in each year since 2005 and what the Office for National Statistics projects the number of 18-year-olds to be in each year to 2015. (238880)

The table below shows the United Kingdom population aged 18 for each year from 2005 to 2015. The figures up to and including 2007 are population estimates. The most recent national population projections, based on the population at the middle of 2006, have been used to provide the estimated population aged 18 from 2008 to 2015.

WORK AND PENSIONS

Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the projected total cost of establishing the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is. [226160]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission, a crown non departmental public body, was established as a legal entity on 10 June 2008 and took responsibility for CSA functions, staff and estates on 1 November 2008.

The cost of establishing the Commission is approximately £10 million. This represents the costs for recruitment, launching the Commission, necessary IT changes and staffing costs.

Child Support Agency

Mr. Gale: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will place in the Library a copy of the debt steer policy and guidelines implemented on his behalf by the Child Support Agency. [229567]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In response to your recent parliamentary question I undertook to send you under separate cover an overview of the Commission's policy on negotiating the recovery of child maintenance debt.

I trust the attached overview provides the detail you require.

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much debt over six years old is owed to the Child Support Agency; whether the collection of such debt may be made through enforcement; and if he will make a statement. [234275]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The administration of the child maintenance system is a matter for the Commissioner of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission. He will write to my right hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Questions regarding the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how much debt over six years old is owed to the Child Support Agency; whether the collection of such debt may be made through enforcement; and if he will make a statement. [234275]

It is only possible to analyse the age of debt accrued while a case is on the CS2 computer system. As the CS2 system has only existed since March 2003, no debt is recorded as being over 6 years old.

The Child Support (Collection and Enforcement) Regulations 1992 were amended in 2006 to remove the six-year limitation period for applying to the court for a liability order in England and Wales. The effect of the amended legislation which came into force on 12 July 2006 is that debts of child support that have accrued since 12 July 2000 can be pursued through the courts.

Where arrears are outstanding for periods prior to 12 July 2000 the Child Support Agency may instigate debt recovery by alternative measures, which include imposing a Deduction from Earnings Order or employing external debt collection agencies.

The Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008 provides that in future the Commission may issue its own liability orders, without application to the court. These administrative liability orders may be made in respect of arrears that accrued before 12 July 2000 and will enable the Commission to pursue payment through the courts. The 2008 Act also provides powers for the Commission to make orders to deduct money from non-resident parents' bank accounts. Deduction orders will be made without application to the court and there is no time limitation on the arrears to which they may apply.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Child Support Agency: Complaints

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many complaints were made to the Child Support Agency by its customers in each of the last five years. [233861]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to my right hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many complaints were made to the Child Support Agency by its customers in each of the last five years. [233861]

The information you have requested is set out in the attached table.

Since April 2006, as a result of the improvements to client service made under the Operational Improvement Plan the number of complaints received has fallen. In addition, the Agency revised and simplified the complaints process from April 2007, removing a tier from the resolution process and introducing specialist case workers responsible for resolving all aspects of our clients' complaints.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Number of complaints received overall agency

| | Complaints received |
|---|---|
| 2003-04 | 49,200 |
| 2004-05 | 63,800 |
| 2005-06 | 62,100 |
| 2006-07 | 47,900 |
| 2007-08 | 37,600 |

Notes:
1. These figures are taken from the Agency's Annual Report and Accounts.
2. From April 2007, the Agency introduced a new complaints resolution process, which among others simplified the process from three stages to two stages.
3. Figures rounded to nearest 100.

Child Support Agency: Correspondence

Mr. Lidington: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what targets he has given to the Child Support Agency on providing substantive replies to letters from hon. Members on behalf of constituents; and what percentage of replies have been provided within that target time during (a) 2006-07, (b) 2007-08 and (c) 2008-09 to date. [236201]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what targets he has given to the Child Support Agency on providing substantive replies to letters from hon. Members on behalf of constituents; and what percentage of replies have been provided within that target time during (a) 2006-2007, (b) 2007-2008 and (c) 2008-2009 to date. [236201]

The Secretary of State has not set the Agency any targets relating to the Hon. Members' correspondence. However, current Cabinet Office guidance recommends a substantive reply should be sent to correspondence received by government departments, including from hon. Members, within twenty working days, in ninety per cent of cases.

The Agency aims to reply to letters and either resolve complaints, or agree next steps, within 15 working days of receiving them. This standard applies to all correspondence received from clients or their representatives including hon. Members, and the latest figures show that we have met this standard in 98% of cases.

The attached table sets out the performance outcomes specifically for both hon. Members' letters to the Commissioner (Chief Executive) and to Ministers delegated to the Commissioner (Chief Executive) to reply.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

MP letters to the Commissioner (Chief Executive)

| 2006-07 | 89.6 |
| 2007-08 | 92.4 |

Child Support Agency: Standards

Mr. Frank Field: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions in what proportion of cases calculated by the Child Support Agency the level of maintenance payments was initially calculated incorrectly in the latest period for which information is available. [233862]

Kitty Ussher: The administration of the child maintenance system is a matter for the Commissioner of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission. He will write to my right hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Questions regarding the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, in what proportion of cases calculated by the Child Support Agency the maintenance payments was initially calculated incorrectly in the latest period for which information is available. [233862]

The Agency does not collate information on the number of cases where maintenance payments were initially calculated incorrectly. However, the Agency does check a sample of around 6,000 cases each year to assess the accuracy of the maintenance calculations assessment to the nearest penny. This information is routinely published in Table 17 of the Child Support Agency's Quarterly Summary of Statistics. The latest version is available in the House of Commons library or online at the following link:

http://www.dwp.gov.uk/asd/csa.asp

In the 12 months to the end of September 2008 the Agency estimates that 85% of current scheme maintenance assessments and 94% of old scheme maintenance calculations were accurate to the nearest penny.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what national targets have been set for the Child Support Agency; and what the performance of offices in the southwest region was against those targets in 2007-08. [237942]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Child Maintenance Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what national targets have been set for the Child Support Agency; and what the performance of offices in the southwest region was against those targets in 2007-08.[237942]

The Secretary of State set four targets for the Agency for the operational year 2007/08. The Agency manages performance across all its lines of business at a national level and does not apportion responsibility for contributing to targets down to regional level.

The national targets for 2007/08 were:

By 31st March 2008, maintenance will be collected or arranged by the Agency on behalf of 720,000 children.

By 31st March 2008, in 66 per cent of cases in which a liability to pay maintenance exists, the non-resident parent has either made a payment via the collection service or a Maintenance Direct arrangement is in place.

By 31st March 2008, the volume of uncleared new scheme applications will be no more than 140,000.

Collect or arrange £970 million in child maintenance (including both regular and arrears) between 1st April 2007 and 31st March 2008; of which at least £120 million maintenance will be arrears.

The Agency exceeded all of these Secretary of State targets, collecting or arranging over £1 billion in maintenance on behalf of 749,000 children. The contribution that the South West business area made to the achievement of these targets is provided in the attached table.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Child Support Agency Secretary of State Targets: 2007/08

| Target | Agency Achievement March 2008 | South West Business Area Contribution March 2008 |
|---|---|---|
| By 31st March 2008, maintenance will be collected or arranged by the Agency on behalf of 720,000 children | 749,300 | 158,200 |
| By 31st March 2008, in 66 per cent of cases in which a liability to pay maintenance exists, the non-resident parent has either made a payment via the collection service or a Maintenance Direct arrangement is in place | 67% | 69% |
| By 31st March 2008, the volume of uncleared new scheme applications will be no more than 140,000 | 106,100 | 15,600 |
| Collect or arrange £970 million in child maintenance (including both regular and arrears) between 1st April 2007 and 31st March 2008 | £1,010m | £202.5m |
| of which at least £120 million maintenance will be arrears | £126 | £24.5m |

Notes:
1. Figures for the South West exclude performance of cases processed clerically.
2. Targets are set at a national level and are not apportioned regionally.

Children: Maintenance

Mr. Vara: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many new scheme Child Support Agency cases were unresolved within six months in (a) North West Cambridgeshire constituency and (b) the Eastern Region in each of the last five years. [226094]

Kitty Usher: The administration of the child maintenance system is a matter for the Commissioner of the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission. He will write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many new scheme Child

Support Agency cases were unresolved within six months in (a) North West Cambridgeshire constituency and (b) the Eastern Region in each of the last five years. [226094]

The Child Support Agency is now in the final year of its three year operational improvement plan which has significantly improved client service across the Agency. The Agency committed to reducing the number of current scheme (previously referred to as new scheme) uncleared applications from the 225,300 applications outstanding in March 2005 to 90,000 by March 2009. At the end of September 2008 the Agency had already met this commitment with just 75,700 uncleared current scheme applications. In addition the Agency has improved the time taken to clear applications from just 30% in 12 weeks in March 2005 to 85 per cent. of applications received in June 2008 cleared in 12 weeks.

The numbers of current scheme applications that remain uncleared and are over six months old, in the Eastern Region and in North West Cambridgeshire constituency are provided in the attached table which highlights the year on year reduction in the number of outstanding cases.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Uncleared current (new) scheme applications in the North West Cambridgeshire and Eastern Region constituencies

| | North West Cambridgeshire Number over six months old | Eastern Region Number over six months old | Eastern Region (percentage) cleared in 12 weeks[2] |
|---|---|---|---|
| September 2004 | 130 | 6,300 | 29 |
| September 2005 | 190 | 10,600 | 42 |
| September 2006 | 170 | 9,100 | 94 |
| September 2007 | 110 | 6,000 | 79 |
| September 2008 | 70 | 3,500 | |

[1] Information not available on the time taken to clear cases in North West Cambridgeshire.
[2] Percentage of cases received in that month which were cleared within 12 weeks. Information not yet available for cases received in September 2008.
Notes:
1. Uncleared applications have been defined as those applications that have not yet reached a clearance point. A current scheme clearance is defined as: a maintenance calculation has been carried out and a payment arrangement between the parent with care and the non-resident parent is in place; a parent with care has been identified as claiming Good Cause or is subject to a Reduced Benefit Decision; the application is identified as being a change of circumstances on an existing case; or the application has been closed.
2. Age of uncleared applications is calculated as the time from first contact with non-resident parent or parent with care until the last day of the month shown.
3. Cases have been allocated to parliamentary constituency or region through matching the postcode for a residential address for the parent with care against the Office for National Statistics postcode directory.
4. A proportion of applications can not be allocated to a parliamentary constituency or region. Such examples are where the parent with care's residential postcode is not recorded. In some of these cases, the Agency holds a residential address without a postcode, a "contact" address, or a business address. Many applications have not yet reached the stage in the process where the postcode information has been confirmed. Therefore it is not possible to associate them to a parliamentary constituency or region. Around 12 per cent. of applications can not be allocated to a region or parliamentary constituency as at June 2008.
5. Figures for Eastern region have been rounded to the nearest 100 and those for North West Cambridgeshire to the nearest 10.

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) what percentage of Child Support Agency cases with a current liability received 100 per cent. of the child maintenance owed in the 12 months to June 2008; [230115]

(2) what percentage of the child maintenance liable for the year to June 2008 the £1,010 million maintenance collected represents. [230141]

Kitty Usher [holding answers 27 October 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Child Maintenance Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what percentage of Child Support Agency cases with a current liability received 100 per cent of the child maintenance owed in the 12 months to June 2008. [230115], and

What percentage of the child maintenance liable for the year to June 2008 the £1,010 million maintenance collected represents. [230141].

Since you tabled your questions the latest Child Support Agency Quarterly Summary of Statistics has been published and these latest figures show that in the 12 months to September 2008, the Child Support Agency collected or arranged £1,088 million child maintenance.

The estimated total regular child maintenance liability for the period was £1,350 million. Therefore the £1,080 million the Agency collected or arranged represents 81% of the estimated total maintenance liability.

Of the 756,200 cases with an ongoing current liability as at September 2008 not including arrears cases, 74% of cases have received maintenance with 39% of cases receiving all of the regular maintenance requested over the last 12 months.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of annual funding for the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission and the Child Support Agency required in each year until 2014 to implement the child maintenance reforms of the Child Maintenance and Other Payments Act 2008. [230144]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 27 October 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission's most recent annual funding estimates, which will include the one-off costs of implementing the child maintenance reforms, are found in the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission Business Plan 2008-09. This is available at the following email address:

http://www.childmaintenance.org/pdf/CMEC_BP_web_.pdf

It should be noted that the future costs of the implementing the child maintenance reforms will be driven by the actual choices parents make and their relative use of the different services provided by the Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission. The funding estimates were therefore based on the best estimates, trends and evidence available at the time.

Following the full implementation of the reforms we estimate an additional 430,000 children will benefit from an extra £500 million each year in addition to administrative savings of around £200 million each year.

Mr. Pope: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when the Chief Executive of the Child Support Agency will ensure that the hon. Member for Hyndburn's constituent, Mrs Joan Knott, receives the child maintenance which she has been assured she will receive. [231570]

Kitty Ussher: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the Hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions (1) how many liability orders have been re-issued incorrectly by the Child Support Agency in Birkenhead in the last 12 months; [233943]

(2) what processes are in place at the Child Support Agency in Birkenhead to prevent the incorrect issuing of liability orders. [233944]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to my hon. Friend with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many liability orders have been re-issued incorrectly by the Child Support Agency in Birkenhead in the last 12 months. [233943]; and

What processes are in place at the Child Support Agency in Birkenhead to prevent the incorrect issuing of liability orders. [233944]

The information you requested on the number of Liability Orders that have been re-issued incorrectly is not available as this information is not routinely recorded.

The Child Support Agency has processes in place to ensure Liability Orders are administered correctly and consistently in all of its offices including the Birkenhead site. Experienced senior case officers are responsible for preparing all applications to the courts for liability orders in respect of the non-resident parent's child maintenance arrears. The case officer will check the details on the case are correct; checking contact details, maintenance payments paid, preparing a full accounts breakdown to ensure the arrears are correct and ensuring an arrears warning letter has been sent to the non-resident parent.

If the non-resident parent has in the past considered that the maintenance calculation itself is incorrect, they will have had an opportunity to appeal the assessment through the independent Tribunals Service. Once a liability order is being actively considered by the Court, the non-resident parent can make representations for the Court to dismiss the liability order. The Courts currently dismiss less than one per cent of applications. The Agency believes that this is a good indication of the robustness of the checking regime currently in place. Finally, once a liability order has been awarded, the non-resident parent can again bring forward additional information, or indeed settle their arrears and the Agency may again consider whether it is appropriate to proceed with the application.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Child Maintenance Commissioner.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, how many cases being handled by the Child Support Agency are logged under the (a) CSCS and (b) CS2 computer systems. [234270]

At the end of September 2008, the Agency had a total of 1,339,600 cases registered as live across the CSCS and CS2 computer systems. Of these around 939,100 cases were registered on the CS2 computer system. This includes around 242,900 old child maintenance scheme cases which were maintained on the CS2 computer system. The remaining 400,400 live old scheme cases were registered on the CSCS computer system.

The Agency also had a total of 44,000 live clerical cases of which a significant number will be included in the cases shown as registered on the computer systems. These are cases which are being progressed clerically but remain registered on the computer systems.

I hope you find this answer helpful.

Council Tax Benefits

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) individuals and (b) pensioners are eligible for but do not claim council tax benefit. [238816]

Kitty Ussher: Latest estimates of the numbers entitled to but not receiving income support, pension credit, housing benefit, council tax benefit and jobseeker's allowance (Income-based) in Great Britain were published on the "Income Related Benefits Estimates of Take-Up in 2006-07" report. A copy of this and past reports are available in the Library.

Departmental Consultants

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many external consultants work for his Department. [237578]

Jonathan Shaw: The following table provides a list of the external consultancy organisations currently working for the Department. Details of the number of all external consultants currently working for the Department could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Departmental Information Officers

Mr. Hunt: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many press and communications officers are employed by (a) his Department, (b) its non-departmental public bodies and (c) its agencies. [230041]

Jonathan Shaw: DWP communications and press officers are accredited by the Government Communications Network (GCN). The communications activity carried out by these staff includes press, PR, internal communications, new media and marketing.

(a) DWP employs 285 permanent GCN accredited staff;

(b) Jobcentre Plus and the Pension, Disability and Carers Service employ 72 GCN accredited staff; and

(c) The total number of GCN accredited staff in DWP's NDPBs is not provided as this information is not held centrally and the cost of collating it would incur a disproportionate cost.

These figures were correct as at 20 November 2008.

Departmental Ministerial Policy Advisors

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the cost of provision of Government cars to special advisers in his Department has been in the last 12 months. [238180]

Jonathan Shaw: Special advisers are not entitled to an allocated Government car. Special advisers are temporary civil servants, and therefore travel arrangements are made in accordance with the rules and guidance set out in the Civil Service Management Code, and departmental staff handbooks.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions whether his Department uses the Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages. [238124]

Jonathan Shaw: Royal Mail continues to be the primary company for DWP postal services for despatch of its post, parcels and packages. Royal Mail delivers in excess of 100 million items a year to our customers, at an approximate cost of £40 million per annum. DWP remains committed to maintaining and developing our relationship with Royal Mail Group.

Disability Living Allowance

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many disability living allowance awards (a) were subject to review, (b) had the mobility component reduced on review, (c) had the care component reduced on review, (d) had entitlement cancelled on review, (e) had a revision decision appealed against and upheld and (f) had a review decision appealed against and overturned in each year since 1997, broken down by age of claimant. [237108]

Jonathan Shaw: The information is not available.

Disability Living Allowance: Autism

Mr. Harper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what guidance is given to staff administering disability living allowance on using the supplementary application form for people with autism. [239184]

Jonathan Shaw: There is no supplementary application form for people with autism who wish to claim disability living allowance (DLA).

The current DLA adult claim form has been developed as a generic 'structured' claim form and is designed to accommodate the care and mobility needs of all customers. While developing the claim form the Pension, Disability and Carers Service carried out extensive consultation with national voluntary and community organisations representing customers with a broad range of disabilities and their carers.

The 'structured' DLA adult claim form has been in use nationally since April 2007. From October 2008, a further version is available for use which has been revised to allow customers with learning difficulties, autism, other developmental disorders and mental health impairments to better explain their care and mobility needs.

Disability Living Allowance: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many (a) men and (b) women in each constituency in the East Midlands receive the care component of disability living allowance at the higher rate. [238080]

Jonathan Shaw: The available information is in the table.

Disadvantaged: Clwyd

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent steps he has taken to assist vulnerable people in the Vale of Clwyd constituency; and what assessment he has made of the effectiveness of those measures. [234506]

Mr. McNulty: Following the modernisation of Jobcentre Plus services, greater emphasis has been placed on using technology to enable customers to access the services they require. However, it was recognised that some of the more vulnerable customers may need additional help and support.

With this in mind, Accessing Jobcentre Services (AJCS) rolled out in the North and Mid Wales District from 30 June 2008, and aims to provide help to those customers who need additional face-to-face support.

The Wrexham Benefit Delivery Centre gives priority support to vulnerable customers and, with more customers using the internet and telephone to access information, Jobcentre staff are able to focus on helping more customers into work whilst offering a bespoke service for more vulnerable customers.

Within the Vale of Clwyd, Rhyl Jobcentre Plus operates an electronic diary which is available for three hours daily for the Jobcentre, Benefit Delivery Centre or Social Fund to access and book appointments for vulnerable customers. The diary is monitored constantly and if it is identified that more appointment times are needed further spaces for that same day are made available. No vulnerable customer is told to come back the next day.

Identification of vulnerable customers is a decision made by local staff.

The Welsh Assembly is keen to undertake joint marketing campaigns with the local pension, disability and carers service—on top of the current Wales-wide "Keep well this winter" campaign which is already underway, including the hon. Member's constituency.

Pension, Disability and Carers Service are also planning a joint venture with the Commissioner for Older People for Wales to increase pensioner benefit take-up.

Employers' Liability: East Midlands

Mr. Skinner: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of companies in the East Midlands with invalid or insufficient liability insurance. [238668]

Jonathan Shaw: I refer to the answer given to the hon. Member's question of 29October 2007, Official Report, column 753W.

HSE remains unaware of any complaints in the east midlands concerned with deficiencies in ELCI policies. No successful prosecutions have been brought by HSE in the east midlands under the Employers' Liability (Compulsory Insurance) Act 1969 since the previous answer.

Employment and Support Allowance

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many applications for employment and support allowance have been made since its inception, broken down by age group. [238386]

Jonathan Shaw: DWP will be publishing National Statistics on Employment and Support Allowance in the coming months.

Employment Schemes

Kerry McCarthy: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what recent representations he has received from local partnerships on collection of data for on and off flows of individuals in receipt of benefits and the targeting of partnership employment and skills programmes. [236641]

Mr. McNulty: The Department has received a number of representations from local partnerships to access more benefit data to help target employment and skills programmes more effectively. It is currently setting up a project steering group to agree the principles and, critically, security arrangements for data sharing; pilot areas where more data sharing can be tested; the methodology and timescale for sharing data to the pilot areas; and the evaluation criteria. The project outcomes will seek to inform the basis for the future sharing of data with local government and its partners to help more people into work.

Home Responsibilities Protection

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many cases of potential eligibility for Home Responsibilities Protection (HRP) he has so far identified in his scan of the National Insurance Recording System; how many of those have resulted in the successful award of HRP; what the value has been to date of such awards; when he expects to complete this project; and if he will make a statement. [230357]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 27 October 2008]: Our preliminary analysis suggests that somewhere in the region of 100,000 to 150,000 women may not be receiving their full entitlement to state pension because HRP has not been applied in the calculation of their state pension.

The Department and HM Revenue and Customs have undertaken a scan of NIRS to identify the potentially affected cases. Work on the exercise to correct affected cases is currently at the detailed planning stage. The Department aims to start the exercise early in 2009.

Housing Benefit

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions pursuant to the written ministerial statement of 18 November 2008, Official Report, columns 17-18WS, on the Rent Officers Order, whether Cambridge is considered to be one of the localities where local consensus was not achieved with the consequence that its boundaries will now be reviewed. [238746]

Kitty Ussher: The Rent Service carried out routine reviews in 2006-07 that have resulted in fewer localities across the country as a whole. The vast majority of new boundaries were agreed by local authorities and our proposed amendments to the Rent Officers Order will enable the Rent Service to review the boundaries in those localities where consensus was not achieved. The Rent Service is committed to review 25 per cent. of all locality boundaries over a 12-month period. Cambridge will be one of the local authorities that will be reviewed following the amendments to the Rent Service Order.

Housing Benefit: Pay Methods

Mr. Pickles: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what assessment has been made of the effects of paying housing benefit direct to tenants, with particular reference to the effects on the number of tenants defaulting on rental payments to their landlords. [238818]

Kitty Ussher: I refer the hon. Member to the written answer I gave my right hon. Friend the Member for Oxford, East (Mr. Smith) on 4 November 2008, Official Report, column 260W.

Incapacity Benefit

Mr. Grieve: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many recipients of (a) incapacity benefit and (b) jobseeker's allowance have cited drug abuse as the primary reason for being unable to work in each of the last five years. [234555]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 10 November 2008]: Recipients of jobseeker's allowance are available for and actively seeking employment.

Drug dependency does not of itself confer entitlement to incapacity benefits. The medical assessment of incapacity for work is the personal capability assessment. This assesses the effects of a person's condition on their ability to carry out a number of everyday activities relevant to work. A majority of people with a recorded diagnosis of drug dependency also have other diagnoses, for example mental illness, which results in their incapacity for work.

We do record the diagnosis of incapacity that is written on a claimant's medical certificate.

The following table shows the number of people receiving incapacity benefits whose recorded diagnosis includes drug dependency in each of the last five years.

| | 60 | Incapacity benefit (short-term lower rate) | Incapacity benefit (short-term higher rate) | Incapacity benefit (long-term) | Incapacity benefit credits | Severe disablement allowance |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| February 2004 | 45,530 | 1,290 | 1,030 | 7,110 | 35,660 | 420 |
| February 2005 | 42,660 | 1,170 | 900 | 7,560 | 37,640 | 390 |
| February 2006 | 40,530 | 1,100 | 820 | 7,800 | 38,440 | 380 |
| February 2007 | 40,430 | 1,120 | 740 | 7,880 | 39,330 | 360 |
| February 2008 | 41,980 | 1,150 | 870 | 7,990 | 40,940 | 340 |

Jobcentres

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many jobcentres he has visited in his official capacity since his appointment. [228393]

Jonathan Shaw: The Secretary of State has visited six jobcentres since his appointment.

Jobseeker's Allowance: Mentally Ill

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the number of people claiming jobseeker's allowance who have a mental health condition. [230977]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 18 November 2008]: The information requested is not available.

Members: Correspondence

John Barrett: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he plans to reply to the hon. Member for Edinburgh West's correspondence of 1 April and subsequent letters of 23 May and 11 September on non-EU nationals attending sports events in the UK. [228833]

Mr. Sutcliffe: I have been asked to reply.

This correspondence has been replied to.

National Insurance Contributions

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will estimate the cost of extending eligibility to buy back six additional years of national insurance contributions to those with (a) 20, (b) 15, (c) 10 and (d) five or more qualifying years; and if he will estimate the cost of such extension to all those born within the relevant time period, regardless of qualifying years. [233266]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 4 November 2008]: The information available is presented in the following table:

Estimated cost of allowing people reaching state pension age between April 2008 and April 2025 to pay class 3 contributions for an additional six years

Net costs less revenue (£ million, 2008-09 price terms)

| Qualifying years required | 2040-41 | 2050-51 | 2040-41 | 2040-41 | 2050-51 | Net present value to 2050 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 0 years | 25 | 225 | 185 | 105 | 25 | 3,055 |
| 10 years | 90 | 90 | 75 | 40 | 10 | 1,180 |
| 15 years | 90 | 60 | 90 | 25 | 5 | 820 |
| 20 years | 90 | 40 | 95 | 20 | 5 | 585 |

Notes:
1. Estimates for net costs have been rounded to the nearest £5 million. Estimates for potential gainers have been rounded to the nearest thousand. Totals may not sum due to rounding.
2. Estimates are based on a sample of national insurance records as at the end of the financial year 2003-04.
3. Estimates assume both state pension is uprated in line with earnings from April 2012.
4. People who fail the "25 per cent. rule" both before and after they have purchased six extra years are assumed not to purchase extra years.
5. Estimates assume that people buy additional class 3 national insurance contributions in whole years, even if less than 52 weeks of additional contributions are required to achieve a qualifying year. It is assumed that people buy these extra years when they reach state pension age.
6. Estimates assume that the option to buy extra years is available to everybody with a national insurance record and can be used to fill any deficient year between 1975 and state pension age as long as there is not a valid married women's reduced rate election in place.
7. Net present value calculated in line with the Green Book takes into account costs occurring before 2050, there may be small ongoing costs after this time.
8. Net costs are gross costs of higher basic state pension, less additional national insurance revenue raised, less income related benefit savings.
9. Estimates assume 20 per cent. take up the option.
10. Estimates take into account existing legislation only and do not take into account proposed measures in the current Pensions Bill.
11. Qualifying years include full years of home responsibilities protection.

Steve Webb: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions if he will make it his policy to extend eligibility to buy back six additional years of national insurance contributions to those with less than 20 qualifying years; and if he will make a statement. [233267]

Ms Rosie Winterton [holding answer 4 November 2008]: We have no plans to extend the proposal to allow eligible individuals to buy six additional years of voluntary class 3 national insurance contributions to those with fewer than 20 qualifying years (taking into account home responsibilities protection). This measure will help people, particularly women and carers, who are approaching state pension age but have earlier gaps in their national insurance records to improve their basic state pension.

New Deal for Disabled People: Sight Impaired

Joan Walley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what specialist equipment is provided by Jobcentre Plus to make work placements arranged as part of the New Deal for Disabled People available to jobseeker's allowance claimants with visual impairment. [226151]

Jonathan Shaw: Jobseeker's allowance claimants do not have access to new deal for disabled people.

New Deal Schemes: Complaints

Margaret Moran: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many complaints his Department and its agencies have received in respect of (a) all New Deal providers and (b) the Shaw Trust in each of the last three years. [236218]

Jonathan Shaw: The information requested is not available.

Paul Barlow

Rosie Cooper: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what steps are being taken by the Child Support Agency to resolve the case of Mr. Paul Barlow; and what steps the Agency plans to take to resolve the difficulties caused by the incorrect issue of a second liability order. [234510]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 10 November 2008]: The Child Maintenance and Enforcement Commission is responsible for the child maintenance system. I have therefore asked the Commissioner to write to the hon. Member with the information requested.

Letter from Stephen Geraghty:

In reply to your recent Parliamentary Question about the Child Support Agency, the Secretary of State promised a substantive reply from the Chief Executive.

You asked the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions, what steps are being taken by the Child Support Agency to resolve the case of Mr Paul Barlow; and what steps the Agency plans to take to resolve the difficulties caused by incorrect issuing of a second liability order. [234510]

As details about individual cases are confidential, I have written to you separately about this case.

Pension Credit Public Expenditure

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what estimate he has made of the distribution by household income (a) quintile and (b) decile of his Department's expenditure arising from pension credit in each year for which figures are available. [198781]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Pension credit helps millions of older people. It ensures no pensioner aged 60 or over should have to live on less than £124.05 per week for a single person and £189.35 for a couple in 2008-09. Pension credit also rewards those aged 65 or over who have made modest provision for their retirement, up to £19.71 for a single person and £26.13 for a couple. Since pension credit was introduced in 2003 the number of pensioners in relative poverty has fallen by around 500,000 (after housing costs).

Pension credit expenditure was £5,971 m in 2004-05, £6,426 million in 2005-06 and £6,689 million in 2006-07. Information on the expenditure on pension credit by equivalised household income quintiles and deciles on an after housing cost basis is set out in the following table for available years. Estimates of pension credit expenditure by equivalised income quintile and deciles below are based on a three year average to help take account of small sample sizes in certain quintiles and deciles and statistical variation in expenditure by quintile across the years.

These figures are rounded to the nearest £50 million:

Table 1: Expenditure on pension credit by equivalised income quintile based on pensioners only, Great Britain, 2004-05 to 2006-07

| 2004-05 to 2006-07 | £ million, after housing costs |
|---|---|
| Bottom quintile | 1,800 |
| Second quintile | 1,500 |
| Third quintile | 1,150 |
| Fourth quintile | 1,500 |
| Top quintile | 450 |
| Total | 6,422 |

Table 2: Expenditure on pension credit by equivalised income decile based on pensioners only, Great Britain, 2004-05 to 2006-07

| 2004-05 to 2006-07 | £ million, after housing costs |
|---|---|
| Bottom decile | 600 |
| Second decile | 1,200 |
| Third decile | 900 |
| Fourth decile | 600 |
| Fifth decile | 600 |
| Sixth decile | 550 |
| Seventh decile | 800 |
| Eighth decile | 700 |
| Ninth decile | 350 |
| Top decile | 100 |
| Total | 6,422 |

Pension credit recipients within the top two quintiles would generally be expected to either have severe disabilities or be living within a wider household, such as that of a family member, in these circumstances the pensioner's income is assessed independently of the household to establish entitlement to pension credit.

The relatively low level of expenditure in the bottom decile is partly explained by pensioners in these deciles not taking up their benefit entitlement. We continue to strive to ensure people are aware of and claim their entitlement. The Pensions Disability and Carers Service use data matching to identify those likely to be entitled to pension credit and encourage them to make a claim.

The claim process is being made much simpler and more automatic and from October 2008 we are proposing to introduce a measure which will enable pensioners to claim housing benefit and council tax benefit with pension credit entirely over the phone without having to fill in and sign a claim form.

Each week the Pensions Disability and Carers Service is carrying out around 13,000 visits to help the more vulnerable pensioners with benefits. Since the introduction of pension credit the number of pensioners in relative poverty (measured by 60 per cent. of contemporary median income after housing costs) has fallen by around 500,000.

Notes:

1. Pension credit was introduced in October 2003. This means data are only available for 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07.

2. All figures are shown in nominal terms (ie not adjusted for inflation). Family Resources Survey (FRS) data have been applied to administrative data to derive a split by decile/quintile. Estimates of Pension Credit expenditure by equivalised income decile are based on a three year average to help take account of small sample sizes in certain deciles/quintiles and statistical variation in expenditure by decile/quintile across the years.

3. Administrative data totals are available to the nearest £ million, while information based on survey data is presented rounded to the nearest £50 million.

4. FRS data are based on private households only, while the pension credit expenditure data cover all recipients.

5. Decile amounts may not sum to quintile amounts, because of rounding.

6. The Family Resources Survey is known to undercount receipt of certain benefits. This methodology assumes that this undercount is spread proportionally across deciles.

7. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication 'Households Below Average Income' series.

8. The quintiles and deciles are derived using OECD equivalisation factors.

Pension Credit: Hemel Hempstead

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many Hemel Hempstead residents have applied for pension credits since the scheme's inception. [234573]

Ms Rosie Winterton: There have been 4,980 successful claims for Pension Credit in Hemel Hempstead parliamentary constituency, from its introduction to May 2008.

Notes:

1. Number of successful claims are rounded to the nearest 10.

2. On flows count the number of spells on this benefit that commenced within each quarter. It does not include flows where people have moved out of one area and into another while remaining on the benefit.

3. Pension credit was introduced on 6 October 2003.

Source:

DWP Information Directorate: Work and Pensions Longitudinal Study. Please note these statistics are experimental, still in development and should be treated with caution.

Pension Disability and Carers Service: Occupational Pensions

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how much the Pensions Service spent in making contributions to final salary pensions schemes in each of the last 10 years. [226175]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Information was requested for the last 10 years, but data are only available from 2002-03, the year that The Pension Service was formed.

The Information is in the following table.

Employer contribution for pension costs

| | £ million |
|---|---|
| 2002-03 | 25.343 |
| 2003-04 | 37.367 |
| 2004-05 | 36.331 |
| 2005-06 | 46.135 |
| 2006-07 | 46.519 |
| 2007-08 | 42.195 |

Notes:

1. The percentage to be applied to pensionable pay varies depending on the salary bands within The Pension Service. The salary bands were revised in 2007-08.

2. The above employer contributions exclude the pension costs arising from the termination of staff contracts associated with reductions in staffing levels and increases in operational efficiency. These costs were £12.459 million (2005-06), £2.984million (2006-07) and £36.121 million (2007-08).

3. Since 30 July 2007 new entrants have been joining the nuvos section of the PCSPS. This is not a final salary scheme. In pensions terminology this would normally be referred to as a Career Average or CARE scheme. Benefits are linked to salary throughout someone's career rather than their final earnings.

4. The increase in employer contributions between 2002-03 and 2003-04 reflects the increase in staffing needed to handle pension credit take-up.

Pension, Disability and Carers Service: Standards

Mr. Sanders: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what national targets have been set for the Pension Service; and what the performance of offices in Devon was in relation to those targets in 2007-08. [237936]

Ms Rosie Winterton: From 1 April 2008 the Pension Service and the Disability and Carers Service merged to become a single agency, the Pension, Disability and Carers Service (PDCS).

The information available is listed as follows:

PDCS Performance Standards 2008-09

Achieve an accuracy rate of 94 per cent. on decisions on claims for DLA

Achieve an accuracy rate of 94 per cent. on decisions on claims for AA

Pensioners: Income

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what the average income of pensioners in each household income (a) quintile and (b) decile was in (i) 2004-05 and (ii) 2005-06. [198782]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Specific information regarding low income for the United Kingdom is available in "Households Below Average Income 1994-95 to 2006-07". This annual report, which is a National Statistics publication, includes the numbers and proportions of pensioners with incomes below 50 per cent, 60 per cent and 70 per cent of median income and by quintile of the income distribution.

Information on the median equivalised income of pensioners in each household income quintile and decile over the period 2004-05 to 2006-07 is shown in the tables below. Median equivalised incomes are given rather than mean equivalised incomes as these are less influenced by extreme values. The Households Below Average Income publication also uses median rather than mean equivalised incomes. Distributions by equivalised income decile are based on a three year average to help take account of small sample sizes in certain deciles and statistical variation across the years.

These figures are based on sampling and estimates. Movements in data over short periods may be due to sampling error but over a longer period trends are useful. Incomes in 1996-99 are therefore included for reference. Particular caution is required when looking at the incomes of the lowest deciles as those households stating the lowest incomes to the Family Resources Survey may not actually have the lowest living standards. Many people who report very low incomes appear to have high spending.

Median equivalised income of pensioners in the bottom quintile increased by 36 per cent. between 1996-99 and 2004-07. Measures introduced by the Government since 1997 to help those on the lowest incomes include the introduction of the Minimum Income Guarantee and its successor Pension Credit and Winter Fuel Payments for those aged 60 and over. For 2009, we will raise the standard minimum guarantee to £130.00—an above indexation increase of £5.95. We will be making an additional payment for winter 2008-09 of £50 for households with someone aged 60-79 and £100 for those with someone aged 80 or over. And in addition to this the Government will make a payment in the new year of £60 for each pensioner, equivalent to bringing forward uprating of the basic State Pension from April to January.

Table 1: Median weekly pensioner incomes by equivalised income quintile across pensioners only, United Kingdom, 1996-99 and 2004-07 (2006-07 prices, after housing costs)

| 2004-07 | 308 | 354 | 411 | 503 | 747 | 289 |

Notes:
1. The information shown is for the United Kingdom for 2004-07, and Great Britain for 1996-99.
2. The income measures used to derive the estimates shown employ the same methodology as the Department for Work and Pensions publication 'Households Below Average Income' (HBAI) series, which uses disposable household income, adjusted (or "equivalised") for household size and composition, as an income measure as a proxy for standard of living.
3. The income distribution is based on pensioners only.
4. Based on survey data and as such subject to a degree of sampling and non sampling error.
5. This response includes incomes for the lowest deciles of the population. These figures are not national statistics and caution must be applied because those people stating the lowest incomes in the FRS may not actually have the lowest living standards.
6 The quintiles and deciles are derived using OECD equivalisation factors.
7. Weekly income amounts have been rounded to the nearest whole pound and are given in 2006-07 prices.

Poverty: Children

Mike Penning: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many children in Hemel Hempstead were living in absolute poverty in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008; and what percentage of all children living in absolute poverty this represented in each year. [238101]

Kitty Ussher: The information requested is not available.

Our child poverty statistics, published in the Households Below Average Income series, only allow a breakdown of the number of children in absolute poverty at Government office region level. Information is therefore not available at parliamentary constituency level.

Social Fund

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many grants of (a) crisis loans, (b) budgeting loans and (c) community care grants were made by Jobcentre Plus in each month of the last 10 years to applicants (i) of working age and in work, (ii) of working age and out of work and (iii) above state pension age. [226222]

Kitty Ussher: Information on initial awards to applicants of working age cannot be split into those in work and those out of work. The available information has been placed in the Library.

Chris Grayling: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions how many applications for (a) crisis loans, (b) budgeting loans and (c) community care grants were made to Jobcentre Plus in each month of the last 10 years to applicants (i) of working age and in work, (ii) of working age and out of work and (iii) above state pension age. [226223]

Kitty Ussher: Information on applications processed from people of working age cannot be split into those in work and those out of work. The available information has been placed in the Library.

Social Security Benefits

Chris Ruane: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what (a) research and (b) analysis his Department has conducted on rates of (i) sickness and (ii) disability benefit claims in (A) coastal towns and (B) principal seaside towns in comparison with average rates for the UK; and if he will make a statement. [238297]

Jonathan Shaw: We have not conducted any research or analysis about the rates of sickness and disability benefit claims in coastal towns and principal seaside towns in comparison with rates for the rest of the UK.

Social Security Benefits: Reform

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when the White Paper on welfare reform will be published. [237839]

Mr. McNulty [holding answer 20 November 2008]: We are currently considering responses to the formal consultation on the Green Paper 'No one written off: reforming welfare to reward responsibility'. The consultation ended on 22 October and we will respond as soon as possible.

State Retirement Pensions

Mr. Waterson: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions what his estimate is of the number of people who would be affected by an increase in the state pension age to 70 by 2020. [231830]

Ms Rosie Winterton: Anyone born after 5 April 1959 will be affected by the further increase in state pension age from 65 to 68 between 2024 and 2046. This increase is broadly in line with projected increases in average life expectancy and is a sensible response to the demographic challenge we face today. At the same time, it maintains at a roughly constant level the same proportion of adult life spent in retirement.

It would not be feasible to increase state pension age to 70 by 2020 without giving those affected sufficient notice, particularly those within 10 years of the equalised state pension age of 65. The number of people affected would depend on how and when the increase was to be implemented and the cohorts of future pensioners it was to apply to.

Vocational Training: South Yorkshire

Mr. Illsley: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions which industries have been allocated employment training funding in (a) South Yorkshire, (b) Rotherham and (c) Barnsley in each of the last five years. [231318]

Mr. McNulty: The requested information is not available.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Andrew Selous: To ask the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions when he plans to answer question 229579 tabled by the hon. Member for South West Bedfordshire on 23 October 2008, on restarting of child maintenance payments. [236054]

Kitty Ussher [holding answer 17 November 2008]: I replied to the hon. Member's question on 13 November 2008, Official Report, column 1302W.

BUSINESS, ENTERPRISE AND REGULATORY REFORM

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1122W, on bankruptcy: Greater London, if he will provide equivalent information for (a) 1979, (b) 1992, (c) 1997 and (d) each of the first two quarters of 2008. [237450]

Mr. McFadden: The information requested is not available. The number of bankrupt individuals broken down by age and separately by region is only available from 2000 to 2007, and equivalent figures for 2008 will be available in 2009.

Departmental Disciplinary Proceedings

Mr. Redwood: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what sanctions are available in cases of departmental staff found to have committed disciplinary offences; and how many times each has been used in each of the last three years. [230199]

Mr. McFadden: The current sanctions available in cases of departmental staff found to have committed disciplinary offences are as follows:

1. Formal Warning
2. Final written warning
3. Downgrading or Dismissal

The Department's procedures were revised in June 2007. Prior to June 2007, as part of the disciplinary process, other sanctions were also available depending on circumstances.

The following table how many times each sanction was used in each of the last three years.

| | 2006 | 2007 | 2008 to date |
|---|---|---|---|
| Formal/Final Warning | 8 | 2 | 2 |

Departmental Training

Mr. Hands: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the Answer of 11 November 2008, Official Report, column 1125W, on departmental training, what the (a) duration and (b) cost was of the training received by the Secretary of State. [238430]

Mr. McFadden: The training lasted under an hour and was delivered from within existing internal resources at marginal cost.

Energy Supply: Competition

David Taylor: To ask the Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent discussions he has had with (a) Ofgem and (b) the Competition Commission on the operation of the energy market; and if he will make a statement. [224255]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 17 September 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

My right hon. Friend the Secretary of State met with the Gas and Electricity Markets Authority on 22 May 2008. Furthermore, on 18 August 2008 he wrote to Ofgem asking for their views on the possibility of requiring the accounting separation of vertically integrated energy companies in order to improve transparency in the energy markets.

My right hon. Friend has had no recent meetings with the Competition Commission on the operation of the energy market.

Energy: Coatbridge

Mr. Tom Clarke: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many people in Coatbridge, Chryston and Bellshill constituency are living in fuel poverty; and if he will make a statement. [225961]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

The Department does not hold this information. Fuel poverty is a devolved responsibility, and while we compile estimates of fuel poverty at an overall UK level, collection of statistics for each country is undertaken by each devolved office.

EU External Trade

Mr. Ancram: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what discussions the Secretary of State has had with the EU Commissioner for Trade since his appointment; and what matters were discussed. [235158]

Mr. McFadden: The Secretary of State met the EU Commissioner for Trade on 14 October 2008 for a general handover of the Trade Commissioner's portfolio and on 24 November 2008 for a general discussion of trade issues.

Fireworks: Children

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent steps the Government has taken to reduce the risk of children having access to fireworks. [234758]

Mr. Thomas [holding answer 12 November 2008]: The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) undertakes annual communication activity to promote firework safety.

This year's campaign highlights the fact that it is illegal for under 18s to possess fireworks in a public place, and specifically targets shopkeepers reminding them that it is illegal to sell fireworks to under 18s.

Fireworks: Safety

Mr. Jim Cunningham: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent steps the Government has taken to publicise the dangers of fireworks. [234757]

Mr. Thomas [holding answer 12 November 2008]: The Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (BERR) undertakes annual communication activity to promote firework safety. This year's activity comprised:

Regional public relations (PR) activity working closely with Fire and Rescue Services, managed by the Central Office of Information (COI) News and PR.

National and Trade PR activity, managed by BERR Press Office and Media Features Teams.

Printing and distribution of pre-existing marketing materials (information leaflets and posters).

Hosting of a dedicated section on fireworks on BERR's website www.berr.gov.uk/fireworks Promotion and distribution of existing fireworks TV and radio fillers by COI.

Fisheries: Compensation

Mr. Austin Mitchell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform when he expects to complete his review of cases in the Icelandic Fishermen's Compensation Scheme; and when he expects to pay those people ruled by the Ombudsman to be eligible for payment but not yet paid. [225553]

Mr. McFadden: I have been looking in recent months at the eligibility criteria and rules of the trawlermen scheme, to see whether changes to the rules might better fulfil the policy intentions of the scheme. I hope to make a statement shortly.

Fuel Poverty

Mr. Paice: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what estimate he has made of the number of fuel poor households in each of the last 10 years; and if he will make a statement. [223652]

Joan Ruddock [holding answer 15 September 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

Most recent figures show that there were approximately 2.5 million households in fuel poverty in the UK in 2005. This is around 4 million fewer than in 1996, but represents an increase of 0.5 million households since 2004, reflecting the impact of rising energy prices on fuel poverty. The following table shows estimated numbers of households in fuel poverty in each of the recently available years for both England and the UK:

Level of fuel poverty

| | Total in millions of households | |
|---|---|---|
| | UK | England |
| 1996 | 6.5 | 5.1 |
| 1998 | 4.75 | 3.4 |
| 2001 | 2.5 | 1.7 |
| 2002 | 2.25 | 1.4 |
| 2003 | 2 | 1.2 |
| 2004 | 2 | 1.2 |
| 2005 | 2.5 | 1.5 |
| 2006 | 3.5 | 2.4 |

Home Computing Initiative

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform which companies participated in the home computing initiative; when each company (a) joined and (b) left the initiative; what the remit of each company was; and on what commercial terms they became part of the initiative. [235149]

Mr. McFadden: The Department did not require this level of detail. However,

(a) The Office of Fair Trading have a paper record of 2,375 companies that applied to be members of the HCI Group Licence. A copy of the list of companies will be placed in the Library of each House. HCI Alliance records show that 1,265 employers actually implemented HCI schemes (These records are confidential).

(b) No companies left the initiative. They simply could not transact "new" schemes with Income Tax and Class 1 NIC benefits after April 2006. Schemes running prior to April 2006 were not affected by the removal of s320 benefits. All schemes in the market providing income tax benefit, will cease in 2009.

The remit of each company was to provide a worthwhile benefit to staff and their families, to promote IT skills and thus to retain staff.

The commercial terms were a matter for companies providing HCI schemes and their clients.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many (a) laptops and (b) items of software were leased to families as part of the home computing initiative; and on what terms they were leased. [235150]

Mr. McFadden: The Department did not require this level of detail on how many (a) people or (b) families were leased laptops and software as part of the HCI. However, figures supplied by The Digital Inclusion Technology Group (DITG) estimate that 400,000 PCs were loaned through the scheme, with a split of (i) 60 per cent. were laptop/40 per cent. desktop, (ii) software was preloaded and is therefore included in this figure.

The terms they were leased on, where a matter for employers providing they conformed within the necessary guidance provided by HMRC and OFT.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many (a) people and (b) families were leased (i) laptops and (ii) software as part of the home computing initiative. [235152]

Mr. McFadden: The Department did not require this level of detail on how many (a) people or (b) families were leased laptops and software as part of the HCI. However, figures supplied by The Digital Inclusion Technology Group (DITG) estimate that 400,000 PCs were loaned through the scheme, with a split of (i) 60 per cent. were laptop/40 per cent. desktop, (ii) Software was preloaded and is therefore included in this figure.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what assessment was made of the effectiveness of the home computing initiative in each year between 1999 and 2006. [235153]

Mr. McFadden: The Office of e-Envoy had policy responsibility for The Home Computing Initiative (HCI) between 1999 and 2004. Responsibility for HCI Policy was transferred to this Department in January 2004.

From 2004 and up to the removal of the 1999 tax break in 2006, the Department met regularly with HMT, OFT and the HCI Alliance (BT, Intel and Microsoft) to monitor progress. A core part of this Department's contribution to the project was the production of an information pack which made the guidance material easier to understand for employers and employees wishing to take part in the scheme.

Our assessment indicated that the Home Computer Initiative had been successful in reaching those in employment. However, it was not reaching those who were not working and Government wanted to refocus its resources to support groups with the poorest access to technology such as the unemployed, elderly, disabled and low-income groups. Consequently the tax exemption was removed.

Since the demise of 1999 Tax exemption, Government have launched the Home Access Programme—The programme aims to ensure that every learner in England (five to 19 years old and in maintained education) has access to increased educational opportunities via ICT resources at home. The programme is led by the Home Access Taskforce and chaired by the Minister for Schools and Learners, my right hon. Friend the Member for South Dorset (Jim Knight).

The Secretary of State for Wales and Minister with responsibility for digital inclusion, my right hon. Friend the Member for Torfaen (Mr. Murphy) recently launched the cross Government consultation paper "Delivering Digital Inclusion—An Action Plan for Consultation". The action plan seeks to provide a framework for achieving greater digital equality within the UK, through both immediate actions and a number of proposals put forward for wider consultation.

Mr. Hoban: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the estimated (a) total, (b) start up, (c) monthly running and (d) wind up costs to the public purse were of the home computing initiative. [235157]

Mr. McFadden: The Home Computing Initiative was started up with a mixture of Government and Industry contributions. The Office of the e-Envoy led the project in conjunction with industry partners from the HCI Alliance (BT, Intel and Microsoft). The only costs to Government were our initial start up contribution of £370,000 + staff resources.

Memoranda of understanding between the Office of the e-Envoy and each key partner and Department was drawn up and agreed in November 2003, formalising each organisation's commitment.

It was agreed that Government's objective was to produce and distribute information packs, promoting the availability of the 1999 tax break, help industry create a website, and arrange a joint industry—Government launch event on 26 January 2004 supported by PR activity as well as promote the benefits of use of ICT.

(c) Monthly running costs were met by the HCI Alliance and this Department does not hold this information.

(d) There were no winds up costs for Government as HCI schemes were run by Industry (HCI Alliance), not Government. Home Computing Initiative Schemes (HCD were not Government schemes.

Intellectual Property: Internet

Mr. Don Foster: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what discussions he has had with Ofcom on negotiations over the codes of practice relating to the Memorandum of Understanding signed between rights owners and internet service providers. [238353]

Mr. McFadden: None. The memorandum work is progressing along the lines laid down in the actual memorandum of understanding. The codes of practice will be addressed in the new year once the current work on the notification trial and the report on possible technical measures have been completed. We recognise that the memorandum of understanding raises challenging questions for all parties, but we expect there to be broad engagement across relevant sectors on the codes of practice to be developed in the course of this process.

Low Pay: Bolton

Mr. Crausby: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many (a) male and (b) female workers in Bolton North East constituency receive wages at the national minimum rate. [222832]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 6 October 2008]: Information on earnings is taken from the ONS' Annual Survey of Hours and Earnings (ASHE) dataset for 2007. Information for individual parliamentary constituencies is not readily available in the ASHE dataset, however, information is available on a government office region basis.

The following table shows the number of males and females paid at or below the national minimum wage as set on 1 October 2006 for the north west government region in 2007. Also shown are the number of males and females paid at or below 10 pence over the NMW threshold.

| | Male | Female | Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| At or below NMW | 38,000 | 65,000 | 104,000 |
| At or below NMW +10p | 49,000 | 91,000 | 140,000 |

Note:
National Minimum Wage levels 1 October 2006:
16 to 17-year-old = £3.30
Development rate (18 to 21-year-olds) = £4.45
Adult rate (aged 22+) = £5.35

Office of Gas and Electricity Markets: Gyms

James Duddridge: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what the annual running costs have been of the gymnasium used by staff at the Office of Gas and Electricity Markets in each year between 2003 and 2007. [225049]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

The gymnasium at 9 Millbank is funded by licence revenues and membership subscriptions, and not from the public purse.

James Duddridge: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many Office of Gas and Electricity Markets staff have membership of the gymnasium at 9 Millbank, London, paid for from the public purse. [225201]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

None. The gymnasium at 9 Millbank is funded through licence fee income and member subscriptions, and not through the public purse.

Total membership, which is principally made up of staff from Ofgem, DEFRA and contractors, is currently 284.

Parental Leave: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many (a) mothers claimed statutory paid maternity leave and (b) men claimed statutory paid paternity leave in Crosby constituency in (i) 2007 and (ii) 2008. [236682]

Mr. McFadden: Information on the take-up of paid maternity and paternity leave is not centrally available by constituency.

A new mother must take a minimum of two weeks' leave after the birth of her child. The most recent estimates of take-up of paid maternity leave are based on the Maternity Rights and mothers' employment decisions in Britain: Survey of Mothers, conducted in 2007. The survey found 88 per cent. of new mothers took at least some paid statutory maternity leave.

The most recent estimates of take-up of paternity leave are based on the Maternity and Paternity Rights and Benefits in Britain: Survey of Parents, conducted in 2005. The survey found 93 per cent. of fathers surveyed took some time off around the time of the birth. Of the fathers who took time off, 79 per cent. took at least some paid statutory paternity leave. The Government estimate that around 400,000 fathers are eligible for the entitlement.

Regional Planning and Development: Finance

Chris Ruane: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how much his Department spent in each regional development agency area on (a) rural, (b) urban and (c) coastal communities in each of the last 10 years for which figures are available. [238657]

Mr. McFadden: The Department does not record expenditure as requested in the question. Furthermore, to separate out these data would incur disproportionate cost.

Renewable Energy

Lynne Jones: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the written statement of 10 July 2008, Official Report, column 79WS, on the EU Energy Council, whether the UK is classified as a country with potentially expensive domestic renewables resources; and if he will place in the Library a copy of the UK/Germany/Poland proposal. [224890]

Mr. Mike O'Brien: I have been asked to reply.

The UK could be considered as a country with potentially expensive renewable resources—some of our sources of renewable energy (e.g. wind power) are relatively expensive compared with some of those (e.g. biomass, hydro) which are more readily available in many other member states.

I will place a copy of the UK/Germany/Poland proposal in the Library as requested.

Rescue Services: Telecommunications

Bob Spink: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform (1) if he will hold discussions with Ofcom about (a) the pricing of radio licences and (b) the effect on the operations of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution of changes in licence costs; [236552]

(2) if he will make it his policy to ensure that the Royal National Lifeboat Institution pay a reduced rate for radio licences; and if he will make a statement. [236553]

Mr. McFadden [holding answer 17 November 2008]: The pricing of radio licences is a matter for the independent regulator, Ofcom.

Ofcom has recently consulted on the application of Administered Incentive Pricing (AIP) to maritime and aeronautical uses of the radio spectrum. This is in line with agreed policy that users should pay a market rate for the use of spectrum, with the intention of incentivising more efficient use of an increasingly scarce resource.

Charities such as the RNLI already benefit from a discount under existing arrangements and Ofcom have announced that under the new proposals they estimate that RNLI would pay under £20,000 for radio use, that is lower than they currently pay now.

Small Firms Loan Guarantee Scheme

Alan Duncan: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many successful applications to the Small Firms Loan Guarantee were valued at (a) £5,000 to £20,000, (b) £20,001 to £50,000, (c) £50,001 to £100,000, (d) £100,001 to £150,000, (e) £150,001 to £200,000 and (f) £200,001 to £250,000 in each of the last five years. [229010]

Ian Pearson: The following table sets out the number of loans by value made under the Government's Small Firms Loan Guarantee in the last five full calendar years.

| | 2003 | 2004 | 2005 | 2006 | 2007 |

| Total | 5,167 | 6,899 | 6,843 | 3,430 | 2,747 |

Direct year-on-year comparisons would not be appropriate because of changes to the operation and delivery of SFLG during this period, including as a result of the implementation of the Graham Review changes in 2005, which created distinct versions of the scheme.

Alan Duncan: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many successful applications under the Small Firms Loan Guarantee were submitted in the (a) North West, (b) North East, (c) Midlands, (d) South West, (e) South East and (f) London in each of the last five years. [229011]

Ian Pearson: The breakdown of SFLG loans made to businesses within each of the English regions for each of the last five financial years is set out in the following table.

| | 2003-04 | 2004-05 | 2005-06 | 2006-07 | 2007-08 |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| North West | 628 | 743 | 605 | 300 | 328 |
| North East | 179 | 236 | 229 | 125 | 110 |
| Yorkshire and Humber | 447 | 565 | 494 | 217 | 186 |
| West Midlands | 498 | 676 | 535 | 244 | 251 |

| London and South East | 1,441 | 2,067 | 1,810 | 846 | 691 |
| South West | 642 | 748 | 570 | 212 | 212 |

Direct year-on-year comparisons would not be appropriate because of changes to the operation and delivery of SFLG during this period, including as a result of the implementation of the Graham Review changes in 2005, which created distinct versions of the scheme.

Tour Operators: EC Action

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what recent discussions he has had with his EU counterparts on the operation of the EU Package Travel Directive; and if he will make a statement. [230409]

Mr. Thomas: The Department has pressed the European Commission to review the Directive (90/314/EEC). This process is underway and this Department will continue to engage the Commission as this work progresses. At the UK's suggestion, the Commission is currently undertaking consumer research in respect of leisure travel arrangements not currently within the scope of the directive in order that any future proposals should be properly evidence-based. We expect proposals to be published by the end of 2009.

Trade: Hong Kong Special Administrative Region

Andrew Rosindell: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform what steps the Government is taking to promote trade between the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region and the United Kingdom. [231758]

Mr. Thomas: Hong Kong is one of the UK's most important business partners in the Asia Pacific region. This year there have been ministerial and VIP visits to promote the bilateral trade and investment relationship by my right hon. Friend the Foreign Secretary (February), and my right hon. Friend the then Secretary of State for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform, my right hon. Friend the Member for Barrow and Furness (Mr. Hutton) (June), and the Lord Mayor of London (July).

Her Majesty's Consul General and the UK Trade and Investment team actively support British business in Hong Kong including practical market entry assistance, market research and support on trade missions and trade fairs. The Consulate General's premises are also regularly used to host events for British companies. The UK Trade and Investment team in Hong Kong are also working with their colleagues in Mainland China and the China Britain Business Council to provide British companies with integrated trade services covering Hong Kong and the Pearl River Delta.

Alongside mainland China, Hong Kong is included in UKTI's High Growth Markets Programme.

In addition UKTI is working closely with the Hong Kong Trade Development Council through the Hong Kong/UK Business Partnership to identify and deliver increased bilateral trade opportunities.

UK Trade and Investment: Public Appointments

Jeremy Corbyn: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the answer of 15 September 2008, Official Report, column 2147W, on UK trade and investment: public appointments, what the salary of the head of the UK Trade and Investment Defence and Security Organisation is. [227137]

Mr. Thomas: The salary paid to HDSO is in the range of £195,000 to £200,000. Full details of his remuneration will be published in the UKTI Annual Report and Accounts 2008-09 alongside those of UKTI's senior management.

UK Trade and Investment: Secondment

David Taylor: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform how many secondments from the private sector to the Defence and Security Organisation of UK Trade and Investment there have been since its creation. [238398]

Mr. Thomas [holding answer 24 November 2008]: No secondments from the private sector have been made to the UK Trade and Investment Defence and Security Organisation since its creation on 1 April 2008.

Unfair Practices: Sales

Mr. Maude: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform pursuant to the Answer to the hon. Member for Chichester of 20 February 2008, Official Report, column 727W, on unfair practices: sales, what definition of a consumer for the purposes of protection from unfair trading his Department uses. [233959]

Mr. Thomas: The Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008, which implement the Unfair Commercial Practices Directive, define a consumer as "any individual who in relation to a commercial practice is acting for purposes which are outside his trade, business, craft or profession".

Wind Power

Mr. David Jones: To ask the Minister of State, Department for Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform when he expects to announce his decision on the application by Npower Renewables for consent for the development of the Gwynt y Mor wind farm under section 36 of the Electricity Act 1989. [224508]

Mr. Mike O'Brien [holding answer 6 October 2008]: I have been asked to reply.

I will do so shortly.

INNOVATION, UNIVERSITIES AND SKILLS

Adult Education

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many learner places classified as adult learner responsive (a) were funded by the Learning and Skills Council in each of the last five years and (b) will be funded by the Learning and Skills Council in each of the next three years. [230753]

Mr. Simon: Our planned and continuing strategy has been to prioritise funding away from a high number of shorter and low quality courses towards longer courses that offer the greatest opportunity to gain employability skills and further progression in learning.

Total adult (aged 19 or over) further education learner places funded through the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) for the last five academic years for which data are available are shown in the following table:

LSC-funded FE adult learners 2002/03 to 2006/07

The forecast learner places supported through the adult learner responsive route for the next three academic years are shown in the following table.

Planned volumes for 2007/08 are also included here, as final figures for this year are not yet available:

These figures are for planning purposes only, and do not include learning activity that is fully funded by the learner or other non LSC funding routes. We are currently working on the LSC Grant Letter and Statement of Priorities for 2009-10 which will set confirm the investment strategy for 2009-10 and associated learner numbers.

Learner places have been classified as either adult learner responsive or employer responsive since the publication of the LSC Grant Letter for 2008/09. It is therefore not possible to directly compare pre-2008/09 data with post-2008/09 data.

Departmental Internet

Mrs. May: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills for which Government websites his Department is responsible; how many visitors each received in the last period for which figures are available; and what the cost of maintaining each site was in that period. [235042]

Mr. Simon: The Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills was created in June 2007. The current website was created in October 2007 and no visitor figures prior to October 2007 are available. The cost of maintaining the Department's corporate site was £104,336 in 2007-08 with 494,596 unique visitors to the site October 2007-March 2008.

The following websites became the responsibility of the Department in June 2007 and their visitor figures and maintenance costs for the full 2007-08 period are available.

Departmental Land

Sarah Teather: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much surplus land (a) his Department and (b) its agencies own; and what the (i) area and (ii) estimated monetary value of each site is. [236421]

Mr. Simon: Neither the Department nor its agencies own any surplus land.

Departmental Older Workers

Mr. Burstow: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people recruited by his Department in 2007-08 were aged over (a) 55 years and (b) 60 years; and what percentage this represented of the number of new recruits in each case. [235238]

Mr. Simon: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 18 November 2008, Official Report, column 280W.

Departmental Postal Services

Daniel Kawczynski: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether his Department uses Royal Mail as the primary company for sending its post, parcels and packages. [238319]

Mr. Simon: The Department's postal services are provided through the Department of Business, Enterprise and Regulatory Reform and the Department for Children, Schools and Families. In both cases, the majority of DIUS's external post, parcels and packages are dispatched via Royal Mail (including Parcelforce).

Departmental Television

Mr. Heald: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether the television licence fee in his official Ministerial residence is paid for from public funds. [235343]

Mr. Simon: Ministers in the Department for Innovation, Universities and Skills do not have the use of an official ministerial residence.

Departmental Training

Mr. Hands: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what personal training courses at public expense he has undertaken since his appointment. [238954]

Mr. Simon: None.

Departmental Written Questions

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many questions for written answer were tabled to his Department in Session (a) 2002-03, (b) 2003-04, (c) 2004-05, (d) 2005-06, (e) 2006-07 and (f) 2007-08 to date; and how many were (i) answered substantively and (ii) not answered on grounds of disproportionate cost. [235391]

Mr. Simon: The numbers of written parliamentary questions received by this Department in each session since it was formed on 28 June 2007 are shown in the following table:

| Session | Total number of written parliamentary questions tabled |
|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 511 |
| 2007-08 (to date) | 1,942 |

Information on how many questions received a substantive answer or were not answered on disproportionate cost grounds is not held centrally and could be provided only at disproportionate cost.

Engineering Workforce Development Scheme: Crosby

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many workers in Crosby constituency have received training under the Engineering Workforce Development Scheme since its inception. [236680]

Mr. Lammy: Following extensive inquiries with a wide range of regional partners including the Northwest Regional Development Agency, it has not been possible to identify the engineering workforce development scheme in Crosby. If my hon. Friend wishes to write to me separately with more detail about the scheme, I will endeavour to provide the information requested.

English Language: General Certificate of Secondary Education

Michael Gove: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the number of over-16 year-olds who do not have a grade C or above in English at GCSE or an equivalent qualification. [224566]

Mr. Simon: The Skills for Life survey in 2003 estimated the literacy and numeracy levels and functional ability of adults in England. The Skills for Life survey reported that 10 per cent. of adults aged 16 to 65 achieved a D-G grade in English Language. Half of the respondents in the 2003 survey (51 per cent.) had a grade A*- C GCSE (or equivalent) in this subject and the rest (40 per cent .) did not have this qualification.

Since we launched our SfL strategy in 2001, more than 2.25 million people have improved their literacy and numeracy skills meeting our 2010 PSA target more than two years early.

Further Education: Debts

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what the level of total debt taken out by further education colleges at commercial rates of interest has been in each year since 2001. [235330]

Mr. Simon: Information on the level of debt taken out by further education (FE) colleges is not held at departmental level. The financial position of FE colleges is a matter for the Learning and Skills Council (LSC). The LSC's chief executive, Mark Haysom, will write to the hon. Member for Havant with the information requested and a copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Languages: Further Education

David Howarth: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what progress he has made towards the implementation of Lord Justice Auld's recommendation that the Government should consider central funding of further education establishments to equip them, where necessary, to provide courses for lesser known languages for the Diploma in Public Service Interpreting; and if he will make a statement. [239011]

Mr. Simon: I would like to refer the hon. Member to the reply given on 24 November, Official Report, column 1029W.

Learning and Skills Council for England

Mr. Dai Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what proportion of the Learning and Skills Council budget is allocated to (a) Gwent and (b) Wales. [239008]

Mr. Simon: The Learning and Skills Council's (LSC) [illegible]t is to provide funding for England only. The Welsh [illegible]bly is responsible for Learning and Skills in Wales. [illegible]er section 12 of the Further Education and Training Act 2007, the LSC may take part in arrangements in relation to Wales and Scotland to assist in the training for employment opportunities, subject to the consent of the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers. This has allowed Wales to participate in the Career Development Loan Scheme. Approximately 4 per cent. of the Career Development Loans scheme is allocated to Wales, this equates to £947,000. No figures are available for Gwent.

National Vocational Qualifications: Horse Riding

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how much funding the Government will allocate for horse riding and horse care national vocational qualifications in each of the next three years; and if he will make a statement; [238471]

(2) what public funds were made available for national vocational qualifications in horse riding and horse care in (a) 2006-07 and (b) 2007-08 . [238472]

Mr. Simon: As announced through the Government's Grant Letter to the Learning and Skills Council (LSC) on 18 November, funding for adult learning will be £3.3 billion in 2009-10, an increase of 4.2 per cent. compared with 2008-09.

Colleges and providers are given indicative budgets based on the expected delivery of an overall volume of learning; the actual funding paid will depend on the choice of learning area made by employers and learners. As funding is not allocated at an individual course level, details of the amount made available to support these specific qualifications are not held centrally in the Department.

However, the LSC are able to provide a breakdown of funds directed towards specific qualifications in past years. I have asked Mark Haysom, chief executive of the LSC, to write out detailing how much was spent on NVQs in horse riding and horse care in 2006-07 and 2007-08. A copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library. It is not possible, however, for any estimate to be given of future funding, since investment from the LSC in specific qualifications comes only in response to demand from learners and employers.

All the sector skills councils (Lantra, for equine studies) are working to develop sector qualifications strategies. These identify the training and skills needs of their sector, and the qualifications that best meet these needs. Public funding for vocational qualifications will increasingly be focused on those qualifications that are deemed a priority for and by particular sectors.

Mr. Steen: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills whether he has plans further to develop the national vocational qualifications for horse riding and horse care. [238473]

Mr. Simon: Sector Skills Councils lead in identifying and driving the development, with awarding bodies, of vocational qualifications which are really needed by their sectors and will best meet the needs of employers and learners.

Performance Appraisal

David Simpson: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many staff in his Department did not achieve an acceptable assessment grade in their annual report in the latest reporting year for which figures are available. [235220]

Mr. Simon: The Department was created on 28 June 2007. The Department's own performance process was introduced this year but will not trigger any reports, including those judged to be unacceptable, until March 2009. Analysis of performance markings using the legacy Department's processes for 2008 is expected to be complete by January 2009.

Plain English

Philip Davies: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many documents produced by his Department have been submitted to the Plain English Campaign for approval for Crystal Mark status since his Department's creation; in each year since 2005; and how many documents achieved such status in each year. [231120]

Mr. Simon: DIUS was formed following machinery of government changes on 28 June 2007. DIUS publications are produced by many policy teams who use different suppliers and we do not have a central record of how many have sort approval for Crystal Mark status or how many achieved that status. The information requested can therefore be provided only at a disproportionate cost.

However, DIUS shares editorial services with the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) and therefore only uses editors on the DCSF framework. While there is no requirement in the shared services protocol for documents to be submitted to the Plain English Campaign, all editors on the DCSF framework are made aware of the importance of writing in plain English as stated in the role definition for editors:

"It is our aim to produce products which are informative, accessible and written in plain English. Each product needs to be tailored to its respective audience, both in terms of design and content."

The Department also uses the Central Office of Information (COI) who project manage key DIUS publications. COI has confirmed that

"all COI publications editors are trained and able to write in clear English (which) is about writing in a style that is clear, relevant, appropriate and easy for the intended audience to use, understand and act upon the first time they read it."

The Department also uses the Further Education Communications Gateway panel (FECG), which defines and promotes standards for producing good quality communications for the FE System. The FECG panel currently reviews proposals for and drafts of new DIUS, DCSF and LSC publications that are intended primarily for providers in the FE system and have through this work developed publishing guidelines.

Pre-school Education: Qualifications

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how much on average it cost (a) his Department to provide and (b) a student to complete an NVQ level 3 course in child care in the last 12 months; and what estimate he has made of the average cost to employers per employee taking such a course in that period. [233627]

Mr. Simon: All qualifications that receive public funding through the Learning and Skills Council (LSC), including NVQ level 3 qualifications, are funded at a national rate. This rate is based on the number of hours required to complete the course and a national fee assumption of the amount that either the learner or employer will contribute to the cost of the course, where full fee remission does not apply. For 2008-09, the national fee assumption is 42.5 per cent.

While the national fee assumption is taken into account in the calculation of funding rates, it is for colleges and providers to determine the actual level of fee charged. Where a learner is aged 19-25 and studying for their first full level 3 qualification, they will pay no fee where their qualification is delivered through the adult learner-responsive route or through Train to Gain.

The actual amount of funding that an individual college or provider receives to deliver an NVQ level 3 qualification may vary, due to the application of a provider factor. The provider factor takes account of, for example, costs arising from delivering to learners from disadvantaged areas, and the costs related to delivering specific types of course.

I have asked Mark Haysom, the chief executive of the LSC, to write detailing the cost of NVQ level 3 qualifications in child care for the 2008-09 academic year. A copy of his reply will be placed in the House Library.

Research: Finance

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills which international research facilities receive funding from the EU budget. [238878]

Mr. Simon: The following research facilities include non EU Members, and receive funding from the EU budget: CERN, the Institut Laue-Langevin and the European Synchrotron Radiation Facility. The European Union does not provide recurrent funding for any of these facilities but has provided funding in response to competitive bids to the EC such as through the Euratom or framework programmes.

In addition, ITER (the International Tokomak Experimental Reactor) is in the process of being built at Cadarache in France. The European Union framework programme provides 36 per cent. of the funding for ITER.

Students: Income

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills what estimate he has made of the average gross annual employment income of (a) full-time and (b) part-time undergraduate students who undertook paid work in the last academic year for which figures are available. [238877]

Mr. Lammy: The Student Income and Expenditure Survey (SIES) is a comprehensive study of students' income, expenditure, borrowing and debt. The 2004-05 study showed that 56 per cent. of full-time and 83 per cent. of part-time undergraduate students undertook paid work at some time during the academic year—either during term time, during the short vacations or both. For those undertaking such work, their net earnings (after tax) were on average £3,250 for full-time and £10,390 part time students. Gross earnings are not available.

The 2007-08 Student Income and Expenditure Survey will be published in early 2009.

Train to Gain Programme

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many people living in the Vale of York have participated in Train to Gain in each of the last three years. [238069]

Mr. Simon: There were 190 people living in the parliamentary constituency of the Vale of York who started a Train to Gain programme in 2006-07.

Notes:

1. Train to Gain was created in April 2006. Standard reporting practice is to include the months of April to July 2006 in the 2006-07 academic year. The figure of 190 therefore covers Train to Gain starts over a 16 month period.

2. Fully audited figures are not yet available for 2007-08.

Unemployment

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills pursuant to the answer of 9 June 2008, Official Report, columns 39-42W, on unemployment, if he will break down the information in each table by (a) socio-economic group and (b) ethnicity. [238792]

Mr. Simon: The estimates of numbers Not in Education, Employment or Training (NEET) and NEET rates for 16-24 year olds presented in the following tables are taken from the Labour Force Survey (LFS) for Quarter 4 1997 and Quarter 4 2007 as in the previous reply. In order to ensure that the estimates are reasonably robust the tables shown here are for all England given the nature of the breakdowns requested. Despite the condensed nature of the groups shown in the tables some of the estimates are based on small samples and should be treated with caution.

The "socio-economic group" or National Statistics Socio-Economic Classification (NS-SEC) of a respondent to the Labour Force Survey is based on their own current or past occupation. Consequently such a breakdown is not well suited to young people as it will merely reflect their own most recent occupation rather than their family background. Nevertheless information on two broad groupings of NS-SEC are shown below for Quarter 4 2007. Comparable information by NS-SEC is not available for 1997.

[3] For the purposes of this analysis Lower NS-SEC groups are those from the semi routine, routine and never worked, unemployed over a year, not elsewhere classified (NEC) categories. All full time students are defined to be in the NEC category and will therefore be counted in the denominator for the lower NS-SEC groups.

In order to present reasonably robust estimates the only split by ethnicity here is between white and non-white. There was also a change in the definition of ethnicity between 1997 and 2007 which would make it difficult to present consistent data for a more detailed breakdown.

United Kingdom Accreditation Service: Consultants

Mr. Hurd: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills pursuant to the answer to the hon. Member for Tunbridge Wells of 1 May 2008, Official Report, columns 686-87W, on the United Kingdom Accreditation Service: Grayling Political Strategy, if he will place in the Library a copy of the reply from the Chief Executive of Ufi. [237857]

Mr. Simon [holding answer 20 November 2008]: I have arranged for a copy of the reply from Sarah Jones, the chief executive of Ufi, to be placed in the Library.

Written Questions: Government Responses

Mr. Willetts: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills how many questions for written answer have been tabled to his Department during the current Session; and how many have yet to receive a substantive reply. [238879]

Mr. Simon: This Department has received a total of 1,942 written parliamentary questions for answer this Session, of which 111 still require a substantive reply.

Young People: Unemployment

Miss McIntosh: To ask the Secretary of State for Innovation, Universities and Skills (1) how many 16 to 24 year olds were not in employment, education or training in (a) North Yorkshire, (b) London and (c) England in each year since 1997; [237115]

(2) how many 16 to 24 year olds were in post-16 education in (a) North Yorkshire, (b) London and (c) England in each year since 1997. [237113]

Mr. Simon: The following tables show estimates of the numbers and percentage of people aged 16 to 24 (i) not in education, employment or training (NEET) and (ii) in post-16 education for North Yorkshire LEA, London and England. Post-16 education is defined here as being enrolled on an education course, studying or working towards a qualification or undertaking an apprenticeship.

The estimates are from the Annual Population Survey (APS) for 2004 to 2007 and from its predecessor the Annual Local Area Labour Force Survey (ALALFS) for 2000 to 2003. The definitions and methods used are the same for both the ALALFS and the APS. Comparable information is not available for earlier years.

CHILDREN, SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES

Academies

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what plans he has for the academies programme beyond 2012; and if he will make a statement. [238110]

Jim Knight: The Government are committed to continuing to develop the academies programme and establishing at least 400 academies.

Academies: Admissions

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils he estimates will be in an academy in 2009; and if he will make a statement. [238109]

Jim Knight: There are around 150,000 students in the academies that have already opened. The target for 2009 is for up to another 80 academies to open. The average size of an academy is around 1,200 pupils so 80 new academies will add up to around 96,000 extra places in academies for 2009.

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what plans his Department has to conduct a review of academies' admissions policies and procedures; and if he will make a statement. [238111]

Jim Knight: The Government have no plans to conduct a review of Academies admissions. Academies are required by law to cater for children of all abilities. The School Admissions Code that came into force on 28 February 2007 applies to all maintained schools and Academies when setting their admission arrangements for September 2008 and subsequent years.

Academies: Higher Education

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many universities (a) are sponsors and (b) have expressed an interest in becoming a sponsor of an academy; and if he will make a statement. [237652]

Jim Knight: There are currently 48 universities involved in the academies programme; some are involved in more than one project and/or in more than one role at different academies. Of these 48:

35 are involved as sponsors (or potential sponsors)

22 are involved as educational partners (or potential educational partners).

Academies: Local Education Authorities

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many academies are being co-sponsored by a local education authority; and if he will make a statement. [237655]

Jim Knight: There are seven open academies that are currently jointly sponsored by a local authority and another 21 in various stages of planning.

All academies must have a local authority representative on their governing body. Where a local authority is a co-sponsor, they can appoint up to two governors to the governing body. However, the lead sponsor must appoint the majority.

Academies: Per Capita Costs

Dr. Gibson: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how much funding per pupil was provided to city academies in (a) Norwich North constituency and (b) England in (i) 2007-08 and (ii) 2008-09; how many pupils attended each city academy in (A) Norwich North constituency and (B) England in each of these years; and for how many pupils in each city academy in (1) Norwich North constituency and (2) England funding was provided in each of those years. [238316]

Jim Knight: Academies are funded on an academic year rather than a financial year basis. We aim to provide academies with funding for running costs that is equivalent to other state-funded schools in similar circumstances in their local authority. This requires us to make certain adjustments, for example, to reflect a phased intake of pupils, or VAT status. In addition, academies are funded to buy services that local authorities would normally provide to other schools free of charge, such as education welfare services.

As The Open Academy, Norwich, only opened in September 2008, it did not receive any recurrent funding in 2007-08. For academic year 2008-09, The Open Academy received £5,200 per pupil, based on the academy's forecast of 538 pupils and calculated using the figures for other schools in the local authority. This excludes the extra money paid to cover for increased costs to replicate additional local authority central expenditure on services such as education welfare offices, HR and legal fees; and also a one-off start-up grant to cover items such as new uniforms and materials. These additional elements totalled £1,531,269.

The following table shows the latest available data on average per pupil funding of academies and maintained community secondary schools in English local authorities with academies:

| Financial year | Average per pupil funding in academies[1] | Average school based expenditure per pupil in maintained community secondary schools in local authorities with academies |
|---|---|---|
| 2006-07 | 4,600 | 4,684 |
| 2007-08 | 4,927 | Not available |

[1] Excludes elements paid to academies to compensate for increased costs (start-up grant; VAT grant; earmarked additional grants; and local authority central spend equivalent grant).

The actual number of pupils at The Open Academy has been counted in the autumn term Schools Census but the data are not yet available. As the academy is in its first year, its funding is based on a forecast and will be subject to adjustment if actual pupil numbers vary from the estimate by more than 2.5 per cent.

Academies: Pupil Exclusions

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what plans he has for the Independent Appeals Panels for exclusions from academies; and if he will make a statement. [237656]

Jim Knight: Pupils at academies have exactly the same rights as pupils in other state-funded schools to an independent appeal panel hearing in cases where they are permanently excluded. Academies are required, by their funding agreements, to follow the same procedures in relation to such appeal panels as apply in maintained schools.

Academies: Sponsorship

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many new sponsors he estimates will become actively involved in the academies programme in the next 12 months; and if he will make a statement. [238112]

Jim Knight: We have made no estimate of the number of new sponsors that will become actively involved in the academies programme in the next 12 months. The Government remain fully committed to the programme and aims to open up to 80 more academies in 2009 and up to 100 in 2010.

Academies: Standards

Mr. Graham Stuart: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what percentage of academies had 30 per cent. or more pupils gain five A* to C grades at GCSE in each of the last three years; what assessment he has made of how this compares with other schools in the state sector; and if he will make a statement. [238115]

Jim Knight: The following table sets out the percentage of maintained mainstream schools, City Technology Colleges and Academies where at least 30 per cent. of 15 year olds achieved 5+A*-C at GCSE or equivalent for each of the last three years. Figures for Academies cover those for which results are available.

| | Academies (excludes former City Technology Colleges) | | | | | Maintained mainstream schools, City Technology Colleges and Academies | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Total number of Academies | Number and percentage of Academies above 30 5+ A-C* | | Number and percentage of Academies above 30 5+ A-C (including English and maths)* | | Total number of schools | Number and percentage of schools above 30 5+ A-C* | | Number and percentage of schools above 30 5+ A-C (including English and maths)* | |
| | | Number | % | Number | % | | Number | % | Number | % |
| 2004-05 | 14 | 7 | 50 | 0 | 0 | 3,095 | 2,865 | 93 | 2,171 | 70 |
| 2005-06 | 21 | 18 | 86 | 3 | 14 | 3,072 | 2,938 | 96 | 2,283 | 74 |
| 2006-07 | 36 | 34 | 94 | 10 | 28 | 3,045 | 2,981 | 98 | 2,407 | 79 |

Many academies have been established to replace low-attaining schools. By 2007, for the 36 academies with low-attaining predecessor schools, the proportion of pupils gaining five or more GCSEs at A*-C had almost doubled, from 22 per cent. n 2001 to 43.7 per cent. in 2007 compared to a national increase of 12.2 per cent.

Arts: Education

Mr. Gibb: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many school inspections Ofsted carried out on creative learning programmes in 2008. [232792]

Jim Knight: This is a matter for Ofsted. HM Chief Inspector, Christine Gilbert, has written to the hon. Member and a copy of her reply has been placed in the Library.

Letter from Christine Gilbert, dated 6 November 2008:

Your recent parliamentary question has been passed to me, as Her Majesty's Chief Inspector, for a response.

In 2008, Ofsted is carrying out a survey of creativity across the school curriculum and this involves a sample of primary and secondary schools. As of 5 November 2008, 33 schools have been inspected. We intend to inspect a further 10 schools before inspection retrieval and analysis are undertaken and report writing begins. The intention is to publish the report in late summer 2009.

The focus of the survey is the impact of creative learning on the achievement and personal development of pupils. It will consider how schools assess the quality and development of creative learning across the curriculum.

A copy of this reply has been sent to Rt Hon Jim Knight MP, Minister of State for Schools and Learners and will be placed in the library of both Houses.

Building Schools for the Future Programme

Mr. Laws: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many and what proportion of schools built under the Building Schools for the Future programme have (a) 1,000 pupils or fewer, (b) 1,001 to 1,500 pupils, (c) 1,501 to 2,000 pupils and (d) more than 2,000 pupils. [238344]

Jim Knight: The number of pupils in the schools that are expected to be rebuilt or refurbished in Waves 1-3 of Building Schools for the Future is set out in the following table. This includes the 42 BSF schools which are now open. These are the current plans, which may change as projects develop. Plans for schools in later waves of the programme have not yet been finalised.

| Number of pupils | Number of schools | Percentage of total |
|---|---|---|
| 0-1000 | 230 | 56 |
| 1,001-1,500 | 155 | 38 |
| 1,501 -2,000 | 22 | 5 |
| 2,000+ | 5 | 1 |

Notes:
1. Includes mainstream and special schools.
2. Waves 1-3 only
3. Does not include recently built schools which are only receiving ICT funding under BSF.

Building Schools for the Future Programme: Merseyside

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many new school buildings are scheduled to open under the Building Schools for the Future programme in Merseyside in the next three years. [236721]

Jim Knight: 15 new and three refurbished schools are scheduled to open across Merseyside in the next three years. Liverpool city council plans are that six new schools will be built and a further three remodelled over the next three years. Knowsley metropolitan borough council plans to complete the building of seven new learning centres and two special schools by 2011.

St. Helens is in wave 5 of the programme and plans to complete the first new school buildings in 2012. Neighbouring authorities in Sefton and Wirral have yet to start their BSF projects.

Children in Care: Boarding Schools

Tim Loughton: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many pupils who were looked after were boarders according to the most recent school census from which data are available. [235581]

Sarah McCarthy-Fry: It is not possible, given the amount of analysis required, to provide a response to this question within the timeframe required by Parliament. The requested information will be provided by the school census team and placed in the Library in due course.

The most recent census data relate to January 2008

The census shows 34,390 pupils aged 5 to 19 attending primary, secondary and special schools who are classed as being in care as at January 2008. Data published by the Department as SFR 23/2008: Children looked after in England (including adoption and care leavers) year ending 31 March 2008, show 47,600 children aged between five and 19 as being looked after as at 31 March 2008. The school census does not cover all looked after children; information is not collected for pupils in alternative provision, including pupil referral units, FE colleges, voluntary provision and those not in education or training. These differences in coverage will explain the different counts to an extent, but it is possible that the school census undercounts the number of looked after children in primary, secondary and special schools.

Children in Care: Crime

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what steps he plans to take to assist local authorities in preventing offending by looked-after children. [234038]

Beverley Hughes: I would refer my hon. Friend to the reply given on 11 November, Official Report, column 1067-8W.

With the Children and Young Persons Act receiving royal assent and to deliver the commitments set out in the Care Matters White Paper to drive significant improvement in outcomes for looked after children, we will be revising guidance to local authorities. This revised guidance will offer more detail about the responsibilities for preventing offending by looked after children and, about their responsibilities for establishing the necessary relationships with youth justice professionals so that, when looked after children do offend, plans are put in place to support the child to prevent re-offending.

Mr. Kidney: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what research his Department and its predecessor has (a) commissioned and (b) evaluated on links between young people in care and criminality in the last five years. [238114]

Beverley Hughes: The Department has commissioned the following research studies on the links between young people in care and criminality in the past five years:

'An Analysis of Offending by Young People looked After by Local Authorities' (Darker I, Ward H, and Caulfield L, University of Loughborough) looks at the association between local authority care and offending behaviour. The report can be found in Youth Justice, Vol. 8, No. 2, 134-148 (2008) http://articleworks.cadmus.com/doc/880744.

'Young people Leaving Care: A study of costs and outcomes' (Dixon J, Wade J et al) looked at offending behaviour among other outcomes. A summary can be found at http://www.york.ac.uk/inst/spru/research/pdf/leavinq.pdf

'Managing Children's Homes: Developing effective Leadership' (Hicks and Gibbs et al, Social Policy Research Unit, University of York) examined the outcomes for a sample of 175 children after one year, including behaviour problems and criminality. The report was published by Jessica Kingsley Publishing in 2007

http://php.york.ac.uk/inst/spru/pubs/146/

'Targeted Youth Support Pathfinders' (Rodger J, Palmer H and Mahon J) looked at being in care as a potential risk factor to poor outcomes, including offending behaviour. An interim report published November 2007 is available at http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/research/data/uploadfiles/DCSF-RR016.pdf

Children: Day Care

Mrs. Maria Miller: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what assessment his Department has made of the (a) adequacy and (b) distribution of the budget for delivery of the free childcare entitlement. [235895]

Beverley Hughes: I refer the hon. Member to the answer I gave on 17 December 2007, Official Report, column 591-92W.

Mr. Kemp: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many children in Houghton and Washington East constituency took up free nursery places in the most recent period for which figures are available. [235902]

Beverley Hughes: The Department publishes information on the part-time equivalent number of free early education places filled by three and four-year-olds. This is derived by counting children taking up 12 and a half hours per week as one place, 10 hours per week as 0.8 places, seven and a half hours per week as 0.6 places, five hours per week as 0.4 places and two and a half hours per week as 0.2 places.

The following table provides this information for Houghton and Washington, East parliamentary constituency area in 2008.

Part-time equivalent number of free early education places[1,2] filled by three and four-year-olds: Parliamentary constituency—Houghton and Washington, East http://www.dcsf.gov.uk/rsgateway/DB/SFR/s000790/index.shtml.

Mrs. Curtis-Thomas: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families how many childcare places there were in Crosby constituency in (a) 1997 and (b) 2008. [236685]

Beverley Hughes: The information requested is not available by parliamentary constituency. The following tables show the number of child care places in Sefton local authority for 1997 and 2008.

Children: Protection

John Battle: To ask the Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families what recent arrangements have been made by his Department to support child protection in (a) Leeds West constituency and (b) Leeds City area. [238774]

Beverley Hughes: All local authorities are required to put in place robust arrangements to protect children, including a Local Safeguarding Children Board (LSCB). Where a serious incident regarding safeguarding occurs, the LSCB will consider undertaking a Serious Case Review (SCR) to learn the lessons and improve practice. There are two SCRs under way in Leeds at present. In addition, three SCR reports have been completed this year and have been sent to Ofsted. As part of the SCR process, the LSCB is responsible for drawing up an action plan for discussion with the regional Government office.

Ofsted undertake an Annual Performance Assessment (APA) of every area's children's services against the five Every Child Matters outcomes. The assessment against 'staying safe' in last year's APA for Leeds was that services were adequate. A copy of the full assessment can be found on Ofsted's website at www.ofsted.gov.uk.

The APA results for 2008 are due to be published on 17 December 2008.

Leeds local authority has also agreed with the Government office a Local Area Agreement which includes the following designated targets relevant to protecting children:

NI 58 Behavioural and emotional health of looked after children

NI 63 Stability of placements of looked after children: length of placements and NI 66 Looked after children cases which were reviewed within required timescales.

It is not possible to provide separate information for Leeds West and Leeds City since safeguarding arrangements are planned and managed on a local authority wide basis.
